With the aid of lantern slides, statistics of the production of iron and steel, wage scales, list of profits from 1903 to 1911 were given, and showed in most cases that profits and production have always increased, whereas the number of workingmen employed and the amount of wages paid, invariably decreased. Portraits of millionaires were flashed upon the screen and as each appeared, Mr. Monnett told of some incident in their business career. The appearance of Governor Wilson's portrait was a signal for a storm of cheers.

Graham McAdams, of Massachusetts, who has made a study of the tariff for more than forty years, said America was thoroughly capable of competing with foreign markets because of great natural resources. He said American labor has been proven more efficient than foreign help and cheaper in the unit of production.

In speaking of the Dingley tariff and the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, he said in part, "Labor practically receives no consideration whatever. Nor is the development of American manufacturers held in view as a purpose. To tax raw material is manifestly to shackle manufacturing enterprise. That is what the Dingley tariff did—that is what the Payne-Aldrich tariff is doing."

NO DEVELOPMENT IN PLAN TO LAY MADISON AVE. TRACKS

Although the Public Service Corporation officials expressed themselves in favor of the plan to operate the local trolleys through Madison avenue and West Fourth street, Councilman F. L. Holt, who took the matter up with the company, has heard nothing further on the subject. The company was to present an ordinance providing for the improvement, but it has failed to reach the committee or Council as yet.

The idea of running cars through Madison avenue was to try and abolish the congested condition which now exists at Front and Somerset streets, by reason of the fact that some of the local lines make that a terminus. In case Madison avenue was used it was expected that the street would be widened. E. T. Barrows, W. A. Woodruff and Michael Rimmer have been appointed commissioners to assess benefits and damages in connection with the proposed improvements to the street between First street and the Railroad bridge.

WELCOMED SPURDELL TO DUNELLEN SCHOOL

Whereupon Father Stirred up Board—An Ancient Truth Rediscovered.

John Brown, Raymond Wyckoff, Frank Hannon and Elmer Russell, all attendants of the public school at Dunellen, were hailed before the Board of Education of that place last night, to explain why they had given Alfred Spurdell, a newcomer, a too hearty welcome to the village and school. The alleged hazing occurred several days ago and young Spurdell reported the matter to his father, who took it up with the Board of Education.

The board was inclined to view the matter seriously until in the examination of the quartet of boys it was learned that the newcomer had simply been the object of some foolish pranks in which nearly every school boy has had a part. Among the "stunts" which the lad was called upon to perform was to walk around the school yard with his eyes blindfolded and a strap around his legs. By reason of the fact that the boy's legs were fastened his progress was slow and throughout it all the school boys spent their time teasing him.

After hearing the story of the boys, the board and all others interested agreed that the trouble was not so serious and the investigation came to a close with general handshaking and profuse apologies on the part of the boys as well as Mr. Spurdell. It was agreed that boys will be boys and that they are no different today than when father was a boy.

TAFT AND WILSON TO GROSZMANN

President and Governor Write of Interest in Atypical Children.

CORDIAL EXPRESSIONS

"Objects of Association Long Commanded My Deep Sympathy," Says Democratic Leader—"Promise for Future of Country"—Taft.

Cordial letters, expressing the interest felt by the writers in the work of the National Association for the Study and Education of Exceptional Children, have been received from President Taft and Governor Woodrow Wilson by Dr. Maximilian P. E. Groszmann, of "Watchung Crest," who is educational director of the association. The President writes as follows:

"Beverly, Massachusetts,
"October 18, 1912.

"My dear Dr. Groszmann:

"I wish it were possible for me to accept your invitation to attend and address the third annual conference of the National Association for the Study and Education of Exceptional Children, to be held at the College of the City of New York, October 30 and 31, and thus to manifest the real interest I feel in the important and useful studies of children now being made with the co-operation of the teacher, the physician and the social worker, of which this conference is an indication.

"Such studies reveal that the physical health of many retarded children is responsible for their retardation, and can be remedied; that poverty and the social surroundings are responsible in other cases; and that the child is normal if freed from these handicaps. They also show unmistakably that there are types of exceptional children hopelessly abnormal and whose neglect has led in the past to criminality and suffering for themselves and for others.

"I know of no studies which promise more, both for normal and for ab-

W. VANDEVENTER SHOOTS HIMSELF

He Was Despondent, It Is Believed, Over Ill Health.

SUICIDE IN BROOKLYN

Took His Life at the Home of His Son, Clarence, to Where He Removed From This City a Few Weeks Ago.

With the pistol with which he shot himself in his lifeless hand, William L. Vandeventer, aged 65 years, a resident of this city for twenty years, living at East Fifth street and Franklin place, was found dead in his bed last night by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Clarence Vandeventer, with whom he had been living at 631 McDonough street, Brooklyn. Mr. Vandeventer and his wife and daughter, Miss Margaret Vandeventer, removed October 1 to Brooklyn, where they were making their home with the son, Clarence Vandeventer.

Mr. Vandeventer had been in poor health for a long time and it is the belief that he became despondent over his condition and was led to take his life. For nearly forty years Mr. Vandeventer was connected with the American Express Company, which position he held up to the time of his death. He is survived by a wife, daughter, Miss Margaret Vandeventer, and son, Clarence Vandeventer. The family while here attended Trinity Reformed church. The funeral will be held at the late residence tomorrow and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

SOME REMARKS ON WEATHER PROPHECY

Government Expert Lectures Before Pupils of Plainfield High School.

Section Director Ross E. Pollock, of the United States Weather Bureau, delivered an interesting lecture at the Plainfield High School before the assembled school, this morning. By direction of Chief Moore, he is making an inspection trip over the entire State so as to become thoroughly familiar with all the interest that are in need of timely warning.

The Trenton office, Director Pollock said, will be the climatological centre for the State; this has heretofore been located at Atlantic City. The warnings and forecasts issued at the central office of the Weather Bureau for New Jersey will be disseminated from the Trenton office.

"Farmers, florists, truckers, merchants, railroads, manufacturers, and in fact all classes of business enterprises throughout the State will be pleased to learn of the increase in the already efficient service in this State. The following information will be of special interest:

"In the agricultural districts the frost and cold wave warnings are in valuable to the trucker and fruit grower, especially in the spring, when the tender vegetables are protected by covering with paper, cloth, or soil, and fruit is safeguarded by smudging, irrigation, or other methods designed to maintain the temperature above the danger point. Many crops, such as beans and grapes, are saved by being picked in advance of the freeze, while tobacco and unmatured corn are cut at once upon advance notice of damaging cold weather. Potato digging is suspended and the dug potatoes removed from the field. The expected duration and severity of freezes govern operations in the ice harvest; if the cold is to be prolonged the ice men await the desired thickness, but otherwise the cutting will be hastened in order to secure the best possible returns under the circumstances. The temperature forecasts are also largely utilized by farmers in the killing of hogs, by sheepmen at lambing and shearing time, and by stockmen in general at critical seasons of the year.

"The railway and transportation companies make continued use of the forecasts in all of their shipments. Perishable products are protected against temperature extremes by icing or heating, as conditions may require. The uses of temperature forecasts in cities are more varied than is generally supposed."

REGISTRY LISTS SHOW INCREASE

Four Wards Produce a Total of 4,069 Eligible Voters.

TOTAL LAST YEAR 3,800

Second District of Third Ward is Banner Division—As Many as 150 Names Added in Some Places.

The registry of voters of the city, which was completed yesterday, the last day for registration, shows a total of 4,609 in all four wards. This is a substantial increase over last year's registry, which was about 3,800. At the last general election but 2,500 citizens voted in this city, but if all who were entitled to vote had done so there would have been about 3,800 ballots cast.

The increase in registry was apparent in nearly every one of the eighteen districts, indicating a lively interest in the presidential race.

The largest registry is reported in the second district of the Third ward, where there is a total of 304 names on the list. In the second district of the Fourth ward there are 296 voters registered, while the next highest number is to be found in the first district of the Second ward, the total being 286. In nearly every district yesterday many additions were made to the registry, in some cases there being 150 and more names added. The completed registry by districts is as follows:

First ward—first district, 184; second district, 202; third district, 174; fourth district, 206.

Second ward—first district, 286; second district, 220; third district, 269; fourth district, 218.

Third ward—first district, 283; second district, 304; third district, 197; fourth district, 199.

Fourth ward—first district, 251; second district, 296; third district, 254; fourth district, 167; fifth district, 192; sixth district, 167, making a total of 4,069 for the city.

It is alleged by plaintiffs that the firm was heavily indebted to them when it discontinued business in the fall. Mr. Edgar asks $391.58, that being the alleged amount on the firm's balance sheet on Sept. 20, when they sent out letters to their creditors agreeing to pay 75 cents on the dollar.

PARK CLUB OPENED ITS AUTUMN SEASON

Reception and Dance Largely Attended—Dramatic Recitations Enjoyed.

The annual reception and entertainment marking the resumption of social activities for the coming season at the Park Club, was held last night, and was largely attended by members and friends, including a number of out of town guests. The clubhouse was attractively decorated by Henry Johnson, the steward.

The entertainment committee, comprising Mrs. Harry L. McGee, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Titsworth, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Abbott, Miss Elizabeth McGee, John P. Myers, William D. Flanders, R. G. Rolston and Harry L. McGee, together with the members of the board of governors and their wives, received the guests.

During the early part of the evening Mrs. Minnie Marshall Smith, dramatic reciter, entertained the audience with some of her best selections. She was obliged to respond to several encores.

During the reception and dance which followed, Muller's orchestra, of Brooklyn, provided a popular program of music. The dancing was continued until well into the small hours of the morning. At midnight there was an intermission when refreshments were served. A feature was the formal opening of the reception room for the women. A portion of the sun-parlor was converted for this purpose and it is sure to prove an attractive place for the women who desire to play cards, or enjoy a tea or luncheon. From now on the regular program of social events will be followed at the club.

NEWCORN TILTS AT MAYOR MOY

Thinks up Lot of Things He Hopes Will Embarrass Executive.

PRESS ALSO HIS TARGET

Republican City Chairman Unsmilingly Assures His Audience Editor Answered Mr. Clay's Query Because He Was Refused "Ad."

H. G. Aron, a lawyer from Englewood; Assemblyman W. deLaR. Anderson, of Somerset county; Major William B. Martin and Peter J. Olde, of Elizabeth, candidates for freeholder, and former Judge William Newcorn, chairman of the City Republican Executive Committee, were the speakers at a Republican mass meeting held in Reform Hall, last night. Arthur Lovell, as a member of the city committee, called the meeting to order and upon his motion Mr. Newcorn was made chairman.

The chairman was the first speaker and for nearly an hour he devoted his remarks to an attack on the Plainfield Daily Press, its editor, Ralph L. Morrow, and Mayor G. W. V. Moy. In part he said:

"In the Plainfield Daily Press of last Thursday, Ralph L. Morrow, its editor, in an editorial answered a communication of Councilman Geo. S. Clay, in which he stated that the present incumbent of the Mayoralty, who seeks a re-election went into office to break the 'machine.' He named a number of gentlemen and amongst the leaders, your speaker. At the time he knew he was uttering a deliberate falsehood, for since the year of 1906, when I was elected district court judge, until March of this year I was not in politics. I even resigned from the city and county committees, not, however, because I was ashamed to be associated with the names of those mentioned in the newspaper editorial.

"Mr. Morrow gave a clean bill of health, however, for he does not charge any corruption and according to his own estimate they were honorable gentlemen, but my friend, Mr. Morrow, forgot to mention himself either among the leaders or the 'small fry.' I don't know of a citizen in Plainfield who ran more after that 'machine' or who hung around former Mayor C. J. Fisk more than Ralph L. Morrow; nor one who put his arm around his neck more than that same person.

"In a communication from Ralph L. Morrow, which I received, directed to be sent to my residence, he said that he noticed that The Press was not carrying the Republican advertising; adding that William R. Townsend to whom he had made a similar inquiry had informed him that it had been placed in another newspaper by direction of the chairman of the local committee. I was home sick at the time and at Mr. Morrow's request telephoned him to the effect that the advertising was placed under the direction of the county chairman, who had given his reasons for so doing, that the advertisements would not be put in a newspaper that was not helping the party.

"On October 17, following the communication, the editorial appeared and you can judge for yourself the motive.

"The truth should be known. Mr. Morrow's editorial attempted to show that the city was dominated by a 'machine.' And I understand it a machine is a body of men banded together for their own gain. Those public-spirited citzens who were mentioned were looking after the city's interests. What machine existed

COAL DEALER

"Business is hardly what it used to be —more and more people are putting in Square Pot Boilers each year now. Oh! I've no kick coming—I'm glad to say I own a Square Pot myself; but fact is, Square Pot Boilers run so economically and steam so freely on a small fire, that actually, a man can put in quite a bit less coal than an ordinary boiler or furnace would require and still be on the safe side. Yes, they're economical, all right—and efficient, too—best heaters I know."

Everything the 20th century householder wants in a heating plant Square Pot Boilers give him. Two words sum it up—efficiency and economy. Square Pot Boilers are compact yet powerful. They steam freely on a small fire. They give perfect combustion without heat waste. They run with slight attention and "hold fire" unusually well. Square Pot Boilers have the famous "square firepot" that clears free with a crank turn and never clogs. Let the nearest dealer in your town tell the rest of the story.

T. R. ORDERED TO REST FOR WEEK

No Visitors Allowed Today at Oyster Bay.

STOOD WELL LONG TRIP.

Absolute Quiet Necessary if Colonel Is to Take Further Part In Campaign. Improvement Steady, but Slow—Says He Feels Fine.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Colonel Roosevelt today is resting at his home here. The journey from Chicago necessarily was tiresome, although the colonel withstood it well. Smiling and unassisted he walked from the private car which had brought him from Chicago to the G. Emlen Roosevelt limousine awaiting him at Syosset and with a waved greeting to the few who attended his unexpected arrival was borne swiftly across the intervening four miles to Sagamore Hill.

All four of the doctors who escorted him hither and the nurses have been dismissed for the time being at his order, and the guard of six men placed at the Sagamore Hill entrance early in the day was likewise removed. Nothing about the residence of the ex-president indicated that all was not as usual. Not quite the same assurance, however, was given by the bulletin which was taken into town by Dr. Alexander Lambert shortly after seeing his patient safely in bed, to be issued at Progressive headquarters. The attending physicians were unwilling to say definitely whether Colonel Roosevelt could take any further active part in the campaign.

Wound Is Still Open.

This bulletin carries the latest official word as to the colonel's condition:

"Colonel Roosevelt has stood the journey well, but, of course, is tired. The wound is still wide open and oozing serum. Rest and quiet are essential to him to avoid possibilities of wound infection. He will be unable to see any one for the present.

"While Colonel Roosevelt is extremely anxious to take up the work of his campaign, we are not willing to say at this time that that will be possible.

"JOSEPH A. BLAKE.
"GEORGE E. BREWER.
"ALEXANDER S. LAMBERT.
"SCURRY L. TERRELL."

Through George Emlen Roosevelt this announcement was also made after a consultation with the family:

"The colonel must have one week of absolute rest. If he gets that he is likely to be able to make his speeches. He will make the Madison Square Garden speech if he gets the required rest."

Mr. Roosevelt added that the doctors thought their patient had improved since leaving Chicago.

Colonel Roosevelt's private car Ideal, attached to the New York express of the Pennsylvania railroad, arrived at the Pennsylvania station in New York at 8:08 o'clock yesterday morning. The expressed wish that no one should be on hand to welcome the colonel was scrupulously regarded. All was very quiet about the car, which was promptly attached to a special train of the Long Island railroad and slipped quietly through the tunnel. Only Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, the latter the wounded man's sister, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Drs. Joseph H. Blake and George E. Brewer boarded the car while it lay in the station. To these as they stood chatting with Mrs. Roosevelt on the rear platform the colonel suddenly appeared clad in a dressing gown.

"You needn't think you can keep me shut up in there," he said with a grin, and it was several minutes before he could be induced to return to his state room.

Declares He Feels Fine.

Apparently the last stages of his long journey had not distressed him at all. He declared that he felt fine and had a good night's sleep and a splendid breakfast. As far as his wound was concerned, he said that he suffered no pain except under pressure. Although the first intention had been to proceed to Oyster Bay, this plan was changed to avoid the risk of a demonstration from the colonel's fellow townsmen and his car was put on a siding at Syosset.

When he alighted at Syosset the colonel was wearing the army great coat which bore the mark of the shot. With Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Ethel and George Roosevelt he climbed with firm step into the closed automobile and drove up to the stoop at Sagamore Hill shortly after 10 o'clock.

The remainder of the day he spent napping and reading, after his physicians had bandaged up anew his wound, from which is still some slight oozing, and taken their departure. The colonel has been strictly enjoined to see no visitors today. Meanwhile he is being attended only by members of the family and his devoted negro body servant, Jim, who is tireless in his watch.

FACTS VS. FICTION.

While we dislike to use the short and ugly word, we must apply it to William Newcorn, if he is correctly quoted in our columns tonight in the report of the Republican meeting held last night. Mr. Newcorn evidently is very much piqued because he was mentioned as being part and parcel of the now defunct Republican city machine, which during Mayor Fisk's time and prior to it ran things in the city pretty much as they wanted to.

Mr. Newcorn tried to give the impression that the editorial which has riled the remnants of the machine was inspired because of the refusal to give the Press a certain political advertisement. The advertisement in question which Mr. Newcorn seems to think is such a damning piece of evidence against the Press appeared the same night the editorial in question appeared. Any fairly intelligent person would know that all editorial matter for any newspaper is written hours before the paper goes to press. The editorial was under discussion for several days, as Mr. Clay's request was anticipated and no word was written without careful prior verification. In view of the fact that all that the members of the machine there mentioned have been able to do is to rave against the Press, it is evident that the shoe pinched, even to the members of the small fry.

The advertisement and the editorial appeared simultaneously, and no one connected with the Press had the slightest idea that the adv. was to appear until it was seen in another local newspaper. The Daily Press naturally wishes to get all of the business it can. Therefore, at 4 o'clock on the afternoon mentioned, after both local papers had appeared, and it was discovered that the adv. appeared elsewhere, inquiry was made as to why it did not appear in the Press, and after several others had been queried Mr. Newcorn was referred to. Later it was learned that the county committee consider their advertising as political "pap," and do not use it as a business man would, to gain the widest publicity. That's why it didn't appear in the Press, because this newspaper had refused to dance when certain politicians pulled the string. Mr. Newcorn therefore is entitled to the sobriquet first applied when he intimates that the failure to insert an advertisement in this newspaper resulted because this newspaper did not get a paltry five or six dollars worth of advertising. The editorial did not appear following the appearance of the advertising, as Mr. Newcorn untruthfully states.

There has never been any effort on the part of the Press to conceal the names of the stockholders in the Plainfield Press Company. It is true the Mono Investment Company holds a small amount of stock, and its name was printed with the list of stockholders, as required by the postal laws, on October second. It is, however, an absolute falsehood to state that "Mayor Moy is one of the arbitrators in case any trouble should arise between Mr. Morrow and Mr. Fort, and they should be unable to adjust it." Mayor Moy has never, at any time, had anything to say about the policy of the Press, and we challenge Mr. Newcorn to prove his statement. What is more, he will not accept the challenge, as the Press did, when Mr. Clay asked him to name the machine, for he cannot produce a stick of evidence to prove his claim.

Once and for all, it might as well be made plain that the Daily Press policy is entirely controlled by the editors. Every person who took stock when the Plainfield Press Company was formed did so with the distinct understanding that it was a business investment and that when the new owners came into possession the newspaper should be absolutely independent in politics, and it will remain that way, supporting whom it sees fit, and disagreeing with whom it sees fit. No political advertising will ever appear in its columns solely because of it's support of any party's candidate. If a party does not think that it can gain by publicity, the same way in which merchants gain, we do not want their business.

As for Mr. Newcorn, it is evident that he does not become familiar with facts before he makes political speeches.

LESLIE R. FORT.

It should be an easy matter for the mayoralty and councilmanic candidates of the respective parties to answer the twelve questions put to them by the Daily Press. The purpose of this is simply to let the voters know where the candidates stand on the problems confronting the city in order that the voters may be intelligently informed and govern themselves accordingly.

Considering all that has been accomplished by the Hague Court of Arbitration, peace on earth is still far off. There's a revolution in Mexico and others are threatened in Venezuela and Cuba, and there's war between Turkey and the Balkans states.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from the State Trust Company today is as follows 9 a. m., 65 degrees; 11 a. m., 63 degrees; 1 p. m., 63 degrees.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Miss Robley, the High School German teacher, will coach the girls' basketball squad this season

The girls' basketball team will play their first game at Flemington next week. This has always been a popular trip and a good delegation will probably go.

The boys who responded to the first basketball call for candidates are Addison Newkirk, Elmer French, Roy Love, Carroll Taylor, Ashley Burner and Captain Townley. As soon as a ball can be secured a regular schedule will be made up, allowing all the classes to have equal periods each week.

Charles Lindsay, a junior, who has been sick with blood poisoning for the past three weeks, will not return.

RAN AWAY FROM FINE.

Thomas Judge, 17 years old, of North Plainfield, one of the boys ordered to appear before Recorder Gano Monday on a charge of playing craps last Sunday, did not come before the court until this morning. In explanations he said he was scared because he had no money to pay a fine, should one be imposed so ran away to the mountains, where he tried to secure a position on a farm. Failing in this he returned home, and surrendered to the police this morning. On a promise that he would attend Sunday-school regularly instead of shooting crap, Recorder Gano suspended sentence.

THOUSANDS DEAD IN BULGAR WAR

Unconfirmed Report of Terrible Battle in Vicinity of Adrianople.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

London, Oct. 23.—Only conflicting reports were received here today of the progress of the battle between Turkish and Bulgarian troops in the vicinity of Adrianople. It is believed, however, that the advance of the Bulgarians has been checked. Advices from Vienna placed the number of Bulgarian troops involved in the fight at 120,000 and the number of Turks at 140,000. Estimates of the casualties were in the thousands. Belgrade advices charge that retreating Turkish troops have massacred many Christians. Messages from Athens indicated that the Greek troops which have invaded Turkey were meeting with stubborn resistance. The rigid censorship continues.

London, Oct. 23.—A despatch from Athens says that the Greeks defeated the Turks today beyond Elassona and that the Turks are now retreating to the Town of Servia. The news was sent to Athens by Crown Prince Constantine of Greece, who is commander-in-chief of the army.

Vienna, Oct. 23.—Czar Ferdinand, of Bulgaria, has suffered a broken arm by a fall with his horse, it was reported here today. Confirmation was lacking.

Isle of Portland, England, Oct. 23.—The British third battleship squadron was preparing today to sail for the Mediterranean.

London, Oct. 23.—Orders were given to the Turkish fleet at Constantinople today to sail as soon as possible to meet the Greek naval force in the Mediterranean.

London, Oct. 23.—A despatch from Constantinople this afternoon said that more than 900 Bulgarian prisoners of war had been brought there.

London, Oct. 23.—An official message from Sofia to the Servian legation here today said that after a desperate resistance the Turks were fleeing from the Servians along their whole front in southern Albania.

Nish, Servia, Oct. 23.—General Zivovitch today reported to headquarters the capture by the Servians of Novi Bazar, capital of the Turkish district of the same name after a fight in which both sides lost heavily.

DIAZ AND HIS STAFF REPORTED CAPTURED

Mexico City, Oct. 23.—A message from Vera Cruz says that Felix Diaz with his entire staff has been captured. The despatch adds that all the arms have been taken away from the rebels. The casualties were not heavy.

Mexico City, Oct. 23.—General Beltran, commander of the Loyal Federal troop, began the attack upon the position of Felix Diaz and the revolutionary forces at daybreak, according to advices received here. The report states that the non-combatants were taken for refuge into the neutral zone and on the warships. How many were engaged on either side are uncertain, but Beltran probably had 3,000 men while Blanquettes column of 2,500 should have reached Vera Cruz during the early morning and forenoon.

Diaz is believed to have had about 2,500 troops. The battle differed from the conflicts fought during the two previous revolutions under Mandero and Orozzo in that nearly all the forces on both sides were seasoned regulars directed by trained military men. Heretofore in the two revolutions regulars had never opposed regulars in a pitched battle. The battle began at 6.30 this morning and is being fought at Vera Cruz.

The United States cruiser Des Moines is at Vera Cruz under Commander Hughes.

BARK DRIVEN ASHORE; LIFE SAVERS HELPLESS

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Atlantic City, Oct. 23.—A terrific storm drove a bark ashore on the north side of Barnegat Inlet this morning. Life-savers have made four attempts to go to the stranded craft which is flying distress signals but the heavy sea beat back the life boats. The bark is lying in a dangerous position.

Fear is felt for the lives of the crew. The name of the bark is not yet known.

ZELIG'S SLAYER PLEADS.

LADY BRODERICK IS STRUCK BY OUR SLANG

Racy Speech Amuses Irish Welfare Worker, Guest of Mrs. Linke.

Lady Albina Broderick, a noted Irish welfare worker, left this city yesterday for New York, where she will continue in her efforts to raise sufficient funds to complete the erection of a large hospital in the southern part of Kerry, Ireland. While in this city she was the guest of Mrs. Frank Linke, of 220 West Second street, whom she knew in Ireland.

Lady Broderick came to this country last Saturday. She is said to have spent a fortune in the work of helping the destitute and erecting hospitals. She will return to her country November 14, and with subscriptions from Pierpont Morgan and other wealthy men of New York, expects to be able to finish the great institution she began but had to check temporarily because of lack of funds.

Questioned today as to her opinion of America, Lady Broderick praised the hospitality of this country, and said she had gained the sympathy of all whom she has spoken to regarding her work. American "slang" amused her greatly, she said.

TWO DOGS GONE.

It was a bad day for local pet dogs yesterday. Jacob Abrams, while driving his automobile along Park avenue ran over and killed a valuable dog belonging to Dr. W. H. Anthony, of 518 Park avenue. A Main Line trolley car shortly after 4 o'clock ran over a dog which bore a license tag with the inscription, "George Saunders, 425 North avenue."

Shortly before 2 o'clock this morning Patrolman Myers found a horse wandering at large in West Front street near the postoffice. He took the animal to the eCntral Livery Stables to await the arrival of a claimant.

THE FORUM.

MR. STEWART, PLEASE ANSWER.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Democrats who have been bearing the brunt of the progressive battle for the last sixteen years would do well to find out where Mr. Stewart, who is a candidate for Mayor, and as such is asking for the votes of all true Democrats, stood in the Presidential Campaign of 1908.

The writer has tried to get light on this subject but has failed.

Unless Mr. Stewart can assure his party that he supported and voted for its candidate for President in 1908, it would be well for all democratic Democrats, while, of course, voting for Woodrow Wilson for President, to vote for Mr. Moy for Mayor.

"One Hundred Per Cent. Efficiency"

These are the words used by a certain New York merchant after he had gone through the greater store, examined its system and scrutinized its salesforce. He described it exactly; the new Bamberger store—its policy—its personnel—typifies one of the highest standards of efficiency ever attained by a retail store. The store is big and beautiful—the policy is broad and liberal—the salespeople are alert and courteous. No wonder the people of New Jersey like Greater Bamberger's. No wonder folks are flocking here from the four points of the compass.

Between Ourselves

Have you visited the Bamberger rest room on the third floor? As one enthusiastic woman declared yesterday, it is a wonder that the people of Newark have ever been able to get along without such a room.

The retiring room in the old store was regarded as a model of luxury and comfort, but it could not compare with the great, light, airy section which we have set aside in the new store for the comfort of our visitors.

The Bamberger "GREEN ROOM" is one of the beauty spots of the greater store. Here you will find great easy chairs and divans; great literary tables where one may read, and cozy little desks where one may write.

The GREEN ROOM is for YOUR comfort and convenience. We want you to use it freely.

TAFT AND WILSON

normal children and for the future good of our country, then the investigation into the subject of your deliberations for this year—differentiation of the difficult child and the backward child from the feeble-minded child.

"The welfare of the nation depends on the education of its people to a greater extent than on any other one thing, and it is a matter of greatest importance that all children shall be educated according to their own capacities for intelligent citizenship and for the successful pursuit of those professions and occupations for which they are best fitted by natural disposition and through which they may best administer to their own happiness and serve most effectively society, state and nation.

"I wish for your conference abundant success in its labors.

"Sincerely yours,
(Signed) "WM. H. TAFT."

Governor Wilson's letter follows:

"28 West State Street,
"Trenton, N. J.,

"October 16, 1912.

"My dear Dr. Groszmann:

"Mr. W. G. McAdoo has been kind enough to send me a memorandum of the plans for the opening meeting of the National Association for the Study and Education of Exceptional Children which you are planning for the evening of the 30th of October.

"May I give myself the pleasure of sending a brief message to be read on that occasion?

"The objects for which the association has been formed have long commanded my deep sympathy, and I hope that I may have the privilege of assisting in the work of the association in a way which will be expressive of that sympathy. I wish for the association long life and the distinction of wise success.

"Cordially and sincerely yours,
(Signed) "WOODROW WILSON."

Assemblyman William de La Roche Anderson, of Watchung, who is a vice president of the National Association, has written an expression of good wishes to be read at the Conference.

Somerville.

The Somerville Mutual Realty Company has had a man the past few days opening up the ditch through the former Keys property, and the waterway will be left as it has been for years. During recent heavy rains it was apparent that the closing of the ditch would work a hardship on property east of Gaston avenue, through which the ditch coursed if the waterway was closed up west of Gaston avenue. Notwithstanding the ditch being left open the residents of that section want the storm sewer constructed, and this matter will come up before the Borough Council next month for consideration.

All the districts in the borough report as having a considerable number of names added to the registry yesterday. About 200 names were added to the lists in the five districts.

The newly-organized Somerville basketball team will open the winter season at the armory this evening playing the R. A. C. from Bound Brook.

The High School football team will play the Bound Brook High School boys on the grounds here Saturday afternoon.

About 60 members of Rex Hook and Ladder Company, of York, Pa., accompanied by a band, visited this place yesterday, coming here from New Brunswick. They came by special trolley and were taken through Duke's park in stages. While here they were entertained by the several companies at their houses. They had dinner at Somerset Hall, served by a special caterer. They left for home about 4 o'clock.

The new building of C. A. Speer, on West Main street, is fast taking shape. It is intended to use the new structure as a moving-picture house, and it is said it is to be operated by the Proctor interests. The building is to be two stories high. Ground will soon be broken for a store property adjoining on the west. The new buildings will be quite an improvement in that section. The many new buildings being erected about town have brought a considerable number of mechanics to town.

William Taylor has purchased the garage of James Slockbower, at Clinton, and has taken possession of the same.

Mrs. George Drobny was taken with a sudden attack of appendicitis yesterday and was removed to a hospital for treatment.

Bound Brook.

Pioneer Council, No. 58, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet in Hamilton Hall at 8 o'clock this evening.

Mrs. Mary Wister, of Bordentown, is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Liefe, near the ten-mile lock.

Mrs. Edward Linbarger is visiting relatives at Lambertville.

Miss Blanche Garretson, of Millstone, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Peter Clark.

Archibold S. Newbery, president of the Bound Brook Republican Club, has gone on a two months' trip to Europe.

Mrs. Charles Bowman and son, James, of South Branch, and Mrs Weston Walls, of Collinswood, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Voorhees, at Beechwood Heights, yesterday.

The Bound Brook Republican Club will have a special car, tomorrow night, to take its members and friends to the Republican mass meeting at Somerville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. N. Polhemus, of Lincoln, were visitors with friends at Middlebush on Sunday.

John C. Gray and son, Frank, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., are spending some time at the home of Miss Emma Carr.

Mrs. George W. Lyons, of Bernardsville, is spending part of this week with her mother, Mrs. Julia Haelig.

James P. Hoffman, of South Bound Brook, is substituting in the local postoffice today in place of H. S. Johnson.

Mrs. Peter Powelson, one of Bound Brook's oldest residents, died yesterday morning about 4 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eugene D. Brokaw. She was about 80 years of age.

Plainfield Citizens Gladly Testify and Confidently Recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

It is testimony like the following that has placed Doan's Kidney Pills so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Plainfield citizen:

A. C. Lazzi, 44 Elm Place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I still endorse Doan's Kidney Pills at every opportunity and I confirm all I said in their praise when I publicly recommended them some years ago. You are at liberty to continue using my statement, for this excellent medicine cannot be given too much praise. For several years I was annoyed by a distressing backache, together with pains through my kidneys. My head also ached severely and the kidney secretions were in bad shape. I went to several physicians and also took so-called kidney cures, but it did not seem as though I could get relief. As time passed and I did not improve, I became discouraged. When suffering intensely I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and I got a supply at Rnadolph's Drug Store. As if by magic my pains and aches disappeared and my condition improved in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills deserve the entire credit for restoring me to good health."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

HALLOWEEN CANDIES.

SIMPLE candies for the children's Halloween feast may be prepared a day or two in advance unless the children are old enough to enjoy the fun of compounding them.

In either case these recipes for simple confections that any boy or girl can make may not be amiss.

The candies should be served in fancy dishes. If they are put into plain platters give a dainty appearance to these by placing the candy on paper dollies.

Taffies or toffies, as the English call them, are favorites at Halloween. They are a coarse kind of candy made with sugar or molasses and cooled in shallow pans in which nut meats may be placed if you wish.

Simple Confections.

Pulled Taffy.—Take two cupfuls of molasses, one cupful of brown sugar, butter the size of an egg, one tablespoonful of vinegar and a pinch of soda. Put all in a kettle, adding the soda last, and boil twenty minutes. Cool in shallow pans and pull till white.

Russian Taffy.—Take two pounds of sugar, two ounces of butter and put them into a pan with a small can of condensed milk and a gill of fresh milk. Boil these together very slowly till thick, keeping them stirred. Drop a little into cold water and, if it hardens at once, add a spoonful of essense of vanilla and pour it off into buttered pans.

Vanilla Taffy.—Take a pound of sifted sugar and one cupful of water. Dissolve the sugar in the water and then add a quarter of a pound of butter beaten to a cream. Stir constantly over a quick fire until done. Just before taking from the fire add vanilla or some other flavoring. Pour into buttered pans.

Nut Sweetmeats.

Almond Taffy.—Take a pound of granulated sugar, four ounces of butter and half a pound of blanched almonds. Melt the butter in a saucepan and add the sugar. Boil to the "soft ball" stage, add the blanched almonds and continue boiling until the sugar will snap when tested. Pour into a buttered shallow tin. To test, drop a little of the mixture into a cupful of cold water.

Peanut Taffy.—Put a pint of molasses into a saucepan and boil for twenty minutes. Beat in a quarter of a teaspoonful of baking soda and boil for fifteen minutes more or until a drop put into iced water is brittle. Stir constantly while cooking. When done, stir in a teaspoonful of vinegar and turn into buttered pans in which have been strewn peanut meats.

Stocks of black satin and white shadow lace are greatly favored.

Moire will be much used for autumn tailor mades.

Wool embroidery is being used on children's hats and dresses.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

A CALL TO MARCH.

To the Women of New Jersey.

The New Jersey Woman Suffrage parade will take place in Newark on Saturday, October 26. All loyal suffragists should feel it their duty to enlist in the brave little army that will march forth to publicly demonstrate the strength of the suffrage movement in the State of New Jersey.

There are now six stars on the suffrage flag with the prospect of five more when the election returns are in.

Come and march! Show that New Jersey is alive to this great issue and help to prepare the star that may in a few years stand for your own fully enfranchised State.

Members of the Plainfield League will take the 2:55 train from Plainfield to Elizabeth and the trolley from Elizabeth to Lincoln Park, Newark, where the procession will form at 4 o'clock.

They may return on the 5:20 train from Newark to Plainfield without change—arriving at 6:09. The line of march is short, but the significance of the parade at this time cannot be overestimated. Come and march!

The forty-fourth convention of the National American Woman Suffrage Association is to be held in Philadelphia, November 21-26, 1912.

The invitation to attend is signed by Anna Howard Shaw, Jane Addams, Jessie Ashley, Sophonisba Brackinridge, Katherine Dexter McCormick, Mary Ware Dennet, Harriet Burton Laidlaw, Susan W. Fitzgerald, Alice Stone Blackwell, general officers of the N. A. W. S. A., and reads in part as follows:

"Come and realize the inspiration that sustains the common advocacy of a great cause; the exhilaration of soul that rises in everyone who is part of a great united effort.

"Let us come with high resolve that we shall never waver in our effort to obtain the right to stand side by side with the men of this country in the mortal struggle that shall bid perish from this land political corruption, privilege, prostitution, the industrial slavery of men, women and children, and all exploitation of humanity.

"Let us come together, then, in this autumn of 1912, this unprecedented year of suffrage in the United States, consecrating ourselves anew on this, the greatest of all battle grounds for democracy, the United States of America."

The generosity of the Pennsylvania Suffrage Association, besides the entertainment for delegates, includes providing Witherspoon Hall for the convention sessions, the Metropolitan Opera House for the Sunday afternoon meeting, and badges which are being made from a beautiful original design.

It is confidently expected that the thanksgiving mass meeting to be held in Metropolitan Opera House on Sunday will be the largest suffrage meeting in the history of the United States.

The delegate and visitor to the City of Brotherly Love will find the city unique in that it holds within its environs the birthplace of the United States, Independence Hall, where the Declaration of Independence was framed and ratified, and where "Old Glory," the Stars and Stripes, was first made by Betsey Ross. We now have six stars on our suffrage flag, and hope to have the rare delight of adding five more at the time of the convention, for then the returns will be in and we will know for how many more suffrage States we may give thanks.

Philadelphia claims many "first things," among them being the first medical school, the first hospital, the first lightning rod set up, first waterworks, first law school, first Supreme Court, first piano made, first United States flag, etc., and it is the first time that Philadelphia will have entertained the National Suffrage Convention.

E. B. LELAND RETURNS.

Erwin B. Leland, of 95 Sandford avenue, has returned from a seven months' business trip for the American Fork & Hoe Company. The trip took him to South America, to Colon, through the Straits of Magellan, and on the sea voyage he passed through one of the worst storms in years in that part of the country. The firm by which Mr. Leland is employed was so well satisfied with the result of the trip that they want him to take the same journey next year.

Philosophical Fnelix Says:

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

In Westfield the High School spirit seems to be guaged by the number of touchdowns their eleven can make throughout the gridiron season.

Pretty high-handed stuff these schoolboys are pulling. Just when the P. H. S. warriors were licking their chops to get a whack at the Mt. Ararat bunch, the latter aggregation disbands.

Someone has said that he would rather have a whole band of Turks on his trail than to get in the way of any one of those enraged Westfield High School maidens. It is said that they are planning to put the whole Westfield Board of Education down for the full count.

This is typical Chief Meyers, or Indian summer. Could have staged it B. right along, but don't let's start over again. Winter is coming.

"I see by the papers," said the Irishman who has a habit of attending all of the Jewish picnics, as he speared an onion, "that Burglars are running loose in the Balkans. Why don't they get a new chief of police?"

Many theories have been advanced as to the cause of the success of the Holy Cross football team on the gridiron, but the main reason for the good showing seems to be in the coaching department. If P. H. S. had a slave driver like Hamilton, with a glare that would make "Gyp the Blood" run up a side alley, the local schoolboys might have turned out a better aggregation.

Jack Doyle, the coal topped thrush of the church boys' team, is using his captivating upper register to sign up a game with Manager Janke. Remember to shop early, Doyle; there may be a let-up in local football before the season closes.

Remember when you are kicking and running that every little football is nothing more or less than a full grown pig with the squeal missing. (The squeal sometimes returns when it is handled too roughly.)

Many bids, some of them real, for the second hand articles offered for sale by Manager Doyle to help pay for those new red sweaters, have been received here. The surplus put on sale includes a Burner, a Masher, a Carti, a patent Coyle, a ton of Ham, (3 varieties), one acre of black Caulfield, surrounded by a Ruttledge, and various other divers assets. Storage will be charged on all goods remaining after the first real scrimmage.

Ernie Dorflinger, the eminent barrister of Plainfield, who spends the summer months inducing young men to win green lawns, has collected his literary earnings and gone into dormant seclusion for the long winter months to dream of the Central New Jersey League to be organized next year.

BUNTS AND PUNTS

Big Ed Reulbach, the Cubs' great flinger, pitched regular championship ball in the Chicago city series.

In signing Mordecai Brown to manage the Colonels, it looks as if the Louisville owners have copped the right party.

Two famous .400 hitters of former days, Hugh Duffy and Jesse Burkett, were pals once more during the championship games.

The Three-I League moguls have announced April 24 as the opening date and Labor Day for the closing games for next season.

In purloining 116 sacks during the past season Ralph Meyers, of the Spokane Northwestern League team, has established a base-stealing record.

President James Gaffney, of the Boston Nationals, is cleaning house. He will have a new manager, a new secretary and new players for next season.

A new Central League of eight, instead of twelve clubs, will probably be formed with the following cities in the circuit: Grand Rapids, South Bend, Fort Wayne, Springfield, Dayton, Youngstown, Canton and Erie.

Just to show how the advance dope on the world's series ran for Sweeney: Young Forrest Cady proved to be a better backstop than the veteran Bill Carrigan; the star outfield of the Red Sox had nothing on the Giants' gardeners; "Red" Murray came back and was there with the wallop; Yerkes, of the Sox, didn't blow up as was predicted; Bedient, the unknown, pitched his way into the baseball hall of fame and Heine Wagner upset the dope by playing the best all-around game of any player in either outfit.

End rush Vinal, of Williams, produced some real football in the Harvard-Williams game.

Hill, left guard, who weighs 181 pounds, is the heaviest man in the Carlisle Indians' lineup this fall.

Work on Yale's new football stadium and clubhouse is to be started within the next few weeks.

McGuire, of the Harvard eleven, is showing more activity at right guard than he did before he was hurt.

Swarthmore gained 263 yards by rushing against Pennsylvania, the Quakers' plays from scrimmage covering 153 yards only.

Clarence Weymouth, Yale's old gridiron star, is officiating in the football games being played in Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis.

Harvard has been doing little with the direct pass for rushing from scrimmage this Fall. Yale and Princeton, however, have been using the direct pass frequently, but with no especially good results.

Spanking a 6-foot football player sounds like kidding, but at Cornell it is no joke. At Ithaca the coaches have a large paddle within easy reach, and when a player starts to loaf, "whackety bang" goes the paddle on the laggard.

FIELD TRIALS.

Hamilton, O., Oct. 23.—Scores of handsome pointers and setters, the product of years of careful breeding and training, are entered in the annual trials of the Central States Field Trial Club, which began today on the club preserves near this city.

HIGH SCHOOL LEAGUE FORMED AT Y. M. C. A.

Three Teams Chosen to Compete in all Around Association's Work.

Three teams were picked yesterday afternoon to compose the league to be formed in the class for High School boys at the Y. M. C. A. The names of twenty-four eligibles were presented by Boys' Secretary C. William Bingaman, and the committee assisted him in the division of players.

William Peacock Myrton Glover and James Buckle consented to accept the responsibility of captaining the trio of teams and selected their men in turn.

The contesting teams seem to be pretty evenly divided and the competition should be of the keenest sort. A schedule of basketball games, aquatics, athletics and gymnastics has been drawn up and the team totaling the highest point score in all-around work will receive medals for their achievements.

The first meeting of the newly organized class will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Friday afternoon and new members not already selected for any team will be enrolled in the class. A committee consisting of the three captains and Mr. Bingaman was appointed to take charge of the placing of new members on the various teams so that none of the three groups would be one sidedly superior to the other two contestants.

The players and captains of the three teams follow: New York—Myrton Glover, captain; Albert Brynarski, Valentine Goldsmith, Craig Blair, Pelham Wilmerding, Benjamin Cooley, Morris Canter and Robert Day. Boston—James Buckle, captain; Donald Sminck, Andrew Hetfield, Joseph Sattells, Kenneth Dealaman, Alfred Day, Samuel Smelson and Harry Borden. Chicago—William Peacock, captain; James McNamee, Joseph Carty, Benjamin Rosenson, Donald Ketcham, Addison Newkirk, Hyman Abrams, Leroy Fairman.

LOCAL PRESS CLUB TO TRY BOWLING GAME

Will Entertain the Perth Amboy Pin Breakers Here November 9.

The Press Club bunch of this city, whoever they may be, "ben wery much alive I bane bet you." So is the Press Club crowd of Perth Amboy, for that matter.

This "lead" may prove rather ambiguous to the reader but the writer is so filled with joy, so overcome with the prospects of a "big time in the city of big times" that he can scarcely follow instructions to "put everything in the lead."

Now that the writer has somewhat cooled off and got some of the gushing joy out of his system, he will proceed to say that two quintets—not basketball—but bowlers, yes, real quintets comprised of knights of the alleys are going to clash here on Saturday evening, November 9. The invitation was extended by the local bowlers and the Perth Amboyites who have never yet thrown over a "bid" to test strength, whether it be a little game of five and ten or a tussle on the basketball court, have accepted the defi.

It will be a bona fide aggregation of Press Club members which will swoop down in style on Plainfield on that date. No "ringers" will be on the job—that provision is enclosed in the articles of agreement. In conjunction with the bowling match there will be a big blow-out with Perth Amboy enacting the part of hosts. The local club, whether victorious by 100 points or 500 points will accept an invitation from the local pin busters and the other members of the Perth Amboy Press Club to bowl a return game in that city a week or two later.

Should Perth Amboy beat us in bowling—well, there is always that alternative of winning at basketball. Plainfield has always ranked first in priding a championship Press Club basketball quintet.

Come to think of it, the Perth Amboy Press Club does possess a number of rather classy bowlers. Among the number are George Firstbrook, "Cocky" De Vote and Percy Vail. Then there are a number of minor lights including David Wilentz, Max Sarokin and Morris Miller.

It will be the first venture of the local Press Club into bowling, but a number of good players are rounding into shape and a good and interesting time is expected. There is only one sport we draw the line on, that's football. Nothing doing in that line. It bears too much resemblance to a Saturday night spree.

The Press Club intends to travel in style when the return game comes off—via auto. Got us—auto. Negotiations are already being made for the purchase of two or three up-to-date touring cars.

The bowlers will not be the only ones to go on the trip. Already half dozen or more of the non-bowling members of the club have signified their intention to come along.

Well! here's to you Perth Amboy.

HOPE CHAPEL'S NINE RECEIVES ITS TROPHY

End of Sunday School League Season Marked by a Banquet.

As an appropriate windup to the great baseball season Hope chapel has had on the diamond this year, the women of the chapel banqueted the members of their nine and a number of representatives from the other league contestants. The Chapelites were crowned with the laurel wreath emblematic of the Sunday-school league championship and the spirit evidenced by the members present from rival teams who had lost out in the league race, was a commendable one. The women left nothing undone in the preparation of the "feed" and although Hope chapel's social department is noted for the excellent banquets it prepares, the menu last night was a banner one and the women "fans" were toasted time after time for their work. The spirit displayed by the winners was not one of selfishness or personal conceit over their honors but each member of the championship nine was ready and willing to share his part in the affair with some other player not so fortunate.

George E. Leighs, Sr., manager of the Hope chapel team, presided as toastmaster and introduced in a way that is all his own, Rev. Frederic L. Greene, Stanley Robins, Randolph Chandler, William Thompson, Arthur Grisley, captain of the victorious team; James Penny, chief rooter; Jack Martin, of big league fame, and Allen Snyder.

Mr. Greene made it a point to be the first to drink out of the handsome silver loving cup awarded to the victors. Stanley Robins made the presentation speech in which he reviewed the Sunday-school league season just past and took occasion to refer to several incidents which have always been a matter of contention and explained the reasons of the Board in acting as it did in each instance. Manager Leighs accepted the cup in behalf of the team and expressed a wish that Hope chapel might again be on top of the heap when the 1913 season closed.

During the course of the evening Captain Grisley presented Mr. Leighs with a gold seal ring as a token of the esteem in which he was held by the team members.

The ladies in charge of the affair were: Mrs. George E. Leighs, chairman; Mrs. James Heron, Mrs. T. Brown and Mrs. James Penny. The waitresses were the Misses Agnes Leighs, Alice Rimmer, Enus Eckert, Marion Hunter and Edith Becker.

John Whalen, of West Third street, returned home Monday from Milwaukee, Wis., where he has been representing local No. 305, of this city, at the annual convention of the International Molders Union.

NEWCORN HITS MAYOR

two years ago when Mr. Moy, who accepted the Democratic nomination after being defeated fairly in a Republican primary? To break a 'machine,' Mr. Moy built up the biggest 'machine' that has ever existed in the city. The man behind him was James T. MacMurray, the present city clerk. He is the man responsible for the administration of Mr. Moy. I challenge anyone to show me a single constructive act during his administration.

"Mr. Moy promised to cut out the fee system, and quoted the city clerk to the effect that it should be done. As a member of the legislative committee of the Progressive party, have you heard of him introducing a single measure to abolish the fee system. It is still in force in this city. Why? Because the man who gets the benefit of it is James T. MacMurray.

"Mr. Moy promised an economic administration; that he would scrutinize every bill. When the overseer of the poor, a competent official, was not reappointed because the Mayor did not like him, in his monthly salary bill he had some items for carfare and he refused to approve until the expenditures were itemized, but the city paid Mr. MacMurray's bill of $790 for election expenses, when the county should have paid it. Recently the $790 bill was presented to the Board of Freeholders to be paid. The city has been trying to get it back, but that same bill was sent back to be itemized.

"As a result of Mr. Moy's administration there is not a city department that is not demoralized. In every department men have gone over the heads and there is less respect pald than ever. Recently, Mr. Moy attempted to appoint two roundsmen without even consulting the chief of police or the Council. While seeking office two years ago he called attention to the fact that William F. Arnold, the city treasurer, was holding two offices, Fire Chief Doane and Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett were also holding two offices, and that when he got into office he would change this. Did he do it? While telling you all this clap-trap he found reasons for not doing it and we have heard nothing about it since.

"The antagonism between the legislative and executive has led to an expenditure of $10,000 more to run the city, which is entirely due to Mr. Moy who seeks a re-election. I call attention to this because he is supported by the Press. Do you know why the Press supports Mr. Moy? The Mono Investment Company is a stockholder to the extent of $2,600 and Mr. Moy is president of the company. How many of you know that Mr. Moy is one of the arbitrators in case any trouble should arise between Mr. Morrow and Mr. Fort and they should be unable to adjust it. I am advised this is a fact. I challenge the Press or Mr. Moy to show where the city has benefitted.

"One day the advertising agent for a circus came along, and he extended a couple of passes to Mr. Moy. Immediately he ran to the Press and told how the Mayor intended to suppress graft, but the next night he was a guest at the Board of Trade banquet, the tickets to which were $5 and he did not object to accepting a ticket.

"The Mayor says that he tried to enforce the law and close every place of business on Sunday. He ran to the chief of police and the Press declaring that every store doing business here on Sunday had been notified to close; even the Seventh Day Baptists and the Jews were to be denied their rights. This man who is greater than the Creator sought to stop them. A Hebrew delegation which waited on the Mayor was told that the day begins at 12 o'clock midnight and ends at 12 o'clock midnight, and if they opened on Saturday night they had no right to open Sunday. The Bible says that it begins and ends at sundown. Yet this superior being said that it was from midnight to midnight. He suggested that the delegation go to some other attorney outside the city for advice and when advised by the chairman that they made their money in the city and wanted to spend it here, this calm egotistical inrdividual leaned back in his chair and said, 'my mind is greater than that of any individual in the city of Plainfield.' I understand that the Mayor denies this statement. Two years ago when the committee over its own signature published it in the Press, Mr. Moy did not deny it. Not until I announced in the newspapers that I would fight free of charge the cases of these people who were being prosecuted, was the prosecution stopped.

"There is not a piece of constructive legislation that Mr. Moy has been responsible for and why should he be elected. The citizens of Plainfield are too broad-minded to endorse such a narrow administration. Under the so-called machine we had as good a government as there was in the country; with such men as Alexander Gilbert, Charles J. Fisk, Dr. O. L. Jenkins and George W. Rockfellow serving as Mayor, the city was not machine ridden. We have another such a candidate for Mayor and we want to remove the smirch which has been brought upon the city by such a narrow-minded man."

Mr. Aron followed Mr. Newcorn. He discussed the candidates of the three parties, Taft, Roosevelt and Wilson, and some of the issues of the campaign. While in his opinion this is an age of "quackocracy," the speaker said that the voters are thinking and he felt sure that the American Republican would assert itself on election day and elect "that splendid gentleman," William Howard Taft.

Mr. Aron touched upon Wilson's candidacy, saying that he was too anxious to get the nomination. He went back to the Cleveland administration, referred to soup houses and the army of unemployed and made a strong appeal to all voters to think well before casting their ballot. He also appealed for votes for Taft on his platform of past party performances and his own individual performances.

Assemblyman W. deLaR. Anderson was invited to say a word for the Assembly nominees in Union county on the Republican ticket, and after declaring that his county would give a majority of 6,500 for Taft, reviewed the history of the last Legislature, and praised the faithful work of Assemblymen George L. Babcock and William Groves, who seek a re-election. He declared that they had both acted with independence, in fact he said that the whole Legislature had been an independent one. What the Progressives promise now, Mr. Anderson said was given the people by the Republican party this year. Mr. Anderson spoke briefly of some of the laws enacted, and of the interest shown in putting through measures for the benefit of the people.

Major William B. Martin, who is a former captain of Co. K, and Peter J. Olde, both of Elizabeth, who are candidates for freeholder, spoke briefly in appealing for votes in support of the ticket. Both declared that the Republican nominees are broad-minded enough to serve the interest of the whole county if elected. Major Martin likened the county to a big corporation and said that on November 5 the people would elect a board of directors to handle all the county funds. He asked the voters to think well before they vote.

Major Martin endorsed the candidacy of William N. Runyon for Congress, and urged all to support him so that in case Wilson should be elected President, he could help in being a safety valve. He added that he did not mean to give the impression that he doubted the election of Taft.

RECKLESS DRIVER WARNED.

When Theodore Cobb, colored, of 639 West Third street, appeared before City Judge DeMeza this morning on a charge of reckless driving preferred by Patrolman Walsh, he was fined $100, but sentence suspended with a warning. He was told by the court if he was ever brought up on a similar charge again, however, he would have to pay the fine, and would probably receive a jail sentence. He was arrested by Walsh yesterday afternoon on Watchung avenue.

Mark Twain's Definition of a Lie.

"There are three kinds of lies," explained the author of Huckleberry Finn; there are lies, darned lies and advertisements.

When Mark used to live in Hannibal, Mo., way back years ago, perhaps the Clothingologists of the town "shot it pretty strong" in their ads.

But the day is passed when advertisements are misstatements.

The business man who would knowingly make misstatements in type, would also go into your pockets when your head was turned.

Take every "ad" you read as 100 per cent. truthful; BUT—go behind the written announcement and see if your opinion of the goods is the same as Mr. Ad. Writer's.

There may be a difference there.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

The names of eight parties will appear on the ballot in the coming election in Pennsylvania.

Governor Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, Democratic candidate for vice president, will close his campaign in Chicago on October 31.

The State ticket in the coming election in Minnesota will contain 107 names, making it the largest ballot in the history of the State.

It is an interesting coincidence that William Sulzer, Democratic candidate for governor of New York, and Job Hedges, Republican candidate for the same place, are both natives of Elizabeth.

Key Pittman, who has been named as the choice of the Democrats of Nevada for United States Senator, is a grand-nephew of Francis Scott Key, who wrote "The Star Spangled Banner."

The Progressives and Democrats of Rhode Island have combined to wrest control of the legislature from the Republicans, with a view to prevent the election of a Republican United States Senator.

Thirty-three seats in the United States Senate will be at stake in the coming election. Of these eighteen are now occupied by Republicans and thirteen by Democrats. Two vacancies, one in Colorado and one in Illinois, bring the total up to thirty-three.

In the coming election in Connecticut the Socialist party will have candidates in every one of the 35 senatorial districts in the State and candidates for representatives in 75 towns and cities. Candidates for Congress and for all State officers also have been named.

Miss Anna Agnes Maley, of Everett, is the candidate of the Socialist party for governor of the State of Washington in the coming election. Miss Maley is believed to be the only woman ever nominated for the office of chief executive of any of the States.

For the third time in her history Kansas is to vote next month on a constitutional amendment providing for woman suffrage. Kansas was the first State in the Union to vote on the matter. This was in 1866. It failed to pass. When the proposition came up for the second time in 1894 it was again defeated.

By no means all the men of twenty-one in the country are qualified voters. Practically every State bars convicts and as there are about 100,000 convicts in the prisons of the country, the election day on November 5 will mean nothing to a whole army of them. In addition to convicts, some of the States deny the right of suffrage to the insane, to non-taxpayers, paupers and United States soldiers and sailors.

Rev. Aaron Sherman Watkins, the Prohibition party candidate for vice president of the United States, was born 49 years ago in Rushsylvania, Ohio. After graduating from Taylor University, Upland, Ind., he became in turn a school teacher, a clergyman, a lawyer and a college professor. He was the Prohibition candidate for vice president four years ago, running with Eugene W. Chafin.

COUNSEL SUM UP IN BECKER CASE

Accused Policeman May Know Fate Tomorrow.

JACK SULLIVAN RECALLED.

Reiterates He Was Offered Big Sum to "Frame" Becker—Will Shapiro, the Driver of Murder Car, Corroborates Jack Rose.

New York, Oct. 23.—Lieutenant Becker, on trial for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, may know his fate tomorrow. The case will be in the jury's hands then. Today was devoted entirely to the summing up for the defense by Mr. McIntyre and for the state by Mr. Moss. Each has four hours—Mr. McIntyre from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m., Mr. Moss from 3:30 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock Justice Goff will deliver his charge to the jury.

These arrangements were ordered by the court yesterday afternoon after the defense had rested its case without calling Becker as a witness and after brief testimony in rebuttal and sur-rebuttal. So that the remarkable record was made in this trial of presenting in only ten working days all of the testimony for and against the defendant. Counting the four days it took to get a jury and the sessions of closing addresses today, one of the most notable and complex of criminal trials will have been finished within fifteen days.

Whitman's Final Shot.

The case of the defense sagged to an end at noon yesterday after their last witnesses had made admissions hurtful to Lieutenant Becker's cause and discouraging to his lawyers. And then the district attorney, as a final blow, hurled against them the testimony of Willie Shapiro, the chauffeur of the murder car, who, bending to the persuasions of his lawyer, Aaron J. Levy, broke away from the gunmen, who cursed him as he left them in the Tombs and corroborated on the witness stand everything that Jack Rose had testified to about the rounding up of the murderers and about their departure from Webber's gambling house to kill Rosenthal.

Shapiro's decision at the last moment to let the gunmen, Jack Sullivan and Becker shift for themselves was a shocking blow to the defense. They had tried to get Shapiro to testify for Becker. In the Tombs the chauffeur had been urged to keep his mouth shut at least. But Levy, his lawyer, advised him that if he hoped to save himself from the electric chair he had better volunteer to tell the truth. So Shapiro made an affidavit covering his connection with the murder. It was not only a detailed corroboration of the testimony of Rose and of the other informers as to the movements of the murderers, but of their accusation that Becker was the director of the murder.

Shapiro Exonerates Vallon.

Shapiro was permitted to testify to practically everything contained in the affidavit except as to what he had heard one of the gunmen say to another about Lieutenant Becker and except as to Jack Sullivan's efforts to get him to say that he had driven Vallon and Schepps from the murder. But he was allowed to testify that he had not seen Vallon or Schepps after he left them with Rose and "Dago Frank" at Webber's poker room. Herein lay the keenest disappointment to the defense. With one word Shapiro destroyed the impression that Becker's lawyers had sought to create that Vallon and Schepps were the actual murderers.

Lieutenant Becker spoke somewhat bitterly over the refusal of his lawyers to let him take the stand and do the best he could for himself. At the close of court and just before he was taken back to the Tombs he was asked why he hadn't been called and what he thought about his case.

"I wanted to testify," he said, "but whenever the matter came up for discussion there was always a difference of opinion. They couldn't agree."

OPERATION IS DELAYED.

Duchess of Marlborough Suffers From Appendicitis.

London, Oct. 23.—The operation on the Duchess of Marlborough, who was formerly Consuelo Vanderbilt, for appendicitis has been postponed. The physicians in attendance have concluded it will be better to wait a few days.

Last week, when the first symptoms were manifested, the duchess was ordered to Harrogate for a month's rest. The duchess was threatened with an attack last year, but after a time it was the opinion of the physicians that an operation would not be necessary.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Scenes of idyllic beauty will be presented by Lyman H. Howe at the Plainfield theatre, Friday and Saturday night, during a delightful pictorial tour on some of the quaint rivers of France. The views are remarkable not merely because of their infinite variety but still more so since they are reproduced in the myriad hues and tints of nature. The subtle delicacy of nature's own colors is shown so accurately that the views seem scarcely short of miraculous. The same may be said of the scenes of historic Versailles and "In and Around Paris." Whaling, the burial of the Maine, the bee industry, a thrilling race between a hydroplane and an 800 horse power motor boat in the harbor of Monaco and an exciting adventure with a ferocious lion are only a few of the other features on a program that is entirely new, excepting only that amazing botanical study entitled "The Birth of Flowers," which Mr. Howe will present again in response to popular demand. No other reproduction that he has ever presented has elicited such numerous requests for another presentation and it is in deference to this wide demand that he offers his patrons another opportunity to peer into one of nature's greatest secrets.

George M. Cohan's comedy, "Get-Rich-Quick Wellingford" makes a distinct appeal to the business man in all branches of this dollar winning game of life. From the moment the optimistic J. Rufus Wallingford brings his whirlwind methods to bear and begins to unfold his rapid wealth-acquiring plans the scene assumes the vividness of actuality that is inspiring. Wallingford's breezy personality is so infectious that the make-believe influence he seeks to command over the rich men of the village he has chosen for his activities is projected over the footlights with the result that, psycologically, the audience received the suggested thought which is tonic-like in its effect and productive of an exhilration that is distinctly beneficial and enjoyable. This play will be seen at the Plainfield theatre, tomorrow night.

NOVELTY DANCES.

The Chrysanthemum Club held its third dance of the season at Debele's Hall, last night. There were about seventy-five couples present. The decorations were autumn foliage and a feature was a bower constructed at the entrance to the hall. The stage was arranged to represent a forest and the effect of the moon dance with the moon shining through the foliage was especially attractive. Novelty dances were on the program and everyone had an enjoyable time. The committee in charge comprised W. H. I. Cubberley, E. A. Doeringer and E. R. Honeyman.

TO INSTALL A "Y."

The trolley company has temporarily repaired the street at West Front street and Grant avenue, pending the installation of a "Y" and the laying of wood block pavement at that corner. This will be done as soon as the Common Council passes on third reading the ordinance introduced for that purpose.

CUT DOWN OLD TREE.

The tree which for a great many years stood at Park avenue and West Second street, in front of Schreiner Bros.' pharmacy, was cut down yesterday, allowing more sidewalk room at that busy corner.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Kister and family, who have been residing on West End avenue for some time, will remove to Brooklyn about November 1. Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Zabriskie and the former's mother, Mrs. Cornelia Zabriskie have leased the residence soon to be vacated.

Furs of Quality Furs of Style

AT CHARLES KURTZMAN'S FUR STORE, 178 EAST FRONT ST.

Why shouldn't you patronize the furrier with whom hundreds of persons have dealt to their perfect satisfaction. We tried our best to assemble our stock from the finest skins in the market and made up by our own workingmen, so that we can positively guarantee the work and quality. Prices are always the lowest because we made up our stock during the summer months, when our expense was much smaller, than in other fancy stores, where you must pay for the looks of the establishment.

Five years in town in one location is the best guarantee to give you, that we keep our promises.

About remodelling and repairing—We always follow your instructions and we are specialists in up-to-date work. No connection with any other store in town.

A PLAINFIELD vs. A NEW YORK ACCOUNT

The advantages to residents of Plainfield and vicinity of maintaining a bank account in The State Trust Company are so numerous that no argument should be necessary to convince those who are now keeping their accounts in New York. Liberal interest rates (3% and 4%), the free collection of out of town checks and the New York checking privilege are but a few of the many advantages that such an account affords. On the other hand a New York account means inconvenience in making deposits, charges on out of town checks and in any many instances no interest on balances.

We offer our splendid facilities to any one who is willing to overcome habit and profit thereby.

SHERLOCK HOLMES IN THE CAMPAIGN

Gillette, at Moose Meeting, Proves Himself Keen Observer of Affairs.

MAKES TELLING SPEECH

Speaks of "Land Gutted by Disreputable Government, Upheld by Contemptible Courts of Justice"—Moy's Speech.

Two speeches on national topics and a brief address by Mayor Moy held the attention of about six hundred men and women, who attended the Progressive mass meeting at Reform Hall last night. Many had undoubtedly been attracted in the expectation that Mayor Moy would reply to the attacks made on him the night before in the same hall by William Newcorn, but they were disappointed on that score, for the Mayor made but the briefest reference to his own candidacy promising that he would later have something to say that would be of interest. Mrs. Sinkovitch, who has been active in social settlement work in New York, proved to be a most entertaining speaker, and William Gillette, the actor, had a droll way of addressing the audience which won him the attention and interest of those present from the start.

Mayor Moy, in opening the meeting assured those present that Progressive meetings were going to be common in the future, and expressed his pleasure at seeing so many women present. He said that the chief reason that the Progressive movement had attained such great prominence and success in such a short time was due to the fact that the women were back of it.

"I had not intended to have much to say tonight," he continued, "but I have learned in the last twenty-four hours that I am another sort of man from what I supposed I was, and in the last two years I have learned that I am more kinds of a man than I ever dreamed of being."

The Mayor then said that prior to his election he had made but one promise, and that was that he would enforce the law, and he said that he had endeavored to make good on that score, and had nothing to defend.

"If you do not want me to continue to enforce the law," he said, "I do not want you to vote for me for reelection. You may rest assured however, that I will do all I can for Plainfield in the future, whether in or out of office."

The Mayor stated that he had no criticism of individual members of the Common Council, nor of the Council as a whole. He said that they had a right to their opinions, and that he had a right to his opinion, and that he had endeavored to show that the Mayor was the executive, and not a part of the legislative branch of the government.

"A charge has been made that I have failed to enact any constructive legislation. That is true, for it is not the duty of the Mayor to do so," he said.

Introducing Mrs. Sinkovitch, the Mayor said that the Progressive party draws by magnetic power to it because it is the party of humanity. When she took the rostrum she said that somehow or other the political meetings of today do not seem like the old fashioned orthodox political meetings, which resulted in scrimmages, with the throwing of eggs, and other unpleasant features. She told how her father was an old soldier, had always been a Republican, and took a very gloomy view of the new order of things. She said that in a campaign she liked to be with the people who took a stand for something. She said that hardly anyone knew just where the Democrats stand, and that she was not sure she knew just what a Democrat was. "We all know where the Republicans stand," she said, "and I'm sure I don't want to stand with them."

"They say that the Progressive party is an emotional party," said the speaker. "Well, why shouldn't it be? Isn't there emotion in art, in business? Wouldn't a party without emotion be a dying party. I think that an emotional party is what this country needs. Then they say that we are a party of amateurs. Well, that may be so, but I have never heard anyone call Colonel Roosevelt an amateur; neither has anyone accused Jane Addams of being an amateur, or perhaps Bill Flynn, of Pittsburg. It is true that a lot of us are amateurs, but that is the beauty of the movemeent. Louis Brandeis presents as an objection against the Progressive party that its program is one of social reform gotten up by a few and passed out to the people. Haven't we got to win by the votes of those people.

"They say the Progressives are not straight on the tariff question. It does not seem as if the American nation was straight on that question. We are going to have downward revision, regardless of what party goes

INTERDENOMINATIONAL MISSION STUDY WORK

Steps Toward Federation Taken at Meeting in First Baptist Church.

Women from the various churches of the city who are interested in both home and foreign missions met at the First Baptist church, yesterday afternoon, and took steps toward organizing what will be known as the Plainfield Interdenominational Federation for Mission Study. There were about thirty women present and all were enthusiastic in discussing the plans as outlined by the temporary chairman, Mrs. Martin I. Cooley. It was explained that the organization would be patterned somewhat after the one in the Oranges, which has been in existence for several years and has been very successful.

Mrs. Cooley named the following as a nominating committee to select permanent officers to be elected at a meeting at the same place, Monday afternoon, November 11, at 3 o'clock: Mrs. G. H. Condict, Hope chapel; Mrs. E. Frank Vail, Park Avenue Baptist church; Mrs. W. C. Hubbard, Seventh-Day Baptist church; Mrs. I. C. Pierson, Crescent Avenue church; Mrs. Nelson A. Miller and Mrs. J. C. Peck, First M. E. church; Mrs. J. M. Whiton, Congregational church, with Mrs. Cooley and Mrs. Charles H. Smith, the temporary secretary, as ex-officio officers for the present.

It is expected that at the next meeting the organization will be completed and a program for the coming year decided upon by the women. It is the desire that women from all the churches identify themselves with the federation and co-operate in the movement to advance the cause of home and foreign missions.

Before adjournment, Mrs. Cooley appointed the following as a foreign mission committee: Mrs. E. W. Poinier, First Presbyterian church; Mrs. C. L. Goodrich, Congregational church; Mrs. Nelson A. Miller, First M. E. church; Mrs. J. C. Pierson, Monroe Avenue M. E. church; Mrs. Heath, Grace M. E. church; Mrs. W. C. Hubbard, Seventh-Day Baptist church; Miss White, First Baptist church; Mrs. Evarts C. Conover, Temple Baptist church; Mrs. F. St. John Fitch, Park Avenue Baptist church; Mrs. Royal A. Stout, Netherwood Reformed church; Mrs. G. H. Condict, Hope chapel; Mrs. S. K. Monroe, Grace Episcopal church; Miss Davis, Holy Cross church, and Miss Harriet Halloway.

During the third week in November there will be a general observance of "home mission week," and arrangements are being made to hold a meeting at the First Baptist church, at which Hans Freece, a converted Mormon, will be present and give an address on "Mormonism." Mrs. Grace Williams is in charge of the arrangements for that meeting.

MRS. E. F. FEICKERT URGES WOMEN TO ENTER POLITICS

Trenton, Oct. 24.—Twenty-three women from Trenton, Lambertville, Pennington and Princeton were nominated as members of the county committee of the Mercer County Progressive league yesterday afternoon after listening to inspiring addresses by Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of High Bridge, daughter of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe; Mrs. Edward T. Feickert, of Plainfield, a member of the New Jersey State Progressive Committee and president of the New Jersey Woman's Suffrage Asociation, and Miss Mary Emma Jones, of this city, also a member of the New Jersey State Progressive Committee and widely known among women's clubs of Trenton.

Mrs. Feickert dwelt chiefly upon those portions of the Progressive party platform which had been enumerated by Mrs. Hall, enlarging on them somewhat and explaining their benefits and good qualities, also showing their need by referring to past legislation that had been and had not been enacted in New Jersey. The Progressive party, she stated, was the only party that has given the women of the country a square deal. Many women look upon politics in a sort of awe and hesitate about entering a political campaign, but, said Mrs. Feickert, politics surround our homes on every side and it is not at all out of the way for women to go into politics.

GUILD OF HOLY CROSS OPENS SOCIAL SERIES

First of Monthly Parish Events Proves a Delightful Success.

The first of a series of monthly socials to be given this winter under the auspices of the Women's Guild of the Holy Cross Episcopal church, was held last night in the church parlors. A delightful program was presented and a general social time followed.

Mrs. Francis Sill and Mrs. Frank Allen, forming the committee on decorations had the spacious room beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and chrysanthemums. Among those who furnished the musical entertainment were William J. Thiers, tenor, and William G. Smith, basso, who sang several selections, accompanied by Miss Laura Long on the piano. Miss Dorothy Langford favored with classical and popular music on the piano. All joined in the singing of songs. Toward the close of the evening refreshments were served.

Among the guests were the Rev. William S. McCoy, pastor of the church, and the Rev. Cortland H. Mallery, of the Church of Heavenly Rest. The committee of arrangement was composed of Mrs. J. O. Stevens, chairman; Mrs. Herbert Langford, Miss Louise Davis and Miss Ida Davis.

Socials of similar character to last night's pleasant affair will be given by the Women's Guild the last Wednesday of every month. The object of the meetings is to bring the members of the congregation together so they will become better acquainted, and to welcome the new members to the various departments of the church.

The arrangement committee is composed of the following owls: John Murphy, chairman; William H. Randall, John Clark, Henry De Mott, John Wideman and Jacob Schlick. The latter will be floor manager.

TRIANGLE CHAMPION NOT DISPLACED BY BOY WONDER

In a match game of pool between Joseph Concanon, of Newark, champion of the world on the triangle table, and Harry Stites, the thirteen-year-old phenomenon, of this city, played last night at Stites' Billiard Auditorium in the Abrams' Building, the champion successfully defended his title, winning by the score of 200 points to 142 for his opponent. The high runs were: Concanon, 27, 15 and 12. Stites, 11, 9 and 8.

The first game of a billiard tournament will be held November 1.

BISHOP OF NEW YORK TO BE THE PREACHER

Following its annual custom, Grace church parish will hold its yearly celebration or festival on All Saints' day, which falls on Friday, November 1. The rector, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, has arranged for a service at 8 o'clock on that evening, when there will be a short form of choral evensong.

The preacher this year will be the Right Reverand David H. Greer, D. D., LL. D., bishop of the diocese of New York. The rector will officiate at the service and may possibly be assisted by other clergymen.

BECKER'S LIFE IN THE BALANCE

Jury Takes Over Case This Afternoon, After Judge's Charge.

GOFF'S INSTRUCTIONS

Tells Jurymen if Becker Told Rose to Hire Killers, Then Everything That Rose Did Becker Did—Finished at 1:30.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Oct. 24.—When the jurors in the Becker case came into court this morning they brought with them their traveling bags and various impediments they had at their hotel indicating that they were prepared for but a short stay in court and an early start home.

Lieut. Becker sat stolidly without moving an eyelid and heard the charge to the jury, upon which his life depends, begun by Justice Goff. Not far away from the prisoner sat Mrs. Becker. She displayed far more emotion than her husband.

Supreme Court Justice Goff began his address to the jury just before 11 o'clock. In the course of his charge Justice Goff said: "There are three points to be decided. First, Whether Becker directed Rose to kill Rosenthal; Second, Whether Rose did hire the men to kill Rosenthal; Third, Whether the men Rose hired did kill Rosenthal. If it be true that Becker gave Rose such instructions, I instruct you that Becker constituted Rose his agent and that anything Rose did Becker did. If the proof satisfies you that Becker instructed Rose to have Rosenthal killed, it is immaterial by what means the instructions were carried out."

Justice Goff concluded his address to the Becker jury at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

When the jury felt the Criminal Court building at 2:20 o'clock this afternoon it was announced they would not return to the jury room to take up the Becker case until 4 o'clock.

WHO IS ENTITLED TO EGGS LAID BY REPLEVINED HEN?

Among the articles levied on by Constable Rockefeller to recover a recent judgment for the First National Bank against Marshall E. Tilden and Joseph Shepard, who are doing business as the Cement Products Manufacturing Company, were fifty-five chickens, said to be the property of Mr. Tilden.

Upon the motions, in the District Court, of Charles L. Dolliver and Robert Newton Crane, representing the constable, adjournment of the case for one week was granted today. The fouls are in the custody of the law. What Constable Rockefeller wants to know is, "Who is going to care for the chickens, and who is going to get the eggs?"

MEETING A FIASCO AT DIAMOND HILL

Citizens Suspicious of Ballots' Legality, Don't Vote—Taxpayers Organize.

The third of the township meetings which has been called by the New Providence Township Board of Education to deal with the problems of the Diamond Hill School was held Tuesday evening at that school, which has now been closed for some weeks. The meeting was called to vote on a request of the Board for an appropriation of $3,000 for a new building at Diamond Hill, and for one of $2,000 for the completion of the new school at Berkeley Heights.

In the course of the discussion it was disclosed that a few weeks ago the State authorities approved the reopening of the Diamond Hill School after alterations, which would cost only $530, and overwhelming opposition was manifested to putting a debt of $3,000 more upon a small township which had just incurred indebtedness of $15,500 for a new school.

Just as the meeting was about to proceed to balloting, it was pointed out that there was a marked discrepancy between the business which was provided for on the ballots as printed by the Board and that which was set forth in the call for the meeting. Holding that this was in violation of the law and would invalidate any action that might be taken, the meeting voted with practical unanimity to decline to use the ballots and to adjourn without taking any action upon the requests for appropriations.

A taxpayers' meeting was held immediately afterwood, at which a committee of three citizens outside of the Board of Education, consisting of Leonidas Dennis, Simon Peter Debbie and Frank Volght, was appointed to confer with the State authorities concerning plans for the rehabilitation of Diamond Hill. It is hoped that a new school district may ultimately be created, comprising parts of New Providence Borough and New Providence, Fanwood and North Plainfield Townships, all of which have been sending children to the Diamond Hill School, in which a modern graded school may be erected.

ORIGINAL COMPANY FOR GEO. M. COHAN SCREAMS

Teaching a lesson in an atmosphere of laughter, and, at the same time presenting two great truths form the fundamental foundation and reason for the success of George M. Cohan's comedy, "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," with the original company which comes to the Plainfield theatre tonight.

The two truths that combine to form the interesting theme of this play are, that the love of a good woman will work the salvation of any man, and that if the average man who lives by his wits would devote the same amount of energy and ingenuity to honest business that he does to shady transactions he would find great legitimate success. "Wallingford," who has been a successful "crook," finds the good woman in the person of his stenographer and her influence ultimately rehabilitates the morals of the sauve, believable and lovable scamp-hero and his shady pal, "Blackie" Daw. The characters drawn by Mr. Cohan are easily found in real life and they have been made real for the stage.

THEIR IDEA OF NEW PAY SCALE

Firemen Submit Suggestion on Wages to Council Committee.

ORDINANCE IS REQUIRED

Too Late to Lay Question of Advancement Before Voters This Year—Petition For Necessary Ordinance is Filed.

The paid members of the city fire department, together with the members of the Firemen's Benevolent Association, has petitioned the Common Council, through the fire and building committee, to increase the salaries of the firemen through the adoption of an ordinance. Recently, the firemen asked the Council for permission to submit the question to a vote of the people, but it was learned that it was then too late to allow the question to come up at the next general election. In view of this the firemen have asked that the raise be made through the adoption of an ordinance, and it is suggested that hereafter the pay be as follows:

To the chief engineer the sum of two thousand dollars per annum; to the assistant chief engineer the sum of fifteen hundred dollars per annum; to the captains or foremen of companies each the sum of thirteen hundred and fifty dollars per annum; to stokers, drivers, tillerman, hosemen, trackmen, each for the first year of service the sum of seven hundred and ninety-two dollars per annum; for the second year of service each the sum of eight hundred and eighty-eight dollars per annum; for the third year of service each the sum of nine hundred and eighty-four dollars per annum; for the fourth year of service each the sum of ten hundred and eighty dollars per annum; for the fifth year of service and each year of service thereafter the sum of twelve hundred dollars per annum.

STIRRING LECTURE ON HEROIC WALDENSIANS

Palermo Professor Tells of Martyred but Triumphant Protestant People.

An illustrated lecture on the work and advancement of the Waldensian church in Italy was delivered by Prof. Alberto Clot, of the University of Palmero, at the midweek meeting of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church last eveening. He spoke of the work done by the Waldensian church among the lower as well as the better class of Italians in their home towns and how they distribute circulars and pamphlets to the immigrates to prepare them for their coming to this country. He told how they keep in touch with the immigrants and how those connected with the missions in Italy are scattering all over this country and are forming churches and missions where they settle, how a number of these Protestant Italians are becoming good citizens; and how in several cases they have run for public office.

Views were thrown upon the screen showing parishes all through Italy, Sicily and Cardinia, of the disasters incurred by the churches during the earthquake in Messina, and of the improvements in the building of churches.

Prof. Colt spoke of the school system installed by the Waldensian church, the night and day classes, and how the catholics send their children to these schools instead of the free institutions of learning furnished by the Catholic religion. He said that parents of the children seem to appreciate the value of the protestant schools and would rather have their children attend them.

At the close of his lecture Prof. Colt asked for the help of the churches in this city in the advancement of the work in Italy and this country.

Prof. Colt addressed the Italians present in their own language and after the meeting was over learned that three of those present had been members of his classes in Messina and had decided to go back to their native country and help with the advancement of the work.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

NOT A DOUBT EXISTS ABOUT MIDDLESEX

Wilson and Democratic Sweep Indicated—G. O. P. is Disrupted.

New Brunswick, Oct. 24.—Middlesex Republicans have adopted the ninth beatitude, "Blessed are they that expect nothing for they shall not be disappointed," as their motto, and are religiously living up to it.

Someone, it is said, once began an erudite essay on "The Snakes of Ireland," with the statement "there are no snakes in Ireland." An article on the Republican organization in Middlesex might truthfully begin the same way. There is no organization, no money and nobody but the candidates doing any work.

The notion that the two factions in the Republican party have come together and are working in harmony for the ticket, is all moonshine. There is no harmony and never will be so long as Theodore Strong has anything to do with the party organization. Under his leadership the Republican party in Middlesex has gone steadily from bad to worse until now the opposition treats it with scarcely concealed contempt. So far as known, not a single Republican banner has been raised in the county this year. Certainly there is none in New Brunswick and no signs that there will be.

Middlesex is one of the counties that elect State Senators this year. At present it is unrepresented, George S. Silzer having resigned to accept the county prosecutorship. Silzer, during his two terms as Senator, made a State-wide reputation as a champion of reform and progressive legislation, and did much to strengthen his party in his home county.

There are three candidates for the Senate, all former members of the Assembly and all hailing from Perth Amboy. John F. Ten Broeck, the Republican candidate, was the only Republican Assemblyman elected from Middlesex last year and was nominated for Senator because of his supposed popularity. His opponent on the Democratic ticket is Dr. William E. Ramsay, who was a member in 1907, 1909 and 1910.

In the last named year Ten Broeck was one of his opponents and received the highest vote on the Republican ticket. In spite of that fact, Ramsay defeated him by 1,213 plurality. The Progressives have named Adrian Lyon, who was in the Assembly in 1900 and 1901, and was afterward Common Pleas judge of the county. Lyon is popular and will take a good many votes away from Ten Broeck.

In all probability Wilson would have carried the entire county ticket with him even had there been no Progressive ticket in the field. Now, with the assistance of the Bull Moose followers, the Democratic victory will be overwhelming. Just how large the Progressive vote will be cannot even be conjectured, buut that it will be heavy is admitted on all sides. Some of the more enthusiastic of the Progressive leaders believe Roosevelt will poll more votes than Taft, and nobody need be surprised if this should prove to be the fact.

While there are plenty of Progressives in New Brunswick their presence is not so pronounced there as it is elsewhere in the county. Perth Amboy is full of them, and so are the other water-front towns. Out around Spotswood and Jamesburg, over at Dunellen and New Market, and, in fact, everywhere outside the county seat the Progressive sentiment is preponderant.

The Progressive Assembly ticket is admitted to be superior to the Republican ticket, and it is believed that a large proportion of the Roosevelt voters will take the ticket straight. Republicans need not hope for help from Middlesex in retaining a majority in the Senate.

Middlesex is in the Third Congressional District. Thomas J. Scully, Democrat, the present member, is a resident of the county, living at South Amboy. He was elected two years ago by a plurality of 4,500 over Benjamin F. Howell, of New Brunswick, who had represented the district for sixteen years. Scully's plurality in the county was 1,995. The Republican candidate is Benjamin F. R. Brown, a Monmouth county newspaper editor, who ran at the primaries as a Progressive Republican. The Progressives named Mark O. Prentiss, of Middlesex, as their candidate, but he later withdrew in favor of Brown, so that the fight is a straight-out one between Scully and Brown, with the latter expecting the support of the Progressives.

Nevertheless Scully's election is conceded by Republicans. He has made a good record in his first term, is widely popular, a good campaigner and knows how to make friends among all classes. Brown is prominent in the Junior O. U. A. M. and other patriotic organizations, and is expected to get their solid support, but these are mostly Republicans, anyhow, and what gains Brown may make in this way from Democrats will be more than offset by accessions from the Republican ranks.

Brown is likely to carry Ocean county by a small plurality, but both Middlesex and Monmouth will be for Scully and he will be re-elected.

Plainfield, N. J., October 24, 1912.

Despite all the sharp and often harsh criticism it has incurred, the Salvation Army is one of the most powerful influences for good in the world. Here and everywhere, it has a corps of consecrated men and women devoting their lives to save the unfortunate, the wayward and the criminal. Its friends declare that there would be no reason for the existence of this mighty army were the churches doing their full duty, but be as it may, the Salvation Army is a tremendous force for the saving and uplifting of hardened souls and for the relief of those in distress. Founded but forty-two years ago by that great Christian soldier, the late General Booth, it is at work in every land and in every clime.

Of this most remarkable evangelical movement of our time, Current Literature gives these interesting facts.

It operates in fifty-six countries and colonies, utilizing twenty-eight languages.

It has more than nineteen thousand commissioned officers who command seven thousand corps of soldiers and enrolls several million adherents.

Its weekly paper, the War Cry, is published in twenty-eight languages.

The combined circulation of its periodicals exceeds a million copies a week.

It maintains more than a hundred rescue homes, more than two hundred shelter and food depots and five hundred other social institutions of various types.

It supplies during the course of a year ten million free meals and five million free beds.

A brand new type of newspaper reporter has been revealed in the person of Hawley, who was called in the Becker case to prove an alibi for the police lieutenant on trial for murder. This exceptional species of a newspaper man swore to evidence which was vital and for the first time opened his mouth although he was on the reportorial staff of an evening paper. Had he reported to his city editor the morning after the murder the story he told on the stand, his paper would have had the biggest sort of a scoop on its rivals. He was being paid to get just such sort of information and naturally any reporter, even the least ambitious one, would have lost not a moment in rushing to his city editor. That's what makes his testimony so amusing to the newspaper fraternity. Even though his tale had not been proven false by subsequent testimony, that man Hawley could never have gotten a single newspaper man in the country to believe hihm. His type of a reporter does not exist.

There is nothing that cannot be obtained or disposed of through the advertising columns of a daily newspaper. As the Philadelphia Record says: "The possibilities of newspaper advertising cover the whole range of products that a comfortably situated man or woman may want or be induced to want, from automobiles to loaves of bread and from diamonds to clothespins. To realize those possibilities the only essentials are worth in the product, regularity and vigor in the advertising, and judgment in the selection of the kind of newspaper that is read by the kind of people who are likely to be prospects." The Daily Press is unexcelled as an advertising medium in this vicinity.

Unquestionably, the people have a perfect right to know where a candidate stands on the problems of a municipality particularly when he appeals to them for support to send him to the Common Council or the Mayoralty chair. A nominee who will not trust the people before election is not to be trusted by them after election. Twelve questions, including the chief problems of the municipality, have been put to the mayoralty and councilmanic candidates by this paper and their replies will be published for the information of the voters.

Mayor Harrison has done a sensible thing in putting a stop to any general "tag days" in Chicago. He has forbidden the soliciting of money for charity by this scheme and his example should be followed by other city executives. "Tag day" is nothing less than a polite form of the "hold-up" game.

"Joe" Cannon's automobile fetched $600 at a sale in Washington a few days ago. Once upon a time, the famous stand-patter owned another machine worth much more than that to him.

SOMETHING OF THE LIFE OF EFREM ZIMBALIST

The first visit to Plainfield of Efrem Zimbalist, one of the world's famous violinists, has excited a good deal of interest and speculation as to his nationality and career. Mr. Zimbalist was born 23 years ago in Rostov, Russia, and is one of a family of seven, all musical. His father conducts an orchestra while a younger brother bids fair to secure a distinguished career as a 'cellist.

Efrem Zimbalist.

Prof. Leopold Auer, of St. Petersburgh, teacher of a number of the best known violinists of the day, spared no pains to make Zimbalist his banner pupil.

At the St. Petersburgh Conservatory, Zimbalist was awarded the Royal Stipendium of 1200 rubles for two years, besides capturing a gold medal of an order rarely given. Other honors followed fast and today, despite his youth, Zimbalist has achieved triumphs that prove him one of the greatest masters of the violin. His recitals in Berlin, Paris, London and New York have created a furor, leading invariably to return engagements.

Highly educated, of refined personality, devoid of mannerism or ostentation, Zimbalist, by the sheer power of his art invariably takes the most critical audience by storm. He has appeared with the Boston Symphony, Philharmonic Society, Thomas Orchestra of Chicago, Cincinnati Orchestra and in all the principal cities of the United States. To hear Zimbalist is a revelation. The violin with all its power to please shows under his masterly skill new possibilities of expression, and a height of enjoyment seldom realized.

A rare piece of news for music students and music lovers who could not otherwise attend this concert is contained in Mr. McIntyre's announcement that yielding to a very general request he will put on sale at Armstrong's tomorrow 50 admission tickets at half the usual price.

YEGGS ESCAPE WHEN AUTO IS INTERCEPTED BY POLICE

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Perth Amboy, Oct. 24.—Three yeggmen today blew the postoffice safe here and escaped in an auto with $1,000 in stamps and $63 in cash. They started toward Newark and just outside that city two policemen intercepted the car. The negro chauffeur ditched the car, the three yeggs escaping into the woods. The negro was captured. The stolen stamps were found in the car.

IN BALKAN WAR.

Bulgarian Soldiers Building Temporary Railroad to Send Supplies.

The Bulgarians have proved themselves good campaigners. With an army of nearly 200,000 in the field it was no child's play to push as rapidly to the front as King Ferdinand's men have done. The construction corps was forced to work to its limit. Railway tracks had to be laid at places for the shorter and better transportation of the troops. The illustration shows the corps in action laying tracks.

T. R., GAINING, HOPES TO DIRECT CAMPAIGN

Expects to See Leaders Today and Tomorrow.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 24.—The improvement shown by Colonel Roosevelt after many hours of complete rest in the quiet of his own home was most reassuring. So much was he strengthened by a long night's sleep and the hearty breakfast which he promptly demanded upon awakening that the strict injunction issued that he must see no one yesterday was modified to the extent of permitting him to have a short chat with Dr. Lyman Abbott and George W. Perkins. Dr. Abbott was the first visitor outside of the family admitted to the patient's sickroom since his return. He was accompanied by his two sons, Lawrence and Ernest Abbott.

When the attending physicians left Sagamore Hill to return to New York after dressing the ex-president's wound and settling him comfortably for the night, they gave out this bulletin:

"Colonel Roosevelt has been resting in bed since his return home. He is distinctly better. His wound shows that the healthy healing processes are going on.

"JOSEPH A. BLAKE,
"GEORGE E. BREWER,
"ALEXANDER LAMBERT,
"GEORGE W. FALLER."

Dr. Faller, whose name appears for the first time, is a physician residing in Oyster Bay.

Except for the visitors mentioned, no one was admitted to the Roosevelt home during the day. Today or tomorrow, if he continues to evidence the same steady improvement, William H. Hotchkiss and the other party leaders will be allowed to confer with their chief. It is but a matter of a few days before he will resume the direction of his campaign.

FORTUNE FOR A RIDE.

Abner Whiteley's Heirs Cut Off For a Carriage and Flowers.

Kansas City, Oct. 24.—When Mrs. Goldie Cole of Carroll county, Mo., visited Kansas City several years ago her brother, William A. Whiteley, a hotel clerk, took her to a healer in a carriage and also gave her a bunch of roses. Because of this extravagance neither of them was remembered in the division of the estate of their millionaire grandfather, Abner Whiteley of Kansas City.

Suit was filed by Mrs. Cole and Whiteley here to set aside deeds to the property their grandfather left to other heirs and asking that they receive an eighth of the estate.

DOG GUARDS DEAD MASTER.

Blind Canine Faithful After Death in Massachusetts Woods.

Boston, Oct. 24.—Guarded by his blind dog, the body of Hosea B. Littlefield was found in a clump of bushes at Wyoming station, near this city. Littlefield's throat was cut. His body was considerably decomposed. The dog was nearly starved, but refused to eat until he had seen his master put under ground.

The faithful pet had been Littlefield's companion for many years. It was only by using strategy that those who buried the body were able to approach the dog and the master he was so dutifully watching over.

The hospital physicians said the nurse might die from the shock to her at the time of her fatal error.

THE MAYORALTY.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I should like to ask G. A. Miller to define a democratic Democrat upon whom he calls to vote for Mr. Moy because he cannot learn how Mr. Stewart voted in 1908. If a knowledge of that fact is at all pertinent in our mayoralty election, why does not Mr. Miller ask how Mr. Moy voted at that time? Prior to Mr. Moy's candidacy as an independent with Democratic endorsement he was generally supposed to belong to the Republican party, and presumably voted for Mr. Taft in 1908. So where is the choice today on any such ground? If Mr. Miller thinks the Democratic party has won an election in the last fifty years by the votes of those whom he designates as democratic Democrats either he has a short memory or has read recent history incorrectly. Who elected Cleveland in 1884 and in 1892? Who elected Wilson in 1910? Mr. Miller, I should judge, thinks that a political party is an end in itself, and not a means to an end; in other words, once a Democrat, always a Democrat, no matter who is the candidate or what he stands for.

There is no reason why any voter should be influenced in his choice for local office by his reasons for supporting one of the three presidential candidates. The real question that presents itself is not how Mr. Stewart or Mr. Codington or Mr. Moy voted in 1908 or any other year, but which one of them is best fitted to serve the people of Plainfield in the office of mayor. I trust that no voter, whatever his affiliation in national politics, will be influenced to vote for or against any of the mayoralty candidates by Mr. Miller's question with its implied argument and his gratuitous advice.

Good citizenship is preferable to blind partisanship.

LICENSE FEES.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press.

You recently published in the Press the draft of an amendment to the ordinance governing the sale of liquor in the City of Plainfield, which increases the license fee from $1,000 to $1,200. This also calls for the application to be made in January to be passed on in February, to take effect in March.

Why this increase? Is it not possible that it is the intention of the Council to refuse two licenses next year? By increasing the license fee the income of the city will not be affected and by calling for the application to be passed on in February it will give the applicants whose license are refused a month to dispose of their stock.

Is it the intention of the Council to create a "Liquor Trust" in the city of Plainfield and can the Council legally confine the selling of liquor to any specified district within the city limits.

Would it not serve the interests of the people better to increase the license fee and devote the increase to the paying of a salaried inspector whose duty it shall be to pass upon the quality and purity of the liquor sold?

KING'S DAUGHTERS WILL HOLD A "JIGGER DAY"

The Cup Bearers' Circle of the King's Daughters has hit upon a novel plan to raise money for carrying on its work. Through an arrangement with William M. Walsh, the druggist at Watchung and North avenues, the young women of the circle are to have charge of the soda water fountain at his store on Wednesday, November 6, from 9 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night, and they will serve all the latest drinks.

The young women have appropriated the name "Jigger Day" for the affair, borrowing that name from the Lawrenceville and Hill Schools. There will also be a sale of cake and candy. The circle has tried all sorts of plans for raising money, but believe this latest scheme will be the best of all.

The Junior Epworth League of the First M. E. church will hold its first meeting of the season in Vincent chapel tomorrow afternoon, when officers for the coming year will be elected.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

DRESS NOTES.

Paris Favors Contrast In Suit Materials—Cross Stitch Embroidery.

Velvet and faced cloth is one of the favorite combinations of the season. Another happy unison is satin and serge.

Tailor mades as worn in Paris have the coat and skirt of distinct coloring, the revers, collar, cuffs and buttons being of the same material as the skirt.

Cross stitch embroidery has proved a very happy trimming for linen frocks, and it is likely to be used on gowns of heavier material. When worked in two colors it adds a most effective touch to a cloth gown.

The suit illustrated is a good looking one for winter and includes the two material effect that is so smart this season. The plain fabric is navy blue serge, and the stripe is a black and white effect that is strikingly effective.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

These May Manton patterns are cut for girls of sixteen and eighteen years of age for the skirt and for the coat in sizes for girls of fourteen, sixteen and eighteen years of age. Send 10 cents each for the patterns to this office, giving numbers, skirt 7411 and coat 7469, and they will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

STEWED BEEFSTEAK.

WHEN a steak is not as tender as it should be one way of making it eatable is to stew it. Stewed steak is both tender and palatable.

Various ways of preparing it are given here.

Plain Stewed Beefsteak.—Take about a pound of steak cut into pieces and put it into a frying pan in which a little butter has been heated and brown well on both sides. Season with salt and pepper and add a little stock or water. Simmer this for a couple of hours, adding water occasionally as it is needed. Ten minutes before it is to be used thicken with flour.

Savory Beef.

Beefsteak Smothered With Onions.—Cut six onions up fine. Put them in a saucepan with two cupfuls of hot water, about two ounces of good butter and a dash of salt and pepper. Dredge with flour. Let it stew until the onions are soft. Then have the steak broiled and put into the saucepan with the onions. Simmer about ten minutes and send to the table hot.

Plain Stewed Steak.—Put the steak into a stewpan, with a lump of butter, over a slow fire and turn it until the butter has become a fine white gravy. Then pour it into a bowl and put more butter to the steak. When the steak is nicely done take it out, return all the gravy to the stewpan and fry the steak. Then add it to the gravy in the stewpan, with a tablespoonful of ketchup and a finely sliced onion. Stew it for ten minutes and serve. Or fry the steak merely at first, then put it into half a pint of water with an onion sliced, a spoonful of walnut ketchup, pepper and salt. Thicken with flour and butter and serve it very hot.

Steak With Shellfish.

Stewed Beefsteak and Oysters.—Take two pounds of steak, a pint of oysters, a tablespoonful each of lemon juice and flour, three tablespoonfuls of butter, one cupful of water and salt and pepper to taste. Wash the oysters in the water. Strain into a saucepan and put this liquor on to boil. Then skim and set on the back of the stove. Put on the frying pan, melt the butter it it and put in the steak. Cook the meat for ten minutes, sprinkling it with a teaspoonful of salt. Take out the steak and drop the flour into the butter, stirring it until it is dark brown. Then add the oyster liquor and boil it for about a minute. Season with a dash of salt and pepper. Put the steak back, cover the frying pan and let it simmer for a half hour. Then drop in the oysters and lemon juice. Simmer for a minute or more. Serve on a hot dish with small squares of toast.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.
Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

On Friday, November 8, at 2 p. m., Mrs. Edwin C. Grice will speak to the State Congress of Mothers in Riverton, on "Constructive Activity," and will give definite suggestions for the energies of Mothers' Circles. Mrs. Grice will be recalled as the first speaker heard here on Parent-Teachers work when the Franklin School Association was organized. Mrs. Grice has always stood for the spiritual side of the work as paramount to any material benefit to be obtained. Ten or twelve delegates from Plainfield will attend the meeting in Riverton and have planned to leave in a party Friday morning. Additional information may be obtained from Mrs. William Sandford, Jr., 'Phone 1351-W.

The Home and School League of Philadelphia will hold an annual meeting on Friday and Saturday of this week. The league is to Philadelphia what Parent-Teachers' Association is to New Jersey and has for its object the harmonizing of home and school work.

The Mothers' Association, of Bound Brook, had a large attendance at its October meeting and much interest is shown in the year's work. Eight meetings have been planned. "The Rights of Childhood" will be the subject for the November meeting; "A Talk About Christmas" for December; "Making the Boy Into a Good Citizen," for January; "The Girl In Her 'Teens," for February. A children's meeting for April, with stories told by Miss Elizabeth Colson; and a social meeting for May. This association is allied with the Congregational church, where the meetings are held.

Among the hundreds of things said by the Congress of Doctors, which met in Washington last week, the following are important to mothers:

That oysters and clams should not be eaten raw, for they may be bearers of typhoid germs.

That the common house fly, rats and mice are a source of danger to health and should be exterminated.

That pubic schools should have evening classes for mothers; so many mothers do not know how to care for their children properly.

That there should be a card-index follow-up system for keping a record of the health of school children and seeing that their teeth, adenoids and defects of all kinds have proper attention at the proper time.

A conference on the Atypical Child will be held in the College of the City of New York on October 30-31 and November 1, when the topics, "The Exceptionally Bright Child," "The Retarded Child" and "Rational Human Eugenics" will be considered.

According to a weekly bulletin issued by the Chicago health department one thousand girls between the ages of 12 and 15 years are now attending the "little mothers'" classes in thirty-one schools and one parochial school that have been thrown open to the work. The children are instructed in the care of babies. Classes are being held weekly.

HOLMES IN CAMPAIGN

in. Why, even if Taft is re-elected we will have downward revision, and no one even suggests that he is going to be re-elected."

The speaker stirred the greatest enthusiasm when she said that the one thing which made the Progressive party admirable was the fact that when they started out there were few if any who thought they had a chance to win, but that they had entered the cause for the principles involved.

"Whether we win or not this time," she said, "the party is here to stay. It is very funny that although they all say that we are absolutely out of the runing, everybody seems to be unusually anxious about us.

"If Governor Wilson should be elected he would have a terrible time of it. The poor man does not realize the trouble there is ahead for him. Why he will have a regular grab bag to contend with a sort of a patchwork quilt of conflicting factions within the party. He can never pull the opposites together, and if you stop and think for a moment you will realize that his best friends would be the Progressives.

"They criticize Colonel Roosevelt because he changes his point of view. He is merely keeping up with the thought of the time. Why Gladstone changed his mind so often that Colonel Roosevelt remains stationery in comparison, but no one criticized Mr. Gladstone. Idealists used to say that they wanted to hitch their wagon to a star. Nowdays the idea is to hitch the star to that wagon, and make an electric car out of it."

Mr. Gillette, who achieved his greatest fame by his dramatization of "Sherlock Holmes," presented last night enough evidence of having probed into the way which the government has been run at Washington to show that not only for stage purposes had he been studying the detective methods. He said that the New York papers had tried to prove that the Progressives were demagogues because such men as Mr. Perkins and Mr. Straus were mere amateurs in politics.

"That's only too true," smiled the actor-playwright-orator, "it is a campaign of amateurs against professionals who have made their trade politics. It is only my deep feeling for the nation, home and government which brings me, a rank amateur, out, for in the Progressive movement I see a method to rid the country of its betrayers, and a chance to unite into one party to fight the common enemy.

"When you want anything done you go to a trained man to have it attended to. If you want a leaky pipe fixed you don't call in a dentist, or send for a baseball shortstop when you want a tooth filled. The government has been the last place where trained men have been placed. We all read about the experts in legislation at Washington, but it's a bad dream when we try to show that they are there working for us. We go through the campaign shouting down with this, and up with that, and after it is all over and the musical instruments have been put away, the men we elect go to Washington and find that they have neither gone up or down—that the same old 'boss-eaten' parties are in control and they always will be unless stopped now. When we choose a man for the Presidency in ordinary times we don't pay much attention to the work that ought to be done, but have always chosen men who are great in their way. It is only in the case of an emergency that the people rise up and get the man for the work, as when Lincoln was chosen.

"The other day a lot of reporters braved the rigors of New Jersey to round up Thomas A. Edison, to find out whom he was going to vote for and he astonished them with an Edison electric flashlight whene he said, 'The Progressives have a man who can handle the bunch at Washington.'

"I wish I could forget that sinster bunch of 487 men who make up the Senate and House of Representatives, forget their character, their record and the unbelievable things they do. They sacrifice our interests and pick our pockets. They are against the public good whenever they dare to be, and are for the public enemy. They leave us; by their refusal to simplify the court procedure, in the sight of the world as crooks, murderers and second story men.

"Do you realize that in the United States 87 out of every 88 murderers escape punishment? There are 106 murderers to every million of population every year, while in Italy, which is held up as a horrible example, has fourteen murders to the 1,000,000 annually. So you see murdering is a comparatively good business in this country." He then quoted instances to show that the courts are too cumbersome, and that Congress was in the hands of lawyers, who are not of too good repute, for the good lawyers want these conditions changed. He dwelt upon the 'gross extravagances practiced by the government in the granting of pensions, saying that pension money, which belonged to the people, was being used by the Congressmen as an incentive to vote for them. He said that already 45,000 men had been pensioned because of the Spanish-American war, while only 38,000 actually took part in it, and that $1,200,000 on an average is put into each Congressional district each year in pension money. "So you see that each man has a good campaign fund provided by the government," he said.

"When Colonel Rosevelt was in office before and a crooked Congressman tried to hamper legislation that was for the benefit of the whole people," he said, "the Colonel went right to that man's district and told the people all about him, and the block was stopped, allowing the passage of the legislation. He asked for an appropriation for detectives to investigate some matters in the west, and it was refused. He said that it was very evident why the refusal was made, for some of the Congressmen might be caught by the detectives which they had authorized."

The speaker then continued with facts and figures where the Congressmen had personally pillaged the public treasury. He said that the men we are begged to keep in office by the old parties were a combination in restraint of honest and reputable government. After reciting all these facts the speaker said that the Progressive party had a candidate who is the expert that can redeem the country from the crooks whom he had described. He caused a hearty laugh by saying that when we went after rats we did not get a dog because of its looks, but because of its reputuation, and when we sent for a ratter and took a good look at it we did not throw up our hands in horror when it showed its teeth and say "He'll never do, we'll have to have a poodle after all."

"I appear here tonight as an American citizen—not as a member of any party," said Mr. Gillette, "I think more of this great country than of anything else, and it is with rage and shame that I see this noble land gutted by disreputable government, upheld by contemptible courts of justice. Let us unite and rid our country of the assassins of its good name and tear the mask of low born depravity from the honest face of the nation."

WASHING OUT A WOUND.

Tincture of Iodine Is About the Safest Antiseptic to Use.

Carbolic acid, one of the most valuable antiseptics known to surgeons, is at the same time one of the most dangerous. It is used daily, almost hourly, by operators in the hospitals. The layman who understands its perils may wash wounds out with it safely, but the best surgeons say that inexperienced persons had better let it alone.

No wound should ever be bound up with bandages soaked in even the mildest solution of carbolic acid, for the skin absorbs it readily, and poisoning is apt to follow prolonged use. An eminent New York surgeon had a case a few weeks ago of a child whose finger had turned black after being dressed too long with a 2 per cent solution of carbolic acid, and when he called this paper's attention to the case he was expecting to be obliged to cut off the finger.

The most commonly used antiseptic is bichloride of mercury (corrosive sublimate), but this is one of the deadliest poisons known and as it has no color or odor is easily mistaken for water. To avoid this it is customary to color solutions of it. Colored tablets are made especially for making solutions of any given strength. Dr. Albert S. Morrow in "The Immediate Care of the Injured" says it should be used as a wet dressing on wounds in a solution of 1.2000 of 1.5000, the latter made by dissolving one 7½ grain tablet in 2½ quarts of water. As a wash for a wound it may be used in a 1,1000 solution (one 7½ grain tablet to a pint of water).

Iodine is another antiseptic that is highly recommended. It is used commonly on dirty wounds, where there is danger of infection and a doctor's services are not immediately available. In such cases the tincture of iodine is used pure and is applied by dipping a wad of cotton or antiseptic gauze in it and swabbing out the wound, being careful to penetrate this thoroughly.—New York World.

FORCE PARADERS TO HONOR FLAG

More Trouble Is Feared at Little Falls, N. Y.

TO TRY SOCIALIST MAYOR.

Americans Refuse to Join In Demonstration of Foreign Strikers—Deposed Clergyman Finds Degradation and Want In Poor Tenements.

Little Falls, N. Y., Oct. 24.—A strike proclamation was not obeyed by the American workers in the local knitting mills. The foreigners organized a parade and passed in front of the big mills, cheering for their cause. The Americans went to work as usual.

When the 205 marchers passed police headquarters Police Captain Gross insisted that they place at the head of the procession the American flag instead of the flag of Italy.

Some of the paraders taunted the men who refused to join them. The strikers assembled after the parade in front of the big Phoenix mills, where Mayor Lunn of Schenectady last week was stopped from speaking, and held a meeting.

Mayor Lunn and his Socialist friends, charged with attempting to defy the police by speaking in a public park here, will be arraigned again on Oct. 30.

Charges Are Pressed.

It was expected when the case was called that District Attorney Frank Schmidt of Ilion would permit the charges to be dropped, as speaking in the park is not permitted. Instead, he pressed them.

Robert A. Bakeman of Schenectady, an erstwhile clergyman, who was found guilty of violating the city ordinance which prohibits the blocking of a public street and sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or spend fifty days in jail, is in the county jail at Herkimer because he refuses to pay the fine. An attempt will be made to stay the sentence and have Mr. Bakeman paroled until an appeal is decided.

Mayor Lunn as he left for Amsterdam said:

"Little Falls is a section of Russia not yet added to the czar's domains. We intend to put it on the map of the United States."

Dr. W. S. Crapsey, the deposed Episcopalian clergyman of Rochester, who has been investigating the conditions here in the poor tenements, finds shocking degradation and want.

STOPS YOUNG MRS. ASTOR.

She Was In Motor Car In New Jersey Without State License.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 24.—Mrs. Madeline Force Astor, while motoring in New Jersey, was held up near Bernardsville, the summer home of the Forces, by State Automobile Inspector Frank L. Moutellier, who demanded to see their license. Mrs. Astor explained to the inspector that as she had a New York license she thought the reciprocity agreement between the two states was sufficient to allow her car to run in New Jersey without procuring an additional license.

The inspector then asked the widow of Colonel Astor how long she had been in the state and when she admitted that she had been here for two days he told her that this was a violation of the law, as but one day is all the law allows for transient tourists without a permanent license in New Jersey.

He then boarded the car and had the chauffeur drive to Trenton. Mrs. Astor explained who she was and the inspector said that if a license was taken out immediately that he would not subject her to the payment of a fine. The car was then driven to the statehouse and the license procured and Mrs. Astor allowed to proceed.

PENCIL PIERCES BOY'S BRAIN

Physicians Say Child Will Probably Suffer No Ill Effects From It.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Despite the fact that a pencil pierced his brain just above the left eye, two-year-old William Tuley, physicians at a local hospital say, will probably recover. The child apparently suffered no ill effects from the injury, and the inch and a half stump was removed from his head yesterday in the hospital.

The doctors who performed the operation say that it is a source of wonderment to them how the child could have first sustained such a normally mortal injury and then have gone through the subsequent operation and lived.

CORNELL MAN A SUICIDE.

Richard Whittle Left Note For Friend's Wedding.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—A man identified as Richard Whittle, a graduate of Cornell university, killed himself in a Twenty-second street rooming house leaving a half finished letter to a friend declining to act as best man at his wedding.

It was the only clew to any reason for suicide.

Besides the letter, a card with the address "Richard Whittle, 228 Chape street Saylesville, R. I.," was found.

Weather Forecast.

Rain, followed by clearing today; colder tomorrow, fair; brisk northwest winds

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

M'CARTY'S RING STOCK BOUNDS

Missouri Heavy Looks Like Real White Hope.

ON PALZER'S LEVEL NOW.

Young Husky's Last Three Bouts Prove He Is Learning Fast—He Will Meet Jim Flynn—Luther Recently Handed Kaufman a Nice Trimming.

The stock of Luther McCarty rose many points in the white hope market by his defeat of Al Kaufman in two rounds of their scheduled twenty round bout at San Francisco recently. It is generally conceded that McCarty was second only to Al Palzer among the big fellows who seek to bring back the heavyweight title to the white race. As Palzer won his position chiefly by his victory over Kaufman in five rounds, McCarty's winning in two at least places him on a level with his rival. McCarty can also point to the fact that he made Palzer hunt an excuse when they were matched in New York some months ago. At that time Palzer demanded more money than the promoters could afford to offer, and so the match was declared off.

Both of these young giants are too green at present for a championship match. The fight going public would not care to see either offered up as a sacrifice to the present champion. But their future prospects look at least brighter than those of any other white heavy in the ring today. Although both have been outpointed by men of greater experience—and may be again—this does not prove that they are not the real thing and may yet make good. At present, owing to troubles with his manager, Palzer is in retirement for a time, and meanwhile his rival will be gathering the much needed experience and will probably forge ahead.

McCarty's next important engagement will be with that destroyer of white hopes, Jim Flynn. Followers of pugilism see no hope in Flynn, because he is too old to improve. But the Pueblo fireman is still strong and, having plenty of experience, will be a dangerous obstacle in McCarty's path.

Judging by the result of his last three bouts McCarty has shown much of the improvement that was predicted for him when he was beaten recently by Jim Stewart. In that contest McCarty proved that he was game, aggressive and that his fine physique was equipped with quick acting muscles. All his faults were of the kind that proper schooling can remove. He had speed, the one essential quality and one that is so frequently absent in big, heavy muscled men. McCarty's awkward manner of hitting robbed his blows of their effectiveness and made him look the novice he still is. But there is no reason apparent why, with proper instruction and constant practice, he should not correct this defect and also polish up his boxing. With greater skill will come the ability to keep cool and plan his battle. Ring generalship only comes after long experience, no matter how phlegmatic a boxer's disposition may be.

In meeting Flynn, McCarty will have need of good generalship, for the older man has the cunning gained by years in the ring. In other respects McCarty will have the advantage, and should he prove the winner another big championship battle will not be so far off.

STAR SPRINTERS ARE COMING

Three Foreign Runners to Arrive Next Month.

Three of the greatest professional sprinters in the world are expected to arrive in New York the second week in November. They are A. B. Postle and Jack McDonald of Australia and Reggie Walker of South Africa.

It has been announced that they have accepted the invitation of Sparrow Robertson, manager of the track at Vailsburg, Newark, N. J., to compete in a series of running races against the best professionals in this country.

Kraenzlein to Go Abroad.

Alvin Kraenzlein, former coach of the University of Michigan track team, who is one of the greatest all round athletes ever developed in America, will spend two years abroad. It is possible he may sign to coach some of the European athletes in preparation for the 1916 Olympic games in Berlin.

To Organize Professional Basketball.

John W. Poggie, former president of the Hudson River (N. Y.) Basketball league, is trying to form a big professional league of eastern professional teams.

To Add Cross Country Runs.

University of California and Leland Stanford university are likely to add a dual cross country run to their list of competitions.

Football Players to Tour World.

Chicago followers of Gaelic football plan to pick an All American team and tour the world, starting next April.

Lawn Bowlers Going to England.

Canada will send eight links of lawn bowlers to tour Great Britain next year.

NO WONDER SPEAKER WANTED TO SEE THE CHEAP LONG HORNS.

Tris Speaker, the greatest of the Bostons, is a rich Texas cattleman in the off season. Walking up Broadway not long ago, he saw a sign in an automobile shop, "Long horns, $18." Immediately Mr. Speaker was all interested. He dashed into the store, found the proprietor and exclaimed excitedly, "You're selling Longhorns for $18?"

"Why, yes, sir—very cheap, too, don't you think?"

"I should say it is!" cried Mr. Speaker. "I haven't seen a Longhorn or any other kind quoted under $72.60 on the hoof in seven years. Where's your ranch? I want to go out and see 'em!"

CARPENTIER TO BE A HEAVY.

Young French Champ May Be Crack White Hope.

Georges Carpentier, the sensational French fighter, has decided to quit the middleweight ranks and become a heavyweight. The announcement comes from Carpentier himself. In a letter the clever French boy, who is just nineteen years of age, states that he has now passed out of the 158 pound class, weighing at present about 175 pounds. Of course he could train down to 162 pounds if necessary, but he prefers to retain his strength and become a real heavyweight and perhaps a real white hope.

Carpentier stands six feet one inch and is still growing, so there is reason to hope that he will develop into a crack heavyweight in the course of a year or two. Frank Klaus had been matched for a return engagement with Carpentier, but when the latter found that he could not longer make the weight he called it off.

Hugh McIntosh has been after the French boy to make a trip to Australia, but he has so many matches in sight in France and England, also in America, that he will probably defer his trip to the antipodes for some time.

WANT AMERICAN ATHLETES.

Australians Anxious to Get a Peek at Olympic Heroes.

William C. J. Kelley, a well known follower of athletics, who some years ago took up his residence in London and later went to Australia, is again in this country on a visit. Before his travels are ended he will have circuited the world. Now in business in Sydney, he states that the Australians are close observers of everything connected with sport in the United States, and when in San Francisco he attempted to close a deal whereby four of the best athletes on the coast would make a trip to the land of the kangaroo.

The men named were Ralph Rose, Fred Kelley, Clarence S. Edmundson and Ira Courtney, the first two of whom were winners at the Olympic games. It is stated that a fund of $5,000 will be subscribed if they conclude to make the trip. Richard Coombes, the James E. Sullivan of Australia, is especially desirous that the Americans show the Australians their abilities in their given lines, as he thinks their appearance will give a great impetus to amateur sport in that country.

SOCCER TEAM SHAKE-UP; TO PLAY KINGSLEY F. C.

The Plainfield Soccer Club plays Kingsley F. C. at the Clinton Avenue grounds on Saturday and hopes to win with the following strong lineup:

Goal, McNiece; backs, Craig and Buckland; halfbacks, Henderson, Kenny, Joe Gardner; fowards, Carberry, Spalding, Heaume, T. Gardner and J. Hendry.

The selecting committee has made drastic and important changes in this week's lineup to avoid a recurrence of the defeat sustained last Saturday at the hands of the Alley Boys, of Newark. Game called 3 o'clock.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

P. H. S. goes to Phillipsburg, Saturday afternoon, to try to get revenge for last year's defeat. Phillipsburg was the only opponent to score on the local schoolboys last fall.

High School football dopesters claim that all the P. H. S. team needs to come out ahead is a new magneto. That may be so, but it looks as though it might be difficult to find someone with strength enough to crank it up.

With such a team as the Netherwood A. C. to stack up against in practice, Captain Van Zandt has been enabled to put his men through a stiff course of practice work nearly every afternoon.

Manager Janke does not seem to be able to shake that hard luck streak. Jupiter Pluvius was the cause of yesterday's cancellation.

Gym classes at the Y. M. C. A. have been made particularly attractive to High School students this year and a league has been formed to promote basketball, athletics, aquatics and gymnastics. Which interests you the most? Get in line tomorrow afternoon.

Now that he has tired of killing speed laws, the popular young man who drives the buzz dagon sought a little variation and turned a canine into sausage.

VOTES FOR WOMEN STRONGER DOCTRINE

Spread of Ballot Privilege Indicated by Present Day Conditions.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (Special).—In the general election two weeks from today women will vote in six States, California, Washington, Idaho, Colorado, Wyoming and Utah, a fact which campaign managers of the various parties have taken into consideration. While the Progressive party was the only one of the three leading political organizations to give its official stamp of approval to the equal suffrage movement, the Republican and Democratic leaders have shown their appreciation of the importance of that movement by enlisting the services of women workers with an eye to the result in the six States in which women have been granted the full rights of the franchise. Thoese six States have a total representation in the electoral college of 38 votes, divided as follows: California 13, Colorado 7, Idaho 4, Utah 4, Washington 7, Wyoming 3.

According to the last census California has a total of 671,386 women eligible to vote. For the other five States the figures are as follows: Colorado, 213,425; Utah, 85,729; Washington, 277,727; Idaho, 69,818; Wyoming, 28,840.

That the choice of a president and vice president of the United States in the coming election may depend upon the votes of the women in the six States named is easily within the range of possibilities. To prove the truth of this statement it is but necessary to cite the fact that six presidents of the United States were elected by a smaller number of votes than these which woman suffrage States will control in the next electoral college.

Statistics show that President Adams, Jefferson, John Quincy Adams, Taylor, Hayes and Cleveland were elected by a majority of thirty-seven votes or less. In 1796 John Adams defeated Thomas Jefferson by two votes. In 1800 Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr each received 173 votes. The choice then devolved upon the house of representatives, with the result that Jefferson was elected.

In 1824 none of the candidates for president received enough electoral votes to elect, and the choice again devolved upon the house of representatives, when John Quincy Adams was chosen. In 1840 Zachary Taylor defeated Lewis Cass by just thirty-six votes. In 1876 Rutherford B. Hayes defeated Samuel J. Tilden by one vote, and in 1884 Grover Cleveland defeated James G. Baline by thirty-seven votes.

In addition to the six States in which women have been given the right to vote for president there are numerous other States in which they have the rights of limited suffrage. In fact, there are in the United States today onely nineteen States which have no form of suffrage for women, and even in some of these there are cities in which women have the right to vote for school officials and on tax matters. The nineteen States are Nevada, Texas, Missouri, Arkansas, Mississippi, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Maine.

Kentucky already has felt the entering wedge and before the presidential election in 1916 it is very likely that half a dozen or more States will have adopted woman suffrage, in addition to the six now on the roll. In the election two weeks from Tuesday the voters of Oregon, Kansas, Michigan, Wisconsin and Arizona will vote on the adoption of constitutional amendments granting the full rights of suffrage to women. The equal suffrage leaders are confident that out of these five States some are bound to slip through in spite of all the opponents can do, and a good many thousand voters of the "weaker" sex will be added to the present million and a quarter after November 5.

So far the equal suffrage cause has scored its greatest victories in the far West. No State in the East or South has yet granted to women the full suffrage rights. In Ohio, where a vote on the matter was taken this summer, the cause was defeated. It is believed, and not without reason, that the result in the Buckeye State will influence the vote soon to be taken in Michigan and Wisconsin. In Wisconsin the suffragists are fighting hard and have strong hopes of success. It is generally conceded, however, that Kansas is more likely to adopt the amendment than is any of the other States in which the matter is to be voted on next month.

The woman suffrage movement has made less of an impression on the old South, so far as practical results are concerned, than on any other section of the country. But even here the agitation is beginning to be felt, and it is not improbable that the suffragists will include Louisiana, Georgia and one or two others in the list of "campaign States" within another year or two.

ON THE BALKAN WAR.

At the Congregational church next Sunday there will be services of special interest just at this time. At the morning service Rev. Dr. G. F. Herrick, of Constantinople, will explain the significance of the Balkan war; and in the afternoon at 4:30, he will display stereopticon pictures of places in the Balkan war country. Dr. Herrick's long residence in Turkey make him well qualified to speak on these subjects. These meetings are open to the general public, and all Greeks Armenians and Bulgarians who are in the town will be especially welcome.

BONCI'S GOLDEN NOTE.

Mr. Bonci, the tenor, yesterday made six records for the Columbia people, this being the first time he has sung into a grafonola in the United States. The records included selections from "Martha," "Boheme" and other operas, and for his kindly offices, the tenor reeeives $100,000 in full payment forever. In referring to the commercial side of the contract, Mr. Bonci admitted he had discovered a bona fide golden note.

THIRTY-THREE SEATS IN SENATE AT STAKE

General Survey of Forces That Will Battle Next Tuesday Week.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24 (Special).—One week from next Tuesday the voters in the forty-eight States of the Union will express their preferences for President and Vice President of the United States. In forty-six of the States representatives in the next Congress—the Sixty-third—will be named. Twenty-nine States will vote for governors and other State officers and in half a dozen others minor State officials are to be elected. Maine, Vermont, Arkansas and Georgia have held their State elections, but the two latter States will, on November 5, elect representatives in Congress. Maine and Vermont have already chosen their congressmen as well at State officers.

The States that will elect governors are Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

The electoral disputes arising between the regular Republicans and the Progressives have been settled in practically all of the States. Confusion still exists, however, in regard to some of the State tickets. Straight Republican tickets have been named in all of the States, excepting one or two in the South. The Democrats have tickets in all of the States in which elections are to be held. The new third party has put up a separate ticket in all of the States in which the regular Republican nominees were not satisfactory to the "progressives." The Socialists have named candidates for governor and other State officers in twenty-seven States. The Prohibition party has complete State tickets in twenty-one States. In addition, tickets of the Socialist Labor, Independence, Populist and other minor parties will appear on the ballots in some of the States.

The Progressives, Socialists and Prohibitionists have nominated candidates for Congress in many districts, and in others labor unions or federations have indorsed Democrats or Republicans who are believed to be favorable to their cause.

The Progressives have named complete tickets for governor and other State officers in Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, Texas, Utah and Washington.

The Socialist party has complete State tickets in Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

The Prohibitionists have named candidates for governor and other State officers in Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Nebraska, Texas, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

The Socialist this year have nominated a candidate for governor of South Carolina, where for many years there has been but one State ticket—the Democratic. In Wisconsin the Socialist ticket appears under the name of the Social Democratic Party, to conform with the election laws of that State. In Minnesota, for a similar reason, the Socialist Party appears on the ballot as the Public Ownership Party.

In many of the States proposed constitutional amendments, laws, questions, or propositions will be voted upon. Oregon, Kansas, Arizona, Wisconsin and Michigan will vote on a proposed amendment to give the franchise to women. Colorado has a long list of proposed new laws to be passed upon by the voters, and Oklahoma will decide the troublesome question as to whether the State capital shall be Guthrie or Oklahoma City.

Many of the States will elect legislatures that will have the naming of United States senators. A total of thirty-three seats in the United States Senate will be at stake in the election. Of these eighteen are now occupied by Republicans and thirteen by Democrats. Two vacancies, caused by the death of Charles J. Hughes, of Colorado, and the enforced retirement of William Lorimer, of Illinois, bring the total up to thirty-three.

WILSON-HOPE.

Miss Viola D. Hope, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Hope, of 936 West Fourth street, and George D. Wilson, of Madison avenue, were quietly married yesterday afternoon by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church. The ceremony was peformed at the home of Dr. Strong on West Eighth street. Miss Alice Mills was the maid of honor and William J. Firstbrook the best man. The couple is now enjoying a trip to Washington. They will reside at the home of the bridegroom upon their return.

BECKER'S FATE IN HANDS OF JURY

Retire to Deliberate, Following Justice Goff's Charge.

MAY KNOW FATE TONIGHT

McIntyre Excoriates Witnesses For the State and Charges That Whitman, Consumed With Ambition, Fathered Conspiracy—Moss Answers Attack.

New York, Oct. 24.—Following Justice Goff's charge, the jury which is to decide the fate of Lieutenant Becker, charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, retired to deliberate shortly after noon today.

The best and the worst for Lieutenant Becker has been said. The jurors went to their hotel last night to sleep over Mr. McIntyre's furious denunciation of the informers and of District Attorney Whitman and over Assistant District Attorney Frank Moss' calm analysis of the defense's own evidence as proof that Becker's was the reckless and indomitable will behind the murder.

On the eve of this decision Becker himself professed to be confident that "no New York jury would send a man to the chair on the lies of a lot of crooks." His lawyers, Mr. McIntyre in particular, said that they would not accept a verdict of murder in the second degree—it had to be complete guilt or complete innocence. The jury can return a verdict of any degree of murder it pleases.

Look For Disagreement.

The opinions of intelligent and thoughtful men who were a part of the audience which listened to Mr. McIntyre's summing up in the morning and Mr. Moss' review in the afternoon were interesting in that there was practically a unanimous belief that the best the defense could hope for was a disagreement.

Mr. McIntyre, a master of invective and of insinuation, adept in befogging bad points and illuminating good ones, given to sentimentality and appeals to the emotions, spent most of his force attacking Becker's accusers and of attributing to them motives of the most villainous sort. He laid Becker's prosecution to the gravenness of frightened murderers and to the ambitious designs of the district attorney, whom he charged with fathering a conspiracy. He pictured the accused lieutenant as a brave and noble police officer in peril of a slimy crew. Often he inverted or abbreviated testimony so as to put before the jury only such parts as appeared to favor the defendant. His analysis of testimony was largely a charge that the main state witnesses were perjurers.

Mr. Moss, whose manner was not unlike that of a Sunday school superintendent addressing his class, but whose address was that of a well trained and able lawyer, was at all times restrained, courteous and fair. For the most part his summing up was a calm condensation of the main evidence produced by the state and a shrewd dissection of the weakness of the defense's evidence

Defends Mr. Whitman.

Rebuking Mr. McIntyre for the insinuations that the district attorney was, too, a conspirator for ambition's sake, Mr. Moss told the jury that if Rose and Webber and Vallon had not been accepted as state's witnesses ten murderers instead of three would have gone unpunished. If the character of the witnesses against Becker was bad it must be remembered that Becker was a man of bad associations and that Becker must stand or fall by the stories of such men. Mr. Moss, taking up the testimony bit by bit, argued that the state, by direct and circumstantial evidence, had shown that the motive for the murder was Becker's fear that his grafting and dishonor as a policeman would be exposed by Rosenthal. He analyzed the testimony for the defense and told the jury that Becker's main witnesses had convicted themselves out of their own mouths of lying. And he closed by telling the jury that their duty was to protect civilization against such men as Becker.

No such crowd had stormed the corridors of the criminal courts building as strove and fought for entrance to the trial. Men and women came armed with all kinds of personal cards and passes issued by this and that personage, but few, however great their influence, were admitted unless they had business in the courtroom or had the permission of the justice, the district attorney or counsel for the defense. Some of those who had seats were Judge and Mrs. E. H Gary, Magistrate and Mrs. Corrigan, Lewis Nixon and several justices of the supreme court.

Policeman Accused of Murder May Know His Fate Tonight.

COMPLETE ROUT OF DIAZ BY FEDERALS

Prestige of Madero Administration Greatly Enhanced.

Washington, Oct. 24.—The defeat and capture of General Felix Diaz by Mexican federal forces near Vera Cruz has been officially reported to Washington. Commander Hughes of the Des Moines cabled the news of the federal victory. Diaz's defeat is taken here to mean the collapse of the entire revolutionary movement, which centered in him.

Commander Hughes reported that the federal forces had taken possession of the city of Vera Cruz. There was much fighting near the city limits. Medical officers and assistants have been sent out through the city by Commander Hughes to give such assistance as might be possible. The naval officer stated that definite and reliable information regarding the situation was almost unobtainable. Consul Canada made essentially the same report, adding that Diaz, his staff and most of his men had been captured and disarmed.

The news was a great surprise to officials of the state department and officers of the army and navy stationed at the departments. From the very first General Diaz has been picked to win.

The general opinion here is that the defeat of General Diaz is likely to mark the turning point in affairs in Mexico and prove a great setback to Zapata, Orozco, Salazar and other rebels now in the field against the Madero government. The manner in which the Madero government has made good on its claim that Diaz would be crushed is expected greatly to enhance the prestige of the entire administration both at home and abroad.

AUTO THIEF SHOT DEAD.

Policeman Drops Him After Chase In Streets of Newark, N. J.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 24.—Thomas Ryan, one of a pair of thieves who made a specialty of touring New York towns in stolen automobiles and stealing tires and other automobile fixtures from garages, was shot by Policeman McLaughlin while trying to sprint faster than the officer in Newark and died a few minutes later at St. Barnabas' hospital. Clarence Tall, nineteen years old, of Albany, N. Y., who admitted that he had been operating with Ryan, was arrested and locked up in the First precinct station.

The dead man and his pal, it is understood, had operated from Buffalo across the state to the Hudson, robbing garages at Schenectady, Troy, Poughkeepsie, Peekskill and other places and disposing of their loot in Newark and New York.

Johannesburg, Oct. 24.—The champion polygamist of the British empire has been discovered among the Bantu tribesmen of the Transvaal, according to returns of the census office. He has forty-six wives and is thirty-five years of age.

His next nearest competitor in the matrimonial stakes boasts of only twenty-eight wives.

Columbus, O., Oct. 24.—Ten thousand dollars for an eye is the value placed by the Ohio supreme court in awarding Martin Grajezak damages resulting from an explosion of dynamite.

POT OF ARSENIC IN WATER OF SPRING

Woman Arrested Charged With Wholesale Poisoning.

SEVERAL CHILDREN ILL.

Mrs. Symer Sought to Prevent Neighbors Using Water—Accused Woman Declares She Doesn't Know Anything of Poison.

Perth Amboy, N. J., Oct. 24.—Charged with placing a pot of arsenic in a spring from which numerous families secured their drinking water has caused the board of health of Perth Amboy to bring about the arrest of Mrs. Annie Symer of Francis street.

Members of the board learned that a spring near the residence of the accused woman was the bone of contention over which many families fought and that Mrs. Symer openly denied her neighbors and used all sorts of means to keep her intruders from the place. Unsuccessful in her attempts, it is charged she placed a pot containing the deadly poison in the spring. Numerous children living in the vicinity have become ill from drinking the water and the woman faces a serious charge.

It is alleged that Mrs. Symer has said that inasmuch as she could not have the water to herself that she would get even with her tormentors. The local police and health commissioners have received substantial evidence relative to the actions of the accused. Mrs. Harold Waitz, also of Francis street, says that she went and drew two pails from the spring and when she returned for the third pail the water had become so low that the bucket hit a small jar on the bottom of the spring. Her suspicions were immediately aroused when she saw Mrs. Symer standing nearby.

Dragging out an earthen jar Mrs. Waitz found it contained a red powder, which was later analyzed as arsenic. The jar and evidence were turned over to Andrew J. Mikal, an inspector of the board of health.

Mrs. Symer stoutly maintains that she does not know who placed the poison in the spring.

"LUCK" FAILS; KILLS HIMSELF

Son of Lumber Dealer Found Dead In South Orange.

Orange, N. J., Oct. 24.—The man found dead in South Orange has been identified as John Schneider, forty years old, the son of Ferdinand Schneider, a lumber dealer, of Union.

Near the man's body was found an empty carbolic acid bottle and in one of his pockets a postal card with this inscription, "I'm broke; slow horses and fast girls did it."

The body was brought to Kunz's morgue in this city and was identified later by Jacob Schneider, the dead man's brother.

Four years ago John Schneider left home and went to Lake Hopatcong and began work as a laborer. Last Friday he came to Newark and visited Mrs. Charles Furlong, a daughter of his former employer. He told her he was "having such hard luck that life wasn't worth while living."

EXPLOSION HURTS THREE.

Boys at Study Hurled Ten Feet Amid Shower of Glass.

Passaic, N. J., Oct. 24.—John Mihalisin, fourteen; Emil Mihalisin, ten, and Nicholas Dubasik, twelve, were studying arithmetic on a broad box in front of the grocery store of Jacob Vallon, 277 Ackerman avenue, Clifton, when a terrific explosion blew out the front of the store, hurling the schoolboys ten feet into the street amid a shower of glass and wreckage.

Dubasik, whose father is a Clifton policeman, was severely cut by the glass. The Mihalisin brothers escaped with bruises. Their books were destroyed. Fire spread through the two story building, which was gutted in fifteen minutes. Vallon and his wife who were seen by the boys leaving the store ten minutes before the explosion were arrested by Chief Coughlin pending an investigation.

RESCUED FROM BARK.

Fourteen Men Taken Off the Caterina Among Barnegat Shoals.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 24.—After weathering the combers which swept the decks one after another for nine hours the crew of the Italian bark Caterina, which was driven in among the shoals off Barnegat in the heavy southeast storm, were taken off by life savers.

Thirteen men besides the captain comprised the rescued crew. The bark left Montevideo on July 26 for New York with a cargo of bones.

Escort For His Rival.

Four Great Golden Specials of the Piano Store

The Frederick Doll Piano, $175

Always sold (under another name—explained below) for $275

The Marshall & Wendell Piano, $175

Regular Price, $275

The Frederick Doll Player-Piano, $375

Regular Price, $550

The Lindeman-Angelus Player-Piano $495

Regular Price, $625

Two Things are to be considered carefully when buying a piano or player-piano:

FIRST

The instrument itself; does it bear the name of the maker; is that name an honored one; does it assure you that the piano is worthy to come into your home?

SECOND

The dealer who offers the instrument; does his name stand for fair and square dealing in your community; does it assure you that if anything goes wrong (by error) the wrong will be made right?

Now Let Us Answer the Two Questsons Specifically.

First--The Names of The Pianos

Frederick Doll Piano, $175

Made by the old established House which organized 41 years ago and which has grown up and prospered under the very eyes of all New York.

Frederick Doll pianos are giving good account of themselves to-day in thousands of homes not only in New York, but in all parts of the United States.

This particular piano which we offer at $175 is the actual model that has been selling heretofore by others at $275—but because we ordered a large number to be made at one time we can sell them, by cutting the maker's and our own profit, at $175. To distinguish them from the regular models at $275 they bear on their fall board the name Frederick Doll. In all other respects Frederick Doll pianos at $175 are the same models as those sold elsewhere for $275.

The Frederick Doll Player-Pianos, $395

Made completely by the manufacturer—player action and piano both; in all respects the same model as player-pianos regularly sold for $550. The price is lowered for the reason explained in the preceding paragraph referring to Frederick Doll pianos.

Marshall & Wendell Pianos, $175

These are the regular Marshall & Wendell $275 models—limited to 50 only, of a style that is to be changed in the case and not to be made again.

Lindeman-Angelus Player-Piano, $495

These are the regular $625 Lindeman-Angelus models in a style to be discontinued also because of slight change in the case.

The Lindeman-Angelus Player-Piano is the famous old Lindeman piano that has earned fame and name for itself during 70 years of history, a piano that to-day is one of the roll of honor pianos of the Wanamaker Store and which we expect to sell for many years to come.

It is equipped with the latest model 88-Note Angelus player, the greatest of all players because with its own patented devices it play more naturally, with greater freedom and flexibility than any other player on the market.

To secure a piano of the quality and tone of the Lindeman, equipped with the Angelus, at the small price of $495 is rare good luck, indeed. Unfortunately there are only 25 of these instruments at this price.

Second—The Name of the Piano Dealer

These pianos and player-pianos are offered by the John Wanamaker Store.

It was this store that entered the piano business 14 years ago, making war on the barter and haggle of the trade, on the sliding scale of prices, and on all its vicious customs and traditions. It began building in the new way, making one fixed price to all, placing on sale only reputable pianos that bore their maker's name. Kept on building in the new way until it won to itself the largest piano business in the world.

This is the kind of store that offers these Golden Specials and that backs up every statement made about them with its regular guarantee—your money back, freely, if anything is unsatisfactory.

There are only 50 of the Marshall & Wendell pianos and 25 of the Lindeman-Angelus player-pianos, and the makers of the Fredreick Doll pianos and player-pianos will permit us to fill orders at the low prices only for the six remaining days of October.

First comers will get first selection.

Instruments will be delivered in order of purchase.

Terms will be made, within reason, to suit each purchaser.

This is the good-will offering of the Wanamaker Piano Store—you will do yourself a service by sharing the economies, and you will do your friends a kindness by telling them the good news.

Instruments ready for inspection and selection, to-morrow, October 25th.

SERVICE

A PLAINFIELD vs. A NEW YORK ACCOUNT

The advantages to residents of Plainfield and vicinity of maintaining a bank account in The State Trust Company are so numerous that no argument should be necessary to convince those who are now keeping their accounts in New York. Liberal interest rates (3% and 4%), the free collection of out of town checks and the New York checking privilege are but a few of the many advantages that such an account affords. On the other hand a New York account means inconvenience in making deposits, charges on out of town checks and in any many instances no interest on balances.

We offer our splendid facilities to any one who is willing to overcome habit and profit thereby.

EXECUTORS CAN'T AGREE ON DISPOSITION OF ESTATE

Elizabeth, Oct. 25.—(Special).—Following the failure of the executors of the estate of the late Dorothy Barkman Clark, to agree on the disposition of the estate, the Plainfield Trust Company was made executor by a decision of Judge Atwater, in the Orphans' Court, this morning.

The displaced executors are William H. Clark, husband, of the deceased; Minnie H. Turtle and Charles Loudy. They received $200 each as commission for their services, following the accounting.

LAST OF PRESS TOURISTS WRITES OF EXTENDED TOUR

Miss A. Agnes Leighs, who extended her stay in Europe after the rest of the Daily Press vacation tourists returned home, has come back from abroad. She writes of her trip from the time following the break-up of the party as follows:

Since July 31, when four of the Daily Press sextette sailed from Liverpool for Philadelphia, I have been traveling through Great Britain. I have been visiting in Manchester, Birmingham, Wantwich, Market Drayton, Cheadle and Blythe Bridge, as well as at Nottingham, where I was shown the manufacturing of lace curtains; Crewe, where I saw the extensive railroad works; Stoke-on-Trent, where I studied the pottery industry very minutely; Keele, where I saw the largest holly hedge in the world; The Isle of Man, where I saw the world's greatest water wheel and many old historic relics; Belfast, where I saw the famous ship yard in which the ill-fated Titanic was built, and many other interesting towns.

I returned to New York from Liverpool on the S. S. Caronia of the Cunard Company, October the 13th, with my aunt, Mrs. Charles Leighs, of this city.

This has been the most wonderful trip of my life and I shall never forget it. I am sure I shall never be able to repay the editors and the other members of the Plainfield Daily Press staff and my friends throughout the city for their many kindnesses enabling me to enjoy this marvelous trip abroad, over about ten thousand miles of this earth's surface.

A. AGNES LEIGHS.

BIBLES TO REWARD KEEN SCRIPTURE STUDENTS

Mrs. Harry Wade Hicks, of Glen Ridge, the wife of a prominent Y. M. C. A. worker, delivered a lecture that was illustrated with stereopticon views at the Bible class rally held at the Young Women's Christian Association last evening. She spoke of the customs of the people of Palestine, about the old implements referred to in the Bible and said the same implements are used at the present day. She explained the meaning of some of the words in the Bible, which when met by the average reader do not disclose much information, but when explained by one who has traveled through Holy Land disclose a great deal.

At the close of the lecture names of twelve who will start in the classes next week, were registered. A plan was suggested by Miss Helen Gould for the memorizing of selected verses of Scripture. She will make a present of a handsomely bound Bible to the pupil memorizing and reciting the greatest number of selected passages.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the Religious Work Committee, of which Miss Isabel Ashwell is chairman.

A CORRECTION.

Through an error in proofreading, it was announced in last night's Daily Press that the Woodhull & Martin Co. would sell $3.50 and $4 ladies' boots at $2.25, Friday and Saturday. The price should have been $2.95, as is correctly stated in today's adv. on page 4.

ESTATE MUST PAY NOTE WHICH DECEDENT TOOK

Elizabeth, Oct. 25 (Special).—By a decision of Judge Vail, in the Circuit Court, this morning, Peter Krone, of this city, received a verdict of $2,350 against Garret and Harry Dreier, who are trustees for their father's estate. The elder Dreier died July 30, 1910. Several years previous to his demise, Garret Dreier borrowed $2,000 from his father on a note. SHE LAUGHS AT WILSON'S MIND

Mrs. Florence H. Hall Says One-track Mentalities Are Out of Date.

PROGRESSIVE MEETING

Arranged by Equal Suffrage New Party Advocates at Unitarian Church—College Club Members Active in the Canvass.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of High Bridge, daughter of Julia Ward Howe, writer, clubwoman, and well known advocate of the Progressive party, spoke before an audience of Plainfield women interested in the third party movement this morning in All Souls' Unitarian church, in Park avenue.

The meeting arranged by Mrs. E. F. Feickert, Mrs. Allen Cowperthwaite and Mrs. Francis De L. Hyde, was called for the purpose of enlisting other women in the cause, and to stir enthusiasm among the women in favor of the Roosevelt policies, and especially in the plank which calls for "votes for women."

Mrs. Hall explained the Bull Moose platform and told of conditions to be found throughout the country which, she said, could undoubtedly be remedied if the women were placed on an equal footing with their husbands in the matter of electing public officials.

Speaking of Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. Hall said he was probably the most loved and most hated man in the United States today. She attacked Woodrow Wilson and President Taft as representing parties whose platforms are faulty, and who are assisting the trusts. Dwelling on the remark which Governor Wilson made in a recent address that he had a one-track-mind, the speaker brought forth laughter and applausue when she said that this country needs a man with a four track mind and compared him with the old fashioned one-track-railroads, which had long been condemned.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Hall was escorted to the railroad station. The local women were keenly regretful that she had to hurry away.

Following the speaking, a business meeting was held and arrangements were completed to hold a "Progressive Luncheon," in the Park Club, Friday, November 1.

Among those interested in the Bull Moose party are many prominent members of the College Club, and various other women's organizations of the city. They will start a campaign among their colleagues to endeavor to secure recruits in the cause of "Votes for Women."

BEAUTIES OF NEW ORGAN BROUGHT OUT BY RECITAL

An organ recital before a large and appreciative audience was given last night in the Monroe Avenue Methodist church by William E. McClymont, organist. The instrumental selections, which were well received, were interspersed with solos by Mrs. Theodore Mantz, soprano, and William G. Smith, basso. The Rev. F. J. Hubach, opened the service with a short address.

Mr. McClymont's recitations included the following selections: Hallelujah, by Du Bois; Pastorale, in "E" key by LaMore; Lamentation, by Gilmont; Cavatina, by Raff; Largo, by Handel, and the Priest's March, from Aphalie, by Mendelssohn. The playing throughout showed a power of learned execution and ability of great dimension. His power of expression was probably more pronounced in the closing selection, which he rendered with great feeling.

Mrs. Mantz sang "My Redeemer and My Lord," by W. Buck, and "Abide With Me," by Liddle, and Mr. Smith rendered "Jerusalem," by Parker, and the "Lost Chord," by Sullivan. Both soloists are artists of ability and have voices of depth and force of expression.

CREDITORS TOLD EVILS OF CREDIT

Business Men Hear How Sluggish Accts. Weaken Their Commercial Strength.

PARASITES DENOUNCED

Mayor Moy Refers to the Dishonesty of Running Up Certain Accounts—William Jeffery Sends Crisp Letter on Civic Lethargy.

Credit in all its various phases was discussed at the first annual banquet of the Plainfield Business Men's Credit Association, at the Waldorf Hotel, last night, when nearly one hundred members and friends gathered to enjoy an excellent dinner and listen to speeches along the practical side of business life. William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, was the toastmaster, and the speakers were H. W. Marshall, president of the association; Mayor G. W. V. Moy, Robert R. Pentecost, S. S. Swackhamer and Hugh V. Todd.

After speaking in a humorous vein for a few minutes, Mr. Saunders became more serious and gave the business men some hard facts to ponder over. He declared that statistics showed that only three per cent. of the business men are successful; 34 per cent. lack capital, 27 per cent. are incompetent.

"There seems to be nothing so easy as to buy goods on credit and so many business men fall into the trap," continued Mr. Saunders. "One might better have empty shelves, with a limited stock, than to have a large stock that cannot be readily converted into cash. Many a business has been wrecked in this way, by doing too much business. An illustration of this was the Third Avenue Railroad in New York, which went into the hands of a receiver.

"The business man must restrict credit. There is no reason why he shouldn't conduct his retail business along the same lines as the wholesale man in New York. I would suggest that the cash customer be given the benefit of a cash discount. Those who are given credit naturally should pay more for their goods, but the man who pays cash is entitled to some consideration, and if the discount is given it will not be long before the credit list will gradually grow smaller."

President H. W. Marshall was then called upon to tell something of the association and its purpose, which he declared was to restrict unlimited credit. Referring to the credit system, Mr. Marshall asserted that for the success of the association it was necessary that all members be absolutely honest with one another. If a merchant has a customer who does not pay, it is the duty of that merchant to report him at once, which is not done at present.

Mr. Marshall referred to the compilation of a "bad credit" list by the local coal dealers, containing approximately 1,700 names.

"We have got to cut out all friendship in this matter," said Mr. Marshall. "The discount feature referred to by Mr. Saunders is worth considering. The merchant must determine what discount he can give. We have 118 members and during the past year about twenty-five have been active and profitted by the association.

"There is no reason why a merchant should go to the bank to get money to run his business. What brought the business men of this city, Somerville, Elizabeth and other cities into such an association? The reason is plain. They could not struggle along any longer under the credit system. They buy goods on 30, 60 or 90 days' credit. The cash customer pays, but the others do not, hence the merchant is forced to borrow money to do business. Our next meeting will be on Monday, November 18, and I hope the members will attend, as steps will be taken to incorporate, to further stop unlimited credit and to consider th question of getting rid of small bills which have been allowed to run."

Mr. Saunders in introducing Mayor Moy, said that the latter was a man of conscience, and that it was to his credit that he had served the city earnestly and with conscience. Referring to the fact that Mr. Moy had changed his seat after the dinner, he said that he did not know whether it was because of the draught behind him or the one in front of the toastmaster.

Mr. Moy said that he was not frightened by the draught in front. He declared that while he had never taken a drink, he would not quarrel with the man who wants it. Speaking, as he said, as a business man, Mr. Moy stated that he might startle those present by saying that during the ten years he was in business here, he retired with less than $100 on his books as owing him. He said that if there was anyone else present who could say the same thing he would like to see that person.

AGED MINISTER GOES TO HIS LAST REWARD

Father of George C. Nelson Dies at Nutley Home.

Succumbing to the infirmities of age, Rev. William Charles Nelson, one of the oldest ministers in the Newark Methodist Conference, and father of George C. Nelson, of this city, died at his home in Passaic avenue, Nutley. The recent illness of his wife, which preyed on his mind, is believed to have hastened the aged clergyman's death.

Mr. Nelson, who was eighty-three years old, had been active in ministerial work of his church for nearly half a century. Since his ordination, in 1853, he had held charges all over the northern part of this State, and several times went to New York State.

Born in what is now Elizabeth, Mr Nelson gained his early education in the public schools and studied for the ministry at Drew Theological Seminary, at Madison. His first charge was in Chatham. From that place he occupied the pulpits of Rockaway, Greenville, South Centreville and North Belleville successively. North Belleville was then the name of Nutley, and the church over which he presided still stands near his home, although no longer in use. While holding this pastorate he married Miss Olive Clark, of Pittsfield, Mass. The couple celebrated their golden wedding four years ago.

Following his marriage Mr. Nelson was sent to charges at Boonton, Flanders, Drakestown, Basking Ridge, New Vernon, Green Village, Lafayette, Frankfurt Plains, Pinebrook, Bloomsbury, Finesville, Mechanicsville, St. Mark, Staten Island; Stanhope, Waterloo, Denville, Rockaway, Calley, Pinebrook, Palisades, Piermont, N. Y.; Mt. Horeb, Mountainview, Gladstone, Thiells, N. Y., and East Millstone. Retirement came in 1898, and Mr. Nelson moved to Nutley about nine years ago, to the house in which he died. He is survived by a widow and two sons, Charles N. Nelson, of Pine Brook, and George C. Nelson, of Plainfield.

The funeral will probably be held Monday afternoon in the Vincent M. E. church, Nutley.

The Plainfield delegates will be entertained by the people of Summit during their three days' stay. A number of forms of entertainment have been planned for the delegates.

Plainfield will play an important part in the conference, as Schuyler Line, of East Front street, has been selected to take charge of the secretarial work. Mr. Bingaman always occupies a significant position in gatherings of this nature and he will probably be assigned to some special work.

Dr. Clawson will take Mr. Bingaman, Frank Dunning, Holmes Clawson and Arthur Stout to Summit in his machine this afternoon. They will be followed by William Peacock, Myrton Glover, Andrew Hetfield, Schuyler Line and Roger Steward, in the latter's automobile.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. Dr. Gabriel Reid Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will preach Sunday morning on "God's Promises" and in the evening on "Do or Die."

Watchung Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, will meet in the Columbus Club rooms tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

The Sewing School of Warren chapel will be reorganized Saturday, October 26, at 10:30 a. m. Classes in plain sewing, cooking and dressmaking.

The first of "Talks on English Literature," by Miss Marguerite Walbridge, of Radcliffe College, was held this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

DUTCH ARMS HOLDS ANNIVERSARY DINNER

Netherwood Organization is Praised by Mayor Clark, of North Plainfield.

A banquet, replete with good speaking and humorous stories, was held last night by the Dutch Arms, in the Netherwood Reformed church, on Leland avenue, to celebrate the second anniversary of the organization. The event was well attended by a strong representation of the men as well as numerous friends and members of the church.

The dinner was served in the church, which was decorated with autumn foliage and palms. The table decorations consisted of flowers and colored candles in pretty holders.

Among the speakers introduced by toastmaster F. A. Cooper, were Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of North Plainfield; the Rev. John Y. Brook, pastor of Trinity Reformed church; F. E. Smith, superintendent of the Sunday-school of Trinity church; the Rev. R. A. Stout, pastor of the Netherwood church, and Claude Conod, superintendent of the Sunday-school of the Netherwood church; O. P. Wohlig, president of the Dutch Arms, and Horace J. Martin, vice president.

The first to speak was Mayor Clark. His stories were numerous and well told. After lauding the part played by women in the beneficial church life of today, he said in part:

"The meeting of this society tonight has back of it something that indicates its foundation. The object of the Dutch Arms is to do everything to uplift the church and to assist our fellow men. In this age it is our foremost duty to promote good character and the example made by your members forms a foundation for the manhood of the younger generation in the Netherwood church; it enables them to see and conquer their faults at an early start in life.

"In conclusion I want to congratulate you on your splendid organization and the high aims and lofty ideals for which it stands."

When the Rev. John Y. Brook opened with the remark that Major Clark missed his calling and should have been a minister, he brought forth the laughter and applause of the diners. He said the members of the Dutch Arms had caught the spirit of brotherhood, working for a common end and for a common good. He hoped for them a greater success in their work in the future than past. Continuing he said the church should not only be a religious center but also a social force and meeting place of the community.

F. E. Smith, of Trinity Sunday-school, told of the Bible study work being done throughout the country and of the large Sunday-school parades in which business men and children in all walks of life take part. O. P. Wohlig, president of the society, thanked the speakers; told of the organization of the Dutch Arms two years ago and invited the men to become members.

The Rev. R. A. Stout told of the work accomplished by the Dutch Arms, and of the development of sociability in the neighborhood. Horace J. Martin and Claude Conod also spoke of the purposes of the society and gave several humorous stories.

The arrangement committee was composed of the Rev. Mr. Stout, F. B. Wills, Edgar Tilton, B. P. Hansen and other officers of the organization.

FLEMINGTON MAN DIES BY CYANIDE ON TRAIN

Flemington, Oct. 25.—Thomas Airy, formerly superintendent of the Flemington Gaslight Company, committed suicide by taking cyanide of potassium, while returning to Flemington from Plainfield. Just after the train left Three Bridges, Airy entered the washroom, where he took the poison.

Mr. Airy was about thirty-four years old, unmarried, and boarded at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson. He had been absent from home since Monday evening.

Airy was a member of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, Knights of Pythias and Daughters of Liberty, of Flemington. He left letters to be delivered to these different lodges, and to a number of friends, none of which has been made public. It is thought these explain his reason for taking his own life.

Dr. Frank W. Larison, of Lambertville, the coroner, was summoned and issued a burial permit.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS.

Summit, N. J., Oct. 25.—(Special). The annual boys' conference of the New Jersey Young Men's Christian Association opened here today for a three day session under the presidency of Charles R. Scott, secretary of boys' work. An interesting program has been arranged, especially for the Saturday afternoon session, when Henry S. Pratt, of Ridgewood, N. J., will preside. A number of highly interesting addresses will be delivered.

THE BECKER VERDICT.

The verdict in the Becker case is a signal victory for District Attorney Whitman, but that is quite unimportant. It is the greatest sort of a victory for criminal justice in New York. Lieutenant Becker, the alleged grafter and the convicted murderer, is probably but one of many officers of the law who have resorted to all sorts of crimes to extort money and to blackmail. But Becker, in his reckless abandon and overconfidence, went to the extreme and, as the jury found, hired professional murderers to take the life of a gambler who was about to expose his grafting record. The chain of corroborative evidence, largely circumstantial and therefore the very best, was so strong that even without the perfectly clear and unassailable testimony of the hired assassins, the case against the accused was one where only a verdict of guilty could be found.

As the New York laws permit appeals on the slightest and flimiest pretexts, undoubtedly it will be some time before Becker is sent to the electric chair, but that society will take his life in forfeit for the atrocious crime he has committed against it there can not be the slightest doubt. The quicker it is all over with, however, the better it will be for criminal justice in a city where robbery, murder and other terrible offenses have been committed with impunity.

"From now till Christmas should be the harvest time of retail business," says the Trenton Sunday Advertiser. "The weather is sufficiently cold to prompt winter purchases and before long thoughts of holiday buying will occupy the minds of womankind. The way to get business nowadays is to go after it. The old custom was to provide the goods and wait for trade but such a policy would send a storekeeper into bankruptcy today. Whether we like it or not, the secret of prosperity for a merchant is to make a noise in order to bring the buyers to his counters. An attractively set show window is a step in the right direction. An aggressive campaign of advertising is another step and an indispensable one.

"Now is the time to place an advertisement if you haven't already done so; if you are already in the paper, consider the wisdom of enlarging your space from now till Christmas." And there is no better medium through which to wage the fight for quick and big sales than the Daily Press advertising columns. Results are what the merchant wants and he has learned by experience that this paper gives them every time.

"It was charged," says a news despatch from Trenton, "that she," meaning Mrs. John Jacob Astor, "had exceeded the fifteen days' tourist privilege, but upon her promise to obtain a license she was permitted to go without the indignity of arrest."

This sort of toadying favoritism on the part of public officials is what makes Socialists. Why should a Mrs. Astor fare any better at the hand of the law than the humblest and poorest woman in the State?

The contributing editor for tomorrow's issue will be Frank L. Holt, a New York lawyer and a member of the Plainfield Common Council. Saturday contributed editorials have been a regular weekly feature since the first of the year and as they are written by prominent residents who know whereof they speak when they discuss a given subject, the feature commands general interest in the community. Mr. Holt's editorial will prove particularly interesting.

The dispatch with which the Becker case was conducted was creditable alike to Justice Goff, District Attorney Whitman and his assistant, Mr. Moss. It was just like Jersey justice—particularly the verdict.

At the Laurel track races yesterday in the fourth contest, Johnson finished first and Republican second. Now, you superstitious people.

THE FORUM.

A LETTER AND A REPLY.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

In your issue of 23d inst. there appears an editorial over the signature of Leslie R. Fort, one of the editors and managers of your paper, entitled "Facts vs. Fiction," in which an attempt is made to reply to the statements made by myself at the Republican mass meeting in Reform Hall in which I endeavored to explain the motive that actuated Ralph Morrow the editor of the Plainfield Daily Press, in writing and publishing the editorial under date of Oct. 17, and gave the facts upon which my opinion was founded.

The editorial written by Mr. Fort summarized simply says, Liar, liar liar. No doubt Mr. Fort having breathed the progressive spirit so long has become impregnated with the idea of the distinguished leader of the Progressive party, whose replies to all charges and statements are generally made with the above word; but the difference between the two individuals is that some people may believe the distinguished representative of the Progressive party but it is a question whether if the true facts as given at the meeting at Reform Hall are set before the people of the City of Plainfield whether the public will accept the reply of Mr. Fort.

In order to present the matter fairly before the public, I propose to quote several of your statements from your editorial, and then submit the facts upon which my assertion was made, and then let the general public decide for themselves as to which version they will believe.

You say, among other things: "Mr. Newcorn tried to give the impression" * * * "was inspired because of the refusal to give the Press a certain political advertisement. The advertisement in question which Mr. Newcorn seems to think is such a damning piece of evidence against the Press appeared the same night the editorial in question appeared. Any fairly intelligent person would know that all editorial matter for any newspaper is written hours before the paper goes to press." * * * "The advertisement and the editorial appeared simultaneously, and no one connected with the Press had the slightest idea that the adv. was to appear until it was seen in another local newspaper. The Daily Press naturally wishes to get all the business it can. Therefore, at 4 o'clock on the afternoon mentioned, after both local papers had appeared, and it was discovered that the adv. appeared elsewhere, inquiry was made as to why it did not appear in the Press, and after several others had been queried Mr. Newcorn was referred to." * * * "The editorial did not appear following the appearance of the advertisement, as Mr. Newcorn untruthfully states."

Evidently Mr. Fort did not follow his well-meant advice to me in the same editorial in becoming familiar with the facts before he attempted to write the editorial, or else he is deliberately misstating the facts for the purpose of deceiving the public.

Unfortunately there happens to be documentary evidence to substantiate the statements made by me, and in order that the public can ascertain who is telling the truth I herewith submit the evidence upon which my statements are based.

Exhibit 1. Plainfield Courier-News Oct. 14 containing the advertisement of the Republican mass meeting at Reform Hall on the 15th.

Exhibit 2. Record in the N. Y. Telephone Co. of call from "1300" (the Press number) to "288-W" (my home telephone).

Exhibit 3. Letter from Ralph Morrow, dated Oct. 14, on the stationery of the Plainfield Daily Press, which reads as follows:

"Plainfield, N. J.

"My dear Judge:

"I notice that we are not carrying the Republican City Committee mass meeting adv. Mr. Townsend informs me that you said to place it in the Courier-News only.

"As Republican city chairman do you propose not to advertise in both papers? If you conveniently can, will you 'phone me in the morning?

"Sorry to hear that you are laid up.

"Sincerely,
"RALPH."

Oct. 14.

and which letter is in my possession and can be seen by anyone who is desirous of seeing the same, and which letter was left at my office endorsed upon the envelope, to be delivered at the residence.

Exhibit 4. Record at the N. Y. Telephone Co. offices of connection "751" (my office telephone) with "1300" (the Press number) under date of Oct. 15, at which time Mr. Morrow was advised that the adv. appearing on the 14th was inserted in the Courier-News only upon the direction of the County Chairman being in response to the request in the communication above referred to.

Exhibit 5. Conversation between Ralph Morrow and Frank H. Smith, the county chairman, in re-publishing the adv. of mass meeting, as the result of the above conversation.

Exhibit 6. Plainfield Daily Press Oct. 17 containing the editorial referred to.

Taking the statement of Mr. Fort that the editorial was written some hours before the paper went to press the editorial in question was then written upon Oct. 17, the same date it was published; and in view of the fact that the advertisement appeared in the Plainfield Courier-News on Oct. 14 and inquiries made the very same day as to why the Press was slighted in publishing the notice of the mass meeting as stated above and there proven, and the editorial not being published until the 17th after the editor of the Daily Press had received the explanation from the County Chairman why the adv. in question was not given to his paper any fair-minded citizen would be justified in coming to the conclusion that the editorial was inspired by the failure to secure the advertising matter in question, and I for one am of the same opinion still.

Mr. Fort in his anxiety to explain that this was not the reason why the editorial was published, says "Mr. Newcorn therefore is entitled to the fabriquet first applied when he intimates that the failure to insert an advertisement in this newspaper resulted because this newspaper did not get a paltry five or six dollars worth of advertising." Mr. Fort knew at the time when he wrote that portion of his editorial that that statement was not true; that according to the rates paid other papers for publishing advertisements the insertion of a quarter page would cost $20, which for three meetings, six insertions would be $120, and for a half page for the larger meeting at $40 an issue, four insertions, would make at least a total of $280; and I can only consider it an attempt upon his part to endeavor to belittle the statements made by trying to show how trivial the amount involved was to the paper.

In reply to that portion of the editorial referring to the statement made by me, "How many people know that Mayor Moy is one of the arbitrators in case any trouble should arise between Mr. Morrow and Mr. Fort and they should be unable to adjust it. I have been informed that such is a fact." I would state that my authority for said information is the statement made by several people to that effect, who received the said information from a member of the Mono Investment Company and a very close friend of Mayor Moy, and at the time of the making of the statement, coming from the source that it did, I had every reason to believe it was true. It was not stated as a positive fact, but as common report.

As to the question as to whether I can produce any facts to substantiate the statement that Mayor Moy has anything to do about the policy of the Press, I will simply leave that to the judgment of the readers of your paper. Those who have been reading the same during the past year and a half, and more especially since the Daily Press Company has been organized, can judge for themselves. I am entitled to my opinion, and I have always had the courage of my convictions, and have never hesitated to express them at any time or place.

After a residence in the City of Plainfield for twenty-three years, and always actively engaged in civil, fraternal and professional life in the city, I am perfectly willing to let the citizens of the City of Plainfield decide as to who is telling the truth.

WILLIAM NEWCORN.

Oct. 25, 1912.

[If the Plainfield Daily Press has done William Newcorn an injustice, as he claims in his letter above, this newspaper will hasten to apologize for such a statement. If such an advertisement as he mentions did appear in another local paper on a previous night to October 17, for another mass meeting it failed to attract the attention of the writer, so far as can be remembered. In reply to his statements No. 2 and 4 it can only be said that inquiry at the telephone office brought forth the information this morning that no record is kept of local calls, except the number of the calling office. The only issue at question therefore left between the Press and Mr. Newcorn is as to the date of the letter of Mr. Morrow, which on the original copy is October 14, according to Mr. Newcorn's statement. In the recollection of every employe of the office force of the Daily Press, who was present, the suggestion that Mr. Newcorn be approached was made on the day in which the editorial in question was published. One thing will settle the matter, once and for all, and that is the envelope which enclosed the letter, and this Mr. Newcorn admits has been destroyed.

On the day after Mr. Newcorn made the attack on the Daily Press, the copy of the article which appeared in the Press describing his remarks was taken to Mr. Newcorn, and submitted to him before publication so that there could be no question about his being incorrectly quoted in our columns. During a conversation with him in his office, which he today admitted took place, it was suggested by the Press representative that the editorial and the advertisement appeared simultaneously, and Mr. Newcorn made no effort to contradict the statement. He admitted that such was the case this morning. Does that indicate that the editorial in which we take Mr. Newcorn to task was written without doing everything in our power to make sure we had our facts correctly?

We admit that the editorial in question was actually written on October 17, but we refer Mr. Newcorn to the statement contained in our editorial of October 8, in which we said in reference to the city machine, "If Mr. Clay actually doesn't know that the city was in the clutches of a 'machine' we will mention names. But we might refer him to files of the local papers reporting Mr. Moy's campaign speeches to save the trouble." From that day we anticipated Mr. Clay's request and began investigation and preparation for the editorial which seems to get under Mr. Newcorn's skin. No one will dispute that such was the natural thing for the Press to do, and the date of October 8, proves conclusively that the editorial in question was promised long before the advertising appeared, whether Mr. Newcorn's dates are right or not.

In our opinion Mr. Newcorn, over his own signature, is admitting that he and the others on the county committee are deliberately violating the intent and purpose of the Geran law. He admits that the advertising he is giving out is so given because of the support which a certain newspaper is giving the party, and says that it was not the intention to give it to a newspaper which is not helping the party. Isn't that a form of bribery, as laid down in section 25 of the corrupt practices act, where it is stated:

"It shall be unlawful for any person, directly or indirectly, by himself or through any other person (3) to make a gift, loan, promise, offer, procurement or agreement, as aforesaid, to, for or with any person, in order to induce such person to procure or endeavor to procure, the election of any person, or the vote of any voter at any election."

As for Mr. Newcorn's statement regarding Mayor Moy, we can only reiterate that we challenge him to produce the slightest evidence to bear out the truth of his assertion that Mayor Moy has anything whatsoever to do with the conduct of the Press, or that it was ever agreed that he was to act as intermediary in case any trouble ever came between the editors of this newspaper. The Press may be proven in the future to have been in error in its assertions regarding the time at which Mr. Newcorn received a business-like letter, soliciting advertising, in a perfectly proper and the regular way, but as for any other assertions concerning this newspaper he is absolutely wrong. At the same time we submit that letter to anyone as to their judgment as to whether it contains a threat of any kind.

If Mr. Newcorn's statement regarding the date on which he received the letter in question is true, he verifies the statement in the Press that it was but a few paltry dollars that were involved and not $280 as he tries to lead the reader to believe. He says the letter was written October 14, and also says a one-quarter page adv. first appeared elsewhere that night. At the Press political adv. rate of 40 cents an inch this would have amounted to $16.00, and at commercial rates to $8.00. If Mr. Newcorn's dates are right the Press statement as to a few paltry dollars is also right.

We don't cares especially about carry on a discussion of this kind. We think that the voters are going to settle the question on election day, so far as the Republican party is concerned, but the Press does not intend to be misrepresented in its attitude, or have misstatements made concerning it.—Leslie R. Fort.]

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Please accept my thanks for having been independent and fearless enough to publish the letter I sent you on Tuesday concerning the bona fides of the "Bull Moose" councilmanic candidate from the First ward, A. D. Edgar. Your contemporary had a similar communication but failed to publish it.

By the way, Mr. Edgar has not answered my inquiries as yet. It must be embarrassing, if he is ashamed of the truth and is certain that he cannot get away with fiction.

MADERO SPARES LIFE OF REBEL CHIEF DIAZ

Mexico's President Turns Deaf Ear to Cabinet's Plea That He Be Shot.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Mexico City, Oct. 25.—President Madero has saved the life of Felix Diaz, the leader of the recent revolt at Vera Cruz. When the voices of his counsellors, including the President's own relatives, were lifted in protest against granting clemency to the rebel chieftain, the President stood firmly between Diaz and death. His counsel of humanity ultimately prevailed.

The Cabinet officers said that the fallen ex-general would be sentenced to solitary confinement in some military prison, the terms of the sentence, however, are officially withheld.

Despatches from Vera Cruz today announced that Major Zarate and Major Cuesta, two members of the staff of the revolutionary leader, Diaz, had been shot after having been sentenced to death by court martial. There was a decided difference of opinion between President Madero and his advisors regarding the punishment of Diaz. President Madero, with his characteristic humanity, believes that a mild punishment will suffice. He favors either deportation or a prison sentence. President Madero's advisors, among them his uncle, Ernesto Madero, finance minister, and Gustavo Madero, his brother, insist upon the extreme punishment as the only penalty to fit the crime.

ROOSEVELT RESUMES THE ACTIVE LEADERSHIP

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Oyster Bay, L. I., Oct. 25.—Col. Roosevelt plunged into the active work of the campaign today. Dr. Ferrell saw the patient early today. "He is doing well," said the doctor, "and there is no reason why he should not enter the campaign. These few days at home have helped along his recovery wonderfully."

The Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E. church will give a "clipping social" at the church tonight. There will also be a sale of cake and lemonade.

DARING YEGGMEN ROB POSTOFFICE

They Blow Safe and Take $650 In Stamps.

RECOVER LOOT IN NEWARK

While Going at High Rate of Speed Driver Loses Control of Machine and Crashes Into Parkway—Thieves Escape, and Colored Chauffeur Is Held.

Perth Amboy, N. J., Oct. 25.—The postoffice here was broken into and robbed of about $650 in stamps and a number of registered letters. The steel safe in which the stamps and letters were kept was blown with a charge of nitroglycerin. It is the opinion of the police that the explosion was timed so as to be offset by the noise of a passing train. The postoffice is less than a block distant from the New Jersey Central railroad station.

Another steel safe, which contained between $2,000 and $3,000 in cash, was disfigured by the robbers, but its hinges held intact. The lock, however, was badly battered, and the safe will have to be sent to the factory to be opened.

The loot was recovered an hour later in Newark. It was taken from an automobile driven by a negro chauffeur. The negro says that his passengers were white men, but that they fled when the automobile broke down.

While Policeman Skillman was standing at the corner of Walnut and Broad streets in Newark warning people against a live electric wire that had been blown down during the storm a big touring car dashed up. It contained four men. Skillman held up a warning hand and pointed to the dangerous wire, but the men in the car paid him no heed and dashed on. At Washington street a second policeman made an unsuccessful attempt to stop the car. At this point there is a parkway in the center of the street. The automobile was going at such a rate of speed that the driver could not control the machine, and it crashed into the parkway. The tire and rim of one of the front wheels was ripped off, and the machine ran for a block on the spokes. The car then came to a stop, and three of the occupants jumped out and fled. The negro chauffeur was arrested. He gave his name as Walter Brown and said he was eighteen years old. He was held on suspicion.

Postmaster Pfeiffer of Perth Amboy came here later and got the stolen stamps.

When the robbers jumped from the car they left their fur coats and some burglar tools behind. The coats and tools are now in possession of the police.

EXPLOSION WRECK BUILDINGS

Lightning Sets Off Guncotton—Chemical Factory Escapes.

Passaic N. J., Oct. 25.—Two small buildings of the Anderson Chemical Company's plant in the outskirts of Wallington were wrecked when a bolt of lightning set off the guncotton with which they were stored. Pieces of timber were hurled for several hundred yards by the explosion. Luckily none of the flying debris struck the main building of the plant, 200 feet away, and no one was hurt.

A watchman who was standing near the door of the main building watching the storm clouds at the time was hurled to the ground, but was able to resume his duties immediately and turn in a fire alarm. The fire was put out with a damage of about $500. Guncotton stored in nearby structures was drenched by the firemen to prevent the possibility of another explosion.

KISSED HIS FRIEND'S WIFE.

But, Dr. Dilts Explained, They Had Been Friends Since Childhood.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 25.—When Vice Chancellor Lewis resumed hearings in the divorce suit brought by Mrs. William T. Taylor against her husband, a prominent business man of this city, Dr. Charles H. Dilts, named as a corespondent in Taylor's cross bill, took the stand.

He said he and Mrs. Taylor had been friends since childhood and kissed whenever they met, no matter whether his wife or Mrs. Taylor's husband were present. He denied any improper conduct and said he and Taylor had been friendly ever since the two couples took a vacation trip.

It was on this trip that Taylor declared Dilts and Mrs. Taylor had been found in a compromising situation.

ATTACKED BY BLACK HAND.

Newark Man Laid Up In Hospital From Stabbing.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 25.—James Neuweiler, thirty-two years old, of 34 Houston street, this city, was attacked by two men on Elm road and stabbed four times in the body, once on an arm, once on a cheek and once on the head and again in the face. All the cuts are slight wounds.

Neuweiler said at the hospital that he knew of no cause for the attack on him. The police think he may have been mistaken by Black Handers for some one to whom they had planned to convey an emphatic warning.

BULGARS VICTORS AS KIRK KILISE FALLS

They Capture Turkish Fortress, Key to Adrianople.

London, Oct. 25.—The Turkish fortress of Kirk Kilise has fallen, according to a news agency dispatch from Sofia. It is regarded as the key to Adrianople and is the headquarters of the Turkish third army corps commanded by Kenaan Pasha.

The Turkish garrison of Adrianople suffered heavy losses during a sortie attempted from the northeastern quarter of the town. They left twelve cannon on the field when they retired.

The Bulgarian troops are now only from three to five miles from the redoubts and are fortifying their positions.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 25.—Kirk Kilise has been captured by the Bulgarian army, which has been fighting against the Turkish troops in the vicinity for several days. The possession of the fortress opens the way to a Bulgarian advance on Adrianople.

Constantinople, Oct. 25.—The great battle between the main forces of Bulgarians and Turks was resumed along the entire line between Adrianople and Kirk Kilise. Drenching rain hindered the movements of the troops.

Dispatches from Adrianople report that the second division of the Bulgarian army crossed the frontier yesterday. Its advance guard encountered serious resistance and suffered heavily, being compelled to fall back.

Serious fighting is also reported from Kadikeny, to the south of Mustapha Pasha, which ended in a victory for the Turks.

A FISH STORY ABOUT THE TELEPHONE.

The Telephone Review, N. Y., asks, "When you sit in a restaurant or at your own table and enjoy a delicious prize from the depths of the sea, do you ever think whence it came and of the magnitude of the fishing industry which supplies a means of sustenance to countless numbers of people? Probably your thinking does not extend beyond the cook."

The magazine then describes interestingly the great fishing industry which flourishes on the New Jersey coast. Fishing methods of today differ but little from those of ancient times, and net, spear and line are still the implements of the hardy fisherman as in days of yore. It is in selling the "catches" by telephone that modern methods have come into vogue.

Fish being perishable, they must be disposed of with the utmost dispatch. Starting out before daylight, the fishermen are through with their morning's work before the average reader of this article has turned over for his second nap. After a boat lands the owner rushes to the Bell telephone, calls up the various markets in our large eastern cities and sells to the best advantage. Then, while the fish are being packed in barrels and loaded on the waiting freight cars, he calmly eats his breakfast. As one old salt put it, "After a morning catch, first to the telephone, then to breakfast."

The value of the telephone in this industry is illustrated by the experience of a dealer who sold a quantity of sea bass at 6 cents a pound in a local market. One of his competitors called up a New York market and sold at 12 cents. By spending 50 cents for telephone charges the first dealer could have received twice his selling price. Another case cited is that of a dealer who lost a possible $2 a barrel on a large quantity of fish because he did not use the telephone.

A small telephone exchange is maintained at Seaside Park principally to serve the fisheries. Three-fourths of the calls through this exchange concern fish.

Captain Nelson Lockwood of Gallilee is one of the pioneers of the fishing business on the New Jersey coast, and the Telephone Review prints many of his interesting reminiscences.

The story is profusely illustrated and mentions many little details giving an insight into this great industry.

SELLING BY TELEPHONE

The telephone and newspapers are well known to be among the best mediums for selling in existence, but the telephone company itself cannot use the telephone and has to adopt a different means for getting new subscribers, while the newspapers use the telephone extensively for all purposes.

What the telephone company does is really pioneer work in opening up to others the means of communication with possible customers, as well as all the other uses to which it can be put.

The New York Telephone Review tells of a very successful advertising campaign the New York Telephone company conducted in Buffalo. A convincingly worded return postcard was sent to some 3,000 names on "prospect" cards and resulted in immediately securing 155 new subscribers who were listed in the Telephone Directory, just going to press. This was a little more than 5 per cent of the business they went after in this way.

Of course there were a great many other contracts secured through the medium of newspaper advertising, canvassing and otherwise. Every new subscriber increases the value of the service to every other subscriber, just as the larger the circulation of a newspaper the more valuable it is to its advertisers.

—No, Maude, dear; a girl isn't necessary a belle just because some fellow has toiled her so.

EVILS OF CREDIT

pay his bills," was the toast assigned to Mr. Moy. Referring to the old adage that some men are born great, others achieve greatness, while others have it thrust upon them, Mr. Moy submitted the word money for greatness, adding that he believed that the majority of those present were obliged to work for the money they get, not many have it thrust upon them.

"The trouble with many people who do not pay their bills is that they haven't the money. If they have they should pay. Aren't you a little to blame? The debtor has his side as there are two sides to every question. Among the fundamental principles there is first to be considered property, secondly, money as tangible things; and among the intangible things are credit, faith or belief, honesty and lastly conscience.

"If a man has property you don't always question his honesty. Isn't it sometimes a question of a man spending his money before he gets it? He runs an automobile and lets the merchant wait. Is he honest? He is no better than the man walks into you store and puts his hand in your pocket or money drawer. That man is not entitled to much consideration, and yet the greatest credit is often given to that class. In perfect candor I say that you are at fault when you tie up to that sort of a proposition.

"The man with a large family, who is trying, God knows how hard, to get along, is entitled to consideration. The employe should pay, because it is the honest thing to do. If everybody paid their bills we would not have had this delightful dinner.

"Is the grocer who allows a bill of $6,000 to run or the butcher who permits a bill of $1,500 to stand, just right? If it were not for these facts the merchant could give his clerks a little more money and get better service. This class of people to which I refer is a parasite. They pretend to be something that they are not. Let's force these people to take their proper stand."

Robert R. Pentecost, of this city, who is engaged in business in New York, gave an excellent address on credit based on a long experience in business. He said that without credit the present business world could not be transacted, it being estimated that from 90 to 95 per cent. of all business is done upon a credit basis.

Referring to a cause for slow payment, Mr. Pentecost said that it might be too great an amount of account receivable. "The retailer's ability to pay the wholesaler or jobber or to pay his banker for a loan depends on whether he can collect his own acounts promptly and fully and there is today room for a timely warning that credits to the consumer should be reduced to a systematic basis," said the speaker. "One of the evils in the credit system and particularly in individual credit is too great liberality in extending credit. Another safe-guard that is neglected is the insistence on prompt settlements and it should be generally recognized and enforced that when bills are not paid promptly the right to further credit has been forfeited."

S. S. Swackhamer, the next speaker, was brief, his remarks being purely of a humorous character. Hugh V. Todd, of the firm of Boice, Runyon & Co., was called upon to explain the prevailing high price of coal, and he gave a short history of the causes beginning with the suspension of operations at the mines last summer and of important incidents occurring since to keep the prices up.

William Jeffery was to have been one of the speakers, but he stayed away. He sent the following letter to the committee:

"Mr. Isaac Schwed and Committee,
"Plainfield, N. J.

"My dear Mr. Schwed:

"Just a line. I will not be down tonight. I do not know anything about the Credit Association. I am interested in the civic development of Plainfield. My record shows that, and I esteem the people of Plainfield, including the merchants, and want to continue to follow a broad gauge policy.

"It is quite clear that since the going out of the Board of Trade, the civic interests of Plainfield have been in a trance, so much is talked of from time to time about the 'commuter element,' the 'merchant element' and the 'stay at home element' as though the civic interests of the three were diametrically opposed to each other.

"A Board of Trade should serve the interest of everyone, the whole of Plainfield, every bit of it.

"I wish you a pleasant evening, and hope that when my friends wake up from their lethargy, they will be thoroughly rested, and prepared to assist in taking up the important civic work of the city, which has been neglected for so long a time.

"Yours cordially,
"WILIAM JEFFERY."

The committee in charge of the dinner comprised Isaac Schwed, chairman; W. H. Marchant and A. E. Force.

LYDIA CHAPTER TO ENTERTAIN.

Lydia Chapter, No. 41, Order Eastern Star, will give an entertainment, bazaar and dance in Sebring's Auditorium, on Tuesday night, October 29. An invitation is extended to all master masons, their families and friends. The committee in charge is arranging for a fine program.

WOMAN'S PART IN NEW PARTY FIGHT.

Representation Given Fair Sex In Bull Moose Organization.

New Jersey women are taking an active part in the bull moose campaign. The Progressive party's action in declaring for equal suffrage rights for all persons places it in the position of being the first important political party in the United States to make votes for women a national issue, and the suffrage movement has become practically united with the hopes of the new party.

A demand for a constitutional convention in which the state constitution should be amended to give women a vote, among other things, would be one of the first things done by the Progressives if they were in control of the New Jersey legislature.

With the organization of a state league in Newark recently hundreds of women from all parts of New Jersey are enrolling as volunteer workers in the bull moose ranks.

Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago, whose speech in seconding the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt in the Progressive convention at Chicago, is regarded as one of the most stirring utterances of the campaign, is to speak in Newark at a monster mass meeting on Friday night, Oct. 11. Miss Addams, whose life has been devoted to bettering social conditions among the poor people of Chicago, is recognized as one of the ablest woman thinkers and writers on economic questions that have been known in the present generation.

A feature of the Progressive campaign in the state will be singing at the large meetings by Jane Addams' choruses of women, which are being organized.

Dr. Mary G. Cummings, a practicing physician of Paterson, is president of the Passaic County Progressive Woman's league, which has been in existence for less than two weeks and already has several hundred members.

Women of the Oranges have organized a Progressive Woman's league, with Miss Marion C. Smith of 434 William street, East Orange, the authoress and poet, as president and Miss Elinor Swasey as secretary. Miss Smith has written a stirring Progressive campaign song, copies of which will be sent free to all who write for them and send stamps for postage.

Mrs. Frank A. Pattison of Colonia was permanent chairman of the Middlesex county Progressive convention in New Brunswick and performed her duties so ably as to evoke surprised and favorable comment from the newspapers. Mrs. Patterson goes on record as the first woman to preside at a political party convention in New Jersey.

Women members sat with the Progressive state committee and took part in its proceedings at Newark Friday. The women members of the state body are Mrs. Everett Colby of West Orange, Mrs. J. Franklin Fort of East Orange, Miss Marion C. Smith of East Orange, Mrs. Joseph Marvell of Atlantic City, Mrs. Charles Feickert of Newark and Mrs. Frank A. Pattison of Colonia. Representation is being given to women on the working subcommittees of the Progressive county committees throughout the state.

BIG SHIP BUILDING

The Planning and Constructing of an Ocean Liner.

FIRST A MINIATURE IS MADE.

This Small Model Is Then Thoroughly Tested, and the Story It Tells When Perfected Will Be the Story of the New Vessel When Launched.

Building a modern ocean liner is an interesting and complicated operation. The ship's plan is first prepared in sections from owners' specifications, on a scale of a quarter or half an inch to the foot. One set of drawings, called the "sheer draft," is a plan of the ship's skeleton or framework without the plates, the internal deck, bulkhead and hold arrangements being indicated by a series of detailed drawings.

Follows then the experimental stage. A wooden block or casting of paraffin wax is first made to scale from the ship's plans and tested in a large tank about 300 feet in length and eight feet deep. The model, weighted to the load line, is towed to and fro by an overhead traverser at varying speeds.

Delicate instruments register the exact "pull," the displacement, the stability and a host of other information. The shape of the model is altered again and again, pieces being shaved off here and others there. The final results are carefully tabulated, and from this ship in embryo the builders complete their plans.

Inside the central shed, 250 yards long and 150 feet in height, the ship's berth has meantime been prepared. Thousands of wooden piles, about thirty feet in length, have been driven by pile drivers deep into the ground. On these are laid huge beams and the floor completed with stout planks. Then in the center the keel blocks, surmounted by oak caps in groups of five, are assembled on a falling gradient to the river of about half an inch a foot.

All is now ready for the reception of the ponderous keel. This—the backbone of the ship—is of huge strength, measuring four feet across, and is three and a quarter inches thick. Parallel with the keel, but above it and attached by angle bars, is the central girder, five feet high, the space between forming the double bottom. On each side at regular distances running lengthwise, are seven other girders, the outer one called the "margin plate."

The water tight chambers are formed by vertical partitions of plates extending above and beneath the floors up to the margin plate on each side.

After the great cast steel stern frame and the stem bar for the bows have been attached the plating begins. The steel strips of varying sizes, but averaging thirty-four feet in length and about three tons in weight each, which form the skin of the ship, are laid on in strakes like the bricks in a wall. Fitting these strakes to the shape of a ship is a critical business. A thin wooden pattern or template is first prepared for each plate and clamped in position on the ship's side. With minute care every detail is marked on it—the size and shape, the overlap and the rivet holes.

It is then transferred to its prototype, the steel plate, which is cut, punched and bent by wonderful machinery that slices steel strips, punches rivet holes and bends steel plate as easily and cleanly as though the material were paper. Nimble traveling cranes on gantries under the roof pick up the huge plates when ready and convey them to their appointed place, where the hydraulic riveter—a mechanical marvel—with irresistible force and rapidity drives each rivet home. In the building of a modern liner over 4,000,000 rivets are used. Each joint is rendered water tight by calking.

The outer shell finished and the inside work far advanced, the builders turn their attention to the problem of the launch, the weight of the vessel at this point on the keel blocks being something like 15,000 tons. The launching ways, sloping gently to the water, are prepared, and cradles, fore and aft, to guide the ship, are erected with huge wooden beams, the whole being finally lubricated by tallow and train oil.

Amid acclamation the ship receives its baptism and, whether for weal or woe, takes to its element. Still helpless, though, its motive power lacking, it is afterward moored to the works wharf under a 150 ton titan crane, whereby its boilers—twenty-five of them—are lowered into the abyss of the hold and a multitude of fittings connected with the engines.

Dwarfing all else for size come next the four funnels, towering 150 feet above keel level and large enough for two tramcars to be drawn through abreast. These are fixed on the gigantic "uptakes," connecting with the boilers by a network of flues.

A hoist of auxiliary machinery for lighting, ventilating, pumping and steering the ship, as well as the passenger lifts, is being installed at the same time as a swarm of men work day and night on the internal decorations. Electricians encircle the ship with a girdle of light and install a telephone and electric call service with 300 stations.

In the chart room is fitted a wonderful clock, which controls, synchronically, fifty other clocks in different parts of the ship. The lofty Marconi mast is linked up with the mysterious instruments in the wireless cabin. Then, at last, after many months of toil, comes the welcome day when the great ship, pride of her builders, sails forth upon its trial trip.—London Answers.

SNODGRASS ARRIVES HOME.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 25.—Fred Snodgrass, centre fielder for the New York National League team, whose muff of a fly ball in the tenth inning of the last game aided the Boston American club in winning the world's championship, arrived yesterday to spend the winter. He was accompanied by Art Shafer, utility infielder of the New York team. Snodgrass will play with the Oxnard team during the winter. Snodgrass said that he was "frozen to the marrow" when his fatal misplay occurred. "I didn't seem to be able to hold the ball," he said. "It just dropped out of the glove and that was all there was to it." He said he was more sorry on Mathewson's account than his own. Charles Hall, Boston pitcher, is expected tomorrow. He will play with Ventura.

HOLY CROSS PRACTICE.

Owing to the inclement weather during the past week, Coach Hamilton, of the Holy Cross football team, has omitted the usual practices, and as a hard game is expected for tomorrow afternoon, when Holy Cross meets the Bayonne eleven, every member is requested to be out in uniform tonight on Hyde Oval. Hamilton says that Saturday's game is one of the hardest on the schedule and he is a little shaky as to the condition of his men after the long layoff. A little practice will polish off the rough spots and that is what he is planning to do tonight.

Philosophical Phelix Says:

LONG TRIP FOR P. H. S. FOOTBALL TEAM

Local Schoolboys Go to Phillipsburg Tomorrow for the Annual Game.

When the local High School eleven gained a place on the long football schedule of Phillipsburg High School, through superior work on the gridiron last season, the trip to the Pennsylvania border line became the most looked forward to of all the games on the football schedule. The Phillipsburg manager was attracted to the local school boys' team when he heard of the clean record established and immediately signed up a game to be played at Phillipsburg. It is unnecessary to relate the circumstances of that much talked of trip, and although the P. H. S. lads came back with their hopes of finishing up the season without being scored on shattered, they were enthusiastic over the treatment acorded them by the rival team and a permanent place was reserved on the P. H. S. schedule which will hereafter be filled in by Phillipsburg.

Manager Janke has booked the game earlier this year but he did not look forward to so many cancellations and postponements when he compiled his dates and had everything gone along as he had expected, P. H. S. would have been in the midst of the season by this time. It is particularly unfortunate that the local gridiron team should have had but one preliminary struggle before going to Phillipsburg tomorrow, as the rival aggregation which they are due to stack up against are in the middle of a most gratifying season. Phillipsburg has made a splendid showing against most of the larger scholastic teams of New Jersey and Greater New York, while P. H. S. was forced to swallow a dose of defeat in the only game it has played.

Manager Janke's first disappointment came from the High School of Commerce second team, who cancelled at the last moment. Then Rahway, Westfield and Bernardsville threw up the sponge, and Wednesday afternoon the sponge again came into prominence, but this time it was too wet for the Essex Fells' school boys to hold. Had the rain abated yesterday afternoon, Wednesday's game would probably have been run off at that time, but Jupiter Pluvius still held his own and thoughts of a game were shattered.

Practice has also suffered a letup during the recent rainy spell and aside from a little indoor work the High School team has had practically no drilling since Tuesday. Although weighed down under these great handicaps every member of the High School team is looking forward to the trip tomorrow afternoon and although lacking in the real winning qualities of the gridiron game, P. H. S. is expected to make a good showing, for every player is possessed with a winning spirit.

A number of P. H. S. rooters are planning to make the trip with their favorites and the side line game that supporters can always plan will not be lacking at Phillipsburg.

HOLY CROSS PLAYS BAYONNE ELEVEN

Good Game Expected When These Two Teams Meet on Cricket Field.

Plainfield football lovers will be given another rare treat on Cricket Field tomorrow afternoon, when the Holy Cross eleven stacks up against the fast B. R. C. team from Bayonne. The struggle on Cricket Field will be the only one in town again tomorrow as the High School team goes to Phillipsburg and although a number of P. H. S. followers are contemplating making that trip, there will probably be the same old crowd left to do the side-line work at the North Plainfield gridiron.

Manager Doyle has introduced somewhat of a novelty into Holy Cross football but one that will be much appreciated by the enthusiasts in this city. All of his games are carded to be played on the home field, so Plainfield is assured of at least one game for every week-end.

The Bayonne eleven is coming to town tomorrow with a "rep" that the locals will have to go some to shatter. The rival eleven has been playing a number of crackerjack teams from Perth Amboy, Bayonne and Greater New York and are said to be both heavy and fast.

The lineup:

BASKETBALL WILL BE USHERED IN

Hope Chapel and Monroe Avenue Will Start the Season Going Tomorrow.

What promises to furnish some animated sport tomorrow night is the first game of the local basketball season which will be played on the Hope Chapel court between the Hope Chapel and Monroe Avenue quintets. Both of these athletic teams have been the greatest rivals in baseball during the past season and as most of the diamond players have now laid aside their baseball suits for basketball togs they will come together again, but this time it will be indoors.

Hope Chapel has always turned out one of the fastest local amateur teams in this city and have always established a noteworthy record on the court. Last season the Chapelites had a number of fine wins to their credit long before the other aggregations in this city had started to play and an early start was again secured this year. Not only did Hope Chapel come out ahead in their games with teams in Plainfield but they traveled to Elizabeth and Newark, taking the measure of a number of fast teams in those cities. The quintet gathered together this year is even faster than that of 1911 and as the latter aggregation was speedy enough to put it over most of the local teams it is hard to tell just what they are planning to do this season.

Monroe Avenue is rather unheard of in basketball but if it puts up anywhere near as good an article of basketball as they did baseball tomorrow night's game ought to be one for blood. Acting Captain Gunzelman has had his men out practicing almost nightly and says he has rounded together a formidable aggregation that will be well able to take charge of their half of the inaugural game.

Acting Captain Johnny Heron, of the Hope team, is up against the problem of having too many eligibles to choose from and it is still more perplexing as every one of the men trying for positions are unusually clever basketball players. Among those trying for the team who will all be given a workout tomorrow night are: The Heron brothers, Tommy and Johnny; Allen Snyder and Arthur Grisley, forwards; Doig, Schott and Angleman, centres; Thorn, Leighs and H. Guy Snyder, guards. Frank Rimmer will referee the games.

LESLIE LORD TO MANAGE TEMPLE BAPTIST QUINTET

A captain and manager were appointed for the basketball team of the Temple Athletic Association at a special meeting held in the Baraca classroom of the Temple Baptist church last evening. Bert Mattox was elected captain and Leslie Lord manager.

Reports were received from the baseball and football committees. The Temples expect to play their first game of football Saturday, November 2, with the Netherwoods.

CRESCENT A. C. ELEVEN AT DUNELLEN TOMORROW

Dunellen footbal enthusiasts are all wrought up over their gridiron representative's two straight victories and are looking forward to the game with the Crescent A. C., of Milltown, scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, with the keenest of interest. The Dunellen goal line has yet to be crossed as both of the previous contests have resulted in 6 to 0 victories for the Dunellenites. An exceptionally strong team has beeen rounded together and many old time stars have returned to the fold. Dunellen has always occupied a prominent place on the football map and it is only in keeping with its previous records that this little burg should turn out an eleven that will be able to cope with any team in this section.

The Crescent A. C. are not altogether unheard in these parts, although it is only their second appearance on the gridiron this season. The Crescents opened the season on Cricket Field last Saturday afternoon, stacking up against the strong Holy Cross team, and went down before the local boys to the tune of 51 to 0. Since last Saturday, the Crescent coach has been hard at work polishing off the rough spots and the team will probably put up a better bame at Dunellen tomorrow afternoon than they did here last Saturday.

GOOD SCORES ROLLED IN FIVE-BACK TOURNAMENT

The five-back bowling tournament was continued on the alleys of the Park Club, last night, with increased interest. A majority of the scores were good ones and there was considerable rivalry throughout the tournament. DeWitt Hubbell scored three points, E. M. Benjamin two points and R. A. Suffern one point. The scores follow:

W. H. Williams, 50, 39, 51—146; J. V. Beekman, 40, 44, 39—161; H. M. Fisher, 46, 51, 51—148; J. C. Peck, 44, 41, 41—144; F. L. Sill, 41, 45, 54—156; J. L. Watson, 32, 56, 35—156; C. A. Rice, 39, 51, 48—148; Dr. F. E. DuBois, 26, 31, 36—107; R. A. Suffern, 60, 37, 34—163; J. B. Bellis, 37, 37, 51—143; H. S. Rogers, 38, 49, 42—149; Alexander Milne, 43, 42, 45—159; DeWitt Hubbell, 50, 33, 49—171; A. M. Abbott, 57, 52, 36—151; F. A. Weeks 47, 33, 33—158; Dr. F. T. Clawson, 29, 39, 38—127; R. R. Chamberlain, 38, 48, 42—145; G. T. Rogers, 26, 32, 41—120; E. M. Benjamin, 40, 43, 43—142; Dr. H. V. Hubbard, 51, 55, 48—163; Charles D. Boice, 44, 53, 38—156; Dr. P. B. Cregar, 39, 40, 39—133; H. H. Pond, 31, 26, 38—141; Frank Smith, 37, 49, 37—144; H. K. Dumont, 50, 38, 36—145; Charles P. Lyman, 55, 45, 39—163; W. E. Benjamin, 48, 54, 46—153.

MUST NOT FORGET MASSES RULE--GARY

Pittsburg, Oct. 25.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the U. S. Steel Corporation, in his opening address today at the third general meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute of which he is president, said in part:

"We are here under conditions that are gratifying. We are in the midst of an era of prosperity never before surpassed so far as it affects our particular line. These conditions have not resulted from the application of political policies or efforts, but exist in spite of them. Questions of great magnitude and concern are at present agitating the minds of the people throughout the world. We may be stubbornly oblivious to some of them, but we ought not to be. The questions are international, national and domestic, and they involve the welfare of every one. We sometimes forget that it is the masses of the people who determine final results; that they may establish and abolish governments; that they make and unmake constitutions, sooner or later. They bring about conditions satisfactory to themselves, even by resorting to destructive methods."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The following boys will go to Phillipsburg with the football squad tomorrow on the 9:47 train: Monroe Good, Ralph Green, Capt. Arthur Van Zandt, Ned Jenkins, Harold McDowell, James Dunwell, Eynan White, Garrett Du Bois, Joseph Carty, F. Warren Butler, Jr., Irving Schenck, James Herman, Robert Gavett, Guy Snyder and James Noonan.

In the boys' tennis doubles, the Van Deventer-Moore team has reached the finals, while Cottrell-Foster, and Briggs-Noonan will play the deciding match in the semi-finals Monday.

Principal Lindsey Best talked in detail this morning at general assembly about the mistakes, personal dress, habits, politeness, and correct use of English now being practiced by High School pupils. All of these faults he said could be remedied by self-control. For instance, the "boisterous dressing" of some of the girls, and the offensive odor left by smoking on the boys could be prevented and abolished if the wrong-doer would control his or her likes and dislikes to proper and modest degrees.

Several fire-drills has been held so far this term. The entire building can now be emptied in less than five minutes, but Principal Best states that with a little practice, the pupils will be able to vacate school in much less time.

Mr. Howe asked his classes' advice today as to the color to be selected for the cover of his text-book on modern history, which is in the publisher's hands. The most popular colors were blue, and light green, but it is undersood that Mr. Howe will select some more serviceable shade. His modern history classes are waiting for the new volume. When it arrives they will be greatly benefitted by being taught from a book by the author of the volume.

The first rehearsal of the boys' minstrel show will be held Monday afternoon. Manager Goldsmith is lucky enough to have four of last year's endmen left, Felix Janke, Fred Krom, Joseph Carty and himself. This entertainment, which is for the benefit of the Boys' A. A., will be held in the latter part of November.

MRS. HUTCHESON RESIGNS.

Mrs. Charles Tazewell Hutcheson, the contralto soloist of Trinity Reformed church, has resigned, the same to take effect December 1. Her resignation is due to ill health and the fact that she has removed to Westfield.

JOHNSON TIRES OF SIMPLE LIFE

Champion Heavyweight Again Yearns For Excitement.

WOULD BE A SPEED PILOT.

Pugilist Would Like Nothing Better Than to Be Driver of Auto In One of Big Races—May Fight Again In Near Future.

According to Jack Johnson's latest utterances, he has become weary of leading the simple life and for no other reason has made up his mind to return to the ring. The big black declares that he craves excitement and, not finding it in the cafe business, has decided to return to the more lively occupation at which he has been so successful. For a time, he says, he found a few thrills in cracking the speed limit with his big car, but now he has about exhausted the possibilities in this direction, and such simple pleasures have begun to pall.

It has long been Johnson's ambition to shine as a pilot of a car in one of the big races. He has repeatedly tried to break down the wall of prejudice that keeps him out, but to no purpose. The racing authorities remain firm in their stand to refuse his entry, and the best Johnson has been able to do is to tune up his car when the course was not occupied by the licensed drivers. Johnson also declares that recent events have made him become tired of Chicago and he is anxious to go abroad again. He will even dispose of his place of business if he can get a suitable offer. If nothing comes of the negotiations with W. C. Kelly to make the trip to Australia, Johnson says he will try for a match in Paris.

But with all his expressed disgust at his present environment Johnson has not become so reckless as to neglect to demand a fancy price for his services.

Nor have his troubles caused him to lose any weight. He appears to scale at least 250 pounds and is packing on flesh steadily. Whether he is serious in declaring that he is willing to take on Langford and McVey in Australia remains to be seen. He has been so prodigal of statements that contained little fact that those who know him pay little attention to his war talk. But it is very evident that he is becoming restless and is looking for a change of some kind. No doubt he would jump at a chance to meet another opponent of the Jim Flynn type. But whether he is reckless enough to go through the long training grind necessary to meet an opponent of Langford's caliber is extremely doubtful.

BACKS BRITISHERS HEAVILY.

Hall to Bet $100,000 That They Can Lift the Polo Cup.

W. A. Hembert Hall of the Polo Monthly has announced that he will have $100,000 of English money to bet that the English polo team will lift the cup from the American team next year. In his statement he says that the English feel quite confident this year that they will win the international match.

So confident are they that money is now on the way here to cover some American bets. "We have one lot in England of $50,000," says Hall, "and another lot with a New York banker of $50,000 to place in New York that the English team will win three straight matches." He goes on to state that for months agents of the Duke of Westminster have been searching for polo ponies and now have practically all worth having in England.

GRIDIRON GLEANINGS.

Bill Shuler, one of the halfbacks on last year's freshman eleven at Cornell, has been placed on the varsity team. Shuler is expected to prove one of Cornell's mainstays this season.

Three sets of backs are being used at Princeton. From present indications Waller will be given Dewitt's position in the back field, the latter being outpunted in kicking duels by the former. Waller's twisters are averaging sixty yards.

John Felton, of the class of 1912, Dickinson college, has taken up his coaching duties at the West Virginia Wesleyan college. He will also be the college athletic director. The college is building a $30,000 gymnasium, which will be completed in a few months.

Captain Jim Thorpe of the Carlisle Indian football squad has given the other redskins a handicap in training. He did not go out in uniform until recently. Thorpe was enjoying a rest after his strenuous Olympic receptions. Coach Warner's eleven will virtually be built around the Olympic hero.

PUBLIC SERVICE RWY. WILL FIGHT PLAIN CLOTHES PASS

An appeal will be taken by the Public Service Railway Company from the decision of Supreme Court Justice Swayze upholding the act providing that detectives and plain-clothes policemen on duty, shall be carried free on the company's cars. Pending the outcome of the appeal the company will furnish the necessary transportation.

This decision was arrived at yesterday after the company's officers had had an opportunity of reading the court's opinion. It is still the belief of the company's legal advisers that the act is unconstitutional and the higher courts will be asked to pass on the question.

In complying with the act the company will have special tickets prepared, the face of which will bear the following conditions:

"Good for one fare only when detached in the presence of the conductor by the police officer named on cover, who must simultaneously identify himself by showing his official badge. This ticket is good only while the officer to whom it is issued is engaged in the performance of his public duties."

It is expected that the tickets will be ready for distribution the first part of next week, probably Monday.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

As whaling is rapidly becoming an extinct industry, the reproduction of this adventurous vocation which Lyman H. Howe will present at the Plainfield theatre today and tomorrow is invaluable in a historic sense. The films which Mr. Howe shows are mute witnesses of what has always been a most picturesque, as well as a perilous calling. The scenes take the audience on board a typical whaler which proceeds on a cruise in search of the leviathans of the deep. Presently a whale of great size is sighted in the distance wildly plunging through the rolling sea. This is the signal for great activity on board during which the spectators obtain very close views of the harpoon and other equipment. Then the harpoon is fired and as the formidable weapon finds its mark, the whale, in its furious efforts to escape, lashes the sea into foam. After a fierce combat with his assailants, the huge monster is towed alongside the ship and it is finally landed on shore. Here the interesting processes of dressing the now stiff and rigid mountainous mass for its many commercial uses is shown in detail. A powerful steam winch is pressed into service to peel off the 8 inch thickness of blubber. An infinite variety of scenes of Paris and its environs, including the historic palace of Versailles, with its beautiful fountains, and a trip along the picturesque rivers of France—all presented in the myriad hues and tints of nature; the burial of the Maine; a thrilling race between a hydroplane and a fleet of the swiftest motor boats including the 800 horse power Ursula; the bee industry, and a ferocious lion making a frenzied leap at a horse which is saved from death only by the dead sure aim of a hunter at the crucial moment, are only a few of the many other big features to be presented.

BIGGEST BATTLESHIP NEARING COMPLETION

New York Will Be Launched in Brooklyn Next Week.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (Special).—The United States battleship New York is to be launched at the Brooklyn navy yard next week, and President Taft, Secretary of the Navy Meyer, Governor Dix, Mayor Gaynor and many other notables are expected to be on hand to watch the most powerful vessel in the United States navy take her first plunge into the water.

The New York and her sister ship, the Texas, are each 2,000 tons heavier than any other warship that has ever been launched in this country. The New York is 6,175 tons heavier than the battleship Florida, the last warship constructed at the Brooklyn navy yard and which was the biggest ship of its class afloat at the time of her completion only two years ago.

The battleship New York was authorized by Congress in 1910. At first bids were asked for, but later these were rejected and it was decided to build the vessel in the Government yard at Brooklyn.

The keel was laid on September 11, 1911, and a board hoisted near the site where the ship grew says: "U. S. S. New York, Battleship No. 34, length, 573 feet; breadth 95 feet 2 5-8 inches; displacement 27,000 tons; mean draught, 28 feet 6 inches." Since then the huge vessel has grown steadily and when she takes the water she will be nearly 70 per cent. completed. Early next fall she is to be completed and ready to take her place as one of the five units in the first division of the Atlantic fleet, of which she will probably be the flagship.

Not only in size but in the calibre of the guns at their main batteries were the New York and Texas designed to be the most formidable battleships ever built. Up to the present time the 13-inch gun, which has not been used on any of the newer ships of the navy, has been the limit in calibre of naval guns. The New York and Texas, however, will each carry ten 14-inch guns, mounted two to a turret, and so arranged that all of them can be fired in a broadside or forward, or aft, at the same time.

The arrangements of three turrets aft and two forward of the bridge is the work of the Naval Construction Corps of the United States Navy. Great Britain has followed this design in her new dreadnoughts, and this is considered one of the highest compliments ever paid American designers and constructors.

The New York's engines will be of 28,000 horse-power, 3,000 more than those of the Florida. If the expectations of her designers are fulfilled she will be able to maintain a speed of 21 knots an hour or better. The engines are triple expansion four cylinder reciprocating engines.

The armor of the new battleship will be of sufficient thickness for defense against torpedo boat attacks, and there will be strong bulkheads as an additional protection against mines and torpedo explosions.

The New York and the Texas will be of the same type as the dreadnoughts Oklahoma and Nevada, which have been authorized by Congress. The two last-named, however, will be about ten feet longer and of 500 tons greater displacement than the New York and the Texas.

The launching of a big battleship is an important event in itself, but in the case of the New York the ceremony will be more notable because the Navy Department will have demonstrated that it is fully equipped and competent enough to construct the largest battleships in its own shipyards without assistance from private concerns. True, the progress in the construction of the New York has not been so rapid as that on her sister ship Texas, now nearing completion at Newport News, but the fault has not been with the officials or workmen at the Brooklyn navy yard. After the keel of the New York was laid down the work on the ship was stopped for a while by Secretary Meyer until it could be surely ascertained that the $6,000,000 provided by Congress would be sufficient to cover the expense.

TO FIGHT FOR WERTZ FORTUNE.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 25 (Special).—At the old Wertz homestead near this city, founded by Jacob Wertz, head of the American branch of the family, in the eighteenth century, a reunion of the American descendants of Jacob Wertz, who are incorporated under the name of the American Wertz Family Association, was held today, for the principal purpose of raising money with which to carry on the fight for the recovery of the estate of Jaul Wertz, estimated at $185,000,000. Paul Wertz was an imperialist field marshal of the seventeenth century and left an enormous estate which the heirs will make an effort to recover by appealing to the highest courts of Germany, Austria and the Netherlands.

NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

The union of chorus girls in London now numbers nearly 500 members.

Organizers for the Western Federation of Miners are at work in northern Minnesota.

Five new locals of Boot and Shoe Workers' Union were chartered by the international during August.

The American Federation of Labor expects a record-breaking attendance at its annual convention in Rochester next month.

The General Confederation of Labor of France voted recently to stay outside the Socialist party. The vote was 1,000 to 35.

The Texas State Council of Carpenters is working on a plan to build a home for the indigent and disabled carpenters of the State.

On November 4, at St. Louis, Mo., the International Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes will hold its annual convention.

In Fargo, N. D., in the last few weeks there have been organized the sheet metal workers, butcher workmen and the journeymen horseshoers.

More new members were enrolled by the Brotherhood of Leather Workers on Horse Goods during August than in any one month in two years.

Plumbers' and Steamfitters' International Union has increased its membership by six thousand in a year. The total membership is now 30,000.

During last August the Toronto (Canada) Street Railwaymen's Union enrolled one hundred new members; forty-four left the railway service and three deaths occurred.

The Santa Fe railroad says as a result of its "safety habit" campaign among its employes the number of accidents has decreased 20 per cent. within the last ten months.

British sailors are agitating for an increase of pay. They are said to have had but one "raise" in more than fifty years, and they think their turn has come for better pay and greater privileges.

Receipts of the Glass Bottle Blowers' International Union during the last fiscal year amounted to $230,769.25 and the expenditures $238,525.85. The assets of the International, June 30, were $222,609.45.

The State of Illinois recently opened to the public its new school for the study and prevention of occupational diseases and industrial accidents. The "school" is part of the new headquarters of the State factory inspector. It comes into existence by virtue of the occupational diseases law and the health, safety and comfort act, which requires the State factory inspector to compel the installation of health and safety devices.

Service

Some guarantees are like a fire department which will put out your fire if you bring your building around while it it is burning.

Burroughs Service comes to the "fire" before the idleness of your machine causes a serious loss.

An insurance policy doesn't remove the need for a fire department. Neither can perfect material and workmanship in the product prevent accidents in its use.

When a manufacturer tells you his product is so perfect you don't need service—that he won't give service—better compare his guarantee to a stationary fire department.

Perfect construction is good. We can't afford to make it anything but "fireproof," because we have to take care of the "fire."

Let us send you the Burroughs Service Book, "$300,000 a Year."

A Word About the New Piano Store

In creating the piano department we have adopted a policy that bids fair to make Bamberger's THE piano store of the metropolitan district. We determined at the outset to conduct this department upon such a high scale that the most inexperienced piano-seeker may buy with an entire feeling of security and absolute certainty of satisfaction. First of all, there is one price to all—and that price is the lowest price at which each piano may be sold at a legitimate profit. There is no flexibility of prices—no discounts—simply one price to all—no more—no less. There is no juggling with your money at Bamberger's. You may buy a piano at these low prices on the most liberal terms, at the same price were you to pay cash, plus a very low rate of interest on deferred payments. Bamberger's is the home of the good piano—the place for you to choose your instrument. Here you will find the world-renowned Sohmer, Behning, Packard, Estey, Lester, Milton, Schindler & Son, and a number of other good makes—the reliability of which is attested to by Bamberger's. Visit our showrooms at any time—we will take pleasure in demonstrating the merits of any instrument.

T. R., BETTER, CERTAIN TO SPEAK OCT. 30

Busy Today Answering Accumulation of Mail.

Oyster Bay, Oct. 25.—Colonel Roosevelt surprised his household by dressing himself without assistance and walking into the dining room where the family was gathered with a demand for something to eat.

"I feel fine," he exclaimed with a grin "bully, in fact. Give me something to eat."

He was permitted to remain downstairs the greater part of the day, putting in his time in his library, where in the afternoon he had a nap. The colonel wore the knickerbocker suit in which he is accustomed to ride and play tennis, and he looked like his old self. He was without medical attendance save for a friendly visit from Dr. Scurry Terrell, who is staying nearby at the home of W. Emlen Roosevelt, and a brief visit from Dr. George W. Faller, who made a routine call for the purpose of taking the colonel's temperature.

The ex-president retired last night in splendid shape, apparently unfatigued by his first day out of bed. Those who are attending him express great amazement over the promptness with which he has recovered his strength. He saw several visitors in the library, among them Robert J. Collier, Finley Peter Dunne and Mark Sullivan, who journeyed down to Sagamore Hill together.

Today Colonel Roosevelt plans to make his first move toward getting back into harness again. One of his secretaries has been directed to be on hand, and if he feels as well as he did yesterday they will together tackle the past fortnight's accumulation of mail and telegrams. It is now certain unless some new contingency arises, that the colonel will speak briefly at the meeting in Madison Square Garden on Oct. 30. It is likely that by the end of this week his conferences here with his leaders will be in full swing once more.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS AT 20.

College Girl Succumbs to Attack of Baby Disease.

Baltimore, Oct. 25.—Infantile paralysis appears in the death certificate as the cause of Miss Lucy Crawford's death here. Miss Crawford was twenty years old and a member of the junior class of the Goucher Woman's college. The young woman fell ill last Sunday morning, but was able to attend her class recitations Monday. Tuesday her illness grew worse, and a physician had to be called in. That night she suffered a paroxysm and began sinking rapidly. Her parents were called in, and they reached her bedside a few minutes before the end came.

Miss Crawford was one of the most popular members of her class. She belonged to the Alpha Phi fraternity.

Released to Wed, to Jail Again.

Wichita, Kan., Oct. 25.—L. J. Chandler, a prisoner in the county jail, was released from custody long enough to go to the office of Probate Judge McCanless and marry Mrs. Bertha A. Richardson. Chandler went back to jail after the wedding and his bride went home to wait until he is released.

He—"I should never marry a woman unless she suited me to a T." She—"And even then I suppose you would growl about her coffee."

GIRL SLAIN BY WHITE SLAVERS

Apparent That Rose Bruno Held Band's Secrets.

THINK MANY IMPLICATED.

Authorities at Work on Theory That Criminal Conspiracy Was Hatched In Chicago to Get Girl Out of the Way.

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 25.—Police and federal agents who are investigating the death of Rose Bruno say that she was decoyed to this city by a band of conspirators who had plotted to slay her because she had exposed the secrets of an organization of white slave traffickers.

Although Joseph Buonomo, one of the three men under arrest in connection with girl's murder, asserts that he alone fired the bullets which killed her, the police do not believe his story and are seeking evidence to implicate others of the band who hired the automobile in which the girl rode to the lonely place near a cemetery which was selected for her murder.

Buonomo's Brother Coming.

Word was received that Buonomo's brother, Charles Buonomo, who is said to be a political leader of Chicago, is on his way to Bridgeport to aid his brother in his defense.

The discovery of a sixth bullet wound in the body of the slain girl, together with the fact revealed for the first time that all the bullets entered her face, neck and body from practically the same direction, has convinced the police that more than one man took part in the shooting and the girl was held up as a target by some of the men while the others deliberately shot her to death.

Any one of the various wounds would have been sufficient to have caused instant death, the medical examination shows. If she had not been supported while the subsequent shots were fired, the police maintain, the girl would have fallen and the other bullets, striking her as she lay on the ground, would have taken a different course.

Forced Into Hiding.

The police here believe that after revelations by her to the Chicago police, when she told of how women are traded in, she was forced to go into hiding. Joseph Buonomo, who says the woman had deserted him, is alleged to have fled to New York from Chicago soon after Rose Bruno made her confession. In New York, the police alleged, the arrangements were made for the murder of the woman. She was first lured to New York, then here and finally to the deserted cemetery.

It was the card of the Rev. Alice Philips Aldrich of the Chicago Law and Order league, found in the dead woman's pocketbook, that led the police to carry their investigations beyond the city.

Further information came from Chicago that a woman named Rose Bruno, supposed to be the victim of the Bridgeport tragedy, had testified against a man named Buonomo, on trial in the federal court there for trafficking in young girls.

MURDERER IS SHOT.

State Riflemen End James Riley's Career In Utah Prison.

Salt Lake City, Oct. 25.—James Riley, convicted of the murder of George Fassell, a grocer here, March 19, 1910, was executed at the state prison. He was shot to death by a squad of five riflemen. Harry Thorne, Riley's partner in the crime, was executed for the same way Sept. 26.

Riley's pulse and heart beat were normal when Sheriff Joe Sharp read the death warrant. He knelt on the floor of his cell and repeated a brief prayer.

Then he signaled to the riflemen that he was ready, and fifty-five seconds later he was dead. Three bullets pierced his heart.

GOV. OSBORN HURT IN WRECK

Michigan Executive Suffers Injury to Foot In Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Governor Chase S. Osborn of Michigan was a passenger on a Michigan Central train that was struck by a Big Four train in the fog that prevailed over the south side in this city. Governor Osborn was slightly injured in the right foot and had to use a cane after the accident. He was accompanied by Mrs. Osborne who was unhurt.

The governor came here to deliver a political speech.

A Money-Saving Boiler
Square Pot Boilers operate economically. Their fuel consumption is comparatively small, their heat-delivering power comparatively large. The reason of this superior economic efficiency lies in the firepot. This is square at bottom and round at top—a form that gives greatly increased radiating surface over the ordinary round pot. Here is a sectional view of the economical Square Pot Boilers.
Note the nearness of interior water-holding sections to fire—upward trend of surfaces and capacious feed door and square firepot.
This arrangement gives free steaming and develops high efficiency on little fuel.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

DELICIOUS TOMATO SOUPS.

WHEN in a hurry a delicious soup may be made with tomatoes. Tomato soup may be made with stock or with milk.

Tomatoes which are too old or otherwise unavailable to serve fresh may be made into soup or puree. They should be strained after they are cooked.

The soup may be served with bread croutons or with crackers.

Some Simple Recipes.

Spiced Tomato Soup.—Take a quart can of tomatoes. Add to them one pint of hot water, one tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, six cloves, a saltspoonful of pepper and bring to a boil. Put one tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan. When it melts add one tablespoonful of minced onions and one tablespoonful of parsley. Fry five minutes. Add one tablespoonful of cornstarch dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of cold water. Stir into the hot tomato soup. Strain and serve with boiled rice.

Puree of Tomatoes.—For this you may use either canned or fresh tomatoes. If you take the latter allow one tomato to each person. Scald them, peel the skin off and mash through a sieve or take some tomato sauce—about a dessertspoonful per person—and stir in brown butter in which you have previously fried some chopped onions. Cook for two or three minutes or more without burning. Pour boiling water on to this and add a tablespoonful of tapioca per plate of soup, salt and pepper. When done it will be ready to serve with fried dice of bread.

Wholesome Fare.

Bisque of Tomatoes.—Take a half can of tomatoes, a teaspoonful of minced onions, a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper and of paprika, a tablespoonful each of flour and butter, two cupfuls of milk, a cupful of water or stock, and a teaspoonful of sugar. Put the tomatoes, onions, salt, pepper, paprika and sugar in the water or stock to boil twenty minutes. Strain, add to the milk, which should be boiling in the top of a double boiler. Add the butter and flour, which should have been rubbed together. Boil for five minutes. Serve with four or five croutons.

Plain Tomato Soup.—Take a quart of stewed tomatoes, add a teacupful of hot water and rub through a sieve. Season with salt, pepper and a tablespoonful of butter. When boiling add a quart of milk and thicken with cornstarch to the consistency of thin cream. Serve with hot, crisp crackers.

Vagaries of the Tailored Costume. New and Becoming Features.

The new suits show three-quarter short fronted coats with standing half roll collars and open throat and are trimmed with braid and fur. Ribbed velvet, panne and sable cloth are the favorite materials.

Some of the jauntiest hats for schoolgirls have no trimming other than the band of grosgrain ribbon around the crown. They are so delightfully soft and flexible that the wearer can bend or twist them as she wishes, and the young schoolgirl has generally very decided ideas on what she considers smart and becoming.

This convenient little wrap appropriately belongs in every infant's outfit. It serves the purpose of both hat and shawl, and it can be slipped on at a moment's notice whenever the temperature requires.

LABOR SAVING DEVICE.

The Vacuum Washer Aid to Housewives.

NEW VACUUM WASHER.

No more rubbing of soiled clothes on a washboard now that the housewife has this new vacuum washer, which, placed in the boiler of steaming clothes, keeps the garments whisking around in the hot suds until they are almost entirely clean.

Out of the boiler the clothes are required only to be rinsed once or twice and hung out to dry.

The Camera Pose.

It seems a rather blunt thing to say that no woman without a little affectation takes a good photograph—unless, of course, she is a beauty; but the statement is true, none the less. The perfectly natural downright woman rarely photographs well. Unable to assume an expression she does not actually feel, she takes a position as stiff and uncomfortable as she really is before the fearsome eye of the camera, and her photograph lacks the charm and the grace of her own really charming and graceful personality, always evident when she is at her ease and not self conscious.

The natural born coquette, on the other hand, is practiced in expressing things she does not feel by tricks of gesture, by head movement, by a sweep of the lashes, a raising of the eyes, and so on. "Look pleased!" allures the photographer, and she can do it in a minute—just as she can look demure, or coy, or soulful, or anything else as expediency requires. Naturally, she takes a charming photograph, often without possessing half the beauty of the woman who does not know how to pose before the camera.

The Season's Latest Style Note.

Fashion has decreed this season that for dressy suits the coat and skirt shall be of a contrasting color and material. In the cut is shown a charming example of this cult. The skirt is of silk serge in a delightful shade of pale biscuit color, and the coat, a jaunty affair, is of tobacco brown velvet. The silk sash fringed with dull gold drawn through slits at the waist line is very fetching, and quite in keeping with the general character of this costume is the jabot of yellow lace.

The Robespierre collar is of the velvet incrusted with dull gold passementerie. Altogether this is a mighty chic little calling costume, and every woman must have one of these sartorial luxuries in her wardrobe.

—It takes some skill to pick a lock
Though those who do may be immoral,
It's surely more polite to knock,
And anyone can pick a quarrel.

BECKER IS GUILTY OF MURDER

Jury Finds First Degree Verdict.

DEATH CHAIR PENALTY

Mrs. Becker Swoons In the Courtroom.

BECKER'S NERVE IS UNSHAKEN

Looked Like Disagreement as Hours Wore On---Degree of Murder Furnishes Big Surprise.

New York, Oct. 25. — Lieutenant Charles Becker was found guilty at 11:57 o'clock last night of murder in the first degree for having inspired and instigated the murder in the early morning of July 16 of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, who was to have visited District Attorney Whitman that same day and to have accused Becker of having been his "silent partner" in a gambling house.

The jury had been out exactly seven hours and fifty-seven minutes. The length of its deliberations and the frequency of its requests for exhibits, together with unmistakable signs of hot argument in the jury room, had led most of those who waited late at the criminal courts building to believe that there would be no agreement.

So that when the blow finally fell upon the defendant its force was all the more crushing. Even the district attorney himself a few minutes before midnight had said that it looked like a disagreement. Becker's lawyers had grown more confident as the hours sped. Becker himself, chatting pleasantly with his wife, the Curtis brothers and a former reporter, Frederick H. Hawley, who had testified in his behalf, was serenely confident that there could be no answer from the jury room save "not guilty."

Nerve Never Deserts Him.

The convicted man bore up under the shock with the grimness and resolution that has characterized him all through the trial. When the momentous answer came and the question of the clerk of the court, "Gentlemen, have you agreed upon a verdict?" the lieutenant turned calmly toward Harold K. Skinner, the foreman, and displayed no emotion whatever as Mr. Skinner pronounced a few short words that spelled his fate.

The only sign of agitation, the only visible appearance of shock, was a grayness that spread over his dark face, the narrowing of the fierce eyes and a contraction of the muscles of the throat. Presently, when he lifted his right hand and gave oath as to the facts of his age and circumstances, there was not a quiver of the big arm or a waver of a finger. His voice failed him. He could answer the formal questions put to him only in husky tones, barely audible a few feet from where he stood at the bar of the court.

Defendant's Wife Faints.

No less remarkable was the fortitude with which the wife of the convicted man withstood the first impact of the worst news. She had come to wait in the chambers of Justice Goff. When the verdict was delivered she was in sight and hearing of the spokesman for the jury. She did not flinch, she uttered no sound. Her right hand went swiftly to her breast, paused there for a moment and fell to her lap. But she looked calmly at her husband as he stood at the bar and even summoned a smile for his encouragement. It was later thought that she succumbed to the natural and perhaps inevitable reaction. Overstrained nerves and the bitterest of disappointment broke down her strength. She fainted.

It has been said that Mr. Whitman, the chief prosecutor, and Mr. Moss, his assistant, were genuinely astonished at the degree of the verdict. This may not have been the case.

Verdict Comes Quickly.

The district attorney and his assistant were conversing in the district attorney's private office at 11:45 p. m. when they got word that the jurors wanted more instructions.

"Justice Goff has been sent for," said Mr. Whitman, "and will be here in a few minutes."

With Frank Moss, Mr. Whitman darted into the elevator and was taken to the first floor of the courthouse. He rushed into the courtroom and took his seat just as Mr. McIntyre and Mr. Hart arrived. Justice Goff appeared almost simultaneously, but even then there was not a hint that the jury was coming in for the last time.

Lieutenant Becker was brought from the sheriff's office on the third floor of the building, where he had been confidently whiling away the time. Escorted by a deputy sheriff, he was taken to the bar of the court. Then it was that the onlookers realized that the verdict was imminent.

There was some noise and confusion at that time, which was 11:55 p. m.

The slight disturbance, magnified by the gravity of the occasion, annoyed the justice. He looked up sternly and addressed the captain of the courtroom squad.

"If any one creates a disturbance in this courtroom," said Justice Goff "bring that man before me."

The silence that fell after this admonition and order was thereafter unbroken until the clerk of the court addressed himself to Foreman Skinner of the jury and the verdict was rendered.

Goff's Charge Shocks Defense.

Justice Goff's charge in the Becker trial was a shock to the defense. In effect, it expressed a doubt that Jack Rose could have invented such a story as he told against Lieutenant Becker and that there was no evidence to show that Sam Schepps was an accomplice.

The justice was particular in instructing the jury that Becker was not called upon to prove his innocence, and that if there was a reasonable doubt of his guilt the verdict must be acquittal. But the features of this long address were his statement that the jury must take into consideration whether or not Rose was capable of weaving such a story as would withstand seven hours of cross examination and the statement that there was so much of a doubt in his mind as to whether or not Schepps was an accomplice that he would refuse to link Schepps with Rose, Vallon and Webber, the undoubted accomplices.

Lieutenant Becker and his lawyers furiously denounced the charge as unfair and as a virtual direction to the jury to convict the defendant. After the justice and the jury left the courtroom Becker stood up in court and said loudly:

"That charge was absolutely unfair. It was one sided. It was not a charge but a summing up for the state. He might as well have told the jury to find me guilty."

Mrs. Becker was so upset by the charge that her composure was shaken. She told her friends: "What could any fair minded person say about such a charge? Why, the judge scarcely mentioned the witnesses for the defense, but spent hours trying to make Rose and the whole vile set out as honest men. It was not justice."

John F. McIntyre, Becker's counsel, was bitterly disappointed. He hardly expected that Justice Goff would charge that Schepps was an accomplice, but he was unprepared for the emphatic statement by the court that there was no evidence to show that Schepps was an accomplice. And the justice's instructions concerning Rose aroused Mr. McIntyre's ire still more.

"Why, the charge was practically an instruction to find Becker guilty," said Mr. McIntyre. "No man could make anything else out of it."

After the charge Mr. McIntyre gave up hope of getting a verdict of acquittal.

When the jury retired Mr. McIntyre was hardly looking for them to come back with any report more favorable for Becker than an announcement that they couldn't agree.

Jury Asks For Exhibits.

The jury went to luncheon immediately after the judge's charge and returned to the criminal courts building at 4 p. m. It went at once to the jury room, which is only a few steps from the courtroom.

It was forty-five minutes before anything was heard from the men who were deliberating. Then through their foreman they sent a request for exhibits in the case. Justice Goff conferred briefly with District Attorney Whitman, Mr. McIntyre and Mr. Hart. The exhibits requested, reports made by Becker to the police commissioner were sent to the jury room.

A PLAINFIELD vs. A NEW YORK ACCOUNT

The advantages to residents of Plainfield and vicinity of maintaining a bank account in The State Trust Company are so numerous that no argument should be necessary to convince those who are now keeping their accounts in New York. Liberal interest rates (3% and 4%), the free collection of out of town checks and the New York checking privilege are but a few of the many advantages that such an account affords. On the other hand a New York account means inconvenience in making deposits, charges on out of town checks and in many instances no interest on balances.

We offer our splendid facilities to any one who is willing to overcome habit and profit thereby.

SIGN OF CROSS ON PLATFORM

Mrs. Florence H. Hall Lauds New Party's "Confession of Faith."

GUARD HUMAN RIGHTS

Progressives Provide Crucible in Which Base Metals of Greed and Selfishness Are Turned to Altruistic Effort, Says Clubwoman.

The platform with the sign of the cross on it, is what Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, writer, lecturer, clubwoman and equal suffragist, calls the pledges of the Progressive Party. She spoke eloquently of the platform at a Progressive women's meeting in All Souls' church yesterday. In part, she said:

"The advent of the Progressive Party has begun a new era in politics and in the history of our country. We have felt so proud and so rare of our freedom in these United States that gradually a great deal of it was taken away from us. The machine, boss-rule, as we all know, came to dominate us so strongly that little political liberty was left. A few courageous men, the Progressives, have been fighting this sad state of things for some years in Congress and elsewhere. Our women too, have been striving to remedy the evils which have arisen, through the rapid development of the resources of the country and through the concentration of population in our great cities America is the Mecca of the poor and struggling masses of people in the countries of Europe. Without them we must remember our prosperity would have been impossible. They have been the hewers of wood and the drawers of water. They have toiled while many of us have taken our ease. It is a mistake to inveigh against the immigrant. What we should do is to give him a chance—a fair chance and a living wage.

"We hear much against the immigration from Southeastern Europe. Now, in the town of High Bridge, where I live, we have many Hungarians and Poles, and we find they make good citizens.

"Our women, as I have said, have been striving to remedy these evils. In the Consumer's League, in the Society to regulate Child Labor, in the Women's Clubs and many other bodies, we have done what we could to make things better. Many of us have felt that we could do little without the ballot—and we have grumbled somewhat because the men did not give us this weapon of citizenship.

"The platform of the Progressive party is the crucible in which our wizards of the twentieth century have turned the baser metals of greed and selfishness into the gold of altruistic effort. All of you who have read that platform know that it stands for the welfare of humanity, as no platform ever did before. Truly the sign of the cross is on this new and wonderful crucible, the crucible which has melted away all our differences, and makes us all stand together, men and women, all working and striving together, for the good of all, and especially for the good of the weak and the oppressed!

"Now let us consider some of the features of this humanitarian platform. The plank for social and industrial justice, as it is called, is the

FINED $8 FOR DRIVING OLD, OVERWORKED HORSE

Joseph Kozma, 33 years old, of 195 Hall avenue, Perthy Amboy, and a recent arrival from Hungary, was severely reprimanded by City Judge De Meza yesterday and sentenced to pay $8 or spend 40 days in jail, on a charge of cruelty to animals. He was arrested yesterday morning by Patrolman Muir, at Front and Grove streets, driving a horse that had long seen service; pulling an excess load and having sores about the body. Formal complaint was made by Mrs. Van Hoesen, the S. P. C. A. agent, following notification from the police of the case.

LECTURE ON ART IN DRESS AND THE HOME

Frank Alvah Parsons Propounds Expert Views at Drawingroom Gathering.

The first of three drawing-room lectures under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian Association, was given at the home of Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna, on Watchung avenue, yesterday afternoon, by Frank Alvah Parsons, director of the New York Art School and lecturer at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Owing to the somewhat restricted accommodations the tickets for these lectures had to be limited, but nearly 150 women were present yesterday.

Mr. Parsons is an especially interesting speaker and he has wide knowledge on the subject of home furnishings, interior decoration and art in dress and it was upon these things that he gave a most instructive talk. Mr. Parsons suggestions regarding art in the home, as well as interior decoration and art in dress were timely, and will no doubt prove of much value to all who heard the speaker.

The second lecture will be given Wednesday afternoon, October 30, instead of November 1, at the residence of Mrs. Frederick G. Mead and the third lecture at the home of Mrs. W. A. Conner, on Hillside avenue, Friday afternoon, November 8.

HOLY CROSS' NEW ORGAN SOURCE OF MUSICAL FEASTS

The Sunday evening organ recitals at Holy Cross Episcopal church are proving what was said in connection with the installation of the new organ, that for the size of the edifice and for the refined quality of church music, the new instrument would fill the musical need for that parish for some time to come. The organist, Charles Davis, seems to appreciate the sweetness of the soft stops and to make full use of the rich grandeur of the diapason tones.

What impresses the musical ear is the "immediate repetition" of the instrument, which makes it possible to shade perfectly in the most difficult selections. The organ is tubular pneumatic throughout. It has two swell pedals, and a graduated crescendo, which enables Mr. Davis to produce instantly any graduated tone at will, from the softest to the loudest "full organ."

A most cordial invitation is extended to any who like good music to attend these Sunday evening recitals, and to remain for the service which follows. The recital opens at 7:30 o'clock and lasts for half an hour. Mr. Davis' program for tomorrow night is as follows: "Toccata," Du Bois; "Largo," Handel; "Cavatina," Raff. A tenor solo will be rendered, the "Be Thou Faithful Unto Death," of Mendelssohn, by William J. Thiers. Special music by the vested choir will be a feature of the evening service, and the rector will preach.

MAYOR'S REPLY TO G. O. P. ATTACK

It Will Be the Feature of a Big Bull Moose Rally.

NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT

Smaller Meetings Will Continue But Moose Assemblage is Intended as Final Demonstration in Force—Senator Clapp May Speak.

The local Progressive party is arranging for a large mass meeting to be held at the Plainfield theatre, Tuesday night. This will probably be the last big rally to be held before election, and the party will endeavor to make it a rousing one. The committee is trying to secure as one of the speakers United States Senator Clapp, who has lately been in the public eye because of the Senate investigate at Washington.

Another speaker will be George Woodruff, of New York, who was an assistant United States District Attorney under Roosevelt. But the interesting feature of the meeting from a local standpoint will be the speech of Mayor G. W. V. Moy, who is a candidate for re-election.

At that time Mr. Moy says he will answer the recent attack of Wiliam Newcorn, chairman of the Republican City Committee, and he will also have something else to say pertinent to the campaign, defining his own position and reviewing the work of the Common Council of the past two years to show what has been and what has not been accomplished.

HOWE'S SUPERB PICTURES AT THE LOCAL THEATRE

Animated scenes of ineffable beauty that will linger in the inner sight long after they have vanished from the screen, will be presented by Lyman H. Howe at the Plainfield theatre tonight. They take the auudience in and around Paris, to historic Versailles and through the delightful picturesque rivers of France. The reproduction of these scenes in the actual and exquisite colors of nature enhances their beauty to a degree that defies description. Whaling, the burial of the Maine, the bee industry, a thrilling race between a hydroplane and an 800 horse power motor boat in the harbor of Monaco and an exciting adventure with a ferocious lion are only a few of the other features on a program that is entirely new, excepting only that amazing botanical study entitled "The Birth of Flowers," which Mr. Howe will present again in response to popular demand.

LITTLE PEACE FESTIVAL.

The Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon will be the scene of a patriotic festival, conducted by the Italian-American Civic League, in commemoration of peace recently concluded between Italy and Turkey. These questions comprise the chief problems confronting the municipality and the purpose is to give the candidates an opportunity to tell the voters where they stand and without one penny of expense.

The replies will be published by wards, the First ward candidates to come first and the others in regular order. The mayoralty replies will be published simultaneously. No replies will be received later than Monday morning and the contents of none will be revealed until published. Mention will be made of those who fail to answer the questions in order that the voters may judge for themselves.

TAXPAYERS ARE READY TO FIGHT

Boroughites Prepare to Carry Rates Before Court, if Necessary.

ADMISSION BY KENNEY

Says Assessor Exceeded the Limits Intended By County Board in Levying—"Equalizers" Are Ready to Hear Complaint.

Tax payers of North Plainfield turned out in large numbers last night, to voice their protests against the alleged unfair taxation of the Borough property, at a public hearing held in the Council chambers.

Mayor Clark, who presided, opened the discussion with a brief but pithy address. At the conclusion of the meeting a resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee of five to cooperate with the Council in bringing the matter to the attention of the county and State Tax Boards, if necessary, to the highest court in New Jersey. Mayor Clark will name the committee.

At the conclusion of his speech the Mayor called upon Andrew E. Kenney, a member of the County Tax Board, to take the floor, saying that he would probably have some interesting remarks to make on the situation. Mr. Kenney said:

"Gentlemen, I have nothing to say at this time."

W. L. Saunders was on his feet in an instant, saying:

"What, you, Mr. Kenney, a member of the Tax Board, and have nothing to say? This is indeed surprising." Mr. Saunders, continuing, referred to the increases in the Borough's ratables which had taken place within the past ten years, and left no doubt as to how he felt regarding, what he termed, the unfair high taxation.

Arthur A. Cannon, of Somerset street, attacked Councilman Buttfield's statement at the last meeting of the Common Council that Bridgewater township had experienced a reduction in ratables, whereas the property had increased in value 100 per cent., or more, saying that this statement showed lack of thorough investigation. He said the decrease was due to the fact that the assessments levied last year were excessive, and that a credit had been placed on this year's tax bill.

Replying to this remark, and several others made by Mr. Cannon, Councilman Buttfield said:

"Attention was drawn to the half dozen cases as particular examples of the inequality complained of. The comparison throughout was in the valuation of North Plainfield as compared with the average raise of the county and it is self evident that the average increase of the county, including districts showing 4 per cent. increase down to an actual decrase, must have included other districts raised considerably more than 6 per cent. The township of North Plainfiel dhas been raised more than the borough, but this again only accentuates the inequality without changing one iota the main fact. The increase of the borough and the average increase of the county stated in the report are admitted correct and the instances quoted are given as shining and particular examples of the inequality and injustice before this meeting. (The report reads,

DUNELLEN DEMOCRAT PARADES AS ROOSEVELT

Three hundred loyal Dunellen Democrats turned out last night and paraded through their borough up Washington avenue to the Park opposite the Presbyterian church, where they listened to the speeches of three candidates. Another participant in the parade carried a large picture of Taft pinned on a banner. The paraders passed through lanes of red and green fire.

At the park J. C. Tansey, of Jersey City, principle orator of the evening, spoke of the straight campaign carried on by the party, its meaning, its principles and the promises of the men running for office. Assemblyman John H. Kirkpatrick, of Jamesburg, spoke of the principles of Democracy and related experiences of his ow nwhile in the Legislature.

George L. Burton, of New Brunswick, candidate for Assembly, made a short speech.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

At Proctor's Fifth Avenue, the headliner will be Lillian Shaw character comedienne, who returns after an absence of only a few weeks with absolutely fresh material in costumes, songs and patter. The lyric fantasy, "Puss in Boots," will be retained for another week, new specialties and songs having been provided to add to the gayety of the tabloid Hippodrome spectacle. The piece has proved a strong magnet for children and the matinee performances promise to hold large crowds of youngsters. That winsome comedienne Eva Taylor will present Lawrence Grattan's farce "On the Q T;" Fred Duprez, society monologist, who chats on the foibles of the 400; Reiff Brothers, dance creators, who claim to originate a new step weekly; Those Four Entertainers, a quartet of artists who justify their titles.

Every now and then in the amusement world along comes something out of the ordinary—something that people talk about—something that has class. Such is "The Count of Luxembourg," the musical romance by Franz Lehar, with the American book by Glen Macdonough, now literally packing to the doors the beautiful New Amsterdam theatre in New York. Of course Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger, the producers, knew in advance that they had something of genuine merit. Franz Lehar had established himself securely with "The Merry Widow," and Glen Macdonough, who fashioned the American book from the foreign original, was a past master in his line, with a natural fund of humor and a reputation as one of the best writer of lyrics in America. The production was made by Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger. That stamped it as the most artistic that could be achieved, not alone in the selection of the cast, but in the scenery and the costuming. Then came the brilliant opening night at the New Amsterdam theatre. And such a night! All the noted people of the society world, fortunate enough to secure seats, were present. All the famous men and women in art, music and drama, who could attend, were there. Then came the newspaper reviews. Such high praises has been seldom, if ever, bestowed upon a musical play in New York. Selected at random, here are a few brief extracts: New York Herald, "'The Court of Luxembourg' has an ineffable charm, which made captive the first night audience. It is destined for a long stay."

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, OCTOBER 26, 1912.

The editorial columns of this paper are conducted on Saturdays by representative citizens who are free to express their own views. Frank L. Holt, a New York lawyer, and a member of the Plainfield Common Council, is the contributing editor for today.

THE CITY—A CREATURE OF THE LEGISLATURE.

John Fiske in his "Civil Government in the United States" says: "Our republican government which after making all due allowances; seems to work remarkably well in rural districts, and in the States and the Nation, has certainly been far less successful as applied to cities. Accordingly our cities have come to furnish topics for reflection to which writers and orators fond of boasting of the unapproachable excellence of American institutions, do not like to allude. Fifty years ago we were wont to speak of civil government in the United States as if it had dropped from Heaven or had been especially created by some kind of a miracle upon American soil, and we were apt to think that in mere republican forms there was some kind of mystic virtue which made them a panacea for all political evils. Our later experience with cities has rudely disturbed this too confident frame of mind."

Mr. Fiske appears to have reached the conclusion that the trouble with the government of cities has arisen largely as a result of their rapid growth and the resulting increase in the complexity of their government.

If this is a correct conclusion, then the fact that a city has escaped these difficulties in the past, is far from warranting that it will not have to confront them as it increases in size and importance, and as the problems which press for solution become larger and more complex. As our own city increases in size and as the questions which arise in connection with the administration of its government become more and more involved, can we hope to escape altogether these difficulties and troubles which seem to be inevitable in connection with the government of American cities?

Many attempts have been made to analyze the reasons for this condition of affairs, with more or less success, and it may be possible from these attempts to reach one or more fairly well established conclusions.

It would appear as though one reason for this condition of affairs could be found in the American idea as to the functions of a city government. This idea has always been that a very narrow limit should be placed upon municipal activities and that the rule should be followed that a city may not act except as it has been expressly and specifically authorized by a State Legislature. This has resulted in making the city a creature of the Legislature and subjecting it to political control. The evil of this is easily apparent; not only are official positions and boards created and salaries fixed with political ends in view, but the city has been used in many other ways for the advancement of political interests, as witness the interference of the Legislature with the local administration of the police and fire departments in cities, and the fixing of salaries for their members.

The principal evil, however, arising from the application of this idea, is that the city loses its right of local self government and is obliged to apply continually to the Legislature for new and extended local powers whenever the necessity arises, and whether its application is granted or not depends largely, not upon the rightfulness of or necessity for the use of the powers asked for, but upon the political complexion of the Legislature at the time.

To illustrate—when the city of New York wished to build a rapid transit railway, it had no power to do so without first obtaining authority from the State. When Plainfield wished to join with North Plainfield in a system for the joint disposal of sewage, (a purely business enterprise), it had first to apply to the State Legislature for permission.

There is, of course, no doubt that there are certain things in regard to which the city must act as an agent of the State government and must be subject to the control of the Legislature, but these objects are limited in number and could be easily enumerated in any special charter or in any general law regulating the incorporation of municipalities, but the application of the general principle that the powers of a city must be expressly enumerated instead of giving the city general powers subject only to certain specific restrictions, results in making the city a State organization and not primarily as it should be, an organ for the satisfaction of local needs.

Contrasted with this situation is the view taken generally upon the continent of Europe in regard to the powers of city government. There, the presumption is always in favor of the city which is held to have the power to do anything which it has not been expressly forbidden to do. This theory starts from the point of view of the city itself and there can be no doubt as to which point of view most favors municipal development and betterment. A city which does not have to look to a central State authority for every grant of power, and whose activities are not subject to the rule of strict construction and the administraion of whose affairs is not subject to interference for political ends, is much more favorably situated for rendering service to its own inhabitants and for maintaining an honest, efficient and non-partisan management of its affairs, than one whose powers are curtailed by the American rule.

There is no doubt that this freedom of action is largely responsible for the great activity of European cities in so many directions that have not been entered upon by the cities of the United States. Neither can there be any doubt that in general the administration of city government is not so justly subject to criticism, and is freer from scandal and mal-administration than the government of cities in the United States.

While all the evils from which municipal government in the United States suffers are not of course due solely to the improper extension of State control over the city ,many of them undoubtedly are, and this State control is made necessary, as I have tried to show, by the restricted powers which our cities possess and the still narrower construction given to these powers by the courts.

The effective way, therefore, of banishing this class of evils from city administration, is for the Legislature to abandon the policy of granting to municipalities only enumerated and limited powers and to adopt the policy of general grants of power to them. Such action would almost inevitably result in an independence of thought and action and a local pride which would go far toward bringing about such an administration of city government as would redeem our cities from the reputation from which they now suffer.

Let us hope that there may arise statesmen who are broad and wise enough to give their attention to the study of such questions as the above, and who are willing to pause long enough in the pursuit of their ambitions to undertake their solution and who are not displaced by their restless constituents before they have time to accomplish anything.

FERDINAND'S ARMY IS STILL VICTORIOUS

Bulgarian Warriors Continue to Drive the Moslems Before Them.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

London, Oct. 26.—Advices from Sofia today indicate that after an all night battle in the vicinity of Adrianople, Czar Ferdinand's Bulgarian army moved forward today capturing three forts at Marash with 1,800 prisoners. The southwestern part of the city is burning, having bee nset on fire by the Bulgarian batteries located upon the heights of th eeast bank of the Maritza river, three and a half miles from the forts defending that section of Adrianople. The Bulgarian troops now encircle nearly around the city. Adrianople is in imminent danger of being cut off from Constantinople.

Advices from Cettinje reports that many Turks have been killed in a battle with the Montengrin forces near Vzlikovbred. Only six Montenegrins were killed and 49 wounded. The Turks fled in disorder. Twenty Montenegrin batteries opened a bombardment upon the important city of Scutari today. The Montenegrins won a victory at Rogova, where the Turks fled after being attacked by a Montenegrin army under General Vukovitch.

London, Oct. 26.—According to messages from Athens, Greek troops have captured several more towns in Southwestern Turkey. A combined Servian and Bulgarian force was reported maneuvring almost unopposed about Uskub. That the Turks will admit themselves beaten and ask for terms was considered in diplomatic circles here as a matter probably or hardly more than days.

Tranje, Servia, Oct. 26.—The Servians today captured the town of Verisovitz, a short distance northeast of Uskub. The victory is considered as foreshadowing the speedy fall of Uskub itself.

WILL THEY USE THE LEFT OVER BALLOTS FOR SHELF PAPER?

The largest ballots in the history of voting in Plainfield have been received by City Clerk J. T. MacMurray for distribution among the voters of the city. The law requires that the sample ballots be mailed to the voters ten days prior to the general election.

The ballots are 17x23½ inches. The candidates of six different parties are on them: The Democratic, Republican, Socialist, Progressive Roosevelt, Socialist Labor and Prohibition.

MRS. ALPAUGH'S FUNERAL.

Califon, Oct. 26.—Funeral services for Mrs. Lydia A. Alpaugh, wife of George M. Alpaugh, will be held at her late home at Middle Valley today. Rev. James B. Dau, pastor of the Lower Valley Presbyterian church, of which she was a member, will officiate. Interment will be in the Lower Valley Union Cemetery. Mrs. Alpaugh died Thursday. About one year ago she underwent an operation. Her maiden name was Miss Lydia A. Wack, and she was the daughter of the late Andrew Wack, of Lower Valley. She was fifty-three years old and a life-long resident of this vicinity. Besides her husband she leaves these sons and daughter: Leonard Alpaugh, of Newark; Edward Alpaugh, of Murray Hill, and Miss Emma Alpaugh, principal of the Cokesbury Public School.

THE FORUM.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press.

When we received the following letter from Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican National Committee on Oct. 17, I sent a prompt reply. Here is his letter:

If the November election results in the choice of a Democratic Congress and a Democratic President, new tariff bills will be enacted at once. In other words, destructive Democratic tariff measures, such as President Taft vetoed at the last session, will become laws. Only one thing can prevent this, and that is a protest vote on the part of the American working men. They must choose between our high standard of living and that of the under-paid European workmen.

Do your employes understand that this defines the exact difference between the Republican and Democratic parties; not only as far as your product is concerned, but as pertaining to all other products of American labor?

If you will kindly send us a list of your employes who are voters, with postoffice address, each one will be asked personally to vote for Taft and Sherman, and the Republican candidate for Congress, and told the reason why.

I trust you will favor me with this list at the earliest possible date.

Herewith was my reply to Chairman Hilles:

"We are in receipt of yours of Oct. 16, and in reply would state that I have made personal inquiry of the voters in our factory, and am more than pleased to make a report that not one of them will vote for Taft. We certainly do not want to see Wilson elected, but prefer him to Taft. We do not think that any of our employes are going to vote for Wilson, but one or two of them may possibly do so. Our employes are particularly an intelligent class of men, and expect to vote for Roosevelt.

"Your scare about what a Democratic President and Democratic Congress will do to the tariff might be a good bluff with a class of ignorant foreigners, who do not consider the tariff situation, but you know and every intelligent man knows that nobody can reduce the tariff until some other means of supporting the Government is found to take its place, and neither Wilson or anyone else who is to be elected President will be liable to cut down expenses and salaries of office holders to any great extent, which is the only means of reducing the need of a tariff.

"You will please understand that we have nothing personally against Mr. Taft, consider him a very nice man, but we are thoroughly disgusted with the Republican Party.

"Yours very truly,
"THE BAIRD COMPANY,

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I have always been an ardent admirer of the strenuous Bull Moose. However, I desire to act intelligently at the polls. With that object in view I attended the Republican mass meeting (I believe that is what it was called) at Reform Hall last Tuesday night at which I should judge there were thirty or forty persons present. Thinking if perchance my political views were wrong, I might hear the issues discussed intelligently, and if on the wrong track be set right; thinking possibly that the dangers of the big horned animal, with the ferocious teeth might be so vividly pointed out that I should be glad to take refuge in the shelter of the Taft fold.

The portly form of ex-Judge Newcorn loomed up as presiding elder of the evening; his genial face seemed bubbling over with good humor; but alas, how deceptive are appearances, instead of the aforesaid intelligent discussion of issues I had hoped to hear, he launched into a tirade of abuse of our good mayor and for the sake of full measure also included the Daily Press. And then, with a self-satisfied expression as much as to say, "there I guess that will hold them," sat down.

Well, I came away an unconverted Bull Moose.

The following evening I attended a Progressive Meeting held in the same hall. The courteous and gentlemanly address of our mayor contrasted strangely with the acrimonious harangue I listened to from the same platform the night previous. The Progressive speakers were of a high order and were listened to by a capacity house, the utmost enthusiasm prevailed througnout. Let us hope that future meetings of all parties will be conducted on these same clean lines. We want the issues and not mud.

WILL EXPLAIN THE WAR.

At the Congregational church tomorrow morning, Rev. Dr. G. F. Herrick, a missionary of the American Board, will explain the significance of the Balkan war as it appears to one who has spent many years in Constantinople and is greatly interested in the future of the people engaged in the conflict. At the vesper service in the afternoon at 4:30, he will display stereopticon pictures of scenes in the countries in which the war is taking place.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

IN TURNIP TIME.

IN the fall turnips are excellent. They may be cooked in a great variety of ways that will bring out their good qualities.

Though they are often watery, yet if cooked with potatoes this deficiency can be greatly disguised.

Turnips must be well salted in cooking because they contain so little of it in themselves. The vegetable can scarcely be said to be nutritious owing to the fact that it contains no starch. It is best eaten with fat meats like pork or corned beef.

Suggestions For Cooking.

Large turnips will have a better flavor if the water is changed once while they are cooking.

When mashed turnips are being prepared add a little potato to them or a little flour before the seasoning is put in.

Mashed Turnips.—Take a quart of yellow turnips, wash and put on with boiling water enough to cover and boil until tender. Drain, mash and add one teaspoonful of salt and a dash of white pepper.

Turnips In Sauce.—Cut the turnips into slices three-quarters of an inch thick, then into small pieces. Cook in boiling salted water until tender, drain and serve with a white sauce made of a cupful of milk or cream thickened with a little flour and seasoned with salt, pepper and butter.

Excellent Recipes.

Turnip Soup.—Take two pounds of turnips, weighing them after peeling, and cut into dice. Simmer for twenty minutes in one quart of water, with four ounces of butter, a dessertspoonful of sugar, some pepper and salt. Then add a cupful of flour, blended with a quart of milk. Boil for twenty minutes and serve with dice of fried bread.

Baked Turnips.—Boil and slice some turnips. Butter a baking dish and put in the slices, moisten with a little milk or meat broth, dust lightly with fine breadcrumbs, salt and pepper and bake in the oven until a light brown.

chains and pendants, to match the gown or the predominant trimming on the gown. This affords great joy to the collector of bizarre gems and is decidedly lovely from the spectator's point of view.

Among young girls many styles of coiffures are in fashion at present. There is a tendency to dress the hair in a high knot on the top of the head. The low pompadour and a coil held in place by a bow are very becoming. Generally speaking, soft effects prevail in hairdressing.

The blouse pictured is a delightful model for lingerie waists, and the frill which decorates the side can easily be omitted. The embroidered front is decidedly pretty. JUDIC CHOLLET.

First Woman Musical Conductor

NEW YORK now enjoys the novelty of having the only woman conductor of a male orchestra. She is Miss Edla Soller, who recently arrived from Sweden, and who wields the baton for a band of thirty pieces in one of the parks.

Physically Miss Soller may be passed by with the words pretty, graceful, blond and twenty-three. Mentally she is equally charming, being a born musician, a suffragist and a philosopher of rare instinct and divination. She feeds her philosophy on nature. She is a big game hunter and a naturalist of much experience, despite her years. She is a horsewoman of exceptional ability and longs to get back to the wintry lakes and rivers of Norway and Sweden, so that she may add new laurels to her already acknowledged prowess on skates.

As a musician she is better known abroad than in America. She has mastered twenty-eight instruments. She plays the piano well enough to have had her fame as a pianist wafted from an obscure village in Sweden to the ears of the king and queen. She was three years old when she began playing the piano. When she was fifteen she was taken to court by the conductor of the royal opera in Stockholm. So delighted was the late King Oscar with the girl's playing that he took a medal from his chest and pinned it on the bosom of the child.

She plays the violin, the cornet, the saxophone, the oboe, the cello, the harp, the trombone, the trumpet, the clarinet and so many other instruments that there is no use tabulating them. See any big musical house's catalogue and read the names for yourself.

But if she has no other claim to distinction she may rest assured of recognition, because she does not claim to have played before "all the crowned heads of Europe." She has missed several. Some never called upon her and others were not at home when she called. But Emperor Wilhelm, Czar Nicholas, the late King Edward, Queen Wilhelmina, King Victor Emmanuel and one or two others have given her private audiences.

Her father, by the way, conducted the Royal Opera at Copenhagen for many years.

MISS KATHERINE WALLACE.

Young Woman Swam the Delaware River With Hands and Feet Tied.

Miss Katherine Wallace, twenty years old, recently swam across the Delaware river at Philadelphia with her hands and feet tied. The current was running swiftly, and several times it was feared that the daring swimmer would have to give up, but she plucky kept on to the finish.

Being bound hand and foot, Miss Wallace was forced to make her strokes with the muscles of the back and shoulders, as she could bend her knees but little. She made most of the distance swimming first on one side and then on the other. Five thousand persons saw her accomplish the feat.

Miss Wallace's wrists and ankles were badly chafed by the thongs with which they were bound.

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—The week will see the close of the presidential and State political campaigns. All parties are preparing for the customary "whirlwind" finish, although doubt is expressed in well-informed quarters whether the heaviest oratorical guns that can be brought into action will be effective in dispelling the pall of indifference with which the nation's financial and business interests, and to a great extent the public at large, appear to await the outcome of the election on November 5.

Colonel Roosevelt expects to be able to attend the final campaign rallies of his party in New York city. Governor Wilson has several speeches booked for the week and Governor Marshall will be heard in several of the western States, winding up in Chicago the Saturday night before election.

President Taft has accepted an invitation to speak at the dedication of a statue of Washington in Newark N. J., on Saturday. From Newark it is probable the President will go direct to Cincinnati to vote at the election.

Thursday is the day fixed for the launching of the battleship New York, now building at the Brooklyn navy yard. The New York is a sister ship to the dreadnought Texas, recently launched at Newport News. The two vessels will be the largest fighting ships of the American navy.

The cases of Sidna Allen and Wesley Edwards, the only ones of those alleged to have been concerned in the Hillsville court-house tragedy who have not been tried, will be called for trial Monday at Wytheville, Va. Allen and Edwards are alleged to have been the principal conspirators in the plot that resulted in the deaths of six persons in the raid on the court-house at Hillsville last March. It is reported that they may plead guilty and accept life-term sentences in lieu of standing trial.

Many archbishops, bishops and clergy of the Roman Catholic church will assemble in Denver Monday to take part in the silver jubilee celebration of the consecration of the Rt. Rev. Nicholas Matz, bishop of the Denver diocese for the past twenty-five years.

The presidential election in Cuba is to be held Saturday and the result is awaited with keen interest because of the disturbed financial and political conditions in the island republic. President Gomez declined the solicitations of his friends and supporters to accept a renomination. The leading candidates to succeed him are Gen. Mario Menocal, Conservative, and Alfredo Zayas, the present vice president of the Republic and the candidate of the principal wing of the Liberal party. The latest news from Havana appears to justify reasonable expectations that Gen. Menocal can carry the election, especially since he has formed an alliance with the second wing of the Liberal party under the leadership of Gen. Asbert, governor of Havana province.

BOROUGH DEMOCRATS WILL RALLY MONDAY

Everything is in readiness for the giant Democratic mass meeting to be held in Saengerbund Hall Monday evening, under the auspices of the Wilson and Marshall Club, of North Plainfield.

Among the speakers will be F. S. Katzenbach, of Trenton; James W. Doughty, ex-Mayor W. L. Saunders; Judge Holmes, formerly a staunch Republican; Azariah M. Beckman, candidate for Assembly; Allan B. Walsh, Congressional candidate; Calvin McMurtry, who is running for surrogate of Somerset county, and George La oMnte. It is probable that Senator James E. Martine will be on hand.

BARACA AND PHILATHEA ANNIVERSARY TOMORROW

The twenty-second anniversary of the Baraca and Philathea Union will be observed tomorrow night at the Temple Baptist church. The Senior and Junior classes of the union are urged by the officers to attend the services.

Rev. E. C. Conover, pastor of Temple church, will address the meeting. A program of special music has been arranged for the service. All are invited.

FOR TEMPLE A. A.'s BENEFIT.

The Temple Athletic Association is making arrangements with the Oak Farm Dramatic Club to present "The Old New Hampshire Home," in the near future for the benefit of the association.

Miss Harriet Halloway, an active missionary worker in the First Baptist church, will address the Christion Endeavor Society of Temple Baptist church tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock. All are invited to attend the services.

one which appeals most strongly to us women.

"Many of us have been much interested in the conservation of our national resources. We most not forget that this movement was inaugurated under Roosevelt—by-the-bye. But the greatest of our national resources, as has been said, are the human beings, the men, women and children of this nation. The terrible evil of child labor is something at which we all stand aghast. Some of you have heard Senator Beveridge, who speaks so eloquently on this subject.

"Little girls are toiling in the silk mills at Paterson, in our State, under very unwholesome conditions. Young boys are working at night in the glass works in the southern part of New Jersey. It is very dangerous, the carrying about of hot, melted glass, especially as the boys are naturally sleepy at a time when they ought to be in bed. In the coal breakers of Pennsylvania little boys have their fingers broken, as their work obliges them to hold their little hands in the rapidly flowing stream of coal.

"The minimum wage for women is another part of the program for industrial justice of the Progressive party. We know through the investigations of the Consumer's League, for what small wages and under what unwholesome conditions many women work in New York city. We know also from these what amount it takes to support and clothe a woman there. This costs $9 per week, while the 5 and 10-cent stores pay the girls only $4 a week, and women in various other employments receive correspondingly low wages. Who pays the difference between the $4 and the $9 a week needed to live on? Of course some girls live at home but many do not. It is these low wages that recruit the white slave trade.

"Now in advocating this minimum wage, the Progressive party is advocating something that has been already tried. In the State of Massachusetts they have a minimum wage not for women only, but for men and children as well. Indeed, it should be said that in advocating these various humanitarian measures, the Progressive party proposes nothing new.

"All of you who have watched the trend of public affairs have noticed the tendency to centralization, to bring the control of legislation into the hands of the National Government. Of course this must be so, under modern conditions. It is going to be safeguarded, however, by the restoration of popular rule. The direct primaries, and when needed, the initiative and referendum and the recall will enable the people to control public affairs.

"We all hoped that trusts might be dissolved, but the result of the efforts to dissolve the Standard Oil and tobacco trusts—resulting only in an enormous increase of the value of their stocks in the hands of the big stockholders—have shown us that this is not possible.

"My dear mother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, once said in the early and enthusiastic days of the civil movement that we might be living in the millennium without knowing it. When I hear men and women advocating all these new, humane sentiments, new in politics, that is to say, I feel that we may indeed be living in the millennium. Let us all go forward and strive with all our powers for the great and good cause—the splendid cause—of the Progressive party."

NEGRESS CONFESSES SLAYING SEVENTEEN

Testimony That She Had Killed Twenty-two.

Lafayette, La., Oct. 26.—Clementine Barnabet, the negress, self confessed "ax woman of the Sacrifice sect," was found guilty of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. The woman confessed to seventeen murders, and testimony introduced in her trial showed that she had slain twenty-two.

The jury agreed that the woman was responsible for her crimes, even though a degenerate. It is said 300 persons have been slain by the Sacrifice sect within the last six years.

Against the wishes of her attorneys, the Barnabet woman insisted that her written confession be placed before the jury, although she entered a plea of not guilty.

"I am the ax woman of the Sacrifice sect!" she shouted from her prisoner's stand, where she is guarded by three deputies. "I killed them all, men, women and babies, and I hugged the dead babies to my breast. But I am not guilty of murder."

Hope Chapel will be ...ene of the first local basketba... ...ne tonight and it should ... ...orker, as the Chapellites have ...practising faithfully for the p... ...ree weeks and they are due to ... ...up against their old rivals, th... ...roe Avenue team.

Hope will not ...ng alone in producing the popular entertainment as the Y. M. C. A. Ajax expect to get into action against a team from Newark next Saturday night. The association ag... ...ion has held regular practices ... the watchful eye of Captain ... ...narski and are fast rounding ... form.

A new, but not altogether unheard of, star has joined the Ajax quintet and will be a tower of strength to the aggregation on the court this winter. This new acquisition is James Nash, the former P. H. S. guard and he is playing the center position for the Ajax.

P. H. S. went to Phillipsburg today. Here's to the local school boys, may they come home hail and intact.

Another baseball game! Driscoll is bringing the Royal Giants to New Brunswick tomorrow afternoon. Will they never get enough of the diamond stuff?

It ought to be a good game, however, as Ritter and Wickware will oppose each other on the mound.

N. P. H. S. has started basketball practice and have their first game carded for the 18th of next month. Those interested say they are due to have an even better season than they did last year, and that was not one to be dispised.

The Y. M. C. A. is taking an active part in the athletic world these days. The High School class has become especially popular and a number of new members have been added during the past week. A schedule of basketball games and athletics has been drawn up and the program will be started off next Tuesday afternoon. If you have not already done so you had better join before the season begins.

Someone comes across with the information that the Company K boys will put a fast basketball team on the court this year. There are a number of good athletes enrolled in the military organization and the team ought to be a crackerjack. Manager Thompson expects to start off the season at the Y. M. C. A. against the Ajax.

WHO THE TELLING HITS WERE MADE OFF

Neither Larry Doyle nor Tris Speaker Hit to Suit Admirers.

Neither Larry Doyle nor Tris Speaker, the Chalmers trophy winners of 1912, hit as their admirers thought they would in the last series between the Red Sox and the Giants. Speaker rapped .300, which was .082 below his season's batting average, and Doyle clouted .242, which was .089 less than his percentage for the campaign.

Could Tris have batted only against Mathewson he might have rolled up a stick credit of .417, for those were the figures the Bostonian obtained while facing McGraw's master mechanic. Speaker's average against Leon Ames was 1,000, against Jeff Tesreau .200 and against Marquard .143. He didn't face Otis Crandall.

Larry Doyle found Joe Wood the easiest of the Boston pitchers to hit, making four safeties off Smoky Joe, which entitled him to an average of .400. The New York captain secured two drives off Charley Hall, his percentage against the Sea Lion being .667. Larry nicked O'Brien and Collins each for one hit, having percentages of .250 and .143 against these two hurlers. Bedient he couldn't touch at all.

Bedient wasn't easy for any member of the McGraw outfit, only one player—Mathewson—being able to make more than one safety off him. The tables below show the number of hits made by each player off the various pitchers.

HOPE CHAPEL FIVE WINS FIRST GAME

Youngsters Defeat the North Plainfield Fireflies in Close Game 25 to 22.

A team of youngsters representing the Hope Chapel boys' club started off the basketball season in the Chapel gym last night defeating the Fireflies, of North Plainfield, by the close score of 25 to 22. The two teams were evenly matched and played a fast game from start to finish which kept the spectators ever on the alert. The Hope boys extinguished the Fireflies' lights in the last part of the game when they got a number of pretty baskets which placed them in the lead and won the game for them.

Boylan and Woolston proved to be the mainstays of the visiting aggregation, each getting a quartet of baskets. They were well covered by Hunter and Horn, however, and the work of these two men prevented the Boroughites from running off with the contest. For Hope Chapel, midget Porter was the whole show, occupying the center of the scoring stage, chalking up twelve of his team's scores. Besides playing a good guarding game, Hunter secured three field goals and took advantage of one foul shot.

The lineup:

HOPE CHAPEL		FIREFLIES
Anderson	forward	Boylan
Porter	forward	Woolston
Overland	center	Hebert
Hunter	guard	Conroy
Horn	guard	Da.

Field goals—Boyland 4, Woolston 4, Hebert 1, Day 1, Anderson 2, Porter 6, Overland 1, Hunter 3. Foul goals—Hebert 1, Day 1, Hunter 1.

EVERYTHING READY FOR BIG RACE OF BALLOONS

Stuttgart, Oct. 26.—Everything is in readiness for the great international balloon race for the James Gordon Bennett Trophy, which will start from here tomorrow, and in which ten nations will be represented by twenty-three contestants. Today all who are interested in aeronautics or any branch of aerial navigation are eagerly awaiting the signal which will announce the casting loose of the first starter in the race. The other entries will follow at ten-minute intervals.

No balloon race that has ever been held has given promise of the success that is predicted for this year's international contest. In the number of nations represented it eclipses the previous contests held in Paris, St. Louis, Berlin and Kansas City. The race will also establish a new record in regards to the size and power of the craft which will compete.

Besides the Bennett Cup, now held by Germany, as a result of her victory at Kansas City last year, the winners of the race will receive several other handsome trophies and liberal cash prizes. The city of Stuttgart will distribute cash prizes amounting to 30,000 marks among the seven contestants making the best records in the race. Each of the contestants will in addition receive a valuable trophy.

The United States has three entries in the contest. They are the balloons Kansas City II. and Uncle Sam, both of which will fly the colors of the Kansas City Aero Club, and the balloon Million Population Club of St. Louis.

Germany, Belgium, France, Austria and Switzerland have entered three balloons each, Italy two, and Denmark, England and Russia one each.

COMPANY K WILL PLAY BASKETBALL THIS YEAR

James A. Thompson, chairman of Company K's athletic committee, and acting captain, manager and coach of the Company's basketball team, had his charges out for a stiff practice in the armory gym last night and was greatly encouraged over the game the players put up. Captain Thompson is handicapped to some extent because of the limited number he has to select from but all of the men who have tuurned out are natural basketball players and the phase of Company K work will probably be given a great sendoff on the court this winter.

The armory floor has been transferred into a court with standard baskets and affords an excellent place for the team to train. Although he has selected no definite team as yet Thompson says that by the first week in November he will be open for all dates and would like to hear from any good amateur teams in this section.

The Company K season will be started off with a game against the Y. M. C. A. Ajax the date of which has not been decided on as yet. Those who attended the practice last night are as follows: George Wilson, Rudolph Reinald, Mulford Darling, Charles Wilson, James A. Thompson and Augustus Kmosko.

READY TO FIGHT

'the followin gcomparisons of ratables are particularly interesting.' ")

Next ex-Mayor Newton B. Smalley, a former member of the County Tax Board, said there was no justification for the increase of the property values in North Plainfield.

C. W. McCutchen said in part: "I believe no objection will be raised when tax assessments are equally proportioned. I attribute the present difficulty to the inexperience of the members of the Tax Board."

S. St. John McCutchen said: "It is the duty of the Tax Board to equalize the taxes among individuals. I do not believe that one section of the county should be discriminated against for the benefit of any other section.

W. J. R. Hegeman said that his taxes had increased in the past five years until they reached a point where it amounted to nothing less than a holdup. Similar expressions were voiced by other citizens.

When all of the taxpayers who wished to voice their disapproval had been heard, Mr. Kenney, said he would now have a few words to say. He stated that the Tax Board had visited North Plainfield and had inspected seventy-five properties, instructing the assessor to make on increase of $466, in valuation of each of these properties and to further increase the total tax ratables of the Borough 10 per cent. He continued:

"I realize that the assessor has levied assessments in excess of the intentions of the board, and I regret that he is not here tonight to make explanations. The County Tax Board will listen to appeals of anyone who feels he is being unjustly taxed and will make whatever readjustment seems equitable and just. I resent the references which has been made to members of the County Tax Board as being inexperienced because the board has been given a great deal of attention to this work and I think every man member is competent to pass on the relative values of real estate.

Mayor Clark's address in opening the meeting is as follows:

"I will not take up the time of this meeting by going into details covered by the report which is the cause of this meeting, but merely sum up the situation by stating that from the year 1904 to 1912 the ratables of this borough have been advanced from $2,553,875 to $4,983,625, an increase of 95%, whereas, the average advance for the rest of the county is only 59%, resulting in a tax levy for State and county purposes now amounting to $8,870 per annum over and above the amount we should have been called upon to contribute had our ratables been increased in the same ratio as that of others. This disproportionate increas occurred in the year 1908, when the borough's ratables were increased 43% and again in the present year when the advance has been 14%. Eliminating the years 1908-1909 (in which a minor readjustment was made) and 1912, the average natural increase in the value of borough ratables has been about 3% per annum, say 25% for the past eight years, as against 95% fastened upon us by the County Board. You will agree that this is a matter of vital importance, and the Borough Council desires the advice and support of the taxpayers of North Plainfield. Later on, if the fight has to be carried before the State Board of Equalization, the active co-operation of a special committee will be necessary.

"The Council propose, subject to advice of counsel and your approval, to at once file with the County Board of Taxation an appeal from this year's valuations, requesting that the inequality which has arisen during the past eight years shall be rectified by either a deduction from this year's ratables, or by increasing the valuation of the ratables of the rest of the county 95% over the valuations of the year 1904."

FIRST SOCIAL EVENING OF NEW S. S. DEPARTMENT

The newly organized Intermediate Department of the Trinity Reformed Bible School held its first social last evening in the lecture room of the church. A large number of young people enjoyed an informal program arranged by Miss Etta Raybert and Miss Maud Guest. Piano solos by the Misses Marguerite Barkalew and Hazel Todd, violin solos by Charles Todd and vocal solos by Miss Adele Freeman were features of the evening.

Rev. J. Y. Broek, the pastor, and F. E. Smith, the superintendent of the school, gave short talks. The rest of the evening was spent in playing various games. Refreshments were served by Miss Helen Bogert and Mrs. L. S. Smith, assisted by the other teachers. Frederick M. Smith is superintendent of the department.

Football Injuries Thus Far Not Due to New Rules.

SO OPINES OFFICIAL FARRIER.

Most of the Accidents Have Occurred During Practice—Good Coaches at Smaller Colleges the Cause—Larry McLean to Turn Fighter.

By TOMMY CLARK.

"The number of accidents which have occurred this year almost before the football season has really started is very regrettable, but I can't see that it has any relation to the change in the rules," said Al Farrier, the old Dartmouth center and now an official. "You will note that practically all the accidents have occurred in practice and not in games. Some of them even did not happen in a scrimmage, but simply while the lad was making a lone tackle.

"Although there undoubtedly will be more line plunging under the present code, I see no reason why that should be a source of danger. These mass formations, although they may look fiercer to the spectator, are really no harder than or not as hard on the players as some of the more open maneuvers. I admit that under the old rules of, say, five years ago the line play was pretty hard on the tackles, but now that you can't help the man with the ball it should not be.

"It has been my experience that in a line play the advantage of a heavy man over a light one is in most cases more apparent than real. It is usually very hard to get a heavy man moving, and if his lighter adversary gets the jump on him and is aggressive he has fully as good a chance to make a hole through the line. It's all in being there first.

"I am firmly convinced that the code now is the best that we have had in five years. It is simpler than that of last year and has the advantage over the recent rules in many other ways. In the few games I have seen this fall there have been no injuries to amount to anything and very few of any kind."

Although Larry McLean, the stalwart catcher of the Cincinnati Reds, did not participate in the world's series rakeoff, he has found a way to gather in a little post season money. During the past season Larry has had his fighting blood stirred up so frequently by sundry decisions of the umpires that the idea has come to him of turning his pugnacious disposition to some account. Accordingly he has signed to take part in a genuine ring battle to be held before a Gotham club in the near future. Marvin Schmidt, another ball player with pugilistic inclinations, will be McLean's opponent on this occasion.

McLean has always excelled in glove bouts with his fellow players and, having the build of a white hope, has long nursed a belief that he could down Jack Johnson if he cared to try real hard. If McLean makes good in his first essay in the rosin coated arena the Cincinnati club may lose the services of its star catcher next season. He would not be the first ball player to become a ring star. Bob Moha, the Milwaukee middleweight, was a ball player in one of the minor leagues at one time.

Tracy and Michael Rimmer, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to widen Madison Avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front Street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, and the resolution of the Common Council in the premises, adopted October 7, 1912, to meet and proceed with the discharge of their duties and hear all persons interested in the premises, and make their estimates and assessments under said ordinance and said resolution and the statutes in such case made and provided.

On motion by Freeholder Gruener this matter was referred to the county attorney.

Linden, N. J., August 6, 1912.
Clerk of the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

My dear Sir—On January 22 a resolution was passed by the township petitioning the Board of Chosen Freeholders to accept as a county road that portion of Wood avenue and a portion of Raritan road, same being the continuation of the said Wood avenue.

At a meeting of the township committee held August 5 I was directed to ascertain from you what action the board has taken in the matter. Trusting I may hear from you in a few days, I am,

Yours very truly,
G. S. EVERETT, Township Clerk.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this communication was received and ordered placed on file.

Plainfield, N. J., August 19, 1912.
Union County Board of Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—I enclose check of Plainfield Press Company, No. 267, dated August 10, 1912, for $216, and copy of letter of August 10 from the Plainfield Daily Press, which explains itself.

At the time the bill for the tickets for the May 28 primary was presented Mr. Fort advised the writer that he felt same was excessive and would endeavor to obtain a rebate from the people who printed the tickets for them. The result of his fight for a reduction is a rebate of $216, which I return to your honorable board.

Kindly acknowledge receipt, and oblige,

Yours truly,
J. T. M'MURRAY, City Clerk.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this communication was received and ordered placed on file.

September 4, 1912.
To the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen—Last month I addressed a letter to you requesting that steps be taken to compel the Public Service Railway Company to pave between the tracks and rails on Westfield avenue, in the city of Elizabeth, pursuant to subdivision B of section 1 of the contract made with the Elizabeth City Horse Railroad Company, dated September 15, 1898.

While it may take a few months to accomplish this, it is necessary in the meantime that the good work done by your board in paving both sides of the county boulevard should not be permitted to be depreciated and made light of by the large amount of dust scattered around the neighborhood by the trolley cars running at high rate of speed over unsprinkled tracks; and in this connection I would call your attention to paragraph 4 of the above mentioned contract, which provides, "The company will also agree to sprinkle its road bed when dusty at its own expense."

In order that the company should comply with this it should either place oil between its tracks or should be compelled to sprinkle with water daily. Living on Westfield avenue myself, I am in a position to state that it is many weeks since the sprinkling car has gone over the tracks of the Public Service Railway Company. It is within your power, without any expenses to the county, to have the company keep and perform this agreement to sprinkle the road bed so that the residents of Westfield avenue will obtain the full benefit which your honorable board intended to confer upon them by laying a new pavement.

In connection with this matter and at this time I would direct your attention, in addition to sub-division B of paragraph 1 of the contract aforementioned, to sub-division D, which provides that the company shall at all times keep in good condition and repair, to the satisfaction of the Board of Chosen Freeholders, the paving between the rails and tracks. While all of the residents on Westfield avenue appreciate that it is impossible for your honorable board to compel the Public Service Railway Company, within a few weeks, to pave between its tracks and rails, it does seem reasonable that until this end can be accomplished something in the nature of temporary relief will be given in that your board should compel said railway company to sprinkle its tracks systematically and periodically, so that the residents would not be troubled by the dust raised by the passing trolley cars from the road bed of the trolley company, and I would respectfully suggest that if your board is unable as a board to pass upon this matter at your regular September meeting, it be referred to a special committee with power to act.

Respectfully submitted,
SAMUEL KOESTLER.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this communication was referred to the County Road Committee.

To the Director and Members of the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Dear Sirs—In conformity with an agreement entered into between your honorable body and our company, we have audited the financial accounts of the county of Union, as shown upon the books, accounts and records of Mr. N. R. Leavitt, County Collector, for the period from January 1, 1907, to December 31, 1911, inclusive.

The results of this audit, together with our comments upon the audit, are presented attached hereto, in three exhibits, as follows:

Exhibit "A"—Collector's accounts—Balance sheet as of December 31, 1911. Exhibit "D"—Collector's accounts—Cash operations from January 1, 1907, to December 31, 1911, inclusive. Exhibit "C"—Operations of the funded debt from January 1, 1907, to December 31, 1911, inclusive.

We certify, subject to the comments upon the audit, which are to be considered in conjunction with this presentation, that the exhibits submitted herewith are correct and fully set forth the conditions and operations of the accounts of Mr. N. R. Leavitt, county collector, for which they are specified.

The foregoing is respectfully submitted by the

UNIVERSAL AUDIT COMPANY,
W. M. WILLIAMS, General Manager.
New York, July 30, 1912.

COMMENTS UPON THE AUDIT.

The service of the audit was as follows:

By agreemeent, the balance of the accounts shown upon the books of the previous county collector, as of January 1, 1907, were accepted by us as a beginning point for the review and audit of all the financial transactions relating to the several parts of the county government as shown upon the books, accounts and records of Mr. N. R. Leavitt, county collector, from that date to December 31, 1911.

The receipts of the collector's office were established by a comparison of original, certified statements of all sources of income due the county, with the entries of such income, as received, upon the cash books.

The stated annual income required to meet the budgets as adopted by the county board was found to be in agreement with the abstract of ratables as furnished by the County Board of Taxation and the collection of the required pro rata from the municipalities of the county was in like agreement.

The receipts of school moneys from State and county appropriations was supported by certificates from the State treasurer, and its proper allotment established by the certificates of the county superintendent of schools.

The revenue of the various county departments was supported by certified reports received from such departments at their various settlement periods.

The proceeds from sales of bond issues were found to be as regulated by specific resolutions of the board confirming their issue and disposition.

All of the receipts were found to have been regularly deposited in banks to the credit of the county.

The disbursements were confirmed as to their regularity of approval and authorization by the several committees of the board and its director, and no payment was shown to have been made without its first support being a specific official warrant or resolution of the board.

The respective annual budgets as adopted by the board have shown their proper classification against which proper charges for expenditure have been made.

The balance of cash, shown to be on deposit at December 31, 1911, was confirmed by a reconciliation of the pass book balances of the various depositories.

The balance sheet as of December 31, 1911, (Exhibit "A"), showed available balances of $195,875.80 for the fiscal year beginning January 1, 1912.

This unexpended balance from the total appropriations is an increment from the years succeeding January 1, 1907, and the procedure of its accumulation is upported by the laws of the State of New Jersey.

The filing of the vouchers, warrants, paid checks and supporting evidences of receipts and disbursements were found to be in order and the books and records evidenced a comprehensive and clear attention to the details of the conduct of the collector's office.

CHARLES H. DENMAN.
Accountant in Charge.

On motion by Freeholder Pierson this report was received and ordered printed in the minutes.

Of the counter measures inspected 32 were found incorrect and condemned, of the wagon scales, 1 was condemned.

BECKER HOPES TO GET A NEW TRIAL

Says Witnesses "Perjured Their Souls Black."

SENTENCE ON WEDNESDAY

Convicted Policeman Then Will Be Taken to Death House In Sing Sing. McIntyre Is Confident That Verdict Will Be Reversed.

New York, Oct. 26.—Lieutenant Charles Becker, convicted of murder 1 the first degree for killing Herman Rosenthal, will be sentenced to death by Justice Goff next Wednesday. An appeal, which will be taken, will act as a stay of execution. Pending the decision on the appeal Becker will be confined in the death house at Sing Sing.

Becker's chief counsel, John F. McIntyre, whose desperate fight to save a bad case persisted until the words were uttered that pronounced Becker the real murderer of Herman Rosenthal, seemed confident that out of more than 4,000 exceptions he had taken to the rulings of Justice Goff sufficient grounds would be found to justify the ordering of a new trial by the highest court in the state. While District Attorney Whitman, and of course Justice Goff, would not discuss the forthcoming appeal or the merits of such points of law and evidence as are objected to by the Becker lawyers, it is known that they feel that Becker had a fair trial and that if anything the main contentions were decided in his favor. These were the questions as to whether or not the graft evidence should be put before the jury and whether or not Shapiro should be allowed to tell that he had heard one of the gunmen say to another that "Becker has the cops fixed, and it would be a clear g-- away."

Goff Aided State's Case.

It is generally recognized that the effect of Justice Goff's charge to the jury was a powerful aid to the state's case, but it is pointed out that a judge has great latitude in surveying the evidence provided he is accurate in quoting from testimony.

The jurors, faithful to Justice Goff's admonition not to discuss the proceedings in the jury room, have said nothing directly as to the effect upon them of the charge, but it transpired that when they sat down to deliberate they had made up their minds that Jack Rose told the truth and that there was enough of circumstantial evidence, without taking Sam Schepps' story into consideration, to corroborate Rose's accusations against Becker.

With the Becker trial out of the way, the attitude of the gunmen and the plans of the district attorney concerning them became of the first importance. Becker's conviction shook their defense and made them realize that they are not as safe as they thought they were. There were positive efforts made in their behalf to ascertain if the district attorney will give any sort of terms to them. Charles G. Wahle, counsel for "Gyp the Blood," "Lefty" Louie, "Whitey" Lewis and "Dago Frank," called on Mr. Whitman. It was taken as a fact that Wahle wanted to know what sort of a proposition the district attorney would make and that he was told that if the gunmen had anything to say to the prosecutor they could say it, but that the district attorney would decline to communicate with them until they had volunteered the whole truth about the murde..

To Try "Whitey" Lewis Next.

One of the gunmen, probably "Whitey" Lewis, whose real name is Frank Muller, will be tried immediately after the case of "Red Phil" Davidson, who murdered "Big Jack" Zelig, is concluded. A commission of alienists pronounced Davidson sane. He will be placed on trial next Wednesday. The district attorney will request Justice Goff to try either "Whitey" Lewis or "Lefty Louie" on Thursday, Nov. 7.

Mr. McIntyre said that he received more than fifty letters from able lawyers of his acquaintance who assured him that there were ample grounds for appeal and that he had a fine case on appeal.

Lieutenant Becker has recovered much of his composure. "They have convicted an innocent man," said he. "I can prove this, and I will do it when I get a chance. These men perjured their souls black, and I can prove it. They lied to save themselves, and because of the fact that I had to associate with that kind of men in order to get evidence they were able to throw the crime on me when they got into a tight hole."

Mrs. Becker called on her husband. She was heavily veiled, but the traces of weeping and worry were plain. She was taken to her husband's cell. It was then that Becker's composure gave way. His eyes filled with tears. His face worked powerfully. His voice broke. Mrs. Becker put her hands through the bars and clung to her husband.

"It can't be true," she cried. "Charlie, it can't be true."

Becker mastered his own emotion and did his best to comfort his wife.

"It's all right now," he told her. Don't worry. I'm sure to get a new trial. We've got to be patient. I'll be free after awhile."

Counsel Will Make Great Effort to Free Convicted Policeman.

SEALED INDICTMENTS FOUND AGAINST 25

Extraordinary Term Albany Grand Jury Reports.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Twenty-five sealed indictments were presented by the special grand jury impaneled in connection with the extraordinary term of the supreme court called by Governor Dix to consider disclosures made by the senate committee which investigated the affairs of the city and county of Albany and alleged violations of the excise law. Justice Merrell ordered a recess that he might examine the indictments.

The grand jury reported that it had considered charges against the following and had voted not to return indictments:

Edward B. Cantine, former commissioner of public safety, charged with retiring a Democratic police captain for political purposes.

William J. Rice, deputy commissioner of public safety; Walter Melius, formerly city engineer, and Fire Chief William W. Bridgford, charged with letting contracts without open competition; the aldermen of the city, charged with accepting $25 in lieu of stationery allowed by the law; George O. Cowell, for presenting alleged false bills for audit; William F. Wheelock, Max Coplon, Eugene T. Murray and George Morgan, charged with illegally soliciting votes; Edward Coons, charged with attempting to rent a house to detectives employed by the senate committee; Ada and Mazie Belmont, charged with abduction.

Justice Merrell sentenced William H. K. Cornelius, an Altamont hotel keeper, who was found guilty of attempting to influence a prospective juror in an excise case, to the Albany county penitentiary for three months and to pay a fine of $300.

LET FILIPINOS GO, HE SAYS.

Judge Tracey Thinks United States Cannot Refuse Their Demand.

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Judge James F. Tracey, formerly associate justice of the supreme court of the Philippines, addressed the Lake Mohonk conference on the subject of those islands. The United States, he said, had occupied the Philippines for two reasons—because the Pasific coast had visions of a great commercial development and because the islands provided an Asiatic base for a religious propaganda. These reasons had as much force today as they had fourteen years ago.

Nevertheless, the judge said, if the Filipinos desire to sever their connection with this country, it was his opinion that such separation could not be consistently denied them.

WILSON TO RESUME STUMP.

Will Speak In Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York City.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 26.—Governor Wilson has decided to take the stump again on Monday. He will speak at two rallies in Philadelphia, a meeting of independent Republicans at the Academy of Music and a Democratic meeting at Convention hall, which has a seating capacity of 19,000.

For the balance of the week the governor will campaign through New Jersey in the interest of the legislative ticket. He will speak at Madison Square Garden, New York, Oct. 31. The Philadelphia meetings were arranged two months ago.

RESULTS TELL.

There Can Be No Doubt About the Results In Plainfield.

Results tell the tale.
All doubt is removed.
The testimony of a Plainfield citizen
Can be easily investigated.
What better proof can be had!

Mrs. S. Driscoll, 1009 South Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "There was a dull pain across the small of my back and in my sides that clung to me constantly and any hard work made my condition worse. I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells, especially when stooping or lifting and I felt weak and run down. I tried plasters and various other remedies but nothing helped me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Drug Store. They did such good work in correcting my trouble that I heartily recommend them." (Statement given August 25, 1908.)

Re-endorsement.

Mrs. Driscoll was interviewed on January 29, 1911, and she added to the above: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly today as I have been for the past five years. They made a lasting cure in my case."

CELEBRATE END OF ITALY'S WAR

Plainfield Italians Hold a Little Peace Festival at Y. M. C. A.

MAYOR MAKES ADDRESS

Much Cheering and Other Marks of Latin Enthusiasm — Immigrants Urged to Merge With the American People.

The Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon was crowded to its capacity by Italians and a few Americans, who attended the patriotic festival conducted by the American Civic League, in celebration of the peace established between Italy and Turkey. Stirring speeches, interspersed with hymns and Italian national anthems, made up the program.

The hall was decorated with flags of all nations, American and Italian predominating, and pictures of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, and several famous Italian war heroes occupied the wall space of the stage. Each speaker was interrupted repeatedly with "Vivia Italie! Viva America!" and applause of Latin vigor greeted the conclusion of each address.

H. W. Hermann in his address urged the Italians to be good American citizens; to learn our laws and to educate the coming generation so it will be able to follow the example of many natives of Italy who are holding positions of responsibility in cities throughout the United States and have the esteem of Americans and foreigners alike.

He touched upon various triumphs of the Italian soldiers during the strife with Turkey and lauded their ability as warriors. He told those who had left their native land to settle in this country that we needed them, and mentioned cases where their fellows were making themselves a necessity in the communities in which they live and urged them on to even greater success in business and social enterprise.

Mayor Moy, when introduced by the Rev. Theodore P. Boretti, who presided, made a short address on "Peace and Liberty." He said in part:

"Fellowmen of Italy, my friend before me has covered so thoroughly the matter of peace between your native country and other nations, that I will speak to you in a simple way of peace and liberty at your homes, and in your neighborhood. Respect your neighbors and preserve strictly the laws of property rights. You all love Sunny Italy, and it is said by some that many of your countrymen make small fortunes in America, only to return to the land from which they came. I want to urge you not to do this, my friends, because you are welcome here and we need you. And while enjoying the privileges of American citizens in this land, think of yourselves as 'Americans' rather than as Italians or Italian-Americans."

The Rev. C. E. Herring pleased his hearers by his talk, which included many phrases and patriotic expressions in their native language. He told of the successes attained by many Italians in the city of Hartford and advised them to give their children good educations, so that they, too, would be able to reach the high standard of citizenship and business success which other Italians were enjoying. He closed his address by saying that he intended to learn their language and at a future date nothing would please him more than to come before them and speak to them in the "beautiful Italian." His last words, delivered amid storms of applause and cheering, were, "Viva Peace; Viva Italiano, and Viva Americano."

The concluding address of the afternoon was delivered by the Rev. Theodore P. Boretti, in the Italian language. It contained mainly, accounts of the war with Turkey.

MUSIC DRAWS MANY TO HOLY X CHURCH

Growth in Attendance Indicates Interest Aroused by Organ Recitals.

Growth in the attendance is a mark of the interest being felt in the organ recitals at Holy Cross Episcopal church. There was a goodly number present at 7:30 o'clock last evening, and all felt well repaid for coming by the excellence of the program. The idea of inspiration through good music is one that is as old as music itself, which goes far back into the history of the past. And religion, the rector of Holy Cross declares, has always found music one of the best means of expressing the lofty flights of the soul.

The program chosen by Charles Davis, the choirmaster and organist, was a fitting selection for the occasion. Mr. Davis is very much at home at the organ. The wonderful "Largo," of Handel, the great German composer of oratorios, gave him opportunity to display the rich, full tones of the organ as contrasted with the quick repetition and celerity of the "Toccata," of Dubois. These two selections were perhaps best suited to display the contrasting qualities of the organ, and in both the effect accentuated by the organist's skill, was most uplifting and pleasing. The "Cavatina," of Raff, brought the organ program to a close. William J. Thiers was at his best in singing "Be Thou Faithful Unto Death," by Mendelssohn. The clearness of his enunciation was particularly marked.

At 8 o'clock evening prayer was read and there was an address on the subject "What is the Church?" by the rector, Rev. W. S. McCoy. Solo parts were well taken by two members of the boy choir, Howard Dentz and William Feiring.

PROHIBITIONISTS HOLD CAMPAIGN MEETING

Minister Who is Running for Assembly the Chief Speaker.

Under the auspices of the local Prohibition organization, a mass meeting was held in the W. C. T. U. rooms on Madison avenue, Saturday night. The speakers were Rev. John A. Thompson, of Middlebush, candidate for the Assembly on the Prohibition ticket, and Rev. C. C. Cain, pastor of Grace M. E. church, the borough. William Lunger, a representative of the party here, presided.

Rev. Mr. Thompson, who is pastor of the Reformed church at Middlebush, was the first speaker, and he devoted his remarks almost entirely to the terrors of the liquor traffic, telling of the ruin to life, character, happiness, growing out of it. He quoted statistics in support of his statements. Mr. Thompson made an earnest plea for support of the Prohibition ticket at the coming election.

Rev. Mr. Cain spoke more especially on the attitude of the liquor problem to the questions of the day, and no one present was left in doubt as to where he stands on the question. He said that he was unalterably opposed to the liquor traffic and its allied interests and he invited the co-operation and support of everyone present in its overthrow.

During the evening Mrs. Dempsey, Mrs. Bishop and George Dalley sang solos, duets and trios, the selections being appropriate to the meeting.

POLITICAL WORKERS WILL EXPLAIN THE PLATFORMS

The first meeting of the current event circle of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church will be held in Vincent chapel, this afternoon, when representatives of the four leading political parties will present the platforms and give reasons for their belief in them. Mrs. M. H. CELEBRATE THEIR SILVER WEDDING

BISHOP M'FAUL THERE

Also Monsignor O'Grady, Who Performed the Marriage Ceremony a Quarter of a Century Ago—Silver Favors for Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. David T. Kenney, of Rockview avenue, the borough, observed the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding on Saturday, and in the evening they entertained at dinner a number of distinguished guests, including Bishop James A. McFaul, of Trenton, and Monsignor O'Grady, of New Brunswick. The happy occasion was marked by several pleasing features. The table in the dining room was arranged in the shape of a horseshoe. It was decorated with flowers, while suspended from the ceiling was a floral bell and the figures "25" in silver. The decorations throughout the house comprised autumn leaves and flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenny and their daughter, Miss Frances Marie Kenney, received the guests, assisted by Mrs. W. F. Clare, of New York, and Mrs. Dennis Nunan, of Morristown. Mrs. Kenney wore a gown of gray brocaded velvet, trimmed with Carrick-Ma-Cross lace and chiffon. Miss Kenney's gown was of blue satin, hand embroidered and white chiffon.

Following the dinner congratulatory remarks were made by Bishop McFaul, Monsignor O'Grady and the other men present, and the couple was showered with best wishes. Mr. Kenney made a happy response on behalf of himself and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Kenney were married twenty-five years ago Saturday at New Brunswick by Monsignor O'Grady. The bride was Miss Katherine A. Gleason, of that place. During their married life the couple have resided in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenney have both been deeply interested in the progress of the Catholic church and its interests, and in recognition of Mr. Kenney's zeal and activity in this direction the Pope conferred on him the title of Knight of the Cape and Sword. At the celebration on Saturday the couple received many beautiful gifts in silver.

The guests were Rt. Rev. James A. McFaul, Bishop of the Trenton diocese; Rt. Rev. Monsignor O'Grady, of St. Peter's R. C. church, New Brunswick; Rev. William H. Miller, pastor of St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield; Rev. B. M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's R. C. church, this city; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Clare, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kuser, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ewing, Jr., of Yonkers, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Nunan, of Morristown; Mrs. Joseph B. Sandford, of Newark; Mrs. William Moran, of Brooklyn; Dr. W. C. Ryan, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. John M. Moynihan, of Elizabeth; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Besler, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Williams and Dr. P. J. Zeglio, of Plainfield. Throughout the evening an orchestra enlivened the occasion with an attractive program of music. The favors were silver novelties.

MINISTERS SOUND CALL IN WAR AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS

In a number of the local churches yesterday reference was made by pastors to the nationwide campaign against tuberculosis and the quack remedies which tempt the victims of the disease to their harm.

The day was set apart by the National Anti-Tuberculosis Society—A Tuberculosis Day in the churches all over the land.

The society sent outline sermons to the pastors of the various churches with a list of names of books on the subject. Among the churches in which mention of the campaign against the white plague was made were the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian, Grace Episcopal, Grace Methodist Episcopal and Hope chapel.

The pastors touched on the evils derived from the patent medicines which are advertised to cure the disease. Mention was made of the preventive methods.

P. H. S. GRADUATES SORE OVER CUP

Yale Club's Refusal to Reopen Question of Award Renews Feeling.

INJUSTICE, SAYS CLASS

Petition Contends That a Reflection Has Been Cast on "12"—Why the Faculty Framed its Recommendation to Club.

Feeling over the decision to withhold the award of the Yale cup to any member of the class that was graduated from Plainfield High School last June is still high among the members of the class. The Yale Club answering a petition from the class has just stated that the vote of the facutly was final. The class wanted the club to recommend to the faculty that an award be made.

During the summer the class appointed a "protest committee" and the committee drafted resolutions to which the signatures of the class members were obtained. Every member of the class approved the action.

The petition of the class and signed by every member is to the effect that they feel the statement of the faculty that there is no boy in the class qualified to receive the Yale cup, is unfair to the class and a reflection upon the school; that a strong feeling in the class and the school, as well as public sentiment, has demanded this action on the part of the class. It is further asserted that the members of the class have been acknowledged by the faculty to have great literary and dramatic ability, as well as to include strong athletes, and the class wants to know if it does not seem probable that there is some boy who is a worthy candidate, although he may not be prominent in all the requirements of the Yale cup.

The officers and members of the Yale club were asked to notify the faculty of the High School that it would be satisfactory to the club to award the cup to the member of the class whose record of athletics, scholarship and leadership is highest; if unable to arrive at a decision, then to request the faculty to suubmit the record of the leading members to enable the award committee of the club to decide for itself.

It was in answer to this petition that L. A. Williams, as secretary of the club wrote to Alan Bruce Conlin, chairman of the class protest committee, stating that the previous decision was final. The petition is signed as follows:

The following members of the class approved the movement but owing to absence from the city could not sign: Blanche D. Beekman, Donald William Webb, Egbert P. Fountain, Ruth Belle Douglas, Milton S. Fine, Hazel M. Piddington, Arthur Lewis, Effie A. Beekman, Raymond Manley, Winthrop M. Phelps and James L. MacNabb.

When the question of awarding the cup came before the faculty of the High School last June it was unanimously voted that a recommendation not to present the cup at the High School this year be made to the Yale Club.

It is explained by the faculty that while there were members of the class who excelled in some ways no one excelled in all three requirements of the award. The faculty idea was to maintain the value of the cup as an incentive to sustained high effort.

The Yale cup is designed to go to the pupil who excels in athletics, scholarship and qualities of leadership, and in the opinion of the faculty of the High School no member of the class combined the qualifications for excellence for which the Yale cup was offered.

"The readers of the Daily Press can judge for themselves as to the merits of this case," said Mr. Conlin today. "As far as the committee is concerned its duties are at an end, but the class of 1912 will never forget the injustice done them by the High School faculty."

VILLAGE IN DANGER FROM CONFLAGRATION

Rubber Plant and Hotel Destroyed in East Millstone Fire.

Fire which threatened to wipe out the village of East Millstone, was discovered at 1:15 o'clock this morning in the large plant of the Harmer Rubber Company, situated along the canal right in the heart of the village. It is believed that the fire, which started in the heating room, had been burning some time when discovered by the night watchman.

The rubber plant was destroyed as was also the railroad hotel and stables which were owned by Werner Zust, George Gerhard't residence and a number of other buildings adjoining. The total loss is estimated at $50,000. Other residences on the adjoining block were saved through the efforts of employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who responded with an independent apparatus; also the Somerville fire department.

There was a fire engine in the rubber plant, but the fireman had banked his fires for the night and it was impossible to get up steam to make it available. The only thing belonging to the company that was saved was the large bonded warehouse. The smaller one was destroyed.

The rubber plant was formerly owned by the Fleischmanns, and it was known as the Somerset county distillery. It was the oldest distillery in this part of the country and during its operation hundreds of employes were engaged there. It stood idle for many years after the Fleischmanns removed their yeast business to Peekskill, N. Y. The property was finally sold to the Harmer Rubber Company for $12,500.

COLUMBUS KNIGHTS HEAR GOOD ADVICE

Five Priests Talk to Them of Pure Living at Service.

Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus attended two religious services yesterday. In the morning the members attended communion at St. Mary's church in a body and in the evening they attended the solemn vesper service held at St. Joseph's church.

Five priests addressed the knights last night, Rev. B. M. Bogan, Rev. Edward J. Dumphy, Rev. Richard T. Ryan, Rev. John F. Baldwin and Rev. Walter Leahy, of Princeton. The choir of St. Joseph's church assisted by Watchung Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, furnished the special music for the occasion.

The subject of all the speakers was "Pride and What Goes With It." They told the knights to keep away from temptations and live their lives pure and holy, and when they reached the end of their earthly career they would not have to worry about their destination and life.

HAROLD W. DURAR KILLED BY TRAIN

Met Death Walking From Netherwood to North Avenue Station.

BODY SIDE OF TRACK

Young Man Anxious to Get to New York, Where Wife Was Visiting, Risked His Life to Catch a Fast Train.

The dead body of a man lying in a pool of blood beside the main track of the Central Railroad a short distance west of the Netherwood station, discovered shortly after 10 o'clock last night by the crew of a passing freight train, was identified as that of Harold W. Durar, 28 years old, of Ravine road, by letters found in the clothes. It is thought that while walking the track from Netherwood on his way to the North Avenue station to catch a train for New York, he was struck by the passenger train passing through Netherwood at 10.15.

As far as could be learned the engineer of the train which is supposed to have struck the man did not stop his engine, apparently not knowing that anything untoward had happened.

Following the discovery of the body by the freight crew it was placed on a drill engine and taken to the North Avenue Station, and later removed to Cole's undertaking establishment. A father and brother of the dead man further identified the mangled body this morning, and will take charge of the remains today.

Durar's wife has been visiting her mother in New York, and he intended to go to the metropolis to bring her home. Having missed a train at Netherwood, it is thought he started to walk to the main station to catch a fast train going eastward, which did not stop at Netherwood. Several minutes before the body was discovered Durar had been talking to Patrolman Sweeney at the Netherwood station.

Mrs. Durar has been notified of her husband's death and is expected to arrive here this afternoon. Besides his wife, Mr. Durar is survived by his father, three brothers and a sister.

HE MUST PROVIDE FOR HIS FAMILY BUT CAN'T VISIT 'EM

In compliance with a decision of Recorder Gano in the North Plainfield court, this morning, Aaron Reed, a laborer, 55 years old, of 10 Fritz place, will be compelled to deposit $5 with Chief Weiss every Saturday night for the support of his family. Upon his failure to do so a suspended sentence of 90 days will be enforced, under a charge of being drunk and disorderly. Another provision of the Recorder's ruling was the prohibiting of the prisoner to visit or stay at his home. He was ordered to leave his family strictly alone.

TRAVEL LECTURE.

A stereoptican lecture will be given by Ex-Mayor L. V. F. Randolph on his recent trip through South America at Warren chapel tomorrow evening. The views that will be thrown on the screen were made from pictures taken by Mr. Randolph during his trip. A silver offering will be taken during the evening.

—the Boynton Newport, burning both coal and gas. This has two roomy ovens for bread, cakes and pies; and ample top space for all manner of boiling, frying and stewing. But, best of all, it does these various kinds of cooking to perfection.

The careful housewife is seldom disappointed if she puts her trust in a "BOYNTON NEWPORT."

This is a fine hot weather range because gas burning does not overheat the kitchen. Has a large water back and handy dampers. See it at our dealer's.

Gilbert Lovell, a missionary from China, would address the school, but owing to a sudden illness it was impossible for him to attend. Special music was sung by the children of the primary classes and by the members of the main school.

The Charity Organization Society has issued a concise statement of its work for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1912, for the purpose of arousing further interest and support. MANY CROPPERS MARK WEEKLY WATCHUNG HUNT

Thirty riders followed the hounds in the weekly chase of the Watchung Hunt Club on Saturday, in which there were numerous croppers and an accident to one of the hounds. F. D. French, of Westfield, went down, while crossing the Shepard estate, but was able to finish. Beverley Brown, of Cranford, also went down, and was not able to finish. Neither one was seriously injured.

While crossing the Springfield road, an automobile owned and driven by a Westfield man, ran over one of the hounds, and nearly killed the animal, and the chase was halted for a short time. The hounds were thrown in at the woods near the water tower, the start, and the chase led over the Cole, VanNest, Mair, Johnson, Elliott, Ryan farms and the Shepard estate, a check being made on the Hill farm.

The hounds were again taken up, again crossing the Shepard estate, the Springfield road, where one of the hounds was injured; continuing over the Sheelen, Cook, Miller, Drake farms, finishing at Truell Hall. The following finished:

To Be In New York Latter Part of Week.

Washington, Oct. 28.—President Taft is back from his summer vacation, which was spent motoring in New England and at his residence in Beverly, Mass. He reached here about 9 o'clock yesterday from Cambridge Springs, Pa.

Mr. Taft went to church shortly after his arrival and in the afternoon had conferences with Simon Wolf, a prominent Jewish philanthropist, and Secretary of the Navy, Meyer and Assistant Secretary of the Interior Adams. Last night Mr. Taft entertained at dinner the assistant secretaries of the executive departments, who had the honor of "sitting on the lid" during the vacation season.

The president will remain here until tomorrow afternoon, when he will leave for New York to attend the launching on Wednesday of the battleship New York and a dinner to the workmen engaged on the work of the war vessel. He will return to Washington on the midnight train on Wednesday. On Saturday he will be present at the dedication of a Washington monument in Newark, N. J. He will probably remain in New York until Sunday, when he will go to Cincinnati to vote on election day. He will receive returns at the home of his brother, Charles P. Taft, in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen Taft will remain at Beverly till next Monday, when they will go to New York to receive election returns as the guest of Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican national committee.

WILSON ISSUES STATEMENT.

Says It Is Important That Senate Shall Be Democratic.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 28.—Governor Wilson issued a statement appealing to the Democrats of those states in which the new legislatures select United States senators not to forget that it was just as important that the senate should be Democratic as it was that the president should be of that political faith too. His statement follows:

"I am particularly anxious that the Democrats of those states in which United States senators are to be chosen should remember that control of the government depends as much on the control of the United States senate as upon the presidency itself. I hope that in those states particular attention will be concentrated upon the necessity of obtaining a Democratic majority in the legislatures of those states."

TWO FORECASTS.

Election forecasts and straw vote statistics incite general attention for they are interesting if not always to be depended upon. Particularly is this the case with the New York Herald canvass during succeeding Presidential campaigns. At a great cost, that paper covers the situation throughout the Union and the results of the election have shown that its figures are in most cases quite accurate.

Thirty States have been canvassed by the Herald by the straw vote plan and the report of the investigation as contained in yesterday's issue of that paper sets forth that 270,923 votes were cast. Of these 110,923 favored Wilson; 82,575 for Roosevelt and 58,413 for Taft. The Republican nominee, according to the Herald, has fallen down somewhat and is where he was on October 6. On the other hand the Progressive candidate has gained since then. The tide for the Democratic nominee is receding, but the Herald states that his chances of success are not endangered.

Here is the figuring done by the Herald on its personal poll in thirty States, the candidates in first and second place, respectively, being named:

In a much less pretentious forecast, the New York World yesterday gave to Taft the States of Colorado, Iowa, Montana, New Hampshire, Oregon, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont and Wyoming. To Roosevelt it conceded Kansas, Maine, Nevada, North Dakota, New Mexico and Washington. Classified as doubtful States were Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, South Dakota and Connecticut. All the other States it claimed as certain or reasonably sure for Wilson.

It must be remembered that the Herald and World are probably the two most powerful and bitter newspapers arraigned against Roosevelt. The Herald is a staunch supporter of Taft, while the World is the foremost Wilson advocate. Some newspapers, therefore, are not inclined to take the polls seriously as witness the Newark Morning Star, owned by former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., a Democratic paper giving aid and comfort to Roosevelt:

The tables of estimates of the vote in the Presidential election, put out yesterday by New York newspapers that are in close affiliation with Wall Street interests, are uniformly contrary to the evidence of all the genuine straw votes that have been taken in business places and factories and on railroad trains and in public gatherings throughout the country. They differ in their figuring, but the object sticks out in them all. The plan of the Herald is to show a steadily gaining strength for Taft. Next Sunday the Herald will have him in second place, where the World now has him, although every test vote taken shows that Taft is virtually out of the running.

We are inclined to believe that both papers are acting in perfect good faith; at any rate the figures are interesting.

The first installment in the series of answers by councilmanic candidates to the twelve questions submitted by this paper is published today. Replies of Second ward nominees will be printed tomorrow; Third ward Wednesday and Fourth ward Thursday. On Friday, the replies of the three mayoralty nominees will be published. When a candidate fails to make any answer, we leave the public to judge the motive for his silence. The mayoralty nominees have all responded.

A big crowd is expected to attend the Democratic mass meeting to be held tonight in Saengerbund Hall, under the auspices of the Wilson and Marshall Club, of North Plainfield. Senator James E. Martine will be one of the speakers and is expected to make an address dealing with every important phase of the campaign. The arrangements which have just been completed were made by Councilmanic Candidates Lewin and Perkins, assisted by the executive committee.

WOMAN AUTOIST IS HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Witnesses Say She Didn't Give Name and Number After Accident.

Mrs. Katherine Peikert, of Sterling, who ran down 12-year-old Eleanor J. Bucklin, of 23 Albert street, on October 18 with an automobile she was driving, at Liberty and West Front street, was held in $500 bail this morning by City Judge DeMeza, to await the action of the grand jury. She is charged with violating the law which makes it imperitive for any auotmobilist taking part in an accident to return to the scene of the accident, give license number of car, name, and to render assistance to the injured.

The many witnesses called in by the State gave testimony which tended to show that Mrs. Peikert had not rendered assistance to Miss Bucklin, did not give her auto license number or leave her name. The witnesses claimed she returned to the scene of the accident after having struck the girl, making the remark to Miss Bucklin "I guess you're more frightened than hurt," and rode off, several minutes after running down the victime.

VICE PREST. SHERMAN SAID TO BE VERY ILL

Bulletin of Attending Physician States That no Immediate Crisis is Expected

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 28.—For the first time since his present illness, it was admitted today that Vice President Sherman is a very sick man. This came from Dr. F. H. Peck and was in connection with a denial that his patient had lapsed into unconsciousness during the night and was sinking.

Dr. Peck has issued the following bulletin on the condition of Vice President Sherman:

"Vice president Sherman is a very ill man although the reports in circulation during the night were greatly exaggerated. Mr. Sherman was sitting up yesterday and he walked about the house from room to room. His condition is bad it is true but I do not apprehend any immediate crisis."

ACQUITTED OF MURDER HELD AS COUNTERFEITOR

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Oct. 28.—Allison M. MacFarland, who was acquitted on Oct. 18 in Newark, N. J., on his second trial for the murder of his wife, was arraigned this morning before U. S. Commissioner Shields on a charge of counterfeiting. The defendant was arrested on Saturday night by Secret Service agents. He pleaded "not guilty" and was held in $5,000 bail for examination.

MacFarland first started to copy the silver coins when he was in the Essex county jail waiting to be tried a second time for murder. To while away the time he made molds of tin foil by rubbing the tin foil over coins and then filled the mold with candle drippings. He strung these molds up around his cell, and the federal authorities learned of them and decided to watch MacFarland when he came out.

He denied to federal detectives that the idea came to him of counterfeiting fifty cent pieces by this new method and asserts that it merely suggested a way of making cheap copies of expensive silver ornaments of original design by making a mold out of silver foil and then filling the mold with a composition. He used coins in experimenting with this process because he had started with them. He did not seem to know that attempting to duplicate United States currency for any purpose is unlawful.

Detectives Raid Flat.

After MacFarland was acquitted he went to live at 100 West One Hundred and Sixth street under the name of Allison Mason. Remembering his pastime while in jail, secret service men watched him constantly, and some purchases he made recently of silver foil and solder and other articles which might be used in counterfeiting caused them to call on him at his rooms and look over the work which required such material. They dropped in on MacFarland Saturday afternoon and found in his rooms molds of fifty cent pieces and in his pockets about fifteen unfinished coins, some of which had been completed on one side.

They were not particularly good counterfeits, but MacFarland told them that his work of copying silver pieces was still in the experimental stage. He had at first tried making plaster casts of the coins and then filling them with a composition. Then he covered the result with silver foil, which didn't look very even and didn't stick well.

Taken to Police Station.

His next idea was to go back to his original idea of making molds of the silver foil and filling them with the composition, which worked a little better. It was this style of imitation which was found in his room. He did not use acids in the work, and John Henry, who is taking Chief William Flynn's place as head of the secret service while Mr. Flynn is working for the aldermanic investigation, says he does not think the acids found in MacFarland's home in Newark, where his wife died, had been used for the purpose of copying coins.

He was taken to the Old Slip station, where he was locked up under the name of John Williams, and he will be arraigned before Commissioner Shields.

MacFarland lived alone at the One Hundred and Sixth street house, and so far as the detectives could learn he has not yet married "Bunny" Bromley, whose letters to him were read in the murder trial and made something of a sensation.

DEAKIN'S FIRM WILL GO ON UNDER RECEIVERSHIP

The Most Important Announcement This Store Has Ever Made

Beginning November 1st we are going to share out profits with you—going to give you back 5 per cent. of all the money you spend in our store.

For a long time we have been considering this proposition. We have felt that those who paid cash for their goods, were not getting a square deal.

Dr. Saunders in discussing the credit system at the Business Men's dinner the other night was right when he said, that in his opinion, the better way would be to give a cash discount in order to eliminate credits as far as possible.

This is the most important inovation that this store has ever adopted. We want you to compare this discount of 5 per cent. with any proposition you have ever heard of. We want you to remember that you are not confined to a few articles of questionable value, but that you have placed at your disposal in the redemption of these profit sharing coupons the vast stocks of merchandise that fill this store from top to bottom. You select the merchandise you want in any department that you desire—a fact that alone relegates the old-time and limited scope "Premium Parlor" idea to the background.

Misses' 22.98 to 35.00 Dresses, 17.98

Only Fifty Street and Evening Dresses for Misses and Women of Small Stature in This Special Sale. Come Early for Your Size.

It is unfortunate there are not more of these dresses. We took all the maker had. Because the lot was small we secured them at a much lower price than otherwise—which is fortunate for fifty misses and women who require small sizes. The dresses are simply beautiful. The women in search of street and evening frocks of character and individuality should certainly be here Tuesday morning when the dresses go on sale. Not a one in the collection is worth less than $22.98. The majority of them would be considered good values at $25, $27.98 and $30, while some are worth even $35. Though the lot is small, the styles are varied. There are dresses for both street and evening wear of chiffon voile, crepe charmeuse and serge. Black and white and in the most acceptable colors. You will be agreeably surprised at the good quality of the materials. The fashioning is along graceful lines—designed primarily to appeal to young women who like jauntiness in their clothes. Every garment is well made. There is a perfectness of finish that shows the handicraft of good dressmaking. Come and see these dresses—but come early. You know too well that such a small quantity of bewitching frocks priced at $17.98 will not remain on display long.

Sale Starts at 9 o'Clock. No Mail, Phone or C. O. D. Orders Filled. None on Approval

Between Ourselves

"I have been in the new Bamberger store four times since it opened," declared a Glen Ridge matron Saturday, "and each visit has been a revelation. I am as proud of this big new store as though I were a part owner of it. I guess the majority of people feel the same way about it."

The majority of people DO feel the same way about the greater store. Mrs. Glen Ridge simply voiced the sentiments of hundreds of thousands who have inspected the greater store at close range.

The new store is so vast in area and broad in resources that a single visit merely serves as an appetizer. Go through the greater store and you will want to go through it again.

JUDGE CODINGTON IS STRONG FOR ECONOMY

Makes Promises as to Administration at Open-Air Meeting.

Large crowds attracted by the sound of a fife and drum corps greeted the Republican speakers Saturday night in their tour through the city.

Stops were made at Park avenue and East Second street. Included in the party of spellbinders were W. R. Codington, who is running for mayor; Leighton Calkins and Francis J. Blatz, councilmanic candidates from the Third and Fourth wards, respectively.

Judge Codington, speaking of his candidacy, said he fully realized the responsibility, as well as the honor which accompanies the office of the city's executive. He said if made mayor he would strive for a good honest, economic administration of affairs of the city, and was in favor of municipal improvements, as well as the betterment of conditions of the outlying districts.

Mr. Calkins said he was in favor of a higher fee for liquor licenses and stood for a strict regulation of saloons, rather than prohibition. He favors the joint sewer system as being the most economic. Speaking of the municipal ownership of water, he continued:

"I like very much the municipal ownership of our water supply in theory, but I do not think it would work in the best interests of the people. Reason has not been shown that we could get as good water as now, or at any less cost under municipal ownership, if reports of engineers who have been investigating this subject, are to be carried out."

As a candidate for representative of the Fourth ward in the Common Council, Mr. Blatz urged improvements in that district. He said if elected councilman he would try to have an appointed time scheduled at each meeting of the Council for citizens of Plainfield to come before the meeting to express their views on city affairs, and to voice their approval or disapproval on any matters relating to the betterment and improvement of the community.

The Independent Fife and Drum Corps, of which Mr. Blatz was a member for six years previous to 1897, headed the procession as the politicians moved from place to place. They volunteered their services Saturday night out of good feeling for their former member and carried aloft a sign endorsing his candidacy.

Mrs. Henry will carry on her husband's work, having been given full power of attorney.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

CABBAGE SALADS.

CABBAGE with vinegar is a fine salad to serve with fat or oily food.

Raw cabbage is really much more digestible than cooked.

A hard, crisp head should be chosen for salad, one that has nice white leaves is the best. Soak the cabbage for about a half hour in cold salted water before cutting up on the vegetable shredder.

Several methods of using raw cabbage as a relish are given here.

A Slaw Worth Trying.

Cold Slaw.—Take a small head of cabbage and cut it very fine. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and mustard, pound on a board or table. Put in a deep dish. Then make a dressing of one beaten egg, one pint of vinegar, a small piece of butter and sugar to taste. Let it come to a boil, stirring constantly, pour over the cabbage and set aside to cool.

Pepper Cabbage.—Take a small head of cabbage, a pepper, a quarter of a teaspoonful each of celery and mustard seed, six cloves, six allspice, a tablespoonful each of sugar or salt and a half cupful of vinegar. Chop the cabbage fine and lay in cold water half an hour. Mince the pepper. Drain the cabbage and add the pepper and other ingredients. Mix well.

To Tempt the Appetite.

Cabbage Salad:—Take a medium sized cabbage. Cut it fine. Let it stand in ice water one hour, adding a tablespoonful of salt. Beat two eggs, add to them one cupful of vinegar, three tablespoonfuls of butter, a little pepper and one tablespoonful of mustard. Place the bowl in a pan of boiling water and stir until it begins to thicken. Take from the fire and add two teaspoonfuls of sugar. Drain cabbage and pour the hot dressing over it and let it stand till cold.

Cabbage Relish.—Take a medium sized cabbage and after it has soaked in water for awhile shred on the vegetable cutter. Season with salt and pepper. Make a dressing thus: Take the beaten yolks of two eggs whipped with two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Add two tablespoonfuls of thick sour cream, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a sprinkle of mustard and half a cupful of vinegar. Beat this until thoroughly mixed and toss lightly with the cabbage.

Muffs Will Be Larger Than Ever This Winter.

Muffs will be of more mammoth size than ever this winter. The furriers have seen to that all right. They are also desperately concerned in working up original little fitments for the neck in the guise of high stocks.

SHIRT WAIST IN PEASANT STYLE.

medium tones rather than decided colors.

Combining chiffon and satin has proved so satisfactory that the fashion threatens to become permanent.

Abroad the newest fad in footgear is the "pekine" boot, made of rare leathers cut in thin strips. Ermine, skunk and opossum are in favor with women of ultra taste.

The shirt waist in peasant style is a favorite one. The one pictured is quite novel, for there are separate pieces over the shoulders that admit of the stitched edges that are so effective.

ZEAL SHOWN IN ASSEMBLY

vised the boys to spend much time in the woods in study of the habits of birds and wild animals. Much can be learned of application to human life, he said, by the boy who really sets himself to observe the ways of wild things. He dwelt on the cruelty of shooting birds.

Methods of class work were discussed by G. H. Roehrig, boys' secretary, of Trenton. He told how Bible classes should be led, of methods of recruiting members and of creating interest in special work. He spoke also of the social features. The address was marked by inquiries, both by the speaker and by his hearers. A general discussion followed.

Dr. George G. Yarrow, of Newark, teacher of the Vance Bible class of the North Reformed church in that city, talked on "Personality." He exhibited a chart of the brain cells, and told of their co-operation. The speaker dwelt especially on the cultivation of imagination for its beneficient effects on the later life of the boy. He advised them to study history, thus obtaining a better comprehension of conditions and praised the virtues of determination and courage.

It was expected that Charles T. Kilburn, of East Orange, would preside at the banquet, which was served by the women's auxiliary to the local association, but he was unable to be present. His place was taken by James B. Gallagher, president of the Summit Y. M. C. A. He said that Summit was glad to welcome to its hills so representative a gathering of young manhood and he hoped the stay of the boys would be conducive to their health and their intellectual and moral uplift.

The address of welcome was made by Rev. Dr. William I. Haveen, of Summit. He declared the Woman's Auxiliary of the Summit Y. M. C. A. was entitled to much praise for preparing and serving the banquet, and he also had kind words for the officers of the association. The speaker dwelt on the value of idealism, and drew a comparison of Summit on its high hills and the aim of every Y. M. C. A. member, who, he said, would find his best life on the high level.

The response was by Jasper Wight, of Lakewood, president of the conference. Mr. Wight complimented Summit in having a model Y. M. C. A. building and thanked those who had made it possible for the boys to meet amid delightful surroundings.

A resolution was adopted thanking the local association and the woman's auxiliary for its entertainment of the delegates.

The address of Friday evening was by Arthur N. Cotton, of Buffalo, international High School secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who took as his subject "The High School Student Christian Movement."

Mr. Cotton said that public attention as never before is centered on the High Schools of the land. While critics are looking for weaknesses, friends are defending the strong features in the system of secondary education, he said.

"In the mean time," the speaker continued, "the Young Men's Christian Association is making rapid and thorough advance in the work among the boys of these schools.

"The 9,000 High Schools offer a field numerically twice as large as the colleges of the country. Nearly 500,000 boys are enrolled as students.

"While it is true that only five per cent. of the High School boys go to college, the fact remains that from this number come forty-five per cent. of our national leaders. The association's opportunity to influence these future leaders is causing local associations to redouble their efforts to discover, enlist and train older High School boys for Christian leadership.

"The boys of the upper classes set the pace, for good or evil, for the boys of the freshman and sophomore years. The local associations are increasingly co-operating to lead these leaders to moral worth and Christian service.

"The effectiveness with which the association does its work will help to determine, on the one hand, the kind of college men these boys are to be, and, on the other hand, will decide largely the character of that greater proportion of High School students who neither graduate nor go to college.

"The door of opportunity is opened to the Young Men's Christian Association, and New Jersey is taking an active interest in the High School student Christian movement, which is spreading rapidly throughout the country."

The speaker called attention to the work accomplished in Camden last year, when forty per cent. of the High School enrollment attended Bible study groups in the Young Men's Christian Association and told of the work in Newark, Trenton and several other cities.

The banquet was enlivened with songs by the Princeton Male Quartet and impromptu songs by the diners. One song was sung to the tune, "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly?" The word "Scotty" was substituted for "Kelly," in honor of Charles R. Scott, State secretary of boys' work, who is one of the leading lights in the conference.

Everywhere you look in this great department you see magnificent draperies, curtains, door hangings and other things ornamental that go to give that touch of elegance and refinement so much sought in the homes of intelligent, appreciative people.

Undoubtedly we lead in upholstery.

Undoubtedly we will continue to lead so long as we provide such lavish, splendid stocks of the finest goods and render such superior service to our patrons.

Polite, courteous salespeople are ever ready to reveal to you the hidden beauties of the stock any time you wish to see them, whether you are in a buying humor or not.

In every class of goods—draperies, curtainings and upholsteries, we carry immense assortments, making it wholly unnecessary for any one to go beyond this store, and especially to go to New York for anything they might desire.

We employ a corps of experts who will plan decorative features for you if you wish. Their experience and taste, and their original schemes for decoration and beautification, are yours if you desire to employ them when you come to select draperies for your home.

Our Contracting Department will arrange with you when desirable for the complete furnishing and decoration of a home whether it be a palatial mansion or modest cottage, or for any decorative scheme for a single room that you may desire. We furnish plans and sketches, and give estimates without charge.

We invite you and your friends to visit the Upholstery Store on the Third Floor whenever you can; in fact, we urge you to visit it often—it is a treat to do so.

HOLY CROSS TEAM TASTES DEFEAT

Bayonne Eleven Takes a Gruelling Contest From Local Warriors.

RICKETTS GETS GOAL

Holy Cross Lineup Receives Shakeup—Many Regulars Were Absent—Locals Have the Ball Within Reach of the Goal Line at End of Period

What the wet weather and irregular practicing did to the Holy Cross football eleven was clearly evidenced by the article of ball the boroughites put up against the B. R. A. warriors from Bayonne on Cricket Field, Saturday afternoon. But one practice had been called by Coach Hamilton during the past week and the fellows on the team had become pretty well stiffened up as a result of Jupiter Pluvius' tactics. Although the score turned out to be 13 to 7 in favor of the visitors, the touchdown that put the game on ice was not scored until the last two minutes of play and the remaining time proved too short for the locals to retaliate.

Holy Cross has proved wonderfully strong playing the open game and none of the previous foes have seemed able to diagnose the attack, much less to stop it. But Saturday afternoon's foe piled en mass into every play and the man with the ball was generally felled before he could do much damage. The visitors were seen to be a stiff proposition as soon as they came on the field and it was a surprise to many to see the local players hold them as tightly as they did. In fact the Bayonneites were a trifle surprised themselves as they have been walking away with many elevens heavier than Holy Cross and did not anticipate much trouble in disposing of Hamilton's aggregation. The opposition could be shattered only on the various trick plays which Hamilton has drilled into his players and these worked to advantage Saturday afternoon. The Bayonne combination had forwards that could stop ordinary plays but became bewildered and disorganized by the shifts, passes and lightning like shoots of the Holy Cross backfield. This fact was most noticeable when Nash made one of his fake forward passes, Ricketts getting the ball and taking it on a long ride around left end. From this point he later took it thirty more yards for the first touchdown of the game. Ricketts' long end run was the one sensational play of the game and as it put the local boys in the lead for a time at least, the spectators went wild, and when Coyle made a pretty kick of the goal, Holy Cross yelling could not be suppressed. One of the largest crowds of the season witnessed the contest and it is a significant features of all the boroughites' games that the same set of loyal cohorts have been present at each game, giving the kind of support that puts the winning spirit into the players.

Bayonne's quarterback proved to be the whole show for his aggregation. He made up the signals, invented new plays, did the bulk of the tackling and was their main ground gainer. One of his plays was the one that won the game for the visitors. When Bayonne got the ball on the ten yard line he held a short consultation with his teammates and it appeared as though he was trying for a goal from placement. All of the Holy Cross players had their idea anyway, and while they were waiting for him to kick to pigskin, he executed a nifty forward pass which was carried over the goal line by Early.

Ruttledge proved a tower of strength to the Holy Cross team, getting in tackle after tackle, and his playing was what really saved the locals from being scored on repeatedly in the first session. Owing to the tardiness of the visitors in arriving on the field the game was played in two periods instead of the usual four.

NEW GOLF RENDEZVOUS FOR SOMERVILLIANS

Somerset County Seat Offers Latest Addition to the Metropolitan Courses.

Another addition to the seventy or more golf courses in the Metropolitan district is the Somerville Country Club, located between Bound Brook and Somerville. The organization was formed about one year ago through the efforts of Senator J. S. Frelinghuysen, and the majority of the membership is in and around Somerville and Bound Brook, with a delegation from this city.

The property, which contains 118 acres, was formerly farm land, with an old farmhouse. The latter has been remodeled in such a way as to make it ideal for the purposes of the club. There are running brooks and a projected lake 200 by 100 yards, which will furnish water hazards. In winter the lake will be used for curling and skating.

The present length of the course, which has been laid out by George and John Langlands, is 6,114 yards, 2,914 going out and 3,200 returning, and according to the printed score card the bogey for the course is 37 out and 41 in for a total of 78.

New York people will find Somerville convenient, as the course is only an hour out, and there are frequent trains. The social side is not to be neglected, and it is expected that over week-ends the patronage will be liberal.

In the course of another season there will be a schedule of competitions as obtains at nearly all clubs. In fact, even at this early stage events have been arranged and are being run off weekly under the supervision of E. E. Gano, who has the difficult task of keeping track of the handicaps.

CUE STARS IN LEAGUE.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 28 (Special).—The National Three-Cushion Billiard League, organized last year, opens its second season tonight with contests between Boston and Pittsburgh players in this city. The league circuit comprises New York, Brooklyn, Boston and Philadelphia, in the East, and Pittsburgh, Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City, in the West. The schedule provides for three games every two weeks in each city, the season to close the second week in April. Last year only amateur players were allowed to compete, but this year it has been decided to admit the professionals and it is expected that such stars as De-Oro, Anson Kling and others will take part.

CANADA'S THANKSGIVING.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 28 (Special).—Toronto, together with all other cities and towns throughout Canada, today observed Thanksgiving Day. Business was largely suspended, and a holiday aspect was generally in evidence. Numerous athletic and sporting events featured the celebration in the larger cities.

SOCCER TEAM PLAYED IN BAD LUCK AND LOST

Plainfielders Recovered Their Stride, But Kingsley's Got Close Game.

Although recovering to their usual stride, the Plainfield soccer team had luck against them Saturday, and were defeated by the fast traveling Kingsley F. C. to the tune of 1 to 0, in an Inter-City Soccer League game. The loss of the contest marks the second successive defeat for the locals.

In Brown, the Kingsley's goal, the locals found a tartar. Repeated well aimed kicks, traveling through the air, or skidding along the ground, with speed and directness, were blocked by him with apparent ease. It was the best exhibition of playing in this difficult position seen on the grounds this season. The lone point of the game was made in the first few minutes of play, both teams battling the remainder of the contest unable to score.

Winning the toss, the locals chose the east goal with the wind in their favor. At the start the ball was kicked back and forth in the centre of the field, with the home players the aggressors. Kingsley managed to get the ball in their opponent's territory, however, on a long kick by Rush, and a hot scrimmage in front of the uprights, netted the visitors the first and only score of the game. The goal was made by Martin.

The remaining part of the half witnessed some good playing with the locals the aggressors, but due to poor aim, and the good "saving" of the Kingsley goal, they were unable to score. Heaume missed a penalty kick, shortly before the whistle blew.

In the second session the Plainfielders started out with a rush, which threatened disaster for the visitors, keeping the sphere almost continually in the Kingsley team's territory, but the work of Brown was again in evidence. Repeated attempts for goals failed by the closest margins. Kenney missed a penalty kick, sending the ball wide of the posts. T. Gardner also failed on a penalty kick, the ball "aeroplaning" over the cross bar.

The playing of Hendry at left wing for the locals was a revelation to his teammates. He is a new player and will fill a vacancy in the lineup which is sure to strengthen the Plainfielders' play. McNiece and Heaume also starred throughout the contest, and if they had received the benefit of the "breays" a different score would have resulted.

The lineup:

P. H. S. HAD GOOD TIME, BUT LOST

Phillipsburg Eleven Gives Local Team a Good Time After Winning 13 to 0.

GREEN AND GOOD STAR

P. H. S. Team Does Well Under Difficulties—Outweighed to the Man—McDowell Looses Two Good Opportunities to Score.

Although P. H. S. came back from Phillipsburg, Saturday night, with the smaller end of a 13 to 0 score, the local schoolboys put up a wonderful game considering the odds they were forced to fight against. The more pessimistic of High School rooters had been speculating all during the previous week as to the outcome of this all important game and when the 17 to 0 beating dealt out to last year's P. H. S. eleven was brought into consideration it did not seem as though the lighter and less experienced team of this year would have a look-in. Every fellow on the team set out for Phillipsburg Saturday with a firm determination to wipe out this prevalent idea and they certainly accomplished their end, if the expressions of wonderment on the faces of ardent P. H. S. followers when they saw the result in black and white on the Daily Press score board Saturday night, go to show anything in regard to their innermost feelings. Nor does the score of 13 to 0 show how hard the home team was really pressed. P. H. S. was outweighed almost ten pounds to the man and their opponents had a line that has held like iron against such formidable foes as the scholastic teams of Greater New York, Orange and Newark.

Straight line bucking to gain distance was practically out of the questionand Captain Van Zandt exhausted his supply of trick plays and formations and reeled off signals for every play that has been mastered during long weeks of practice in an effort to cross the goal line. P. H. S. had the ball across in one instance only to have it brought out because of a technicality. Numerous forward passes were tried by the local team but in each instance the effort went for naught as the opposing ends were either down on them or else had blocked the man to receive the ball.

There were two players who Quarterback Van Zandt could rely upon to gain a certain amount of distance. Saturday afternoon, however, and these two shining lights were Monroe Good and "Midget" Green. These two players loom up as the long and the short of the P. H. S. eleven and it would be hard to state which played the better game. In speaking with a Phillipsburg newspaper man over the wire Saturday night, the latter was enthusiastic in his praise of these two warriors' work and he said that if every player on the visiting eleven had put up the same grade of football, Phillipsburg would have been on the minus end. Good's crashing blows at the line and Green's squirming and twisting in and out between the opposing tacklers were Plainfield's lone hopes of gaining distance.

Considering the fact that this was only the second game of the season for P. H. S. their playing was fully as good as could be expected. Phillipsburg rooters turned out to the number of 2,000 and the rooting was enough to win a game for any eleven. The Plainfield players were treated royally by their rival hosts and lingered about the city long after the game was finished "seeing the sights."

WILLIAM P. TAYLOR IS PARK GOLF CLUB CHAMPION

William P. Taylor, who won the fall championship at the Park Golf Club, and R. V. Carpenter, who won the spring championship at the club, met in the finals, Saturday, for the championship of the club. Mr. Taylor was the winner, defeating his opponent by 6 up and 5 to play. The match was a close one throughout. In the weekly competition for the President's and Oakmont cups, these cards were returned for the day:

COUNTRY CLUB GOLFERS IN TEAM DINNER MATCH

Members of the Plainfield Country Club engaged in a team match, a foursome, at the club, Saturday afternoon, the losing team to pay for a dinner. The teams were known as A and B, and the latter won out by a score of 6 to 3. Only one team on the opposing side scored and that was A. J. Watson and H. E. Butler. They tallied three points. The summary:

Team A—Wylie Brown and Roy Cox, 0; S. H. Patterson and J. L. Fleming, 0; A. W. Andrews and M. J. Dumont, 0; A. J. Watson and H. E. Butler, 3; total, 3.

Team B—Owen H. Fleming and E. A. Lyon, 3; Frank O. Reinhart and E. J. Warren, 3; J. R. Greason and G. F. Schoonmaker, 0; O. W. Gott and H. R. Stockton, 0; total, 6.

CENTRAL LEAGUE MEETING.

Ft. Wayne, Ind., Oct. 28 (Special).—Club owners of the Central League of baseball clubs rounded up here today for their annual meeting. Much important business is slated for transaction. From a financial viewpoint the past season was not a very successful one for the Central and it is regarded as likely that the twelve-club circuit may be cut to eight clubs before next spring. Dr. F. R. Carson, of South Bend, who has been at the head of the league for many years, is to retire from the presidency. Louis Heilbrenner, of this city, probably will be named to succeed him.

JIM SAVAGE A WONDER ONE NIGHT, QUITS THE NEXT.

Jim Savage, a heavyweight pugilist, who works out of Orange, N. J., submitted proof recently that all fighters who bandy gloves are not game. Savage quit to Gunboat Smith at a New York club in three rounds. A few weeks previous he had knocked out Tom Kennedy in a fight that showed Savage as a master boxer and a wonder of a fighter. Occasionally Savage displays wonderful form. Other times he will seek a soft spot on the slightest provocation.

Sailor Burke and Frank Moran are of the same type as Savage, only they cannot fight as well as Savage when the latter is on a good streak.

BIG CUE TOURNEY NOV. 11.

Much Money Will Be Hung Up For 18.2 Balk Line Masters.

Announcement has been made that the tournament to revive the world's billiard championship at 18.2 will start Nov. 11 in New York. Each player must pay an entrance fee of $250. In addition to the championship trophy there will be $3,000 in prize money, to which will be added the entrance fee and the net gate receipts.

The winner will receive 40 per cent of this total and the next three contestants will receive, respectively, 30, 20 and 10 per cent. All ties must be played off.

Each game will consist of 500 points, subject to the playing rules at present governing this style of game. The winner of the emblem will be required to defend the title subject to the rules governing the championship.

Hoppe, Morningstar, Sutton, Cline, Demarest, Slosson and Cutler are probable entries from this country, and it is hoped that Cassignol, the French player, will compete. Yamada, a Japanese player, also may enter.

There is also a possibility that Clarence Jackson of Chicago may try for the title. This protege of the veteran Thomas Foley has rounded into a great player since he left the amateurs some years since.

GOOD COACHING TELLS.

Small Football Teams Make Big Eleven Sit Up and Take Notice.

Last season the big football elevens found it difficult to defeat the teams from smaller colleges. The rules were blamed. But were the rules entirely responsible for the disappointments which big teams suffered last season? The writer thinks not.

Each year the big universities—Pennsylvania, Princeton, Yale and Harvard—graduate stars of the football world. Many of these men are willing to obtain the big salary which comes to the man who coaches a successful football eleven. They go to the small college, employ the system which they learned at their alma mater and soon have a winner.

Notable examples are Bill Hollenback and Bob Folwell of Pennsylvania. There are many others. A decade ago the small college had no coach from the big university. The physical director or a graduate taught the football men the little he knew. Now, with the advent of the coaches from the big universities, the so called "little teams" are learning football. And in many cases they have the material to execute their lessons.

Australia to Back Sculler Pearce.

Australia is raising by public subscription a fund to send Harry Pearce, champion professional sculler of Australia, to England in quest of a match with Ernest Barry, who won the title from Richard Arnst. Pearce has rowed six times for the championship of his own country and Arnst has the only win against him in a match for the world's title.

Middle West Bowling Tourney.

The middle west bowling tourney is the first of the sectional tenpin bodies to prepare for its annual championships. They are to be held in Kansas City, Nov. 27 to Dec. 9.

RAHWAY TRADE BOARD BANQUET IS ARRANGED

Rahway, Oct. 28.—In celebration of its first anniversary, the Rahway Board of Trade will hold a banquet Thursday night at the Rahway Hotel.

Addresses will be made by United States Senator James E. Martine. Representative William E. Tuttle, of the Fifth Congressional District; E. McLane Harding, consulting engineer for the Montgomery terminal, which is about to be erected at the mouth of the Rahway River, and Curtis R. Burnett, president of the Newark Board of Trade. Mr. Burnett will speak on "Deep Waterways."

The Board of Trade was organized a year ago with a membership of nearly 200. Among its achievements are park improvements to add to the attractiveness of the city. It was also instrumental in securing an appropriation from Congress for a survey preliminary to the deepening and widening the Rahway River.

Arrangements for the banquet are in charge of a committee composed of Edward J. Heath, chairman; Arthur R. Wendell, Captain R. F. Cross, Rev. R. W. Elliott, William H. Cloke and William H. Davis.

T. R. MEN IN UNION SCORE G. O. P. WASTE

Elizabeth, Oct. 28.—Waste of the county's money on the part of the Republican county officials and the neglecting of their official duties during political campaigns are charged by Progressive candidates for the small Board of Freeholders who have been conducting a "probe" for some days past.

Charles A. Trimble, one of the Progressive candidates for the board, has been especially active in obtaining what he believes to be evidence of the misuse of the people's time and money on the part of county officials.

Just now County Clerk Calvert's office is the especial mark for the Progressives' shafts.

Mr. Trimble says in his platform that he favors the abolition of the registrar's office, which he calls a useless expenditure, and also wants the office of county engineer placed on a salary. As it is now County Engineer Jacob Bauer receives a large amount of fees.

The Progressives, whether they win or not, are making a strenuous campaign so far as the short Board of Freeholders is concerned. On the other hand the Republican leaders are devoting practically all their efforts toward the election of their freeholder candidates, ignoring the rest of the ticket, both national and municipal. They say they will elect two Republican Assemblymen at least.

ADRIANOPLE IS SWEPT BY FIRE

Scutari Bombarded; Famine Threatens City.

BULGARS PRESS FORWARD.

Turkish Troops In Aeroplane Kill Hundreds—Said That Turks Have Lost 10,000 or More—Bulgars' Successes Astonish Europe.

London, Oct. 28.—Although a heavy fog is interfering with the effectiveness of the fire of the Montenegrin artillery, the bombardment of Scutari continues. Owing to the terrific rains, which have made the nearby country a quaginire, the Montenegrin infantry was compelled to advance almost waist deep in mud. They nevertheless captured several important strategic positions overlooking the town at bayonet point.

The Turkish deserters report that Scutari is on the verge of famine. Bread is $3 a loaf. The Turkish troops, demoralized, are looting houses in search for food. I learn that the Servians, having captured Uskub, are now marching on Prizrind.

If this place is taken the Turks will be hemmed in by the Montenegrins on one side and by the Servians on the other, with almost no chance to escape.

Adrianople In Flames.

In flames, cut off from supplies and sheltering thousands of wounded, the city of Adrianople is reported to be in a desperate plight and her troubles are about to be increased by the running out of the twenty-four hour ultimatum of the Balkan state allies, whose armies ring round the apparently doomed city.

The Bulgarians, confident and bold from their repeated successes, trained their field guns in a terrific bombardment of the ancient fortress. Their confidence was increased by the knowledge that they were in complete possession of Turkish documents outlining the proposed Ottoman campaign. These fell into their hands at the capture of Kirk-Kilise.

The last link was forged in the chain about Adrianople by the dispatch of a column against the city from the west, and now from every point of the compass the Balkan soldiers watch the conflagrations in many parts of the city. A Turkish aeroplane is said to be throwing bombs among the Bulgarian troops with deadly effect. The Turks, however, have lost 10,000 or more, killed or wounded, in meeting the Bulgarian attacks.

Turkish Fire Ineffectual.

The fire of the Turkish artillery is said to be ineffectual, while the city is falling in ruins before the well directed guns of the Bulgarians. But the circle of twenty-five Turkish forts still holds, even if the city itself is reduced to a mass of debris. Military experts say, however, that the city cannot stand an investment of more than a month.

While the Bulgarians continue to astonish Europe by their successes in the Adrianople section of Thrace, the Turks in the west are in still more desperate plight.

TO SILENCE CHURCH BELLS.

Cardinal Gibbons Ignores Appeals In Antinoise Crusade.

Baltimore, Oct. 28.—While Walter Kelly, one of Baltimore's leading physicians, is conducting an antivice crusade Dr. Watson is engineering an antinoise crusade. Many old fashioned citizens are associated in the latter movement, which aims to silence factory whistles, church bells and all kinds of noises, industrial and otherwise.

Both crusades have aroused controversies, particularly the antinoise agitation. An appeal has been made to Cardinal Gibbons to have the Catholic churches silence their chimes, but the cardinal has taken no action.

The Rev. Father Wade, pastor of Sts. Philip and James Catholic church, in one of the most fashionable parts of the city, has, however, directed that no bells be rung for the early masses. This is the first church to respond to the antinoise society's appeal.

SLAIN WOMAN IDENTIFIED.

Housekeeper Who Carried Much Money Probably Killed by Robber.

St. Louis, Oct. 28.—A woman's body found Saturday was identified as that of Bridget Calnahan, sixty-five years old. It is believed she was murdered in an effort to get possession of a large sum of money she was reputed to carry on her person.

The woman was born in Kerry county, Ireland, but had lived for years in St. Louis. She had no home, but had worked at various places as housekeeper and caretaker. She was last seen alive about six weeks ago, when she separated from a woman friend with whom she had temporarily been living, and went in search of work.

Auto Kills Jersey City Boy.

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 28.—Sorolick Sepenuck, three years old, son of Joseph Sepenuck of 224 York street, Jersey City, was killed by the automobile of Adam Stelp of 137 Railroad avenue, Jersey City, a tailor. The automobile was driven by Stelp's son, William, twenty-one years old.

PARTY ROW, SHOT FIRED; TO ARREST THREE BOYS

Red Bank, Oct. 28.—Warrants were issued Saturday by Recorder Harry C. Badeau, on complaint of Chief of Police Arthur L. Wymbs, for the arrest of Walter Bennett, better known as "Katie;" Jacob Eurich, Jr., and Ellwood Wymbs, nephew of the chief. The warrants charge the boys with being disorderly and using indecent language on the streets and at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Comstock, of Spring street, here, Wednesday night.

The trouble started when a number of Red Bank young men attended a party at the Comstock home that night. It is alleged that the three who are sought, ranging in age from seventeen to nineteen years, attended the party uninvited, in an intoxicated condition, and that when a fight was started, one of the three drew a revolver and shot at Charles Longstreet, of Red Bank. The shot went wild.

The gunman is known to the police. It is likely that a charge of carrying concealed weapons will be made against one of the boys. An investigation will also be made as to where the boys purchased the intoxicating liquor.

WRECKER MAKES ANOTHER ATTEMPT ON BLACK DIAMOND

Allentown, Pa., Oct. 28.—The entire Lehigh Valley Railroad detective force in this section is at work in an attempt to solve a second mysterious attempt to wreck the Black Diamond Express, the company's crack train from New York to Buffalo, soon after it left the Allentown station last evening.

Early in the summer the train struck a spike that had been wedged in a frog at Phillipsburg, and there is a standing reward of $500 for the capture of the perpetrator of the crime. At that time the engine was derailed, but little damage was done.

Yesterday soon after the train left the Allentown station, it struck a large stone that had been fastened into a crossover switch; the pony trucks of the engine were derailed, and the train ran more than 400 yards before the engineer discovered that there was anything wrong.

It is considered almost miraculous that the coaches were not derailed, with probable loss of life. Railroad officials fear that a maniac is responsible for the attempts.

The daily passage of the Black Diamond Express is one of the events of South Plainfield. The fate of the train is a matter of grave concern to the villagers in the fact that South Plainfield is on the main line of the Lehigh Valley.

DISTRICT EPWORTHIANS ELECT AT FLEMINGTON

Flemington, Oct. 28.—These officers were elected at the twenty-second annual convention of the Elizabeth district of the Epworth League held in the Methodist church here: President, Ralph I. Vervoort, of Westfield; vice president, W. W. Rogers, of Elizabeth; corresponding secretary, H. P. Porter, of Bound Brook; recording secretary, A. F. Hoffman, of Somerville; treasurer, R. B. Pountney, of Elizabeth; superintendent of Junior League, Mrs. E. L. Lillibridge, of Roselle Park; superintendent of world evangelism, Miss M. Elizabeth Bagg, of Somerville.

Rev. Dr. Wilbur F. Sheridan, general secretary of the Epworth League, spoke on "The Troop in 'Teens."

The department conferences were conducted by Rev. C. E. Scudder, superintendent of the Junior League, Newark Conference, and Miss Bagg.

The session opened with a prayer and praise service, conducted by Clarence A. Titus. The children's choir connected with the church furnished music, and the principal address was delivered by Rev. Dr. Wilbur F. Sheridan, who talked on "The Threefold Mission of the Epworth League."

Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, the district superintendent, presided at the morning session and conducted the devotional services. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Rev. J. H. E. Schultz, pastor of the church, and Roy Bellis, president of the local Epworth League. Mr. Vervoort responded for the district organization. About 100 delegates attended.

NOT EVERY MAN OF 21 HAS A RIGHT TO VOTE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 (Special).—According to figures gathered by the Bureau of Statistics, upwards of 15,000,000 citizens of the United States will record their votes for President in the election one week from tomorrow. A total of about 1,400,000 women, in the States of California, Colorado, Idaho, Washington, Utah and Wyoming, are eligible to vote.

By no means all the men of twenty-one in the country are qualified voters, for the varying laws of the States not only bar convicts in the prisons in most cases, but place other restrictions on suffrage that become exceedingly important in presidential years.

As nearly every State bars convicts from voting and there are about 150,000 convicts in the prisons of the country election day will mean nothing to a whole army of them.

Nearly all of the States penalize pauperism, idiocy, insanity and felony by taking away the voting privilege. In addition, a number of the States debar delinquent taxpayers from the right of suffrage.

United States soldiers, sailors and marines are not qualified to vote in Arkansas, Indiana, Iowa, South Dakota, Texas and New Mexico.

Florida and Wisconsin place a ban on "duellists" and Idaho and Mississippi deny the right of voting to bigamists and polygamists. A voter in Wyoming must be able to read the State Constitution in the English language. In Maine, Michigan, Montana, South Dakota and Washington special restrictions are placed on the voting privileges of Indians.

HAGUE COURT TO DECIDE.

The Hague, Oct. 28 (Special).—The Hague international court of arbitration today took up for consideration and settlement a dispute between Russia and Turkey of more than thirty years' standing. The point at issue concerns the payment of interest on the indemnity due to Russia by Turkey as a result of the war of 1877-78.

VENEZUELA REMEMBERS.

Caracas, Venezuela, Oct. 28 (Special).—The 129th anniversary of the birth of Simon Bolivar, who liberated Venezuela from the domination of Spain, was observed throughout the republic today. Bolivar's birthday is the only national holiday in Venezuela and is as generally observed as is the Fourth of July in the United States.

Montclair Youth Went to Cuba For Health.

CABLE DEEPENS MYSTERY.

United States Officials Blamed For Not Finding Richard K. Holbrook—They Were Asked by Family to Make a Search, but Could Not Get Any Information.

Montclair, N. J., Oct. 28.—Publication of a notice of the death of Richard Killin Holbrook in Havana, Cuba, is the latest development in the mysterious disappearance of a well known young man, a graduate of the Montclair high school and a brother of Theodore S. Holbrook of 11 Burnside street, this city.

Holbrook, who was twenty-two years old, left Montclair last February for Cuba. Only a short time before he had come into possession of his share of his dead father's estate, and he intended to stay in Cuba for several months for the benefit of his health.

Arriving in Havana he purchased a saddle horse, on which, he told in his letters home, he made trips in and about the Cuban capital. In April the letters ceased coming, and the young man's relatives became alarmed at his silence.

About that time Cuba was in a troubled state, owing to the activity of insurrectionists, and it was feared that young Holbrook, riding about on a horse, might have been mistaken for a Cuban officer and assassinated.

Theodore S. Holbrook of Montclair and another brother, who lives in Rutherford, made every effort to ascertain the cause of the young man's mysterious silence. They communicated with the Cuban authorities and United States consular agents in Havana and other Cuban cities, but no information could be obtained. According to the American consular officials, there was absolutely no trace of Holbrook.

On Friday the young man's brother received a brief cable from the head of a Cuban hospital stating simply that Holbrook had died in the institution of enteric fever on May 9.

Holbrook's relatives are greatly distressed and feel aggrieved at the failure of the American government representatives in Cuba to locate the young man.

Members of Holbrook's family believe that inasmuch as the young man died in a hospital a diligent effort on the part of the American representatives in Cuba would have resulted in his whereabouts being revealed in time for them to go to him before he died.

They think he must have been in the hospital for two or three weeks before his death, and his identification should have been easy if the authorities were duly concerned about the matter.

ATTACKED BY CRAZY COOK.

Wounded Captain and His Mate Leap Overboard From Negro Assailant.

Gibbstown, N. J., Oct. 28.—Wounded by the bullets and club of a crazy negro cook, W. F. Springfield, captain of a lumber sloop, and his mate, Percy Davis, leaped overboard from their boat in the middle of the Delaware river opposite Gibbstown in order to escape their murderous assailant.

Captain Springfield swam half a mile to shore, while the mate, who was shot through one lung, was picked up by the tender of a passing vessel. Both men are now in Chester (Pa.) hospital in a serious condition from loss of blood and exposure. Their assailant was taken to the Gloucester county jail at Woodbury, N. J., with his leg shattered by a load from a shotgun fired by a fisherman when he beached the sloop and tried to get away.

ADOPTS HER OWN DAUGHTER.

Newark Mother Signs Papers Executed by Child's Stepfather.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 28.—Mrs. Solomon H. Stern of this city adopted her own eight-year-old daughter Suzanne. The adoption papers were signed before Judge Martin in the orphans' court.

Suzanne's father died four years ago, and less than a year later her mother married Mr. Stern. He decided to adopt Suzanne as his own child, and as the adoption papers read "by Solomon H. Stern and his wife, Anna," it was necessary for the child's mother to sign as well as her new father. Suzanne's father was Walter L. Fuchs.

NUGENT IS NOT INDICTED.

City Counsel and Alderman Archibald Violated No Law.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 28.—The grand jury of Essex county announced that it had not found indictments against City Counsel James R. Nugent of this city and Alderman Alexander Archibald. They were alleged to have been involved in a fracas primary night. Charges were made of attacking two county detectives with a blackjack and rescuing two uniformed policemen who had been arrested by the detectives for alleged irregularities at the polling place.

SAYS WILSON IS M'KINLEY'S HEIR

Republican at Democratic Meeting Asserts Governor Represents Old G. O. P.

BIG RALLY IN BOROUGH

Martine Predicts That Forty-two States Will go for Democratic Presidential Nominee—Doughty Decries the Tariff.

The Democrats of North Plainfield rallied enthusiastically in large numbers at Saengerbund Hall, last night, under the auspices of the Wilson and Marshall Club. Councilmanic Candidate Perkins presided.

Conspicuous among the speakers was Delevan A. Holmes, of North Plainfield, who for years has been voting the straight Republican ticket, but who last night sounded the praises of Governor Wilson and called for his hearty support. He said he was still a Republican, and stands for the things that good Republicans in the time of McKinley stood for, but that the present Republican party had drifted from the old policies and not he from the party.

Senator James E. Martine, who was slated to speak following an address he made in Elizabeth, did not arrive until the gathering was filing from the hall. As he mearched down the aisle he called out, "Boys, the trend toward Wilson is catching in every State in the Union like a bad case of measles—it's wonderful."

Asked for his prediction of the outcome of the election he said, "Governor Wilson, I predict, will carry forty and possibly forty-two States in the Union."

The first speaker introduced by Mr. Perkins was J. McNaught, a newspaper man of New York, and an orator touring the East for the Democratic Committee. He spoke at length on the tariff, saying it was an unfair and unnecessary tax on the working people.

James Walter Doughty gave an interesting address on the tariff, high cost of living and trust questions, and dilated on the reforms the Democrats promise if put in office. He told of the organization of the Steel Trust and other monopolies, and asserted the exorbitant protective tariff gave them their opportunity for lawlessness.

In conclusion he said, "Woodrow Wilson is the peer of any candidate placed before the Democratic voters in generations, and can be compared favorably with Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson and Abraham Lincoln."

Judges Holmes' opening remarks were that Governor Wilson was the first man to champion Republican policies since the time of William McKinley. He spoke in favor of tariff for protection of young and struggling industries, as was done immediately after the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812.

"But when these industries form monopolies in the restraint of trade and stretch out like a giant octopus and grab the throats of the people, it is time for the tariff bars to be taken down. The failure of the Republicans to perform this duty for you, is the reason I leave their ranks. Fellow Republicans forget the past, it is the future that holds forth reward."

Allan B. Walsh, candidate for congress, and A. M. Beekman, running for Assemblyman, were the concluding speakers. They promised faithful service in the interest of the people, if elected.

CRITICALLY ILL.

So serious is the condition of Joseph Angerbauer, who has been at Muhlenberg Hospital since he was injured on Oct. 9, that none but members of his family are permitted to see him. The physician entertains little hope for his recovery particularly because of his advanced age. Mr. Angerbauer is 74 years old, probably the oldest employe of the city, and is highly respected.

AUTOIST CLEARED.

City Judge De Meza has dismissed the case against John J. Daly, who was held in $300 bail, to await the result of injuries he caused to Wilson Terrel, 15 years old, October 20, when the automobile which he was driving on Clinton avenue, struck the boy who was riding a bicycle. It was an unavoidable accident.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE.

Judge Clifford B. Smith, C. S. B., member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, will give a free lecture on "Christian Science," at the Plainfield theatre, Thursday night, at 8 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

F. A. PARSONS TO LECTURE.

Frank Alvah Parsons will lecture tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, 537 East Front street, on the subject of "The Choice and Use of Color in th Home." This will be the second of a series of three lectures by Mr. Parsons.

CANDIDATE SAYS HE WILL AVOID POLITICS

That is to Say, the "Political" Kind, Asserts Mr. Dilts.

The Democrats of the city under the auspices of the Wilson and Marshall Club, held two street meetings, last night, one at West Fourth and Liberty streets, and the other at Lee place and West Third street. R. A. Claybrook acted as chairman at both meetings and the speakers were Percy H. Stewart, candidate for mayor; Frank Cullen, candidate for Council in the Fourth ward; Daniel P. Couraine, candidate for Council in the Third ward; George Tyler Smith, candidate for Council in the Second ward; J. O. Schinkel, candidate for city treasurer, and J. V. F. Dilts, candidate for tax collector. Both meetings were well attended.

Mr. Stewart reaffirmed his previous declarations that if elected he would give his time and attention to the office of Mayor, that the city would get one hundred cents on the dollar in all contracts, and that so far as possible with him he would give the city an economical government along business lines.

Frank Cullen said that he had been a resident of the Fourth ward thirty years, believed he knew the needs of the ward and if elected would strive to give the people of that section a fair and honest representation in the City Council.

Daniel J. Couraine, from the Third ward, declared that if elected he would represent the city in the Council to the best of his ability and would give his undivided attention to municipal affairs. George Tyler Smith reiterated the sentiments of the other speakers. J. O. Schinkel in making an appeal for votes assured those who heard him that if chosen city treasurer he would give the city honest service.

Mr. Dilts said that while it was embarrassing to talk about himself, he believed it to be his duty to tell the voters what he would do and would not do if elected as tax collector. He said that the duties of the office are clearly defined by law and if successful he would administer the duties according to law. The speaker said that he would be courteous and obliging to those who have business with the office, and would be thorough in the management of the office.

Mr. Dilts declared that he would not get a "big head" if elected; he would mind his own business by attending to the business of the office as the people desire. He said he would not lend his services to any man or group of men for political purposes and would not do an unworthy act or deceive the people to get votes. In conclusion he said his election must come without any promises, other than that he would give the best service possible. He said that his life was an open book and if successful he would not close it after election.

The schedule of meetings for the rest of the week follow: Wednesday night, Third street and Monroe avenue, Clinton avenue and West Front street. Thursday evening, Polish Hall, East Front and Washington streets. Friday evening, Netherwood Station, Berckman and East Sixth streets. Monday night, November 4, East Third and Richmond streets; Watchung avenue and East Fifth street, New and West Fifth streets, West Third street and Plainfield avenue. Mr. Stewart and the local candidates will speak at all of these meetings.

WHAT PARTIES PROMISE TO DO

Four Platforms Explained to Women of Current Events Circle.

MR. TUTTLE IS PLEASED

Democratic Congressman Openly Rejoices at the Opportunity to Expound Party Doctrine Without an Atmosphere of Tobacco Smoke.

Representatives of four political parties appeared before an audience of several hundred women in Vincent chapel of the First M. E. church, yesterday afternoon, and expounded the principles of each as set forth in the party platform. It was an unusual gathering, and that women are alive to the political topics of the day was shown by the large number present.

This fact so impressed Congressman W. E. Tuttle, one of the speakers, that he frankly admitted that it was refreshing to get away from cigar smoke and to soberly and temperately discuss politics before such an audience.

The meeting was the first of a series arranged by the current event circle of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, which are intended to be purely educational. The speakers were Congressman Tuttle, representing the Democratic party; William N. Runyon, his opponent for office, representing the Republican party; Fred S. Taggert, representing the Progressives, and Joseph Gilder, of New York, representing the Socialist party.

Mrs. M. H. Ewart, chairman of the committee in charge, presided and briefly told the purpose of this meeting and the others to follow during the winter months. She explained that the speakers for the afternoon would simply present the platform of the various parties and explain the chief-points in each one and that it was not intended to be in any sense a political meeting.

Congressman Tuttle was the first speaker. He assured the women that no matter who was elected President the country would not go to the dogs, neither would its progress be stopped. He touched upon taxation, the child labor law, State rights, income tax, pensions, the present election law in the State, adding that New Jersey is assured as pure an election as is to be found anywhere. He emphasized the principle of tariff for revenue only, and advocated a

WILLIAM R. TOWNSEND RELIES ON HIS RECORD

In the advertising columns today, William R. Townsend, the Republican nominee for re-election as tax collector, makes an appeal for the support of the voters. He reviews his connection with that office and says: "'Public office is a public trust' and without any spirit of vanity I refer to my record as one of your servants. I have conscientiously tried to do my duty and I have always been at the command of the taxpayer in my line of duty. If you consider me worthy of the trust reposed in me, if you believe I have been a faithful public servant of a public corporation, I take this means to solicit your support."

There has never been any question as to Mr. Townsend's efficiency in the office he holds.

TRYING TO DO AWAY WITH N. Y. EXCHANGE

New Jersey Banks Seek Elimination of Charge on Checks.

For some time past the question of the exchange charged by the New York Clearing House banks on checks on New Jersey banks has been a serious one to many of the institutions of this State which have been compelled to let much of their business go to New York banks which could have been retained had this charge been eliminated.

One of the first financial institutions in this section to obviate the difficulty was The Plainfield Trust Company which has been offering its depositors a New York checking privilege—or, in other words, has allowed certain customers to make their checks on the company payable at one of the large New York banks, thus giving them New York exchange and avoiding the Clearing House charge.

In the interests of the many other banks in the State which have not had such an arrangement the matter was taken up by the New Jersey Bankers Association at their meeting last May and a committee on Inland Exchange was appointed, of which H. H. Pond, secretary and treasurer of The Plainfield Trust Company, is chairman, it being the object of this committee to enlist the co-operation of the New York Clearing House to the end that checks on various points in New Jersey might be accepted at par in New York. Mr. Pond, representing the New Jersey Bankers Association, together with its president, W. M. Van Deusen, of Newark, held a conference yesterday with the New York Clearing House committee, which consists of the following:

James G. Cannon, president of the Fourth National Bank, New York; Walter E. Frew, president of the Corn Exchange Bank, New York; J. W. Platten, president of the U. S. Mortgage and Trust Co., New York; Edward Towensend, president of the Importers and Traders National Bank, New York; Joseph C. Talbert, vice president of the National City Bank of New York.

While no definite action was taken at yesterday's meeting, the fact that the question is being agitated is a step forward and may lead to a satisfactory reciprocal arrangement between the banks of New Jersey and the Clearing House committee.

TWO-SESSION PLAN OPPOSED BY PARENTS

Petition to Abolish it Sent to Borough Board of Education.

The probable formation of a Parent-Teacher Association and the recent change from one to two sessions in the sixth grades formed the principal subjects before the Board of Education of North Plainfield last night.

Mrs. Lina Sanford, of Plainfield, prominent as an organizer of Parent-Teacher associations in New Jersey, gave a detailed outline of the policies and the benefits derived from organizations of this character. Mrs. H. E. Parker also spoke convincingly on the project and it is probable that the matter will be taken up at an early date.

Councilman Edmund Rushmore wrote to the board protesting against the change from single to double session for Sixth grade pupils, and presented a petition which contained the signatures of 81 parents out of an enrollment of pupils numbering 132, showing that practically 61 per cent. of the parents of Sixth grade school children desire the one-session school day in preference to the recent change.

Following the rtading of Mr. Rushmore's petition, Samuel S. Swackhamer, a lawyer of this city, took the floor and spoke vigorously in the support of the double session now in operation. His chief reason for his opinion was that a long single session was too heavy a strain on a growing child.

Supervising Principal Vossler presented a report to the Board members dealing with various educational matters of the North Plainfield schools, which included a statement that the change in the sessions was proving of decided benefit in the amount of work acomplished in the grades. Mr. Rushmore's petition was laid over for further consideration.

Supervising Principal Vossler's report, which contained many suggestions for the betterment of educational conditions in North Plainfield, will be further considered at an adjourned meeting of the Board of Education to be held November 8.

CRANE ON WATER AND SEWERAGE QUESTIONS

Nominee Tells Where He Stands—for Garbage Collection.

William R. Codington, candidate for mayor, and U. B. Crane, candidate for Council in the First ward, were speakers at the second of a series of street meetings held at East Third and Richmond streets, last night, under the auspices of the Republican City Executive Committee. A crowd of about seventy-five people gathered to hear the spell-binders

Mr. Crane told where he stood on certain important questions. He said that if it could be shown that municipal ownership of water was for the best interests of the city he favored that plan. He said that he favored the present course being followed by the Council in the sewage matter, and he was in favor of a municipal system for the collection of garbage and ashes.

The candidates spoke yesterday noon at Scott's press works and today at Potter's press works. Tonight there will be a meeting at Watchung avenue and Fifth street at 8 o'clock, another at Franklin place and East Seventh street at 8:15 and a third one at the Netherwood Station, at which the local candidates will speak.

ENDRESS FAVORS A DIRECT ROUTE

Holt's Arguments for Indirect Sewerage Line Put Under Fire.

"INGENIOUS FIGURING"

Cost of Right of Way Should Have Been Included in Calculations on Indirect Route, Says Mr. Endress—Also Stations.

In support of the direct route for the sewerage system, Councilman Fred Endress has sent the following communication to the Daily Press in answer to Councilman F. L. Holt's arguments in favor of the indirect route:

"In answer to Mr. Holt's article, which appeared in the 'Daily Press' of recent date, defending the action of the Plainfield Council in adopting the indirect route for the sewer trunk line, I wish to bring out some facts that will entirely disprove the figures and arguments that he uses in defence of this very round-about method of reaching the disposal works. In the first place, by very ingenuous figuring, Mr. Holt estimates an annual saving of $1,669, but in doing this, he charges the direct route with the continuous operation of the pump at the disposal works, whereas this pump was originally designed 'to be used when needed.' I quote from the the original plan. He neglects to charge the indirect route with the cost of right of way, which, figured at only $1 per foot, will amount to $12,600, and when it is considered that the water company pays this amount as a minimum rate, and in some instances much more than this for a similar privilege, this is a moderate estimate. Then add possible damage suits, say $25,000, which brings the total to $37,600. Again, he fails to charge the indirect route with two pumping stations at an original cost of $10,000 each, and a maintenance charge of $800 per annum, which will be required in the vicinities of Sycamore avenue and of Clinton avenue, to deliver sewage from these points to the starting point of the indirect route. These pumping stations must be maintained forever, Plainfield paying the annual charge if this indirect route is adopted, whereas both of these stations may be eliminated if the 1909 direct route were adopted, as shown as route No. 3 in map on page nine. And further, Mr. Holt neglects to credit the direct route with a saving for excavation, which Mr. Gavett has stated would be about $50,000. North Plainfield is badly in need of sewer facilities, but I do not think they should be obtained at Plainfield's expense, and I think it is high time that the taxpayers of the City of Plainfield, who are to pay 68% of the cost of this work, took an active interest in the proper solution of the problem.

"My only intention is to save the taxpayers' money, which in my opinion, is being shamefully wasted by the plan now before the State Board of Health. Taxpayers, wake up, before it is too late.

"Sincerely,
"FRED ENDRESS."

DISTINGUISHED PRELATE TO BE HEARD AT GRACE

One of the most distinguished members of the House of Bishops, the Right Rev. David H. Greer, D. D., LL. D., bishop of New York, will be the preacher at the annual festival of Grace church parish on Friday night. This will be the first occasion upon which the bishop has visited Plainfield.

As rector of St. Bartholomew's, the second richest and strongest Episcopal church in America, Dr. Greer was distinguished as a man of broad interests and keen sympathies in all Christian work, and was recognized as one of the ablest and more eloquent preachers in the American pulpit. Since his elevation to the Episcopate, succeeding the late Bishop Henry C. Potter, he has taken a deep interest in the movement for closer relation among the denominations of the great Christian communion.

The rector, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, and the wardens and vestrymen extend a cordial welcome to all the people of Plainfield and vicinity to attend this service. All seats are free.

The pall-bearers were Clinton Shannon, Patrick Reville, Dennis O'Keefe and Martin Peter and Den J. Galbraith.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Siedentop, at Dunellen, was brightened Sunday afternoon by the arrival of a son.

Cornelius vanHerwerden, the Republican nominee, and Stanley E. Gunnison, the Progressive nominee, responded to the Daily Press twelve questions, the purpose of which is to let the voters in the Second ward know where the Councilmanic candidates stand on the problems of the municipality. George Tyler Smith, the Democratic nominee, has failed to answer, and therefore it is not known what position he takes regarding the city's vital questions.

Here is the reply of the Republican nominee, Mr. vanHerwerden:

In answer to your communication of the 22d enclosing 12 questions and desiring an expression of opinion as to where I stand upon the subject matter therein mentioned and for the general information of the voters of my ward upon these important municipal matters, I desire to say that I have classified the first ten questions under three heads and will answer each accordingly:

Sewerage.

I am heartily in acord with the policy pursued by the present Common Council in their efforts to establish a permanent sewerage system and should I be elected to office would do all I possibly could to carry out the plans already inaugura-

BABCOCK BUILDING

OLD LORD & TAYLOR FIRM TO MOVE UPTOWN

To Occupy New 10-Story Building at Fifth Avenue and 38th Street.

The famous Lord & Taylor firm which has catered to three generations of New Yorkers, has again moved northward to keep pace with the trend of trade.

A splendid modern structure will shortly be erected to house its ever-growing trade on the west side of Fifth Ave., at 38th and 39th Sts.

Few people will admit that there can be romance in business, yet the foundations of Lord & Taylor were laid through a connection with a romantic episode, namely, the theft of the Crown jewels of the Netherlands away back in 1825.

The theft caused a world-wide sensation, and a reward of $50,000 was offered for the capture of the thief.

Mr. George Taylor, at that time warden in the city bridewell, received inside information about the thief from one of his prisoners to whom he had shown some kindness.

The result was the capture of the offender, Mr. Taylor receiving the reward, with which he founded the business at 47 Catherine St. in conjunction with Mr. Samuel Lord.

Mr. Taylor died in 1838, and was succeeded by his son, James Taylor, who remained with the firm till 1852.

From its inception the firm prospered steadily, adding to its floor space continually, only to find increasing trade demanding further increases in the size of its building, and compelling the firm to open branch stores in Grand St. in 1853, in Chrystie St. in 1867, and in Forsyth St. in 1887 and 1890. All these branches were four story buildings.

In 1872 the firm moved to their present location, Broadway and 20th St., where its original floor space, 11,000 square feet, has increased to 45,000 at present.

In 1895 Mr. Samuel Lord retired, leaving Mr. Edward P. Hatch sole owner.

In 1895 the firm took over Nos. 9 and 11 E. 19th St., and in 1901 the five-story building at No. 4 E. 20th St. was added.

On account of the tremendous rush of business uptown the firm decided, in 1902, to close the downtown branches, adding at the same time two more buildings to the 20th St. store to handle the enormous increase in its business.

Mr. Hatch died in 1909, most of his holdings being purchased by the United Dry Goods Companies.

Mr. Hatch left behind him a prosperous business, and an enviable reputation. The enormous increase in the business of the firm under Mr. Hatch's leadership is eloquent testimony to the soundness of his principles and his unfailing integrity; and the fact that the firm is again compelled to increase its facilities by moving to another site is further testimony that those principles and that integrity are living factors in the firm to-day.

The property is situated on Fifth Ave. between 38th and 39th Sts., with a frontage of 150 feet on the avenue.

The plans call for a ten-story building, with basement and sub-basement, entrances on Fifth Ave. and on 38th and 39th Sts., with show windows on all three sides. A special entrance is planned for men customers.

The shipping and receiving will be done in the basement and all vehicles for loading or unloading will go there direct by means of an inclined plane, thus keeping the streets in front of the store clear. There will be space in the basement for 150 automobiles and trucks.

Most important of all, the building will be absolutely fireproof. All cleaning will be by the dustless vacuum method. The latest and most scientific methods of heating and lighting are to be employed.

While the products of modern science and of the arts have been called upon to make shopping in the store a pleasure, the employees have not been neglected. Rest rooms, a restaurant, open air promenade, hospital with attending physician—these are but a small number of the many items which tend to comfort and content in the working force—a content which is reflected in perfect attendance upon their customers.

It is planned to open the year 1914 in the new building, the principal features of which we have given but an imperfect sketch, so many and so unusual will they be.

The design of the exterior will be Italian Renaissance, executed in granite and limestone.

Service at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, All Saints' Day, November 1, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Major and Mrs. Casler, of New York city, will conduct a public service on Saturday next at 8 o'clock. This will be preceded by an open air meeting on the corner of Front street and Madison avenue.

INCONSISTENT PROGRESSIVES.

It is a sad reflection on the Progressives aspiring to membership in the Common Council to see how they dodge the issues of the local campaign. One of the cardinal principles of the Bull Moose faith, we have been taught to understand, is a frank, fearless and unequivocal stand on the questions of the hour. Their leader and all their spokesmen have "lambasted" the candidates of the old parties for not coming out squarely and telling the people their positions on current problems. For some reason, however, which we fail to fathom, the Progressive councilmanic nominees are either hedging or refusing utterly to give their views, although they are asking for support at the polls.

Twelve questions, comprising the paramount problems confronting the municipality's governing body at this time, have been put by this paper to the nominees of the several parties, the Republican, Democratic and Progressive. The sole purpose is to let them tell the people where they stand and without one penny of cost. That the voters have a clear right to know, is undeniable. Yet, only one of the Progressives' nominees has seen fit to send in replies and his are most general and incomplete, some of the questions not being answered at all. This reluctance to let their views be known, to say the least, is a travesty on the cause they are supposed to represent. They never can hope to inspire confidence, much less to win, by adopting such incomprehensible tactics.

MISLEADING THE PUBLIC.

Many misleading, irrational, irresponsible and false statements are being made on the stump in the present campaign and it seems that even an over-zealous woman in politics may palm off on the public some untruth working great injustice. It was only yesterday that Miss Mary Wood, secretary of the Women's National Republican organization, in an address before the Plainfield Equal Suffrage League, in referring to Oscar Straus, the Progressive gubernatorial candidate in New York, said of him: "While crying on the stump for high wages for the American workingman, and for social justice for all, pays the girls in his factory as low as $3 per week."

If Miss Wood did not know that Oscar Straus long since retired from business, she should have investigated at least before she made such a sweeping and unfair assertion. In proof of her error, we quote a public statement of Mr. Straus: "The only firm I have ever been connected with is my father's old firm, L. Straus & Sons, manufacturers and importers of china and glassware, from which I retired in nineteen hundred and six, when I entered the Cabinet."

Why should Miss Wood "bamboozle" her sisters with such rot and nonsense?

STEALING ADVERTISING.

among them is the one that by a cunning device steals newspaper advertising. The trick worked by these creatures is to have some hand bills printed and then induce some newsdealer for a small consideration to place them within the folds of a newspaper before distribution to the customers. In this way, the merchant, or whoever he may be, obtains as large a circulation of his notice as the newspaper itself and saves the cost of advertising in the paper.

So serious has this flagrant abuse become that the newspaper publishers have long since begun a crusade to put a stop to it. The New York World took the initiative and instituted proceedings against more than one of these offenders. In one instance a department store actually had an imitation of the newspaper's page made and had attempted to deceive the World's readers by having the fake page enclosed within the folds of each copy delivered in a certain section of New York.

It is certainly bad enough when one not engaged in the newspaper business resorts to this sort of contemptible practise but when a newspaper lends itself to the scheme the offense is most abominable. And this actually has happened, the culprit being the New York Evening Mail. On Sunday and Monday, enclosed in copies of the New York and Newark papers distributed by at least one local newsdealer, was a sheet advertising the Mail's guessing contest. We consider that this offense is unpardonable. It surely calls for action on the part of the newspapers thus "used" by the Mail and we therefore direct their attention to the matter.

CIVIC ASSOCIATION ASKS USE OF A PUBLIC SCHOOL

Twenty new members were admitted to the organization at a meeting of the West End Civic Association at the home of Thomas M. Muir, Grant avenue, last night. The growth of the association has made it impracticable to hold meetings in private residences any longer, and the Board of Education is to be asked for permission to use one of the West End schools for the sessions.

The dues of the association were fixed last night at $2 a year. The next meeting is set for Monday night, November 11, at Mr. Muir's home.

APPLES PLAY LEADING PART IN EVENING'S PROGRAM

An apple social, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Netherwood Reformed church, was given at the home of Mrs. H. W. Johnston, of Netherwood avenue, last night. The house was decorated with shocks of corn and autumn foliage entwined with fall flowers.

Games in which apples had principal part were played. At the close of the evening refreshments were served by the Ladies' Aid Society.

Mrs. H. W. Johnston was chairman of the committee in charge. She was assisted by a number of the young women of the church.

VARIED ATTRACTIONS AT LYDIA CHAPTER'S BAZAAR

Elaborate decorations will mark "An Autumn Night With the Stars," the sale, entertainment and dance to be given tonight at Sebring's Auditorium by Lydia Chapter, No. 41, Order of the Eastern Star. Countless "stars" will shine forth from among masses of fall foliage, and one corner of the auditorium will appear like a corn field. Jack-o'-lanterns, pictures of witches and other items of decorative art will add a seasonable touch of Hallowe'en effect.

All the sales tables will be prettily decorated with flowers, greens and foliage. An entertainment program has been arranged and there will be music for dancing.

WILL CONSENT TO CARVE UP TURKEY

London Hears That Austria Favors Reasonable Demands by Balkans.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

London, Oct. 29.—The Vienna foreign office, it was asserted today, has at last been persuaded that the preservation of the "Status Quo" in the Balkans is impracticable and will consent to the allies demand for the division of a big slice of Turkish territory among them, provided they are reasonable in their requirements.

New York, Oct. 29.—Harris Winthrop & Co. this morning received the following cable from their London office: "General European war unlikely. Austrian, English, French and German governments are actively working for peace. Bankers believe should Adrianople fall war will end rapidly. In that case we understand Balkan states have agreed on territorial readjustment dividing Turkey except Constantinople and vicinity. Arrangement can probably be made satisfactory to Austria and Russia."

SUFFRAGISTS WILL QUIZ ALL ASSEMBLY CANDIDATES

At the business meeting of the Equal Suffrage League, held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Allen Cowperthwaite, in Hydewood Park, North Plainfield, it was decided, on the suggestion of the secretary of the New Jersey Suffrage Association, to ask all local candidates for the Legislature if they would be willing, if elected, to refer the cause of "votes for women," to the voters. Letters will be sent to the Assembly candidates immediately by secretary of the local organization, Mrs. Isaac J. Schwed.

Delegates were appointed to attend the State convention of N. J. Women Suffrage Leagues, to be held in Trenton, November 8-9, at the State House. They are Mrs. Frank de L. Hyde, Mrs. Russell R. Dorr, Mrs. I. J. Schwed, Mrs. David L. Thompson, Mrs. C. L. Riley, Mrs. Edward F. Feickert, Mrs. Allen Cowperthwaite and Mrs. Stephen Haff, Sr.

WHERE AN INVESTMENT OF $75 WILL PAY HIGHLY

The Charity Organization knows of a little family, deprived of its chief bread winner, where the investment of $75 would bring independence. The family has the ambition, courage and honesty; it also has the business, now run for nearly a year by the mother and oldest boy. Only an accident and the lack of insurance against this calamity have crippled the business. Seventy-five dollars would make this loss, re-establish the business and put the family on its feet.

Anyone who desires to make an investment where the returns will be the satisfaction of knowing that four people will thereby be prevented from becoming dependents may telephone 103 for further particulars or send contributions to J. Albert Lane, treasurer Charity Organization Society, 323 Babcock building.

EDUCATIONAL CHARACTER OF CURRENT EVENTS CIRCLE

Mrs. M. H. Ewart, in addressing the speakers at Vincent chapel of the First M. E. church, yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the current events circle, announced the tentative program for the coming winter, which she said was to be of an educational character. It is proposed to hold these meetings the last Tuesday of each month. The meeting for November will be devoted to a consideration of the societies of the United States, including the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Guardians of Liberty and Masonic orders.

The subject for December will be along medical lines. January's subject will be the question, "Is it for the best interest of the country that women should vote?" but no debate will be allowed. The February meeting will be devoted to music, the one in March to a trip through the United States, especially taking in the industries. Domestic Science will be considered in April and the religions of the world will be the subject for the May meeting.

HIGH SCHOOL ADDITION.

The regular monthly meeting of the Plainfield Board of Education was held at the High School last evening, with the following members present, Messrs. Buckle, Woodhull, Case, and Dr. Hedges. The question of awarding the contract for the new High School was again threshed out and it was agreed to turn over certain facts to the Common Council and Board of Estimate to discuss.

The Most Important Announcement This Store Has Ever Made

Beginning November 1st we are going to share out profits with you—going to give you back 5 per cent. of all the money you spend in our store.

For a long time we have been considering this proposition. We have felt that those who paid cash for their goods, were not getting a square deal.

Dr. Saunders in discussing the credit system at the Business Men's dinner the other night was right when he said, that in his opinion, the better way would be to give a cash discount in order to eliminate credits as far as possible.

This is the most important inovation that this store has ever adopted. We want you to compare this discount of 5 per cent. with any proposition you have ever heard of. We want you to remember that you are not confined to a few articles of questionable value, but that you have placed at your disposal in the redemption of these profit sharing coupons the vast stocks of merchandise that fill this store from top to bottom. You select the merchandise you want in any department that you desire—a fact that alone relegates the old-time and limited scope "Premium Parlor" idea to the background.

Bamberger's--The Home of the Good Piano

The new piano department, like every other branch of the Bamberger selling service, is founded upon safe, sensible and business-like principles. It is essentially a safe piano store. We have selected only such makes of pianos as we know are good—such makes as we know can be sold with a clear conscience and with the same big, broad Bamberger guarantee that goes with everything in the store.

Our Convenient Payment Plan

You will be surprised to know how little cash it requires to buy a piano at the Bamberger store. You will be delighted to learn how light the monthly payments are. We are selling good pianos on such extremely liberal terms that no matter what your income is, you can afford to own a good instrument. Visit the store or drop us a line and we will tell you all about our pianos and explain our convenient payment plan.

Good Pianos Moderately Priced

There are a great many makes of high-priced pianos on the market, but when it came to choosing a moderate priced instrument we deliberated long and earnestly. We wanted a piano that we could recommend—a piano that we could sell at a moderate figure and yet guarantee. The piano we decided upon is the Schindler & Son, and we do not think we made a mistake. Schindler & Son pianos and player pianos possess three distinct features—tone, action and durability. This make has stood the test of years—it is well and favorably known wherever pianos are used. We know what the Schindler & Son can perform and we want you to know, also. We shall take pleasure in demonstrating this famous instrument to you any time.

FOREIGNER FOUNT OF SOCIAL UNREST

Republican Woman Orator Blames Immigration for Discontent.

AT SUFFRAGE MEETING

Miss Mary Wood Represents G. O. P. and Miss Ella M. Powell Democracy at Session in Hydewood Home—General Discussion.

Miss Mary Wood, of New York, secretary of the Women's National Republican organization, and Miss Ella M. Powell, a supporter of Governor Wilson and campaign orator commissioned by the Democratic National Committee, spoke before a large number of members of the Equal Suffrage League yesterday at the home of Mrs. Allen Cowperthwaite, in Hydewood Park.

Two weeks ago the league members heard two Progressive speakers at the home of Mrs. Frank Hyde. At the conclusion of yesterday's address the members had learned the doctrine and policies of the three main party parties. After the speakers had departed a general discussion followed and a business meeting was held.

Miss Powell, of the Democratic forces, was the first to speak. She is an orator of ability. She has force of expression in driving her arguments home.

In opening her address, Miss Powell said the present generation is living in a great time; a time of great awakening and era of political reform. She said even as Monte Cristo had relaxed when reaching the height of his power, so is the Republican party in a period of relaxation, due to its long reign as the head power in the land.

"And the effect of this prosperity," she continued, "is an unhealthy one and has its damaging effect on the character of the people and the nation. One of the evidences of this is the numerous labor wars we are continually involved in."

Speaking of Roosevelt she said his new ideas and platform did not come into evidence until he had been turned down at the Republican convention, in Chicago, and attacked her Progressive women adversary, Miss Jane Addams, who is touring the country for the Bull Moose.

Telling her hearers that the tariff is a scientific study of great depth, she told how Woodrow Wilson stands on this great question. The child labor conditions of the southern cotton factory belt and the similar conditions to be found in the bottle works of the West, came in for discussion during her talk.

At this point, Miss Powell told of her entrance into the political field, saying her first speech was made to an audience of one—a shoemaker in Georgia, her home State.

"One day I took a pair of shoes to a shoemaker to have soled and heeled. I asked him what the charges for the job would be and was told that it would cost me $1.20 for work that had only a short time ago cost 75 cents. He told me the reason. It was the high cost of leather which is caused by the exorbitant tariff. And in reply to his dispairing glances I said to him, 'My man, on the fifth of November you go to the polls and vote for a man who will lower the price on leather.' It was at this time that I was inspired by the spirit of needed reform, and I might say that those few words were my first in the cause of Governor Wilson and the reforms that are to come."

Foreign immigration came in for bitter attack in Miss Wood's address, she claiming that 47 per cent. of the insane and other public charges of New York are of this class. She said we were in need of stricter immigration laws.

Regarding the high cost of living, Miss Wood claimed that although the population of the United States had increased 20 per cent., the production of the country was the same, and this accounts largely for this evil. She compared the prices and wage scales of Europe with the wages and prices of the necessities of life in the United States.

"Oscar Straus, the Progresive candidate for Governor of New York," she said, "while crying on the stump for high wages for the American workingmen, and for social justice to all, pays the girls in his factory as low as $3 per week."

Continuing she described the recall of judges and judicial decisions, as a great opening for graft and corruption. Again attacking the aliens, she said they should not be entitled to the ballot after being in this country only five years.

In closing Miss Wood said: "I do admit that during the reign of Mr. Taft there has been unrest, but this unrest, my friends, is caused by the people from foreign countries who cannot get along in their own land and come here and stir up much of the unrest now embodied in our great nation. These foreigners, who are given the ballot in five years, include anarchists and criminals, of Southern Europe, and not the good citizen-making Germans, Englishmen, Irishmen and Scotchmen, who first migrated to this country. What we need is regulation, not revolution."

Mrs. Champlain Riley, president of the league, made the opening remarks, introducing the speakers.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

OKRA RECIPES.

OKRA is a favorite vegetable in Dixie, and truly delicious are the gumbo recipes which are found in the notebooks of many southern cooks. Chicken gumbo soup rightly made is a dish fit for the gods.

A Rarely Good Soup.

Gumbo Soup.—Take a fowl weighing about four pounds, a quart of green okra pods, three or four ounces of ham, a sliced onion, a half pod of small red pepper, a third of a cupful of flour, three tablespoonfuls of lard, three tomatoes and two sprigs of thyme. Cut the fowl into joints and the ham into pieces. Saute these in hot lard till they are golden brown. Do not use any iron vessels when okra is to be cooked. Remove the chicken and saute the onion and the okra pods, cut into pieces. Then add the flour, stirring it in, and when blended with the fat pour in gradually a quart of water. When this boils add to the chicken with another quart of water the peeled tomatoes, red pepper bay leaf, thyme and salt. Cover the vessel and let simmer slowly until the chicken is cooked. Add more salt or water if necessary. Serve, adding a tablespoonful of boiled rice to each plate.

Minced on Toast.

Okra and Tomatoes.—Boil and drain eight or ten okra pods. Then mince fine with a small onion. Fry slightly in an ounce of butter and add four peeled and sliced tomatoes. Simmer a few minutes, then add the okra pods and season with salt and paprika and cook for a quarter of an hour longer. Serve on slices of buttered toast.

A Simple Way.

Boiled Okra.—Take young and tender okra pods, cut off the sharp ends and place in a saucepan of boiling water, slightly salted. When the okra is tender drain off the water, add an ounce of butter, salt and pepper to taste. Serve hot.

A Novel Salad.

Okra Salad.—Wash, drain and boil young okra pods until tender. Drain and set aside to cool. Then cut them into slices. Rub the inside of the salad bowl with the cut side of a clove of garlic and put the okra into the bowl with a finely chopped green pepper and a little grated horseradish. Sprinkle with salt, pour in two teaspoonfuls of olive oil and toss until these are well blended. Then add a tablespoonful of tarragon vinegar. Serve individual portions on leaves of tender lettuce with slices of tomato.

ATTRACTIVE TRIFLES.

Stock and Jabots the Up to Date Girl Will Wear.

The gap in the fall coats or little vests is prettily filled in with double and triple ruffles of shadow net, deep valenciennes and plain tulle.

In jewelry for men one of the novelties is the handsome finger ring which shows a diamond or a colored stone en cabochon mounted in silver.

High stocks of pique are worn with a high black satin stock over them.

CHILD'S NIGHT DRAWERS.

Of course they must always go with tailored suits.

Sleeping garments, such as this one, are always needed for active children. Many mothers like the stocking feet shown in the back view. There is a choice also between full sleeves gathered into bands and plain ones.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Fun, song, glittering splendor and astonishingly gowned women with complexions tinted as new spring blossoms, will reign supreme at the Plainfield theatre matinee and night, Tuesday, November 5, the occasion being a visit of the "Follies of New York and Paris," presenting "The Plain Clothes Man," a breezy musical farce. The plot is full of comical oddities with brisky situations, in the first act you see Atlantic City with the boardwalk, million dollar pier, Hotel Rudolph and many other familiar scenes to those who have visited this popular resort. "The Plain Clothes Man" tells of an episode of a wealthy widow, Mrs. Abbingtonford (Mabelle Morgan), who after a dip in the surf, returns to her hotel and is informed by her maid Violet (Edna Green), that her diamond garter is missing. The widow has many admirers, the most ardent are an Irishman, Mr. O'Shaughnessy (Eddie Fitzgerald), and Hebrey, Mr. Nathaniel Levy (Chas. Janson). Levy to outdo his rival sends for a famous detective, Billie McCoy (Sam Brown). Billy, like all up-to-date detectives has a secretary, Bud Scribner (Jack Quinn). Bud being a dope fiend, is of little assistance to Billie, who falls in love with a very pretty girl, not knowing her name but who turns out to be Mr. O'Shaughnessy's daughter, Margaret (Minnie Lee), Margaret's unexpected presence at the seashore greatly annoys her father who has told the widow he is a widower but is afraid to let her know he has a daughter. O'Shaughnessy, to outdo Levy, has purchased a garter, a duplicate of the missing one. It is found in his pocket by Billie, who, not knowing that he is the father of Margaret, immediately arrests him and places him in jail. A real Suffragette jail, where the officers in command treat the prisoners with every courtesy and endeavor to show how to elevate the criminal population. Here the mystery of the missing garter is solved for it was not stolen but merely misplaced. The prisoners are liberated and the widow declares that she is willing to marry O'Shaughnessy on the spot. This of course pleases O'Shaughnessy who presents her with the garter he has purchased as an engagement ring. The company is a large and capable one.

THE FORUM.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

What might be the viewpoint of a Republican as to his duty to his party in the present campaign is largely an embarrassment when you come to face the contradictions of the Saturday night auto orator on the public street. The excessive products of the earth and the bank deposits are the easy hot dogs for the charlatan fakir to hand out for a speech. It isn't what Providence gives, or the man has in the bank. It's the wise, intellectual principle of Wilson which have shattered the whitewash of Taft and his administration, and driven the "Bull Moose" to the dernier resort of cunning and literal trickery and hiding under subterfuge that which would stand with some as an excuse, where the tripartite argument at last has to surrender for the want of brains to meet the logical onslaught of the great Democratic leader!

Stand-patism and four years of do-nothing-for-the-people by this baley Republican president, rocked in the laps of trust magnates or their representatives, or the "Bull Moose" arguments for doctoring the "Trusts" with legal props, and panting like the hart for the water brook, for the dear submerged sovereign people is nothing but campaign dope—its purpose worn out in the wearing.

Like the autocrats of the South that made the republic a scandal when they held the blackman under constitutional privileges in slavery, and it required the sacrifice of blood to wipe out the inconsistencies of our magna charter, that read all men are free and equal. So an educational campaign has sweeped the national highways of the little toy politician and soap-box orators, and the political rubbish that follow the circus and on the political horizon is written in letters of destiny, Shall the sovereign citizenship of this great republic further submit to a slavery where national legislation protects the covetous plutocrat against the natural rights and free commerces of the people? This is the spirit of thought that precedes the acts of historical revolutions, and today burns in the proud hearts of American citizenship, and the first battle will be at the polls, which, we trust will precede the camp-fire of victory when patriot and traitor can rehash the valor of statesmanship that lost prizes from the viewpoint of intellectual jargon which was on the side of folly instead of reason.

Yours respectfully,
NOAH WEBSTER PIKE.

Philosophical Phelix Says:

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Now that it has stopped raining, we may be able to get in one first mid-week game of the football season tomorrow afternoon. Manager Janke, of the P. H. S. eleven, has a game booked with Rahway.

The first time that Jimmy Dunwell was ever seen with a crestfallen expression on his face in public was when the P. H. S. team arrived home after their trip to Phillipsburg, Saturday night. He was asked the cause and promptly informed us that he had a man playing against him who must have been a veteran of the janitors' alumni of the Phillipsburg School. Jimmy said he tipped the scales close to the triple century mark and would make two of him (Jimmy). That's horrible, Jimmy. He must have been some size for you are not a goal-post yourself.

Plainfield had a man in the lineup who could walk hand in hand with the Phillipsburg "janitor." It has become a noticeable fact that one of the local warriors had a pretty fair crop of fuzz on the upper lip for this season of the year. Wonder if he will wait until harvest time before he uses the sickle?

We know it is a long trip to Phillipsburg, but it certainly did not take you until Monday morning to get back. Wonder why

The interest in pigskin chasing doesn't seem to be so deep this season. Wonder what is wrong?

Basketball appears to be the looked forward to game just at present.

The Ajax start the season at the Y. M. C. A. gym Saturday night. Come out and see the first game. It is due to be a corker.

James Nash, the old P. H. S. star, is playing centre for the Ajax. Otherwise the lineup is the same as last season.

Someone comes across with the information that the B. R. A. team that Holy Cross played Saturday was composed of second string men. Well, the boroughites never could put up a good showing against inferior teams, anyway. If they were only the Bayonnetts bring forth the Bayonnites. I thought there was a discord somewhere.

It is pretty tough when you don't miss a practice in two years until the night before the game and then have to stand on the side lines while ten others are playing the game. But you don't mind that when your name is Maher. You are used to running after things, anyway.

WOMEN GOLFERS ON MONTCLAIR LINKS

Mrs. H. R. Stockton Duplicates Her Feat of Last Week for Best Gross Score.

The fine weather yesterday brought out about sixty metropolitan women golfers for a one-day tournament on the Montclair club links. It was not a regularly scheduled event. Mrs. Thomas Travers, North Jersey, made the lowest net score, but as she was also best in the bogey contest and could take only one trophy, she chose the latter. Her score was:

Out . . 6 6 8 8 5 7 6 5 4—55
In . . . 7 4 4 5 5 5 4 6 6—46—101—18 83

The prize went to Mrs. J. S. Todd, Knollwood for 109—25—84. Three tied for best gross at 97, Mrs. H. R. Stockton, of this city; Mrs. S. H. Cunningham, Englewood, and Mrs. A. L. Rossin, Century. On the play-off Mrs. Stockton won. Her original card:

Out . . . . . 6 5 8 7 5 6 6 5 4—52
In . . . . . 5 5 4 5 4 5 5 5 7—45

There was a putting contest for which sixteen qualified and competed at match play. The winner was Mrs. R. O. Smith, Montclair. Mrs. Thomas Travis won the bogey match by being 2 up on the colonel. The other better standings were: Mrs. W. H. Muffitt, Hackensack, and Mrs. A. L. Rossin, Century, each 1 down; Mrs. J. S. Todd, Knollwood, and Mrs. H. R. Stockton, Plainfield; Mrs. M. H. Frayne, Dunwoodie; Mrs. F. Gwyer, Siwanoy, each 2 down. Mrs. J. A. Philbrick, Montclair; Mrs. R. O. Smith, Montclair; Miss Bird, Scarsdale; Mrs. T. H. Polhemus, Richmond county, Mrs. N. P. Tyler; Baltusrol, each 3 down; Mrs. S. H. Cunningham, Englewood, 4 down; Miss Bertha Graham, Mrs. B. L. Emmons, Mrs. H. L. Conrad, Mrs. Holman, Mrs. Gardner, Mrs. Avery, each 5 down; Mrs. R. L. Johnstone, Mrs. W. B. Brenner, Mrs. W. W. Vaughn, Mrs Fred Herreshoff, Mrs. R. B. Moriarty, each 6 down; Mrs. J. W. Surbrug, 7 down; Mrs. F. B. Ryan, Baltusrol, 7 down. There were others above that mark.

It was the first time so far as is known that Mrs. Fred Herreshoff has actually entered a metropolitan contest, although she has been an enthusiastic player and spectator for years.

FIRST P. H. S. GAME WEATHER PERMITTING

Local Eleven is Primed and Groomed for the Rahway Team.

Plainfield football enthusiasts will be treated to their first taste of mid-week football tomorrow afternoon when the P. H. S. and Rahway High School teams will meet on Parker Field. The local school boys have been inspired with a large amount of confidence since the game last Saturday at Phillipsburg and if it puts up anywhere near the grade of football that it did on the Pennsylvania border, the home eleven ought to make it interesting for the more experienced Rahway aggregation.

Captain Van Zant has been drilling his men hard in expectation of a gruelling contest, as Rahway comes here heralded as one of the strongest scholastic elevens in the State. Some idea of the real strength of the Rahwayites can be obtained from their present season's successes. One of the big school eleven's to go down to defeat before the Rahway team was Central High School; and as the metropolitan combination has been cleaning on a number of the strong teams of greater New York it would seem as though the Rahway eleven must have played pretty fast to humiliate the New Yorkers. Central High School defeated Barringer High School two weeks ago and Barringer is the largest High School and has one of the best football teams in the State.

Manager Janke has been rather unfortunate in the previous games he has booked as a majority of them have been called off for one reason or another, but providing Jupiter Pluvius remains behind the clouds tomorrow afternoon, he promises a corking battle in Parker Field. Under the restrictions layed down by the Playground Commission, no admission can be charged to the High School games on that field, but as this is the first home game and the team is under heavy expenses at present, a voluntary contribution will be taken up.

JUNIOR ATHLETES RACE WITH TUBERS

Good Time Made by Y. M. C. A. Youngsters in League Event.

The second event on the Y. M. C. A. boys' department league schedule was run off yesterday afternoon in the association gym with twenty-one participants. Considering the nature of the event, which was the potato race with nine potatoes, and the fact that many of the "future greats" were unfamiliar with it, exceedingly good time was made by every entrant.

Each fellow who entered the competition belonged to a certain team in the junior league and his efforts scored a certain number of points to boost his team's standing. The potato race is one of the athletic events which are seldom included on indoor programs, and the runner has to be endowed with a peculiar knack of sprinting for a short distance, and then to suddenly reverse. The object of holding these events is to instruct and coach the youngsters in the proper methods of running and jumping. The respective time made by the competitors follow:

Angerbauer, 49 sec.; Brownlee, 50 sec.; Searles, 51 sec.; Lee, 54 sec.; Block, 52 sec.; Morall, 53 sec.; Milliard, 49 sec.; Henwood, 48 4-5 sec.; Tomlinson, 50 sec.; Patterson, 42 sec.; Condict, 51 sec.; Windham, 50 sec.; Fullerton, 46 sec.; Blake, 44 sec.; Gates, 43 sec.; King, 48 sec.; Keller, 46 sec.; Clawson, 45 sec.; Willett, 47 sec.; Johnson, 49 sec.; Ross, 51 sec.

RUSSELL LAWRENCE BEATTY WON MEET FOR HIS CLASS

By scoring 9 points in the two events that were held over from Saturday the Columbia juniors won the interclass track championship yesterday. Russell L. Beatty, the intercollegiate shot-put record holder, won the discus throw, at 124 feet 6 inches. Beatty won the shot-put on Saturday and scored a total of 10 points for the juniors. J. Greenleaf was second in the discus throw, with 107 feet 1 inch. Sterling Graham, '15, won the broad jump for sophomores, with a jump of 19 feet 10½ inches. D. Tenney, '14, did 19 feet 8½ inches, and F. Lee, a Chinese student, was third, with a jump of 19 feet 5 inches. The juniors won, with a total of 47 11-12 points, and the sophomores second, with 37. The seniors were third, with 18¼, and the freshmen fourth, with 13 3-5 points.

Y. M. C. A. AJAX TO OPEN SEASON

Crescent Five Appear on the Y. M. C. A. Court Next Saturday Evening.

STRONG OPPONENTS

Same Lineup Retained—Hetfield Busy Booking Speedy Quintets—Local Y. M. C. A. Team is out to Hang up a Record.

As the presidential campaign draws to a close a new campaign of a different nature is ready to take up the public's attention. This new but well known feature is the season which brings into the public limelight the greatest of all indoor games—basketball. The indoor season will be officially ushered in at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night, when the Ajax basketball team, representing that association, will play the first game of their season's schedule. Manager Hetfield has been in communication with some of the best scholastic and association quintets throughout the State and he is compiling a schedule of contests that will not be duplicated in this or surrounding cities.

Saturday night's opponents will be the Crescent five, of Elizabeth, a team well known in that section for the article of basketball it puts up. The Crescents have been playing games for some time past and as this will be the Ajax's first struggle the local aggregation will have to pit all the aggressiveness that is in them against the vistor's experience. Some close followers of the game have considered the Crescent a too speedy combination to head off a schedule with, but Hetfield says that his team is ready to take them as they come and he is looking forward to a repetition of last season's record, when the Ajax won ten consecutive games before encountering their first defeat. The initial beating was administered by the strong Rahway Y. M. C. A. five who came to Plainfield with a record that had not been blemished with defeat in three years. The Ajax are out to get revenge against this team this year, however, and Hetfield has already booked a series of games with them. The Rahway team put up a crackerjack game when they appeared on the local court and basketball experts declared them an aggregation that was invincible.

Present indications point to a banner season for the Ajax during the coming fall and winter and it would not be a surprise to many to see this bunch of players set up a record for consecutive wins during the coming season. This will make the fourth year that this same set of fellows have been playing together under the same name and their experience received while playing the game as a unit ought to assure their putting up a good article of the indoor game. The only member of the team to drop from the ranks during this quartet of years was Frank Dunning who resigned because of pressing school work, and his place has been ably filled by James Nash, the former P. H. S. star. Nash played guard while in High School, but has been shifted to center to take Dunning's place and his work in this position has been of the kind that will assure him a place on the quintet. Captain Brynarski and Morton Glover will take care of the guard positions as they did last year and both have increased in playing ability. Last year's frowards are also available this year and William Peacock and James McNamee are slated to take care of that end of the floor. Andrew Hetfield has proved himself a valuable utility man and it is quite likely that he will get into a majority of the games.

MOTORCYCLE TOUR.

D. A. Nielson, "Thor" agent, and Joseph Cashin, took a short tour to Philadelphia, Pa., Saturday afternoon on Mr. Nielson's "Thor" 7 h. p. "demonstrating." They went by way of Bound Brook, Somerville, Belle Mead, Princeton and Trenton. The distance was about 82 miles and the time, without counting two stops, about two hours and forty minutes.

NOVEMBER HUNT SCHEDULE OF THE WATCHUNG CLUB

Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H., announces the following schedule of runs for the Watchung Hunt Club for November, in which the farmers are invited to participate:

IMPROVED HORIZONTAL BAR FOR Y. M. C. A. GYM TEAM

Now that the organization of a Y. M. C. A. gym team has been effected at the local association new equipment is being added to make the work of this combination as complete as possible. A new iron horizontal bar has been ordered from the Narragansett Steel Co. and it will probably be installed the latter part of the week.

The new bar is of an improved type and has a bar diversion of six feet. When not in use the bar can be swung up to the ceiling and in this way the floor can be cleared instantaneously for marching or games.

Captain Hansen and Manager Kenney are planning a busy season for the newly formed gymnasium team and exhibitions will be given in different parts of the State.

ATHLETIC MEETING OFF.

The mass meeting scheduled to take place Saturday evening in the W. C. T. U. Hall in Prospect street, Westfield, and called by the boys of the Westfield High School football team who are barred from playing football because they did not make the averages in their studies as required by the school, was postponed until an indefinite date. The petition protesting against the action of the board in making it necessary for pupils to obtain 80 per cent. in English in order to take part in athletics will be withheld until the mass meeting takes place.

SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT.

Ray Bronson vs. Clarence English, 8 rounds, at St. Louis.

Tony Caponi vs. Ray Marshall, 15 rounds, at St. Joseph, Mo.

FIRST TRYOUT FOR P. H. S. MINSTREL BOYS

Chorus of Thirty Will Be Formed—Show Next Month.

The first rehearsal for the minstrels to be given by the boys of the Plainfield High School was held yesterday afternoon in the school auditorium. Manager Valentine Goldsmith promises a better and a funnier performance than ever before.

Edson Woodhull and Goldsmith himself, both among last year's ends, will fill two of the coveted positions. The show is to be given about the middle of November. The other two ends will probably be Arthur VanZandt and Joseph Carty. Fred Allen is the first choice for the "man in the middle."

S. B. Howe, who coached the troupe last year, will again coach. About fifteen candidates turned out yesterday, which Manager Goldsmith considers good for the first rehearsal. At the next rehearsal he expects a full troupe of thirty to appear.

Those on hand yesterday were: William Peacock, Eynan White, Arthur Evans, Archie La Rue, Theodore Davis, David McNamee, William Wheelan, Edson Woodhull, William Davenport, Willard McKay, Ellwood Waller, Valentine Goldsmith, and Arthur VanZandt.

The next tryout will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Miss Bessie Van Winkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah VanWinkle, of West Fifth street, is seriously ill at her home, having suffered a stroke of paralysis.

ATTRACTIVE LIST OF FREE SCHOOL LECTURES

First One, "Scotland in Song and Story" Tomorrow Night.

The annual course of free public lectures given by the Board of Education will open tomorrow evening, in the auditorium of Washington School, with a musical lecture-recital by Lewis W. Armstrong, of New York, a baritone soloist who has delighted the public lecture audience for the past two years. His topic is "Scotland in Song and Story." He will give a brief outline of Scottish history and literature, and will illustrate his talk with singing a number of the Scottish songs and ballads: "Bonnie Dundee," "Bonnie Prince Charlie," "Ye Banks an' Braes o' Bonnie Doon," "March of the Cameron Men," "My Love Is Like a Red Red Rose," "Farewell to Lochaber," etc.

The lecture list for the winter is an unusually strong one. The opening number by Lewis W. Armstrong, October 30, is followed on November 14 by Surrick Lincoln, who gives a travelogue on "Alaska," illustrated by stereopticon views and moving pictures.

December 10, Frederick B. Wright, of Washington, will talk on "The Geology of North America," with special application to the formation of the land in New Jersey.

January 2, Robert G. Weyh, Jr., will give an illustrated lecture on "Our Great Northwest."

February 13, George N. Cross, who gave such a delightful lecture on "English Castles" last year, will speak on "Washington, the Beautiful Capital of a Great Nation."

March 6, Lillian S. Fisher will speak on "Cocoanut, Coral and Cannibals."

March 20, A. S. Riggs shows "Twentieth Century Sicily."

April 13, Capt. A. R. Spaid, of Delaware, gives a natural history talk entitled "In Marsh and Swamp and Hollow Tree."

All of the lectures except the first one will be illustrated by stereopticon views. As last year, the lectures begin at 8 o'clock and are free to all.

Water.

I am in favor of any system of water works that will conserve to the city of Plainfield and its inhabitants the water supply which they are now enjoying and such improvements as can be made thereon to furnish an adequate supply for the future at the least possible cost to the users thereof.

Liquor.

I am in favor of the present system of high license and the limitation of number of licenses to be granted in the city.

Garbage.

I am in favor of municipal system for the collection and disposal of the garbage and ashes in this city, and if elected, propose to do all I can to accomplish this result. The hap-hazard way in which garbage and ashes have been collected in the past has been an eye-sore not only to the citizens of the community but also to those who visit here.

Commission Government.

I am in favor of commission form of government though I am not quite convinced as to the practibility of adopting that form of government at the present time for the city of Plainfield. It might be well before any action is taken upon this matter to study the result of the experiment in other municipalities that have adopted it.

Mr. Gunnison, the Bull Moose nominee, makes this reply:

"Answering your open questions to candidates, I would say I do not care to commit myself definitely at this time, as to my final attitude on any of them.

"In a general way I am for municipal ownership, in favor of joint sewage disposal system, the indirect route for the sewer, opposed to lowering the retail license fee of $1,200, and believe the Tyler saloon zone is a good thing.

"If elected I shall be guided by what I consider the best business for the city."

There are but two candidates for the Common Council in the Third ward, Leighton Calkins, Republican, and Daniel J. Courain, Democrat, the Progressives having made no nomination. The replies of both nominees will be published in tomorrow's issue. On Thursday, the Councilmanic nominees in the Fourth ward will be heard from and finally on Friday all three Mayoralty nominees, W. R. Codington, Republican; Percy H. Stewart, Democrat, and G. W. V. Moy, Progressive, will present their views to the voters generally.

Miss Edna Debele, of Somerset street, is detained at her home with a slight illness.

Frank P. Burke has removed from 825 West Third street to 823 West Fifth street.

PRETTY SOFT FOR THE AVIATOR

THE NEW AEOLIAN CONCERT HALL

Midway between Fifth and Sixth Aves., New York
(Entrance on 43rd Street.)

In the opening on November 2nd, of the New Aeolian Concert Hall, an event of permanent interest to the musical public will have been accomplished.

This newest addition to the music halls of the city is unique in its every respect. From the outward grandeur of the entrance on 43rd St. to the familiar intimacy of the auditorium itself, it stands without a duplicate anywhere in the world.

The builders of the Aeolian Concert Hall have had in mind not only the establishment of a place where concerts could be heard to greatest advantage, but a temple of music—a creation of art in itself. And they seem to have well succeeded, for Aeolian Hall will invite wide-spread attention of its own accord, because of its beauty of construction.

The architectural design of the exterior has been worked in carved limestone, and the entrance is protected with a handsome marquise covering. The doors are of specially cast metal and remind one of the front of the Capitol at Washington.

On the inside, one is immediately impressed with the soft warmth of the color scheme, so different to the ordinary cold tints employed in similar places. The walls are of a delicate old rose hue, which seem to invite comfort and restfulness, and are especially easy on the eyes. The seats are of the largest possible size, the ample arms being in black and the luxuriously upholstered cushions in a shade slightly darker than the walls. On each seat, the monogram of the Hall has been daintily worked in stamped gold leaf.

Here and there on the walls, musical symbols representative of different types of harmony are worked over black background in raised figures in gold leaf. To study them all would be to gain a fair knowledge of the history of music.

Looking from the stage, the auditorium suggests 18th century French and l of Paris Parisienne.

Aeolian Hall particularly commends itself because of its convenient size There is a big balcony and the entire hall seats 1,362 people—and in such a way that every person has an equally commanding position of the stage and the sound. In this connection it might be said that the acoustics are well nigh marvelous. There are no posts to interfere with sound or sight. Enormous trusses support the ceilings in the same way and on the same principle that is used in railroad bridges. The boxes are located along the entire front of the balcony, and are so arranged that they do not handicap those in back.

The stage is a masterpiece of craftsmanship. It is large enough to comfortably seat the largest Symphony Orchestra, yet so cleverly have the plans been laid, that a single soloist can stand there alone without the large vacant space being apparent. The top of the stage is an eliptical arch and from there is diffused the light for the performer—so there is no glare of any kind. The back of the stage shows the pipes of the organ painted in a blackish-blue in tapestry effect. The conventional decorations are done in gold, and the walls are of an open-work green goods, illuminated with gilt. The organ is an Aeolian Pipe Organ and has a remarkably sweet tone and is capable of unusual effects. Around the base of the stage, there is an entire piece of moulded marble unlike anything hitherto seen in this country.

Of further interest might be mentioned the lounging rooms connected with the orchestra and balcony; the remarkable new ventilating system; the dressing rooms; the balcony lights and a dozen other features which will attract the most unobserving patron.

Map of Sewerage Route (drawn by Mr. Dunham, of the Street Commissioner's office) which is favored by Councilman Fred Endress. He says of the route: "It would be of greater benefit and more economical than the indirect route." See letter of Councilman Endress published on first page today.

downward revision of the tariff, whereby the cost of living would be materially reduced. Not unmindful of what Congressmen of other parties have done, Mr. Tuttle gave them due credit for assistance in passing legislation that is beneficial to the people.

Referring to the popular election of United States Senator, he declared that his party had removed another source of scandal. He said that his party favored liberal laws for the benefit of the wage-earner, bills that were formerly killed by "Cannonism." Mr. Tuttle said that during the last session of Congress twenty-five bills were passed for the benefit of the labor interest. He denied that the party favored free trade, but he added that the people are paying more for meat in this country than abroad and this should not be so. He declared that his party stood for a just and equitable system of taxation and in his opinion the present tariff is too high.

The principles of the Socialist party were presented by Mr. Gilder, who said that such meetings would prove a help in emancipating the women of the country. The Socialist party, Mr. Gilder said, differs from any other party, and there is no connection between it and the other political organizations. He declared it to be a party for working men and women, not only those known as the ditch-digger or the man who carries the pick, but for the educated people of the country. He said that it was a party of education and agitation, which desires something better than they have at present.

"The Socialist party is based fundamentally," said Mr. Gilder, "on its opposition to private ownership of the wealth of the country. We believe that the wealth belongs to the people who produce it. We do not care about the tariff, that bugaboo used to confuse the minds of the people. It is the high cost of living and poverty that concerns the people.

"Who are the people of the United States? Ninety per cent. belong to the working or producing class and we believe that the people are entitled to the fruits of their labor. According to government statistics, the wealth produced in the manufacturing industries per capita amounts to $2,347 and in return for labor there is paid in wages $447. The people are therefore robbed of nearly $2,000 by exploiters. Wages have gone up 25 per cent. in the past twenty years, while the cost of living has advanced 60 per cent. It is the problem of poverty that concerns us. That is the essential.

"Do you know that seven-tenths of the bills passed by Congress for the working people have been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. Wall Street owns or controls the whole governmental machinery? I have not heard that statement denied. Iam told that Rockefeller and Morgan own one-third of the United States and 123 men own the other two-thirds. All of the political parties, except the Socialist, have been charged with receiving campaign funds."

In presenting the principles of the Progressive party, Mr. Taggert declared that they stand for social and industrial justice, effective legislation for the prevention of industrial accidents, occupational diseases, overwork, involuntary unemployment, safety and health standards for the various occupations, the prohibition of child labor, minimum wage for working women and other things.

Among other things Mr. Taggart said:

"Here is something really unique in a political platform—a party really carrying the social and industrial life into the protection of the law and against the interests of the minority who profit by social injustice. A protective tariff which shall equalize conditions of competition between the United States and foreign countries. No industry deserves protection that is unfair to labor.

"We condemn the Payne-Aldrich bill as unjust to the people. The Democratic party is committed to tariff for revenue only—a policy which would inevitably produce industrial disaster. The platform of the Progressive party is the most important public document since the Emancipation Proclamation and ranks with it and the Declaration of Independence."

Mr. Taggert told of the birth of the Progressive party,-which is the outgrowth of the New Idea or Insurgent movement, and he recalled the names of Cummins, Beveridge, Dixon, Dolliver, Poindexter, Borah and others who have given the party its support. Referring to the second Chicago convention, held August 7, the speaker said that it brought together men and women in a manner never seen before at a political convention. Marked with a religious fervor, serious, sober and terribly in earnest, these representatives of every State in the Union consecrated themselves to the work of restoring the rule of the people to the people. Mr. Taggert then spoke briefly on the more important planks of the party platform.

William N. Runyon was the last speaker, and after complimenting the women for their interest and adding that a great deal could be learned at such a gathering, he said that no matter how the parties differed they all had one ideal—that of bettering the conditions of the country. Mr. Runyon said that parties are shifting more and more and that may be sooner or later there would be two parties, the Conservative and the Radical.

"The Republican party, like others," said Mr. Runyon, "points with pride and views with alarm, but what the country is today it owes to the Republican party, with all its virtues and shortcomings, and naturally we take credit. The party platform stands for safeguarding public health, protecting women and children, protecting the working people and insuring them their rights, curbing the trusts, enacting legislation that will more clearly define just what rights corporations have and what they can do, and protecting the smaller dealer."

Mr. Runyon touched upon the tariff, the cost of living, which he said could not be laid to the tariff, for present conditions are prevalent in all parts of the world; adding that his party advocated a scientific investigation of the subject. He referred to the banking and currency measures advocated, the extension of Civil Service and said that his party stands for maintaining the highest possible type of citizenship, the maintenance and increase of the navy, the re-establishment of a Merchant Marine, the reclamation of arid lands, the improvement of the Mississippi river to prevent floods and a restriction of immigration. In conclusion he quoted extracts from the platform pertinent to the occasion and on behalf of the other speakers and himself thanked the women for their attention and interest in the subject under discussion. Before the meeting adjourned a vote of thanks was given to the speakers.

SHOWERED APPLAUSE ON M. ZIMBALIST

Violin Virtuoso Takes Critical Audience by Storm—Difficult Numbers.

The musical season was ushered in last evening with brilliance and enthusiasm at the first McIntyre concert of this year's series at the Plainfield High School auditorium. the occasion being the violin recital by the famous Russian violinist Efrem Zimbalist. The audience was large and representative of the most prominent social and musical people who showered the artist with continuous applause throughout the program. He is acknowledged everywhere as a virtuoso of the first rank and easily so proclaimed himself to his hearers last evening.

His most appealing and satisfying power was his delicacy, beauty of tone and pure intonation. This was especially remarkable in his performance of the little piece of his own, "Orientale," and in the charming encore of similar character to it which he granted after the Scott numbers.

Zimbalist's program on the whole was a pretty severe test of Plainfield's appreciation, particularly the first part, with its lengthy and severe sonata by Brahms, followed by an equally if not more severe Bach number.

From the hearty and spontaneous applause following these selections one can easily believe that music lovers have arrived at the plane of appreciation where the most classical program can be taken with satisfaction and pleasure.

Mr. Lutsky, who assisted Mr. Zimbalist, is a pianist of a high order of excellence and won instant approval and applause by his rendition of the difficult, "Mephisto Waltz," by Liszt. He gave as an encore a melody by Gretchaninoff, arranged by himself.

The next concert of the series will be given on December 6, when the world-renowned quartet, the Flonzaley's will give their concert. That Plainfield owes much to Mr. McIntyre for these splendid concerts is the general opinion, and it is gratifying to see the large audiences that gather and thus portray their approval of his plans and enterprise. The program of last night's concert follows:

Sonata D Minor ..... Brahms
Allegro In poco presto o con sentimento
Adagio Presto Agitato
(a) Sarabande, (b) Double, (c) Double ..... Bach-Schumann
(a) Cherry Ripe, (b) Irish Song, (c) Dance ..... Cyril Scott
(a) Orientale, (b) Russian (c) Scenes from the Czardes...Hubay

RICH PHOTO-GRAVURES OF NOMINEES AT COST

Just nine Roosevelt and 84 each of the Taft and Wilson photogravures, which the Daily Press has been putting out for one coupon clipped from the paper and ten cents for several weeks during the campaign, were left in the business office last night. No more can be obtained between now and election, and what are left should sell like hotcakes during the present week. In order to dispose of them quickly they will be offered at less than cost, and anyone presenting one coupon clipped from any edition of the Daily Press and five cents at the Daily Press office may have the picture of his or her favorite candidate, as long as they last. The greatest demand up to date by far has been for the Roosevelt pictures, as the same number of each was ordered when the Daily Press started handling them.

Those who want pictures will have to speak quickly as when these are gone the Daily Press will not secure any more.

GOOD VAUDEVILLE.

Proctor's par excellent vaudeville and photo-play show consists of the following well presented acts: The Four Juggling Johnsons, Indian club experts. Their work is wonderfully quick, their stunts and tricks are well executed. The Musical Fredericks, in a novel comedy musical act of great merit. The cornet, saxaphone, the musical glasses, tin cans, drums, etc., and with the comedy of the man al. help to make an exceptionally entertaining act. Warren and Frost, in the comedy satire on married life. "Married," will prove interesting to those who are married and to those who contemplate reaching that stage. Elliott and West, eccentric dancers of the first degree, introduce a number of new and difficult steps that made a hit. Rose and Montrose, in a kid act, a distinct novelty called "Nursery Dreams," featuring the concertina, which is played in a remarkable manner.

—"It's never too late to mend," quoted the Wise Guy. "That's right," agreed the Simple Mug. "I read in the paper today of a couple who got a divorce after they had been married 48 years."

—There isn't anything in the whole world quite so proud as a girl of 16 with her first real beau.

THE PLAINFIELD TRUST COMPANY

Mr. TAXPAYER:

A municipality is a corporation in which each taxpayer is a stockholder. A strictly business corporation shows no personal partiality—it employs men who best do their duty. And if experience proves that an employee is faithful and efficient, such is the final test.

The Mayor and Common Council, on November 27, 1907, appointed me as your Tax Collector to serve until the next election. In November, 1908, the taxpayers, having a vote, elected me to fill out the unexpired term. Again in November, 1909, they chose me for a full term until January 1, 1913. Now, I have been honored by the Republican party in my nomination for another term.

"Public office is a public trust" and without any spirit of vanity I refer you to my record as one of your servants. I have conscientiously tried to do my duty and I have always been at the command of the taxpayer in my line of duty. As to this, I ask you, even if a taxpayer without a vote, to bear testimony.

If you consider me worthy of the trust reposed in me, if you believe I have been a faithful public servant of a public corporation, I take this means to solicit your support at the poll on Tuesday, November 5, at the hours between 6 a. m. and 7 p. m.

SHOPMAN KILLED BY A FAST TRAIN

Chestnut Street Crossing in Dunellen Claims Another Victim.

THOUGHT HE WAS SAFE

Doughty Had Paused to Let One Train Go by Before Stepping on Tracks—Employers to Bring Railroad Before P. U. C.

Continuing across the Chestnut street crossing of the Central Railroad at Dunellen, after waiting to let an eastbound freight train pass, late yesterday afternoon, Charles Doughterty, 55 years old, formerly of Paterson, but for the past two years a resident of Dunellen, stepped in front of the Harrisburg "flyer" going west, and was instantly killed.

He was an employe of the Levgar Structural Iron Works, and made his home with Charles Wyckoff, of Chestnut street, Dunellen. It is said that he has a daughter, a school teacher in Trenton.

It is said that Dougherty was deaf, and this was probably one of the contributory causes of the accident. The Levgar Company, employing hundreds of mechanics and workmen, and taking into consideration the welfare of their employees who are forced to cross the tracks daily, have petitioned the Central Railroad authorities numerous times in vain to place gates at this place. This, say the structural iron people, is the main cause for yesterday's accident, and may be the cause of other deaths unless suitable protection is established there at once. The Levgar people will immediately take the question up with the Public Utility Commission.

The badly mangled body of the victim was taken to Runyon's undertaking establishment and an effort will be made to reach his relatives.

MANY AT LYDIA CHAPTER'S "NIGHT WITH THE STARS"

"An Autumn Night with the Stars," given in Sebring's Auditorium, last night, by Lydia Chapter, No. 41, Order Eastern Star, was largely attended and proved a success. The auditorium was attractively decorated for the occasion, the floral arrangement at each table being different. One corner was arranged to represent a cornfield, with corn shocks and pumpkins, some illuminated with incandescent lights and others decorated to represent witches and hobgobblins. Ice cream and cake was served in the "cornfield" under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Woodard.

During the evening interspersing the dancing, there was an informal program which included an overture by Stuart's orchestra; soprano solo by Mrs. Harry Purcell; recitations by Miss Maude Kane; soprano solos by Mrs. Robert Humpston; recitations by Miss Helen Woolley and tenor solos by Elmer D. Cutting.

Those in charge of the various tables were as follows: Aprons and useful articles, Mrs. W. R. Causebrook; candy, Mrs. George S. Passmore; flowers, Mrs. E. W. Poinier; cake, Mrs. Frank Wynkoop, past worthy matron; coffee and sandwiches, Mrs. S. B. Joseph and Mrs. J. S. Pray.

Miss Margaret Stein was the general chairman of the affair, and the reception committee comprised Worthy Matron Mrs. Clayton M. Nagle and Worth Patron S. B. Joseph, Horace J. Martin, W. R. Causebrook, George Passmore and Guy D. Peck also assisted. Music for dancing was furnished by Stuart's orchestra.

COLORED REPUBLICANS HOLD A MASS MEETING

The colored Republicans of this section rallied in large numbers at Reform Hall, last night, under the auspices of the Colored Republican Club. Dr. J. C. Anderson presided and Andrew Carey acted as secretary.

Among the colored speakers were James Scotland, of Newark; Fred Moore, of New York, owner and editor of New York Age; Rev. I. W. L. Roundtree, of Trenton; Prof. Hart, of the Washington Law School, and former Congressman George H. White, of Philadelphia.

Judge W. R. Codington, candidate for mayor, City Collector William R. Townsend, who is running for reelection; Leighton Calkins, Third ward candidate for Council, and Francis Blatz, Fourth ward candidate for Council, spoke briefly.

MRS. JULIA BENDER.

GROSSO TRADING CO. GOES TO THE WALL

Herman Liebovitz's Varied Interests Topple Together—Local Factory Figures.

Herman Liebovitz, trading under the name of the Grosso Silk Manufacturing Company, the Grosso Trading Company and Novelty Lace and Embroidery Company, which has several factories throughout the country, including one in the Marshall building on Watchung avenue, has made an assignment for the benefit of creditors. On October 18, Wiliam Sage, Jr., was appointed assignee for the benefit of creditors of Herman Liebovitz, under a deed of trust. A tentative report shows the total assets to be $62,072.23 and the total unsecured liabilities $105,003.91. The merchandise inventories show that the assets of the Plainfield factory amount to $25,826.59.

In the course of a statement Mr. Sage says: "I have manufactured the uncompleted garments found at the factory in Plainfield. No new merchandise has been purchased; with the exception of a few items which were necessary to complete garments in process of manufacture. As soon as I complete the manufacture of all uncompleted garments, the plant will be closed unless I am instructed to the contrary by creditors."

It is believed that the trust can be liquidated by about the first of the year, and an initial dividend paid some time early in December.

MUSURGIA SOCIETY TO BE HEARD HERE

Noted New York Club Will Sing for Benefit of C. O. S.

The Charity Organization Society of Plainfield has been able to arrange in the way of a concert what no other charitable organization in the vicinity of New York has been able to plan, in securing the services of the Musurgia Society, a New York chorus of thirty-five men's voices, to appear for its benefit on the evening of Thursday, November 21, at the High School Auditorium.

The Musurgia Society is one of the oldest men's clubs in New York and is now in its thirtieth year. It was founded by William R. Chapman, who was succeeded in the position of conductor by Frank Damrosch. Its present conductor is Walter H. Robinson, who conducts several other musical oragnizations in or near New York City. The men of the Musurgia are all trained singers, many of them solo singers in New York churches. Until recently the society has limited itself to New York concerts, singing to its subscribers in Carnegie Hall and Waldorf-Astoria, so that rarely has an opportunity been afforded to buy tickets to its concerts at public sale The concert will be popular in its nature and tickets may be purchased from any member of the Board of Trustees of the Charity Organization Society or at the places where such tickets are customarily on sale as will appear from advertisements later.

ELWOOD W. PHARES IS MAKING TELLING CANVASS

The very active campaign conducted by Elwood W. Phares, Bull Moose two-year term candidate for Board of Freeholders, is having its effect. On all sides Mr. Phares' candidacy is being favorably spoken of and it is generally conceded that he has an excellent chance to be returned among the winners.

Through many years experience in the real estate business in Elizabeth, Mr. Phares learned the value of newspaper advertising. In a clean cut manner through the advertising columns of the newspapers of the county, Mr. Phares is telling the voters why he should be elected. The effectiveness of the campaign is evidenced by the voluntary proffers of support coming from voters of all parties. By mail and by 'phone voters are telling Mr. Phares to count on their support. In many cases the voters are not known personally by Mr. Phares.

REPUBLICAN SPELLBINDER IMPROVES SHINING MINUTE

The street meetings were continued last night under the auspices of the Republican City Executive Committee, the first one being held at East Fifth street and Watchung avenue. The second meeting, held at the Netherwood Station, was brief owing to the funeral of Harold W. Durar in that vicinity. William R. Codington expressed his sympathy for the bereaved family, after which the party returned to Reform Hall, where a colored Republican mass meeting was held.

J. H. Lippencott, who was assigned by the National Republican Committee to speak here, did not understand the arrangement, but decided that inasmuch as he was in town he might as well make the best of his time. He spoke for ten minutes at East Fifth street and Watchung avenue to a good sized crowd on national issues.

ABANDON HOPE FOR VICE PREST.

Sherman Unconscious Since Yesterday and Physician Said End Was Near.

WARNING IN BULLETINS

Dr. Peck Stated This Afternoon That His Distinguished Patient Might Live Twenty-four Hours—In Comatose State Today.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Utica, New York, Oct. 30.—Dr. F. H. Peck issued the following formal bulletin a little after 1 o'clock this afternoon:

"Vice President Sherman is gradually failing. The end will probably come tonight or tomorrow or it may be fully twenty-four hours hence. Mr. Sherman has been unconscious practically all of the time since yesterday afternoon. He went to sleep at 3 o'clock and has been in a comatose state ever since."

Shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, Dr. Peck issued this bulletin on the condition of Vice President Sherman: "The Vice President's condition continues desperate. He is sleeping quietly and slept all night long. Pulse, 100; respiration, 25; temperature, practically normal."

The Vice President was asleep at 8:30 o'clock this morning and there was no apparent change in his condition at that time except that he was a trifle weaker. Hypodermic medication continues to relieve his kidney involvement and induces rest.

Hypodermic medication has been resorted to by his physicians to ease his sufferings from the involvement of the kidneys, which have now failed to perform their functions, and as a result of the administering of these quieting medicines the vice president slept with a very few periods of wakefulness.

Doctor Makes Statement.

Mr. Sherman's condition was summed up in a statement made by Dr. F. H. Peck, the vice president's personal physician. These are Dr. Peck's words:

"During Monday night Mr. Sherman slept uninterruptedly from 11 o'clock until 5 a. m. It was a restful sleep and no opiates were necessary to produce it. When he awakened he was perfectly rational and was greatly refreshed. About 11 o'clock yesterday morning there was a return of the distressing conditions due to the failure of the functions of his kidneys, and his condition became desperate. Subsequently by means of hypodermic medication he was quieted, and he dropped into a sleep which has continued most of the afternoon and undoubtedly he will pass a peaceful night.

"Mr. Sherman's heart action is fair, but the complications from his kidneys make his condition extremely critical because there is grave doubt if the kidneys will respond to remedial measures. Uraemia is now sapping the vitality of the vice president, and I have great fear of the outcome. His condition could hardly be more desperate, but I do not apprehend his immediate death."

Family Awaits Summons.

Dr. Peck is constantly at the bedside of the patient, and the members of the vice president's family, Mrs. Sherman and her three sons, Sherill, Richard and Thomas, are in the Sherman home waiting for the summons to the sick chamber which they so dread, but which they realize is inevitable. No visitors are received beyond relatives or intimate friends, and absolute quiet prevails in the Sherman mansion. No one is permitted in the sickroom but the physicians, nurses, Mrs. Sherman and her three sons.

MRS. ANNIE M'KENZIE.

Mrs. Annie McKenzie, 50 years old, widow of Henry McKenzie, died at her home, 24 North Reid street, Elizabeth Monday night, following a long illness. She was born at Warrenville where she lived until a few years ago. Mrs. McKenzie is survived by two daughters, the Misses Florence and Ethel McKenzie, one son, Percy McKenzie, all residing at Elizabeth; two brothers and a sister, William Bornman, of Basking Ridge, and John Bornman, and Miss Lizzie Bornman, of Warrenville. The funeral will be held at the late residence in Elizabeth at 8 o'clock tonight and burial will be made in the Springdale cemetery, at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Thomas J. Hughes, the Democratic candidate for member of the Board of Freeholder for the two year term, is making a lively fight and even his opponents admit that his chances for election are excellent. Mr. Hughes was born at Scotch Plains, but has lived in Plainfield since he was two years old. His present residence is 348 East Second street. He received his education in the Plainfield public schools, and he is perhaps better known by reason of the fact that he has been in the employ of F. C. Langhorne, the photographer, for twenty-five years.

During his residence here Mr. Hughes has been interested in real estate, has built a number of houses and is a large property-owner. He is said to be thoroughly informed as to the needs of this end of the county.

Mr. Hughes is a member of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, and Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E.

HALLOWE'EN GAIETY AT "FOLIES FANTASTIQUES"

During the evening there will be a vaudeville program comprising fancy dances by Miss Margaret Curtis; song and dance by John Myers and Brown Rolston; solos by Miss Elsie Godard and a character sketch by "Bud" Rolston and Brown Rolston. The whole affair will be typical of Hallowe'en.

Mrs. F. E. DuBois is president of the circle. The heads of committees are as follows: Entertainment, Mrs. H. C. White, Mrs. H. L. McGee; refreshment, Mrs. Alexander Milne; decorations, Mrs. Everitt Murray; waitresses, Mrs. A. B. Laing. The entertainment will be followed by a dance.

MOY REPLIES TO HIS CRITICS; CLAPP THRILLS PROGRESSIVES

Biggest Political Meeting Thus Far This Season Held by Progressives Last Night—Hedges Talk a Master Piece of Eloquence.

Echoing the fervid and militant spirit of political reform and regeneration which made the convention that placed Theodore Roosevelt in nomination for President the most remarkable assemblage of its kind in the history of American politics, the Progressive mass meeting at the Plainfield Theatre last night took rank beyond partisan cavil as the most enthusiastic gathering of the campaign in this city.

It would not be accurate to say that the theatre was filled "from pit to dome," but the crowd did fill every seat in the orchestra and balcony, and kept coming in such numbers as to compel the opening of the gallery, and up there under the roof men sat from beginning to end. And whatever his own private political belief might be, one who looked over that assemblage as the spirit of the meeting made itself manifest could not help but see that here were men who either yearned with all their hearts and souls for guidance on a higher political way, or who already felt with all their hearts and souls that they had found the cause that would lead to a realization of splendid political ideals.

There were men in the audience—they said so themselves—who in other years never bothered with political meetings. It was "different" this year, they said. They put their feelings in various phrases, but what they all meant was that this year it seemed to them as if they had a chance to express effectively sentiments and beliefs which in past years couldn't find place even in the decorative filligree on the platform of a great party.

Oratory and quiet reasoning blended in what for that audience was a feast of inspiration and enthusiasm. Senator Moses E. Clapp delivered a gripping address; Mayor Moy, calmly, as one citizen to another, replied to the bitter Republican attack on his administration; and Dr. Ellis W. Hedges, with his maiden political speech won golden spurs as an orator. In a good many ways Dr. Hedges' speech was the speech of the evening. It was touched in language of real eloquence, and the fervor of the spirit behind it glowed in every word. As his first political speech, the first blow of a volunteer forced from the quiet of laboratory and family practice by the insistent call of the heralds of reform, it was significant of the new party movement and a remarkable feature of a great meeting.

MOY REFUTES STATEMENTS OF REPUBLICAN CHAIRMAN

Mayor Moy took up the charges which have been made against his administration by William Newcorn in detail, and refuted every statement which the Republican City chairman made against him. He put it squarely up to Newcorn to demonstrate what city department had been demoralized; how his administration had been extravagant, and asked for further particulars as to the charge that he had built up a political machine. His remarks in full were as follows:

"It is not strange, considering the method of my election that I should not have been received with open arms by those who had been heretofore in full charge of affairs in this city. I was regarded as a usurper—I had not been 'regular'—I had dared to think and to act independently—I had dared to go behind the returns of a Republican primary and to show the fraud of that primary, and I had proved the fraud to a usfficient degree to satisfy the then Mayor—and to have the parties charged held for the Grand Jury—I had then dared to accept the nomination given to me without solicitation by the Democratic party—and I had led that party to a Democratic victory for the first time in many years; I had brought into office with me this independence of thought and action; I had done my own thinking and I have gotten into the habit kept it up; I then re-

HEDGES AND CLAPP EXCEL AS CAMPAIGN ORATORS

The meeting opened with the singing of America, and then Dr. Hedges spoke as follows:

"Ladies and Gentlemen—I owe you an apology for consenting to preside at this magnificent meeting tonight. In all my life I have never before done a thing like this and I frankly confess I don't know how to make a speech nor introduce a speaker. But I do know that I love Theodore Roosevelt and that I am for him first, last and all the time, and because I believe in him I am before you now. We have no bitter quarrel with our friends the enemy. We believe that both the standard-bearers of the Republican and Democratic parties are honest, patriotic men, striving for our common country's good, but they lay the emphasis on different things from what we Progressives do. President Taft appeals to you because we have bumper crops all through our land. Governor Wilson asks for your votes because he believes the tariff unconstitutional and he wants to reduce it to the basis of for revenue only, and because he believes that large business combinations should be broken up into their component parts and the old era of unlimited competition restored. Theodore Roosevelt appeals to you because he wants to make this world a better place for you and me and for our children to live in because he would make life a little easier for all our people and would try to take the

WHERE THE COUNCILMANIC NOMINEES STAND

NO. 3—THE THIRD WARD

Responding to the invitation of the Plainfield Daily Press to let the voters know what his views are on the chief problems of the municipality, Leighton Calkins, Republican nominee in the Third ward for the Common Council, answers the twelve questions submitted by this paper to the mayoralty and councilmanic candidates.

Here are the questions:

First—Do you favor a joint sewage disposal system as a general principle?

Second—Do you favor the joint sewage disposal plans as so far proceeded with by the joint committee?

Third—Do you favor the so-called "direct," or the "indirect" route?

Fourth—Do you favor making a new and more favorable contract with the water company?

Fifth—Do you favor municipal ownership of the water supply?

Sixth—Do you approve of the plans already taken by the city authorities looking to municipal control of the water supply?

Seventh—Do you believe that water would be cheaper with municipal control?

Eighth—Do you favor increasing the number of wholesale and retail liquor licenses, or either class?

Ninth—Do you favor maintaining the retail fee at $1,200, or lowering or raising it?

Tenth—Do you favor what is known as the Tyler saloon zone ordinance?

Eleventh—Do you favor a municipal system for the collection and disposal of garbage and ashes, or either garbage or ashes?

Twelfth—Do you favor a commission form of government for Plainfield?

Here is Mr. Calkins' statement in answer thereto:

"Running a municipality is simply managing the peoples' business for them and they should not be expected to choose their officials blindly. I therefore willingly avail myself of the opportunity to state my views.

"A candidate, however, has no right to commit himself in advance on questions of importance upon which there may be a considerable difference of intelligent opinion in the community, because it will be his business to subject them to a more thorough and disinterested examination and study in office than in his capacity as a private citizen. He should not hesitate to change his mind as often as he finds himself in the wrong. It must therefore be understood that my replies reflect merely my present views on questions which, in the event of my election, I shall carefully look into and discuss with my associates and those whom I represent. My vote in the Council chamber on every question will be in accordance with my best judgment and honest convictions at the time, and absolutely without regard to political effect. I make this statement a part of the following replies to the questions which you have put:

"First. I cannot say that I either

WHERE NOMINEES STAND

favor or oppose a joint sewage proposition as a general principle. Every case must be considered on its own merits. I believe, however, in the economy of co-operation. Where a single system can be made to serve several communities, it would be wasteful for each to construct its own.

Second. I favor the general sewage disposal plans so far as proceeded with by the joint committee; and think that minor differences should be disregarded and that further delay, with the additional expense incidental thereto, can and should be avoided by prompt action at the present time.

"Third. My opinion is that the indirect route is preferable, not because it is indirect, but because it is really cheaper. Its construction will cost the city a little more, but there will be a yearly saving of over $1,600 in the cost of operation after the payment of fixed charges, which more than justifies the greater initial cost. Furthermore, the plans have been passed upon by competent experts and have their approval.

"Fourth. In reply to your question whether I favor making a new and more favorable contract with the water company, I will answer that when I am buying anything from anybody, under contract, I always favor getting a new contract more favorable to myself if I can.

"As a matter of fact, our contract with the water company has lapsed, and no new contract is needed to hold the company to its obligation, under its charter and the laws of the State, to supply water and sufficient water at reasonable rates.

"Fifth, Sixth and Seventh. For convenience I will answer these questions together. I approve of public or municipal ownership of water as a general principle. The people should not only be assured of a permanent and inexhaustible supply, but should not be compelled to economize unduly in their daily consumption of water because of its cost. Water ought to be plentiful and as cheap as we can make it. If municipal ownership will do this, I am for it.

"At the same time I don't believe, as a business proposition, in buying anything without considering the expense, especially when you haven't the money. Nor do I believe in bonding the city to a large amount and taxing the people for heavy interest charges, merely for the sentimental satisfaction of saying that we own our own water supply. There must be some sounder business reason, measured in dollars and cents.

"I attended the public hearings last winter for the purpose of informing myself on this problem; but I realize that I do not know as much about it as I must make it my business to know if elected. Therefore I am neither prepared nor competent at this time to say whether water would be cheaper under municipal ownership; or whether I approve or disapprove of the plans to secure such ownership when they have not as yet been made public in detail.

"Eighth, Ninth and Tenth. These questions can also best be answered together. I think that high license is better calculated than prohibition to result in respect for the law, the substantial observance of it, and the prevention of graft and blackmail. Licenses should be granted only to applicants of unquestioned respectability and should be restricted in number and not thereafter be increased unless clearly warranted by the increase of population. I know of no reason for lowering the retail fee, nor do I think it should be raised beyond an amount regarded as reasonable by the best governed communities of the same character. I believe in the theory of the so-called Tyler Zone Ordinance, namely, that saloons should not be extended into the residential districts. Its purpose is to locate the business where it can be watched and regulated. Any exception in favor of an outlying district partly residential and partly commercial should be clearly justified by the character of the locality and the adequacy of our police protection. We may admit that unless effective substitutes are provided, the saloon is to a certain extent the poor man's club; but this imposes upon it the obligation to maintain the respectability of a club. The liquor business, because of its opportunities for abuse, should be put as it were upon its good behavior, and held to strict accountability and an honest compliance with the law. No proprietor should be entitled to the re-issue of a license which has been revoked for evasion of the law.

"Eleventh. In the interest of public health and cleanliness, I favor municipal systems for the collection and disposal of garbage and ashes. But here again the cost of installation and operation must be considered whenever these matters are presented; as well as the question whether a moral if not a legal obligation requires that some compensation be made, where private concerns are put out of business for no fault of their own.

"Twelfth. I hardly think I would favor a commission form of government for a city which in the main has been as intelligently and honestly governed as Plainfield. I do not believe in unnecessary experiment. At the same time I believe in the commission principle, as a corrective, because the evils of public life in this country are largely due to the intricacies of our systems and to our complex political machinery. We need simplified government, that good government may be automatic rather than intermittent. The commission form, like the short ballot, is a means to that end.

"In conclusion, I should regard it as the duty of public spirited citizens who are not in accord with me on public questions, to help me with their views; and my great privilege to receive them. If government is to be efficient, there must be a community of interest and responsibility between the people and their public servants.

"Yours very truly,
"LEIGHTON CALKINS."

MAY REPRESENT SCHOOL AT ZURICH CONVENTION

Mrs. Lucie Rising, assistant to Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, will probably represent the Bible School of the church as a delegate to the World's Sunday-School Convention to be held in Zurich, Switzerland, next Summer. The matter was brought up at the monthly meeting of the officers and teachers of the school Monday night at the home of the superintendent, Arthur M. Harris, on Central avenue, and was referred to the finance committee with power. This convention is held every three years, the last one being at Washington.

During the business session a number were chosen to attend the State Sunday-school convention to be held at Trenton, November 12-14. There was a general discussion of the various reports presented by the heads of committees, after which there was a social hour and refreshments were served.

SEES SPITE WORK N BIG MILLSTONE FIRE

Blaze Didn't Start From Natural Causes, Factory Head Says.

East Millstone, Oct. 30.—That spite was the cause of the fire here which destroyed the Harmer Rubber Reclaiming Company's plant, the hotel owned by the New Brunswick Brewing Company, a store and residence owned by George N. Gerhart and smaller buildings, was the declaration yesterday of President Abraham Marcus, of the rubber company, the chief losers.

"I am not prepared to accuse any one, but the fire could not have started from natural causes," said Mr. Marcus.

"We intend to put detectives on the trail of the culprit or culprits," Mr. Marcus went on, "and should proof be established on any one we will prosecute to the full limit of the law. There is no doubt in my mind that the fire was of incendiary origin and the guilty ones will be punished.

"Our watchman made his rounds just ten minutes before the big blaze broke out. No reason or cause can be assumed. Our building was set on fire for spite."

The fire, which started early in the morning, threatened the entire village. A wrecking crew of the Pennsylvania Railroad checked the flames until the arrival of apparatus from the departments of New Brunswick and Somerville. It was in the factory that the fire started. The watchman discovered flames in the drying room. He started fire pumps, but the blaze was soon beyond his control. The rubber company was only partly insured.

A preparatory service will be held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church this evening at 8 o'clock. The session will meet at the close of the service to receive new members by letter of profession of faith.

A Treat for Music Lovers.

Those who heard the Imperial Balalaika Orchestra last winter undoubtedly remember the delight with which they listened to Russian folk-songs and national dances, and other selections perhaps more familiar to Americans.

Anyone who will go to the Wanamaker Store at 2.30 o'clock and day this week can renew this pleasure or experience it for the first time. A double quintette from this orchestra, in peasant holiday garb, renders selections between that hour and 4 o'clock. If you should fail to obtain a program for any reason do not let that worry you, for the musicians are so liberal with encores that unless one is very well up in music one cannot possibly follow the printed selections.

The Balalaika is the national Russian musical instrument. It reminds one of both a mandolin and a banjo but neither of these instruments could ever aspire to produce such stirring crescendos or delicate diminuendos as are struck from these instruments by the fingers of the accomplished players. It is well worth a trip to the city to listen to the program which is offered in the Wanamaker Auditorium.

At 12 o'clock and again at 4 o'clock each day Victrola selections from "Madame Butterfly" are presented, accompanied by the great organ, piano and tableaux vivants posed in character by Umberto Sorrentino, formerly at La Scala Opera House, Milan. So well do the actors pose that one would verily believe that they were doing the singing and not the opera stars through the medium of the Victrola. It is a generous program, and one which should not be missed.

Public Service officials began their annual inspection yesterday and the work will be continued until every piece of property used for the railway, gas or electric business has been looked over and it's physical condition noted. The best part of a month will be required to cover the task President McCarter has set out for himself and those of his associates who make up the inspecting party.

D. Whitcomb of the Gas Company, General Manager Dudley Farrand of the Electric Company, Comptroller Percy S. Young, General Agent Percy Investalls, Assistant General Counsel L. D. H. Every gas and electric plant and the commercial offices in Newark, Harrison, Orange, Summit, Madison, Morristown, Montclair and Bloomfield were visited.

Today attention will be given to the greater part of the Central Division, including the properties at Plainfield, Perth Amboy, Carteret, Rahway, Metuchen, New Brunswick, Bound Brook, Somerville, Cranford and Elizabeth. Another day will be devoted to Jersey City, Hoboken, Union Hill, Weehawken, New Durham, and Secaucus and the Bergen Division, the Passaic Division and the Southern Division will be visited in turn.

After the gas and electric properties have been inspected attention will be turned to the street railways. General Manager R. E. Danforth will pilot the party over the entire railway system in Essex, Hudson, Bergen, Passaic, Union, Middlesex, Somerset, Mercer Burlington, Camden and Gloucester counties, stops being made at every car house.

The inspection trip is a preliminary to the preparation of the annual budgets for next year's expenditures for improvements and extensions.

TAFT IN HIGH SPIRITS AFTER CONFERENCE

Confident of Carrying New York and Massachusetts.

New York, Oct. 30.—At the end of a conference in which President Taft met Republican leaders representing New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts at the Manhattan hotel last night the president said to reporters who trooped in to see him:

"All I can say is that a number of distinguished gentlemen with whom I conferred seem to be in accord as to the wisdom the American people would show if they re-elected me and also as to the reasonable probability that they will do so."

The president seemed to be in high spirits as he said this. He had just been assured by State Cairman Barnes of New York and Senator Murray Crane of Massachusetts that he would carry these two states among others.

The conference was the only big Republican gathering of the sort that has taken place in New York in this campaign. To it had been invited all Republican candidates for congress of this city as well as all the New York state leaders and a selected few from the other states. It was held in the state room of the Manhattan after a dinner at which were President Taft, his two brothers, Henry W. and Charles H. Taft; Chairman D. Hilles of the national committee, Major Thomas L. Rhoades and Lieutenant John W. Timmons, the presidents personal aids.

EXACT TIME OF THE WORLD.

It Will Soon Be Accurately Fixed by Wireless Telegraphy.

Paris, Oct. 30.—The exact time at a given moment in America and Europe will be established shortly by wireless telegraphy. About the middle of November it will be possible for the first time to establish with precision the longitudes of America and Europe in their relation to each other by the exchange of wireless signals between the great station at Arlington, Va., and the Eiffel tower in Paris and other European stations.

Commander H. H. Hough at the international time conference here said the observatory in Washington was now distributing time with errors of only one-thousandth part of a second. Hitherto European and American time has been established by cable, allowances being made for loss of time in transmission, and it has been accurately fixed only three times—in 1866, 1870 and 1872.

Guilelmus and the Devils.

Guilelmus Parisiensis, the author of one of the most famous works on demonology, figures on what he terms "a basis of exact computation" to prove that "the regions of the air, the caverns and dark places of the earth" are inhabited by 44,435,536 devils. Where on earth this visionary writer obtained the material upon which to base such an "exact computation" has been an enigma to all of the later writers on demonology, witchcraft and kindred subjects.

MISS GANGLOFF BRIDE OF LOUIS T. CHURCHILL

Miss Emily Gangaloff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Watley Gangaloff, of Jefferson avenue, Dunellen, and Louis T. Churchill, borough engineer of Dunellen, were married last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride on Jefferson avenue. Rev. Ernest R. Brown, pastor of Dunellen Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

The ceremony took place in the parlor, which was decorated with autumn foliage and chrysanthemums. The maid of honor was Miss Florence Gangaloff, sister of the bride. The best man was Arthur Gangaloff, a brother of the bride.

The ceremony was attended only by the members of the immediate families. After a two weeks honeymoon trip through Washington, Baltimore and Norfolk, Va., the couple will take up their residence in Dunellen with the bridegroom's family until the house, which he is having built on Third street, Dunellen, is completed.

PARISH HOUSE SCHEDULE.

The schedule at the Parish House at Scotch Plains is beginning to shape itself into something definite. The bowling alleys, which are naturally in great demand, have been given over entirely to the men at night. In order that everyone may have an opportunity to enjoy the sport the senior male membership has been divided into five sections of fifteen men each and one night a week has been assigned to each section, leaving Saturday night as an "open night." William Guest, who is in charge of the alleys, has had considerable work and trouble adjusting a schedule that would be fair to all. The plan as arranged was made after practically two weeks of "open nights," so that he could get a line on just how many of the members would take up bowling. The gymnasium, in charge of Mr. Brozack, is also a popular place for the seniors at night. Later on special work will be taken up by Mr. Brozack as well as Miss Harbison, who has charge of the girls. The reading and game rooms have proven popular among those who enjoy the less strenuous life. Altogether, Scotch Plains has responded most encouragingly, and the Parish House, long needed by the town, cannot help but be even more of a success than either Dr. J. Ackerman Coles, his sister, Miss Emile Coles, of Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews anticipated.

SPRINGDALE PARTY.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Springdale Methodist church conducted a donation party and supper at the home of Mrs. W. Howard Toms, of Warrenville, last night. Twenty-five dollars was realized for the pastor, Rev. W. S. Mac Rorie. Mrs. Toms was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nischwitz and the Misses Kate and Lizzie Nischwitz.

A GREAT MASS MEETING.

In point of attendance, enthusiasm and sound and healthy discussion of the campaign's issues, the Progressives' mass meeting at the Plainfield theatre last night easily surpassed any political event of the kind held here in years. It must have been a very disagreebale revelation to the Stand-pat Republican leader who has vainly endeavored to befuddle his brain with the hallucination that the Progressive movement is not strongly intrenched here. The excellent presiding officer, Dr. Ellis W. Hedges, typified the class of Republicans who refuse to any longer swear allegience and pin their faith to the old party's policies and pledges but conscientiously and courageously rally around a standard consecrated to human rights. Dr. Hedges' speech was one which would be expected from a man of firm conviction and whose political course is governed by righteousness. Senator Clapp, the chief speaker, and Mayor Moy found a responsive audience and as they brought home telling truths spontaneous applause resounded through the big hall. It was a wonderful meeting and as we say a most disagreeable disappointment to those fooling themselves with the idea that the Third Party has not gotten a strong foothold in this splendid city of ours.

The Councilmanic nominees in the Third ward today explain for the benefit of the voters in that district their positions regarding the paramount problems of the municipality. The replies to the twelve questions submitted by the Daily Press are answered in the news columns of this issue by both Leighton Calkins, Republican, and Daniel J. Courain, Democrat. This is the third in the series and the Fourth ward candidates will be heard from tomorrow. Finally, on Friday, we will publish the views of the three Mayoralty nominees, W. R. Codington, Republican; G. W. V. Moy, Progressive, and Percy H. Stewart, Democrat. We believe that this practical and handy way of placing before the voters the position of all candidates for office should be of great value in guiding the man with the ballot and we must congratulate the nominees who have the good sense to frankly and unequivocally place themselves on record. Seven of the eleven Councilmanic candidates responded. Only one Republican and one Democrat failed to take advantage of the opportunity, but most inconsistently, we think, only one Progressive replied and his answers were quite evasive and very incomplete.

Does the average voter realize that by voting the Republican Freeholder ticket he thereby denies Plainfield representation on the County Board? Although the second largest contributor to county taxes, this city would have no membership and therefore no direct voice in the expenditure of moneys for improvements such as road and bridge work. It is because of this situation of affairs that Plainfielders will make no mistake in voting for Thomas J. Hughes and James J. McCann, the two local Freeholder candidates on the Democratic ticket.

All voters, irrespective of party, should read carefully the speech delivered by Mayor Moy at last night's mass meeting as reproduced in our news columns today. The city's executive not only gives an account of his stewardship but makes a reply to campaign attacks made on his administration. We believe that the Mayor made votes by his speech and will gain many more if those who where not present last night will spare a few minutes to peruse what he had to say.

Pattering after the New Brunswick Home News, the Newark Evening Star was conducted by women yesterday and they made a good job of it. Among the associate editors were Mrs. Florence Howe Hall and Mrs. Everett Colby. None of the editors hesitated to permeate the news columns with editorial matter and what they wrote proved to be good live reading matter.

Every now and then, in an editor's mail is a complaint, due to the mention of a man as "Jones," "Smith" or "Brown," bereft of the prefix "Mr." The handle to the name should always be there when it comes to public print, as, per example, Mr. Washington, Mr. Julius Caesar, Mr. Alexander the Great, Mr. Lincoln, Mr. Diogenes, Mr. Moses, etc., etc.

If your vote is sought by a candidate, you have the right to know where he stands on the issues—a mere party label is not sufficient. Read the replies of the Councilmanic and Mayoralty candidates as to their views on the city's problems and govern yourself accordingly.

Former Assemblyman George La Monte, of Somerset county, was bound to get a job and his good friend the Governor, planted him in the Banking Commissioner's chair. But La Monte will make good, so what's the difference.

It takes more than straw votes to elect a President.

FUEL SHIP JUPITER LAUNCHED

First Seagoing Vessel Electrically Driven Built at Mare Island.

The United States fuel ship Jupiter, the first electrically driven seagoing vessel ever built and the largest ship of any description ever laid down on the Pacific coast, was launched recently at the Mare Island navy yard.

The Jupiter will make about fourteen knots an hour. She is 572 feet long by 65 feet beam, draws 27 feet 6 inches, displaces 19,360 tons and has a carrying capacity of 12,500 tons of coal and 375,000 gallons of fuel oil. The keel was laid on Oct. 16 last, and the hull has been built in record time at a saving of nearly $100,000 over the appropriation of $1,200,000 allowed by congress.

Power is supplied by a six stage steam turbine of American design, driving a 14,000 horsepower electric generator, the largest of its kind ever built, current from which is conducted to motors driving twin screw shafts. Coal can be loaded from the Jupiter into a warship at the rate of 100 tons an hour, and duplex pumps will permit her to take in or pump out oil to another vessel at the rate of 120,000 gallons an hour.

FILES NOTICE OF APPEAL

Sentenced to Be Electrocuted During Week Beginning December 9, But Execution Will Be Arrested Until Court of Appeals Decision is Made.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Oct. 30.—The sentence of death was pronounced upon Lieut. Charles Becker, the convicted murderer of Herman Rosenthal, by Justice Goff in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court shortly after 10:30 o'clock this morning. He was sentenced to die during the week beginning December 9.

Notice of an appeal from the verdict and judgment were served on Justice Goff and District Attorney Whitman by John W. Hart, attorney of record for the former head of the strong arm squad, immediately after Becker was condemned to pay the extreme penalty. This will act automatically to arrest the execution until the Court of Appeals shall have handed down a decision on the appeal. A year or even a longer time may elapse before the final disposition of the case.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Ossining, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Sheriff Harburger reached Sing Sing prison with Becker at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. He was taken on the 11:30 o'clock train from the Grand Central station.

150,000 TROOPS IN BIG BATTLE

Turkish Commander Reports Fierce Fight in Progress This Morning.

ATTACK ON ADRIANOPLE

Egyptian Prince in Command of Turkish Cavalry at Kirk Kilissh Shot for Weak Show Against Bulgarians—Servia's Demands.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Constantinople, Oct. 30.—News that a fierce engagement is in progress between General Mazim Pasha's main Turkish army, just west of Lulebargas, and the invading Bulgarian forces has reached here. There are 150,000 troops engaged on both sides. The Government circulated reports that the Turks were driving the enemy backward and that speedy victory is assured. Really very little was known about the progress of the reported battle.

Aziz Pasha, the Egyptian prince who commanded the Turkish cavalry at Kick Kilissh, was shot here today for failing to make a better showing against the Bulgarians.

London, Oct. 30.—Advices from Sofia today were to the effect that a general attack on Adrianople by Czar Ferdinand's Bulgarian army had been delayed until Servian reinforcements reached the right wing. Servian troops are now on their way to join the Bulgarian army.

Cettenje, Montenegro, Oct. 30.—Prince Danilos and General Martinovitch's Montenegrin armies which have hitherto been operating separately effected a junction east of Scutari today and joined in the attack of the town.

Paris, Oct. 30.—That Servia will insist on access to the sea through a port of its own, which the Servians expect to take from Turkey, was semi-officially given out here today on the authority of the Belgrade Government. Servians will keep Uskub also and all the territory about it back to the present Servian frontier.

RULES ON RELIGIOUS GARB.

But Fisher's Decision Affecting Indian Schools Not Yet Made Public.

Before leaving for Hawaii to investigate Governor Frear, Secretary of the Interior Fisher submitted to President Taft a letter fully setting forth his decision with regard to the wearing of religious garb by teachers in government Indian schools. The president has not yet examined Mr. Fisher's decision, and it will not be made public until it is forwarded to Mr. Valentine, commissioner of Indian affairs.

The religious garb question has been the subject of controversy since Commissioned Valentine issued an order several months ago prohibiting members of Catholic religious communities from wearing their distinctive dress while teaching in government Indian schools. Mr. Valentine's order subsequently was suspended by President Taft pending a full hearing before Secretary Fisher.

"5% Profit-Sharing Coupons"

The Most Important Announcement This Store Has Ever Made

Beginning November 1st we are going to share out profits with you—going to give you back 5 per cent. of all the money you spend in our store.

For a long time we have been considering this proposition. We have felt that those who paid cash for their goods, were not getting a square deal.

Dr. Saunders in discussing the credit system at the Business Men's dinner the other night was right when he said, that in his opinion, the better way would be to give a cash discount in order to eliminate credits as far as possible.

This is the most important inovation that this store has ever adopted. We want you to compare this discount of 5 per cent. with any proposition you have ever heard of. We want you to remember that you are not confined to a few articles of questionable value, but that you have placed at your disposal in the redemption of these profit sharing coupons the vast stocks of merchandise that fill this store from top to bottom. You select the merchandise you want in any department that you desire—a fact that alone relegates the old-time and limited scope "Premium Parlor" idea to the background.

INSTRUMENT THAT TELLS THE WEATHER.

Spectroscope Barometer Detects the Coming of Rain.

A wonderful new pocket spectroscope barometer, the description of which sounds almost too good to be true, is the subject of an article in the London Daily Mirror. It is a little instrument like a small telescope, costs only a few shillings and can easily be carried in the waistcoat pocket. This spectroscope is the detective of rain, for the presence of water vapor in the air, however far away, has a visible effect on the instrument.

To use the spectroscope one simply looks through it toward the horizon in the direction from which the wind is blowing.

On gazing through the spectroscope a sudden vision of bright colors, like a piece of imprisoned rainbow, appears before the eyes. The colors are identical with those of the rainbow—dark purple, blue, green, yellow and red. And it is the narrow band of yellow—the brightest in the whole color scheme—which gets disturbed at the approach of rain.

If rain is coming a thin dark line appears over the patch of yellow.

A scientist explained how the spectroscope detects the approach of stormy conditions. "The nearer the approach of rain the more pronounced do the lines on the yellow band become," he said. "If the yellow band is quite distinct and free from any lines one may be assured that the weather will be fine, at least for some hours to come. There is one fixed dark line always present in the yellow part of the spectrum, but one soon becomes familiar with this and ignores it.

"The reason that lines appear on the yellow band is that when there is water vapor between the spectroscope and the sunlight the moisture 'cuts out' and absorbs part of the yellow band, leaving one or more black lines in its place. These black lines are caused by the absence of color, and their extent and clearness may determine the severity of the rainstorm and how soon it is likely to come.

"When using the instrument one must always look in the direction the wind is blowing from, as it will, of course, be from that point of the compass that water vapor will come. Once one has become an adept with it the spectroscope is far more certain than a barometer for forecasting rain, as the latter is influenced by many other causes, while the former is influenced by nothing except the water vapor in the air."

Mrs. William A. Coddington, of Madison avenue, is quite ill at her home being in charge of a physician and a trained nurse.

PLAINFIELD MEETS SOCCER LEAGUE LEADERS SATURDAY

The Plainfield Soccer team will journey to Kearney Saturday and tackle the champion Eurekas of that place, in an Inter-City Soccer League game. The Eurekas are now leading the league with a clear slate of five consecutive wins.

Their record is a remarkable one and is not confined to this year's performance. They have been beaten but once in three seasons, the locals having the distinction of turning the trick in 1911, by the score of 5 to 3. A large delegation of rooters expect to accompany them.

garded and still regard the functions of the executive to be separate and distinct from those of the legislative. I had thought and still believe that the Mayor should choose those who are to assist him in conducting his administration, and that he should then be held responsible for them. This had not been the method followed by my predecessors and it did not meet with favor on the part of the Common Council, and so my appointments were not confirmed. In making appointments I never asked a man his politics or his religion; I considered that I left politics behind when I crossed the thresheld of the Mayor's office; I considered that I was the Mayor of all of the people and as such was entitled to some consideration, and to such respect as my demeanor entitled me to; I have always had one purpose in view, and that was to have Plainfield clean, physically, morally, civicly; I did not and do not want any such reproach as has come to Newark and to Atlantic City heaped upon the city of which I am the head; I wanted law and not lawlessness; I wanted morality and not licentiousness; I wanted sobriety and not drunkenness; I wanted economy and not wastefulness or extravagance; it is the prerogative of the Mayor to recommend to the Common Council those things which he feels would be of benefit to the community; and if the Common Council fails to act there is of course no result. It is not the duty nor does it comport with the dignity of his office for the Mayor to beg and plead with the Common Council. The Common Council are clearly within their rights in refusing to adopt the suggestions offered, and are responsible only to the people who elected them, for their acts; and they may not know what the people think of their attitude regarding this matter until Election Day rolls round. And in this particular it may not be amiss to state that on last Election Day, for the first time in many years, two Democrats were elected to the Common Council over two Republicans seeking a reelection.

"Some criticism has been offered to my method of handling bills against the city—it is a well known fact that it is a very easy matter particularly from the municipal standpoint to spend money, and it has been my idea that if it was known that the Mayor was inclined to scrutinize bills somewhat closely and to object to what are apparently trivial items, he would the more certainly object to any item of considerable importance that indicated extravagance. In my first campaign I objected to favoritism in any department, and this is best exemplified perhaps by the fact that one patrolman in the Police Department had been doing night duty exclusively for either 17 or 19 years and another for almost the same period. This sort of thing has been corrected—those men are now permitted to see the light of day, and all the men have been given the same kind of treatment. I advocated economy and have endeavored to practice it. I, for instance, opposed the expenditure of $1,500 for auditing the city books, and submitted to the finance committee several letters from various accountants of good standing who are willing to do the work for amounts varying from one-third to one-half. I objected to a bill for a dead horse, together with a number of other bills which seemed to me to be wrong. For instance bills for sending away the Chief of the Fire Department and the Chief of the Police Department on pleasure trips. There is one bill which I approved that I will refer to later. A reference to my messages will show that I have recommended, among other things, municipal ownership of water, abolition of the fee system, publicity concerning public affairs, the widening of certain streets (preliminaries now being attended to), improvement of the trolley system (an ordinance has been passed giving the Mayor power to force the trolley company to keep its cars and road bed in order, under which an order was given and the tracks and cars put in good order), an ordinance regulating the burning of leaves, which has been a help although not an absolute relief.

"Among the things that I have opposed was the erection of gasoline tanks to store large amounts of gasoline within the city limits. My reason was that I regarded them as a menace to the welfare of the city. We have stopped the throwing of rubbish in the streets and burning it there; we now insist that horses shall not be left untied in the business section of the city and that all vehicles shall be headed one way and drawn up to the curb on the right. These may be regarded as little things but they all help to increase the welfare of the city. I found when I came into office a considerable number of so-called 'speakeasies' and after considerable effort this evil was stamped out; a number of places that were selling cider on Sunday were closed up.

"To sum the matter up, I may say that the law has been enforced, and with regard to this I can have no personal opinion, it is simply the performance of my obligation—the fulfilling of my oath of office.

"Another matter that I may properly mention is that I object to the expenditure of $300,000 for building an addition to the High School. I want our city to have the best High School in the State of New Jersey, but I do not think it is fair to spend all the money there when the Netherwood district is so badly in need of a school. I have figures which show that a school may be erected there for about $65,000.

"With regard to the saloon situation, you will probably remember that two saloons have been done away with, the reason being that they were objectionable because of their method of conducting business. When you give a saloon a license you make the business a legitimate business. I do not drink myself and have no use for them; there are, however, many men who have the habit and I think I am well within the truth when I say that the saloon business of this city is the best regulated of any city in the State.

Replies to Newcorn.

"And now I direct your attention to an article which appeared in the local papers on the 23d instant, containing statements made by the chairman of the Republican City Executive Committee at a Republican meeting held at Reform Hall, and which may therefore be regarded as the official utterance of the Republican party.

"That first item of complaint as I have it, is that the Daily Press is supporting my candidacy, the reason given being that I am president of a company holding stock in the company which owns the Press, stating that I am the arbitrator to settle differences between Mr. Morrow and Mr. Fort. The fact of the Mono Company owning stock to the number of 26 shares is true. It was published sometime ago. The Mono Company, however, has no vote in the affairs of the Press Company. It is not represented on the directorate of the Press Company, and it is purely a business investment among other investments of the Mono Company. I personally own no stock and have no voice in the affairs of the Press Company. I have nothing to say either individually or as a member of the Mono Company concerning the policy of the paper; have nothing to say or to do with regard to whom it does or does not support, and have not been delegated by the Mono Company to represent it with the Press Company. The statement that I am the arbitrator representing Mr. Morrow in and difference arising between himself and Mr. Fort is absolutely false.

"The next charge relates to my scrutiny of bills, the one particularly referred to being the one submitted by Mr. MacMurray last year for election expenses. This bill after getting out of Mr. MacMurray's hands had to pass the finance committee, the auditing committee, and then the Common Council as a whole before it reached me. Part of this bill as I remember it would be for fees to the City Clerk, and this did not arouse any suspicion in my mind, and I will frankly say that the question of the city not being responsible for it did not occur to me. The question of MacMurray's fees has been settled—that is to say the final disposition of them—for he had stated to me that he agreed with me that these fees should go to the city—that he had so agreed with the finance committee in January of this year, and in conversation with him a few days ago, he informed me that the fees were being kept separately and that they would be turned over to the city at the end of the year. If a mistake has been made in the city paying a bill which the county should pay, and there seems to be some doubt, as I now have the matter, there will certainly be no difficulty in recovering the amount from the county. If blame is to be placed I want my full share of the blame in the matter, but inference suggested that the bill was passed because it was MacMurray's bill is an insult to every member of the Common Council as well as to myself.

"Again, it is charged that I have tried to build up a political machine and that in so doing have demoralized all city departments by injecting politics. I asked the head of the street department, Mr. Gavett, yesterday whether or not his department was demoralized and he informed me most positively that it was not, and further stated that my suggestions to him had been most helpful. I also asked Mr. Townsend yesterday the same question and he replied that his department was in good shape and that there was no truth in the charge. I put the same question today to the Chief of the Police Department and his answer was that his department was not demoralized. I asked him if he had said to the chairman of the City Republican Executive Committee or to any other person that his department was demoralized, and his reply was that 'I have not.'

"I asked the Chief of the Fire Department today whether or not his department was demoralized, and he said, 'I wouldn't stand for it.' I asked him if he had stated to the chairman of the City Executive Committee that his department was demoralized, and he said he had not.

"Where, then, does the gentleman get his information, and upon what facts is it based, or is it merely an election story? I submit that it is for you to say whether or not there is any truth in the charge.

"The charge that I have tried to build up a political machine then, through the departments remains, and inasmuch as I have never asked a man what his politics or religion was, and do not at this time know these facts concerning the men appointed by me, have never asked them to vote for me or work for me, or do me any favor, political, or otherwise, I will have to ask for further specifications.

"To the charge of the appointment of roundsmen, I will say that the matter was discussed fully with the Police Board, and that there was no dissenting voice, and that Mr. Randolph, chairman of the police committee, informed me a few days ago that these appointments were satisfactory and that I have not heard a word of protest from anyone, excepting the protest of the chairman of the Republican City Executive Committee and he was not consulted.

"As to my administration costing the city $10,000, there are no specifications and I ask, when, where and how? Does the fact that your taxes are 7 points lower than last year suggest that there is something by way of improvement. And now with regard to my being boss, let me say I will be very much interested and glad to see the man who will boss me. In justice to Mr. MacMurray let me say that he has never by word or deed sought to influence my actions in any manner.

"As to that ridiculous charge of the circus passes, wherein the chairman of the Republican City Executive Committee states that 'he ran to the Press' with the story. I say it is absolutely false, the fact being that the agent himself went to the paper with the story. I had something to say in my first campaign about double salares, one of the parties mentioned being Andrew Gavett, and I want to say of him that he earns every dollar he gets.

"There are many other things that might be mentioned and discussed, but I have endeavored to condense and to be as brief as possible. If, however, there is any question concerning any matter in my administration that anyone would like to have answered or explained, I will be very glad to do so."

THE FORUM.

LICENSE REFERENDUM.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

For several years citizens of New Jersey have petitioned the Legislature for a local option law by which to decide the liquor license question for themselves at the ballot box in their own home municipalities. Congress has been applied to for a law preventing liquor dealers from sending intoxicating liquors into dry States where the people by their ballots have outlawed the liquor traffic. It would seem that no one who believes in liberty could question the right of the citizens of this State to settle the license question as they have settled every other question for a hundred years by the American method of the freeman's ballot, nor that anyone accustomed to the privileges and immunities of American citizenship could deny the right of the citizens of a dry State to prevent shipment of intoxicating liquors into their midst when they have decided by an election against the sale of intoxicating liquors. If this is so, would it not be well for the voters of this State before voting for any candidate of any party, to ascertain whether if elected to the Legislature he will support local option, or if elected to Congress he will stand for the Kenyon-Shephard bill or similar legislation: the local option law being simply a means by which the citizens can decide at their own door sills the question whether they will grant or deny liquor licenses instead of having that question decided in many cases by a judge miles away, who knows little or nothing of local conditions and who does not have to bear the burdens imposed by the saloon; and the Kenyon-Shephard bill being merely such amendment of the Inter-State Commerce Law as will prevent the will, of the people of a State, who have voted out the liquor business, from being frustrated by shipping liquors into that State.

The air is vibrant with reform talk, but most of our reformers are safely silent about these two reforms, nor will they speak out until they are forced to. Some of these men are parading before the public as the opponents of the trusts, but not one word is spoken by them against a beer trust and no whiskey combine is assailed, however much these evil agencies may hurt society and imperil liberty. I like a real fighter with spurs and hooked bill, but the tenderfoot and the time server and the trimmer were never designed for the halls of legislation. They should devote their lives to other callings. I trust that the voters will ascertain from the various candidates their attitude toward these important measures and that such as are favorable to them will be supported.

Respectfully,
S. S. SWACKHAMER.

And here you should come when you want to hear this justly celebrated instrument. Or when you want to buy new records, for the one you may already own.

For Aeolian Hall is the home of music in New York--this City's "Musical Center." Its vast structure is built for music and dedicated to music. It has features for the display of musical instruments such as no other building in the world can boast. Its Victor Store alone is larger, more complete, better arranged and better appointed than any other.

GERALDINE FARRAR says:
"I know of no place in the world where the Victor may be so appreciated and heard with such advantageous musical setting as at Aeolian Hall."

Three Shovels of Coal Do the Work of Four

"Square Pot" Furnaces lessen living cost by cutting coal bills. The square firepot of this famous furnace always keeps a live fire. It never clogs with ash or cinder, but clears free with each turn of the grate. Hence the "Square Pot" Furnace is constantly giving out a full quota of heat for fuel consumed. More than that, this same square firepot increases radiating surface over ordinary round firepots 15 or more per cent. From all of which it is safe to deduce that the "Square Pot" heating system gives expected results on about one-fourth less coal than other systems. See this economical furnace at your dealer's and ask for a demonstration. "Square Pot" boilers have these same valuable features. "Square Pot" furnaces and boilers best solve all heating problems.

NEWEST U. S. WARSHIP SLIDES OFF THE WAYS

Dreadnaught New York Successfully Launched in Brooklyn Navy Yard.

New York, Oct. 30 (Special).—Splashed with the traditional bottle of champagne the great battleship New York was successfully launched today at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The launching drew to the navy yard a notable gathering of distinguished persons. Among those on the launching platform were Secretary Meyer and other high officials of the Navy Department, a congressional delegation, Governor Dix, of New York, and his staff, Mayor Gaynor and many other invited guests.

The gigantic battleship slid down the tallow-greased ways with the lightness of a frail lifeboat. As the big flag-bedecked hull started towards the water, Miss Elsie Calder, daughter of Representative William M. Calder, of Brooklyn, broke a gayly beribboned bottle of wine against the steel prow and spoke words that gave the vessel its name. Miss Calder was attended by Miss Kathleen Fitzgerald, daughter of Representative John J. Fitzgerald, as maid of honor.

The initial plunge of the giant ship into the waters of the East River was the signal for a deafening roar from factory and ship whistles, intermingled with the enthusiastic cheers from the throats of 50,000 spectators. As soon as the big hull reached the water it was hemmed in by a dozen navy tugs and gradually towed to her mooring near Cob dock.

The battleship New York and her sister ship the Texas, now nearing completion at Newport News, will be larger and more powerful than any warships now afloat. It was deemed appropriate that these two exemplars of the highest skill of the shipwright and naval designer should bear the names of two warships which covered themselves with glory during the Spanish-American War.

The New York when in commission will be manned by sixty-three officers and will have a crew of more than 1,000 men. She is 565 feet long, 95 feet 2⅝ inches beam, so that she will have almost 15 feet to spare in passing through the Panama Canal locks. With all her stores aboard the New York will displace about 28,000 tons, or 1,000 tons more than the largest battleship now flying the American flag.

One of the features which attracted the attention of the spectators at the launching was the peculiarly shaped swelling at the bow of the New York. The older ships were fitted with a regular ram bow. While the general ram shape has been retained in the New York, it is not so accentuated as in the older ships. The change in design was made on the theory that the ram is not a real necessity, since the fighting in the future is likely to be at great distances. Also, it has been found by experiment with models that the protuberance forward, such as distinguishes the bow of the New York, gives the ship less resistance in the water.

Another notable feature which distinguishes the New York from the present dreadnoughts is the size of the turret guns. Ten 14-inch guns are to be mounted instead of the former 12-inch guns, giving a considerable advantage in fighting quality over the older battleships. The New York will also be fitted with four submerged torpedo tubes and will carry a secondary battery of twenty-one 5-inch rapid-fire guns and ten small guns for boat service and saluting purposes.

The New York and the Texas will be the first ships in the world to carry 14-inch guns. Some of the older battleships, of the class of the Oregon, Illinois and Alabama, have 13-inch guns, but all of the rest of the American battleships are fitted with the 12-inch guns. The biggest guns now afloat in the British Navy are the 13.5-inch rifles carried by the latest battleships.

The New York will be protected with armor in plenty; not only over her vitals but even the ordinarily exposed ends of the ship. The main armor belt will be about eight feet wide, with an average thickness of twelve inches. Each turrent will be clothed in armor of more than a foot in thickness and will be supplied with ammunition by electrical hoists from the magazines and shellrooms below.

The number and size of the guns in the secondary battery are about double those on the battleships of a decade ago. It is these guns that must be relied upon for very quick work in meeting the attacks of the torpedo boats and fast cruisers. Close subdivision and strong bulkheads will form additional protection against mine and torpedo explosions.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Philosophical Phelix Says:

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Just three more days before the basketball season opens at the Y. M. C. A. Get in line to see the opening contest, it is sure to be a lively one.

The Crescent Five are coming here with a "rep" and as they have already played and won several games this season, the Ajax will have to go some to come out ahead.

Because the Board of Education has not hired a court the N. P. H. S. players have been holding only a light outdoor practice. But then they don't need very much as they all practiced together last year.

This is the time of the year a fellow tries to wear out his summer suits and delay buying winter togs. It is also the time when basketball and football are apt to conflict.

This is also the time of the year when a fellow stays away from the girls because Christmas looms up in the distance. Beware, you that are trying to promote a Saturday night dance. Think of the future.

Local football enthusiasts are counting on their chances of seeing the Yale-Princeton game just at present. It's a safe bet that there won't be many "seats to let." At any rate that is a quick way of telling how many will be for rent.

If you knew as much this time last——Oh, what's the use, its all over now and the victims have returned from their week-end tour

A woman, whose beauty was spoiled at a recent family prize fight, has sued for $15,000. Gosh! Just imagine how many girls around here could look pretty for that amount.

The Johnson's are getting so much notoriety these days that it is hard to tell at first whether it is Jack or the Governor of California mentioned.

PUNTS AND PUNCHES

West Point has a coming halfback in Hogg, and a brilliant end rush in Hoge.

Georgetown has engaged Bill Hollenbeck, the old Pennsylvania star, to coach the team on defense.

It costs more than $1,000 to keep a big college team player properly armored for the game of football.

C. White, Jr., one of the backs on the Yale scrub team, is a son of Charley White, the veteran boxing referee.

Pennsylvania got a poor start this year, but may yet be able to finish the season in a blaze of glory.

Quarterback has given more trouble to the Yale coaches this season, thank any other position on the Eli team.

The Cornell squad hereafter will hold only three scrimmages a week, including the games played at Ithaca.

The Harvard coaches probably will keep Hollister at end from now on, as Freedly has been taken to the 'varsity squad from the second team.

Coach Stagg, of the University of Chicago squad, whitewashes a pigskin, which is called the "ghost ball," for his team to use during late evening practice.

In Maulbetsch, "Hurry Up" Yost, the Michigan coach, declares he has another Heston. Maulbetsch is playing with the scrubs and will be eligible for the 'varsity team next year.

Reports from San Francisco have it that Willie Ritchie is about to sidetrack his manager, Billy Nolan.

Battling Nelson wants to meet Packey McFarland and is willing to let McFarland name the terms.

Jack Redmond has been matched to meet Kid Alberts, of New York, in a 10-round bout at Brooklyn.

It is said that a New Mexico promoter is ready to post $20,000 for a clash between Jim Flynn and John Willie.

"Gunboat" Smith is boxing in much better form in New York than he did in California, where he first branched out as a boxer.

It is possible that Johnny Conlon will get a return match with Kid Williams, the bout to be staged at New Orleans or Baltimore.

Leach Cross' brother is out with a guarantee of $6,000 to Ad Wolgast if the latter will consent to meet Leach in a 10-round bout at New York.

"One Man" McCloskey, the Bangor heavyweight, has been picked up by Tom O'Rourke, the veteran manager of boxers. Tom asserts that the Maine slugger will be ready to don the spangles in about two months.

FRED RITTER GOES WITH TEAM TO CUBA

Star Twirler Who Appeared Here Last Season Goes With Athletics.

Fred Ritter, the star pitcher of the New Brunswick team, who twirled here several times during the past season, left yesterday with the Philadelphia Athletics on their trip to Cuba. The team will first make a tour of the South. The players in the party, aside from Ritter, were John Lapp, Charles Bender, John Coombs, E. Trowbridge Collins, John Barry, J. Franklin Baker, Ira Thomas, Eddie Plank, Jack McInnes, Amos Strunk and Rube Oldring.

The team will be managed by John D. Shibe and Danny Murphy. The latter expects to get into some of the games to try out his weak knee. He wants to see if he will be able to play again. The makeup of the Athletics will be the same as when they played the New Brunswicks a few weeks ago. Against them Ritter made such a fine showing that he was taken along with the trip. He may work in several of the games. He stands an excellent show of being with the Athletics in next season's campaign. The Mackmen's first game will be played with Charlotte, N. C., today. The players will sail from Key West on Saturday. Twelve games are to be played in and around Havana.

EDDIE GILLETTE.

Wisconsin University Quarterback, One of the Best In Game.

Eddie Gillette, the crack quarterback of the University of Wisconsin, is one of the best men in that position in this season's games. He is known for his long runs for touchdowns, accomplished principally by his use of the straight arm and clever dodging. Gillette is also a good punter. He is seen here in action lifting the pigskin for a long punt in practice. He is also accurate in kicking goals and drop kicking from the field.

FIRST ATHLETIC EVENT IN Y. M. C. A. H. S. CLASS

Running Broad Closely Contested, McNamee Won by an Inch.

Competition for the all around association championship was started at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon by the boys of the High School class. The first event, the running broad jump, was contested by fifteen fellows and James McNamee, the winner, only pulled out ahead by the close margin of one inch over Albert Brynarski, and the winning jump was made only on the last trial. All of the competitors were closely bunched at the finish and considering the short space alloted for the take off when this event is run off indoors, some exceedingly good marks were made by the fifteen contenders.

Yesterday afternoon marked the opening of the class for High School boys, and although football is still taking quite a lot of the fellows' attention the number of members who turned out to the first session was unusually encouraging. This newly formed class is proving highly popular among the boys of both the city and borough High Schools and many more are expected to contest the next event.

The following was the standing:

James McNamee, 16.6; Albert Brynarski, 16.5; James Buckle, 15.4; Morris Canter, 14.10; Benj. Rosenson, 14.8; Kenneth Dealman, 14.3; Valentine Goldsmith, 14.2; Andrew Hetfield, 13.10; Genisman, 13.9; Myrton Glover, 13.8; William Peacock, 13.7; Harry Miller, 12.9; Isaac Kunzman, 12.5; Samuel Smelson, 10.2; Henry Hall, 10.3.

Y. M. C. A. COLLEGE LEAGUE COMPETITION

Boys of the Junior Class Run Off the First Event.

Another potato race was run off at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium yesterday afternoon, but this time it was held as one of the scheduled events in the College League for the junior boys. Fifteen entrants competed in the time trials and all brought back the nine tubers under the forty-seven second mark.

Great enthusiasm prevails among the members of the various teams in this league and each member entered yesterday's event with the object of placing his team on the top rung. No official standing of the teams has been compiled as yet but Boys' Secretary C. William Bingaman expects to have the reports ready by the latter part of the week. In the potato race, Clarence Krausse romped home a victor in the excellent time of thirty-nine and two-fifths seconds. The other times follow:

Krausse, 39 2-5 sec.; Giles, 39 3-5 sec.; Stover, 39 4-5 sec.; Foster, 40 1-5 sec.; Stout, 40 2-5 sec.; Ryder, 40 3-5 sec;. Alpaugh, 41 3-5 sec.; Tomlinson, 41 4-5 sec.; Pennoyer, 42 sec.; Smith, 44 2-5 sec.; McDonnell, 44 3-5 sec.; Hylan, 44 4-5 sec.; Adams, 45 4-5 sec.; Walters, 46 sec.; Shang, 46 1-5 sec.

STAR FORWARD WILL BE MISSING FROM AJAX LINEUP

It now seems probable that William Peacock, the star forward of the Y. M. C. A. Ajax basketball team, will not be able to get into the opening contest at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night as he has been suffering from a severely sprained ankle and it has not been getting well as rapidly as he anticipated at first. While broad jumping in the competition at the association yesterday afternoon, he turned it again, though slightly, and a little later in the afternoon while practicing with the Ajax, he had the misfortune to turn his other ankle and he is now nursing a brace of injured limbs.

Peacock will be greatly missed from the Ajax lineup but Andrew Hetfield has proved himself a valuable utility man and he will likely be shifted to forward to fill the place left vacant by Peacock.

SIGNS FOR LIFE.

Pittsfield, Mass., Oct. 30 (Special).—With "Big Ed" Walsh as best man and several other of his team mates in attendance, John F. Collins, the popular right fielder of the Chicago American league baseball club, walked up to the altar of St. Joseph's church here today and signed a life contract with Miss Elizabeth C. Doyle. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Doyle, of this city. The couple first met four years ago in Springfield, Mass., when Collins was a member of the Connecticut league team in that city.

YOU CAN USE A PUMP GUN IF "PUMP" IS ELIMINATED

Trenton, Oct. 30.—Many inquiries have been received by the State Fish & Game Commission as to the interpretation of the law passed last winter prohibiting the use of automatic or pump guns. The law makes it "unlawful to use, in hunting fowl or animals of any kind, any shot gun or rifle holding more than two cartridges at one time, or that may be fired more than twice without reloading." Many persons own automatic and pump guns and have written the commission asking whether they may be used at all. The commission today issued this statement:

'The commission holds that an automatic or pump gun when so changed by a device that it cannot hold more than two shells at one time and cannot be fired more than twice without reloading, may be used for hunting in this State, but if the device is such that without inconvenience and at the wish of the owner, the gun might promptly be converted into an automatic or pump weapon with its full capacity, such a device as a matter of law, will be constructed as a subterfuge to evade the remedial provisions of the statute."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Joe Hurtig, known everywhere in the show world for original ideas and success, presents the "Follies of New York and Paris" for one day, matinee and night, Tuesday, November 5, at the Plainfield theatre. The new vehicle, "The Plain Clothes Man," is said to be a very laughable farce. It was written for laughing purposes only, but contains a plot giving plenty of scope to the comedians and feminine contingent to display their ability. Musical numbers, catchy and tuneful, and costumes which are revelations to the eye are promised, with scenery and electrical effects beautiful and in harmony throughout. "Originality" is one of Joe Hurtig's glaring trademarks, so he's out to show the best in town. There is no getting away from it that when you see "The Follies of New York and Paris" you will leave business and business-cares behind and plunge into the spirit of good fellow-ship. No one has any use for a long-faced man, it's the fellow with the merry twinkle in his eye and rays of sunshine all over his countenance that makes him a fellow you're glad to meet. You can be one of those fellows yourself it you'll just follow the show doctor's advice a little and get in touch with the "Follies" and receive a few mirth drops and see pretty girls, clad in gorgeous gowns cut to enhance charms, in a show that is a whirl of gayety from overture to finale, headed by Fitzgerald and Quinn, with plans and specifications for more laughs than have been designed for a single evening's use in many a season. The balance of the strong company includes Mabelle Morgan, Charles Jansen, Sam Brown, Minnie Lee, Edna Green, Lillian Vedder, Keller and Don, the Hippodrome Four, Nan Carr and a large and well dressed chorus.

N. P. DEMOCRATS WILL ATTEND SOMERVILLE MASS MEETING

The Democrats of North Plainfield will take a special car to Somerville tonight to attend a mass meeting. The trolley will leave from in front of the Somerset School building at 6:30 o'clock.

Bands and plenty of red fire will tend to make the demonstration a notable one. Among the speakers will be ex-Mayor Frank S. Katzenbach, of Trenton; Thomas LaMar, of Georgia; Allan B. Walsh, who is a candidate for Congress; A. M. Beekman, who is running for member of the Assembly, and Calvin McMurtry, the Democratic candidate for surrogate.

—"The language of love is the language of the eyes," mused the poet. "The lips being busy with other things I suppose," suggested the mere man.

The Overcoats Of All Occasions

It reminds me of Ben Franklin's Suit—the one he wore at christenings, weddings, funerals and every other occasion.

But this Overcoat is never "left at the port" as regards style.

It is made of tweed, rough-shod, yet stunningly swagger.

$15, $18 to $25

Are the prices of these coats, in mixtures that run from gray to brown.

No velvet collar, no stuffing, heavy, cumbersome padding—just a clever bit of style—for the man who has to "be there" at all times with his appearance.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

MOCK POULTRY.

WHEN poultry is high other meats may be prepared to imitate the various fowls.

Veal is used for preparing mock pigeons, mock goose and mock duck. Mock duck is sometimes made with calf's heart instead of with beefsteak, as in the instance given here.

Excellent Counterfeits.

Mock Pigeon.—Take the bone from two fillets of veal. Flatten them and spread with a forcemeat made with seasoned bread crumbs. Roll these up and bind into oblongs with strings. Bake for two hours in a covered dripping pan with two cupfuls of water. When done season the gravy with pepper, salt and tomato ketchup. Thicken with browned flour. Pour part of the gravy over the meat and serve the rest in a gravy boat.

Mock Goose.—Take the bones from a good sized piece of breast of veal. Trim it and lay it on a board. Cover it thickly with a sage and onion dressing, roll tightly and bind with tape to keep it in shape. It may then be baked in a good oven. A good deal of basting will be necessary. Send it to the table very hot, with a good brown gravy and apple sauce in a separate tureen. The time for cooking the goose will depend on its size.

Fowl With a Difference.

Mock Chicken.—Cut a piece of veal into pieces and place in an enameled saucepan with a tablespoonful of butter. Let it cook until seared on every side. Then add enough water to almost cover. Simmer till nearly done and add dumplings made as follows:

Sift one heaping cup of flour with a heaping teaspoonful of baking powder and a pinch of salt. Add just enough water to make a stiff batter. Drop from the spoon, cover tightly and let boil fifteen minutes. Thicken the gravy after removing dumplings and serve.

Mock Duck.—Round steak is required for this. To make the stuffing for the imitation duck proceed as follows: Take one-half loaf of bread, soaked and minced fine; one onion cut fine, a sprinkle of sage and thyme, salt and pepper and one-half teaspoonful of baking powder and a piece of butter. Mix well and spread on round steak, roll and tie; put in pan and bake with one-half cupful of water and several bits of butter. Place the potatoes in a pan around the duck. Baste well when baking.

IN FASHION'S VAN.

What the Season's Blouse Shows In the Way of Novelty.

Some of the new blouses have shoulder straps. These extensions are generally of the same material as the girdle and are a contrast over lace or tulle. These straps are effectively trimmed with buttons.

In a blouse made of white satin and dark chiffon the satin is made into bib form and buttoned up on the shoulders with two big satin buttons.

Evening bodices made with V shaped necks and bretelles are smart this season. The bretelles on the model illustrated give graceful and becoming lines to both slender and stout figures. The blouse is made of chiffon cloth and bretelles are of lace and the girdle of brocaded charmeuse satin.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Feeling that the "psychological moment" in which to ascertain the views of candidates for office upon any question is before rather than after their election to such office, the Joint Legislative Committee of the New Jersey Suffrage Associations has propounded the following questions to the various candidates for election to the State Senate and Assembly:

1st. Realizing that you are not expressing your personal opinion in regard to full suffrage for women, will you, if elected, vote for a referendum of this question to the people?

2nd. Are you personally in favor of full suffrage for women?

3rd. In the event of your election, will you actively support it?

4th. If opposed to woman suffrage, will you publicly state your reasons?

5th. When and where will you do this?

The suffragists intend to have a bill for the referendum of their cause to the people introduced at Trenton this winter, and they wish to ascertain beforehand just how the members of the new Senate and Asembly will stand on the subject. They have employed a legislative secretary, Mrs. M. J. Reynolds, of Newark, whose duty it will be to organize suffrage sentiment in the home towns of those of our State representatives who say they are opposed to suffrage for women, or affect to be quite uninterested in the subject. The Joint Legislative Committee represents the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association, the Equal Franchise Society, the Women's Political Union, the Woman Suffrage Party and the Men's League for Woman Suffrage, who believe that by acting unitedly every particle of suffrage sentiment in the State will be most most strongly effective.

The annual convention of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association to be held in Trenton on November 8 and 9, will be notable in many ways. Its sessions are to be held in the State House, its program of special speakers is of unusual interest, and the increase both in the number of Suffrage Leagues and the amount of work done by them, which will be shown in the reports of the convention, is going to be most encouraging to all friends of Equal Suffrage.

The session on Friday morning, November 8, will be held in the Senate Chamber, and will be devoted to the registration of delegates and the organization of the convention. The afternoon session, also to be held in the Senate, will be devoted to an address of welcome by the president of the Trenton League, Mrs. Thomas Tittensor, an addresss by the president of the association, Mrs. Clara S. Laddey, of Arlington, and greetings from the other suffrage associations of the State, Mrs. George T. Vickers, of Jersey City, speaking for the Equal Franchise Society, Mrs. Abraham Van Winkle, of Newark, for the Women's Political Union, and W. L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, for the Men's League for Woman Suffrage. Dr. Antoinette Brown Blackwell, of Elizabeth, will also give a retrospective view of suffrage work in New Jersey.

At the Friday evening session, which will be held in the Assembly Chamber, Mayor Donnelly, of Trenton, will extend greetings from the city. The speaker of the evening will be Miss Inez Milholland, a suffragist whose fame is country-wide.

The Saturday morning session will be devoted to the business of the association, and the election of officers, and at the session on Saturday afternoon, also to be held in the Assembly Chamber, Frank Kiernan, of the New Jersey School Citizens Committee, will speak to the topic, "We, the People." He will be succeeded by ex-Sheriff Frank H. Sommers, of Newark, who is an eloquent speaker, and who represents the very best type of the worker in politics.

The delegates to the convention from the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield are Mrs. Champlain L. Riley, Mrs. Francis de L. Hyde, Mrs. Allan Cowperthwait, Mrs. Edward F. Feickert, Mrs. Stephen Haff, Mrs. Russell R. Dorr and Mrs. Isaac Schwed.

THE BACKWARD CHILD.

New York, Oct. 30 (Special).—Some of the brightest minds of the nation assembled at the College of the City of New York today to consider the great problem of the mentally defective child and the saving of him for useful citizenship. The conference is similar to the one held here last year and which attracted international attention at the time. Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education, is presiding over the three days' sessions. Other notable participants include Gardner C. Bassett, of Johns Hopkins University; Prof. James E. Lough, of New York University; Miss Mary R. Campbell of Chicago, and Dr. C. Ward Crampton, director of physical training in the New York public schools.

PRETTY WOMEN'S CHARMS ENHANCED BY THE NEW DIRECTOIRE STYLES

DIRECTOIRE TAILORED GOWN.

THE directoire fashions are to be in the ascendant this fall and winter. The illustration shows the style of the directoire tailor made, and very charming it is for the young and pretty woman. This gown is of broadcloth fastened at the waist with a wide patent leather belt. The collar is a shawl-like affair that is finished with a narrow frill. The coat is longer than those milady has been wearing and is in accordance with fashion's dictate that all coats must be longer for fall and winter.

Broken Lamp Chimneys.

If you break a hole in a lamp chimney wet a piece of white muslin in alum water made by dissolving a piece of alum about the size of a bean in one tablespoonful of water. When dry paste this muslin over the hole and you will have a chimney with a patch which will not burn and which will outlast the life of the chimney. This is good in case of emergency.

For a Bruise.

The very best remedy for a bruise is butter. Whenever one of the children has a fall or knock of any kind apply butter. This relieves the pain, prevents swelling and keeps the hurt place from turning black and blue. It is a very simple salve and one that is always in the house.

A Black Cement.

To mend loose handles on knives beat an egg and mix with shoe polish and soft ashes. Work the paste smooth with an old knife. Fill the crack and smooth it over with the knife. It makes a cement seemingly as hard as iron, which will polish like the stove.

It is often used to fill crevices around the stovepipe. Another mixture that will cement cracks in stoves is equal parts of wood ashes, salt and clay, adding water to moisten.

A Spool Hanger.

Drive a nail through an empty spool and you will have a good peg on which to hang things in the kitchen, on the back porch or in the cellar. The spool will not tear nor stain any cloths, as a nail alone is apt to do.

THE MODERN WIDOWS' WEEDS ARE VERY TRIM AND ELEGANT

MOURNING fashions vary from season to season in a general way. The illustration shows a modish outfit for a young widow, the bonnet being draped with a long veil of brussels net bordered with somber crape. The very chic and modish gown is of black henrietta trimmed with heavy crape. The bodice is cut with sloping shoulders and kimono sleeves of the crape. It is rounded at the neck to allow of the insertion of a chemisette and collar of tucked black chiffon or net. A very narrow silk braid and dull black buttons adorn the bodice. The other costume, which is a general mourning outfit suitable for any relative for whom formal mourning is worn, is also of black henrietta and crape. It is adorned very sparingly with a beaded pattern in jet. The hat is of black and white crape, fashion strongly favoring this combination.

FASHIONABLE MOURNING COSTUMES.

FIRM FOUNDATION.

Nothing Can Undermine It In Plainfield.

People are sometimes slow to recognize true merit, and they cannot be blamed, for so many have been humbugged in the past. The experience of hundreds of Plainfield residents, expressed publicly through newspapers and other sources, places Doan's Kidney Pills on a firm foundation here.

A. K. Mattis, 127 West Fourth Street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I gave Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement five years ago after receiving a cure through their use and today I confirm all I then said in their favor. My cure has been permanent." (Statement given January 20, 1911.)

On August 28, 1905, Mr. Mattis said: "I was troubled for years by a dull backache and pains in my head. I believe that my trouble was due to a great measure, to a bad fall I had. Nothing seemed to help me and when I read of the good work Doan's Kidney Pills were doing in similar cases, I got a supply at Randolph's Drug Store. Their use drove away my aches and pains and my experience gave proof of their merits."

EX-GOV. MURPHY IS DEFENDANT

Rival Varnish Maker Is Seeking $142,300 Damages.

CONSPIRACY IS CHARGED.

Harry B. Chalmers Declares In Suit That Former Governor, by Illegal Methods, Depreciated Value of the Plaintiff's Holdings in Company.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 30.—Franklin Murphy, ex-governor of New Jersey and member of the Republican state committee from New Jersey, who is president of the Murphy Varnish company, is defendant in a suit for $142,300 filed in the supreme court by Harry B. Chalmers, also a varnish manufacturer, who charges Mr. Murphy and others with fraud. Chalmers alleges that he was president of the Chalmers Chemical company and owned 2,230 shares of the company's 2,727 shares of stock, which had a market value of $50 a share. Gordon Stewart was treasurer of his company, and James A. Mears, Jr., the sales manager.

The complaint alleges that ex-Governor Murphy entered into a conspiracy to get Chalmers' stock in his company at a low price, and in pursuance of the scheme the Murphy Varnish company sent its salesmen to the trade to make statements concerning the Chalmers chemical company and its standing, which injured the company.

Chalmers said that Mr. Murphy and others in the conspiracy then persuaded Stewart and Mears from the obligation and duty they owed him and got them to aid in carrying out the conspiracy. Chalmers alleges that they came to him with a story that a rich Pittsburgh man had offered to give them capital to go into the varnish business, and they induced Chalmers to sell them all the stock he owned for $15,000.

The complaint alleges that Stewart and Mears were acting in the interest of Mr. Murphy and the Murphy Varnish company and that after they got possession of the Chalmers stock they turned it over to the Murphy company.

In asking for $142,300 Chalmers seeks to recover the value of his stock at $50 a share, and also the value of other stock he alleges he was induced to sell as a result of the conspir /.

WILSON SPEAKS FOR FOES.

Praises Candidates In Newark of the Smith-Nugent Political Combine.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 30.—Governor Wilson came into the territory of aforetime foes last night to speak a good word for those candidates for the New Jersey senate and assembly who were nominated in Essex county by the Smith-Nugent political combine at the recent primary. He did that because he wants William Hughes to go to the United States senate and because every one of the local candidates has pledged himself to vote for him.

James R. Nugent was a member of the reception committee appointed by the Democratic county committee to meet the governor and to escort him to Montclair, where the candidate was the guest at dinner of T. A. Adams.

When the governor got to Newark, later in the evening, Mr. Nugent was one of those seated on the stage of the First regiment armory.

In none of the three meetings at which he spoke was the governor made aware of the persistence of any ill feeling toward him because of the past troubles with Mr. Smith.

HOLD UP SALOON MAN.

Enter Jersey City Cafe at Closing Hour and Get $25.

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 30.—John Connolly, who has a saloon at 467 Communipaw avenue, this city, was preparing to close up for the night when five men entered and lined up at the bar. Each man got a glass of beer. One of the men tossed a quarter on the bar, and after dropping it into the cash register Connolly stepped into the back room to turn out the lights there.

When he turned he found two of the men behind him, and each had a pistol. He obeyed the whispered command to keep still. One of the others opened the cash register and extracted $25. The remaining two were in the front of the saloon watching the entrances. With the money the five slipped away.

GIRL OF 15 KILLS HERSELF

Had Quarreled With Parents and Gone to Work In a Laundry.

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 30.—Ellen Bignell, fifteen years old, an ironer in a laundry here, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid on her way from her work to her boarding house at 89 Palisade avenue. A year ago she quarreled with her parents, who live in Hoboken, and she got work in the laundry and went to live with Mrs. John Both at the Palisade avenue address.

The girl got the acid in a drug store near her boarding house by telling the druggist that it was for Mrs. Both. Outside the door she drank the contents of the bottle. She was dead when an ambulance came.

SHAPIRO, MURDER CAR DRIVER, CONFESSES

McIntyre Ill, Becker Arranges For New Lawyer.

New York, Oct. 30.—William Shapiro, driver of the car which brought Herman Rosenthal's murderers to the Metropole, signed an affidavit in the district attorney's office saying that the men in his car on the night of the killing were "Dago Frank," "Gyp the Blood," "Whitey" Lewis and "Lefty Louie." This identification will make Shapiro the principal witness against the four gunmen at their trial. From the four came a statement that under no circumstances would they plead guilty and a further protestation of their combined innocence. Becker will hear his sentence today. The convicted policeman is going to change his lawyers. He said that he made this decision on account of Mr. McIntyre's physical condition. Lawyer Louis J. Grant had a long talk with Becker in the Tombs, and as a result it became known that Becker is considering either Mr. Grant, John J. Graham, the surrogate of Nassau county, or Francis I. Wellman, whose work on cross examination is accepted as an authority by lawyers.

Sheriff Hamburger is making elaborate preparations for safeguarding everybody when Becker stands up to hear his sentence today. He says that he will not immediately take Becker to Sing Sing if his lawyers think that they need him here. He will probably make the trip with Becker on Thursday or Friday.

The most important development of yesterday, the identification by the curly haired chauffeur of his passengers on the night of the murder, came about after about three hours conference between Shapiro and Mr. Whitman.

Mr. Whitman will move on Thursday that the cases of the gunmen be transferred from special sessions to the extraordinary session of the criminal branch of the supreme court and that a special jury be empaneled for the trial.

T. R. READY FOR SPEECH.

Special Care Taken to Protect Him From Rush of Crowds.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 30.—By way of preparing himself for the supreme effort tonight, which he and his physicians know will tax him to the utmost, Colonel Roosevelt saved himself yesterday. No political visitors were received, and John E. Roosevelt of Sayville, N. Y., was his only guest.

The colonel did not loaf, however. With his secretary, he dispatched something like a hundred letters, and in the afternoon he strolled about near the house for a little while. He looked well and vigorous, and his arm seemed to be distinctly better. It fell into the old gestures with just a little noticeable stiffness.

A private car will bear Colonel Roosevelt to the Pennsylvania terminal this afternoon, and special precautions have been taken to prevent him from the rush of the crowd both en route to Madison Square Garden and on his return to the station, which will be immediately after he has spoken. His doctors adhere to their determination that he shall return to Oyster Bay without delay.

CRANK NABBED AT CAPITAL.

Geiger Announced That He Came to Town to Be President.

Washington, Oct. 30.—"I came to town to get Taft's job," was the explanation made by a man who described himself as Ira Otis Geiger of Oakland, Cal., and who was arrested charged with insanity on the complaint of a local physician. Geiger's pockets were filled with circulars describing the "original bull moose and platform."

The "original bull moose" was Geiger himself, and the platform was a scheme for transporting all the negroes to a country of their own. Papers indicated that Geiger was a member of the Sign Painters' union of San Francisco.

HOLD WIFE FOR SHOOTING.

Grand Jury Finds Mrs. Hanner Fired Shot at Husband.

Lockport, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Mrs. Mary Hanner of Buffalo, who has been held at the county jail on the charge of shooting her husband, George Hanner, in an automobile when passing through North Tonawanda on the night of Sept. 12, was indicted by the October grand jury on a charge of assault, first degree, and an attempt to commit murder, first degree.

It is charged by the district attorney that the woman attempted to kill her husband while riding in the latter's automobile from Niagara falls to their home in Buffalo. Hanner received a bullet in the back of the head, thought at the time to have come from a nearby lumber yard. Mrs. Hanner received a bullet wound in the knee and is just recovering from it.

Lions Gnawed Their Auto.

San Francisco, Oct. 30.—Mrs. W. A Hall of New York and her son, M. A. Hall, arrived here from the orient after a world tour by automobile, in which they traveled 34,000 miles. On the island of Sumatra, in the East Indies, lions gnawed their car, which they left temporarily in the jungle.

LAUNCH BATTLESHIP.

Sectional View of New York and Sponsor, Miss Elsie Calder

The launching of the New York, mightiest battleship in the United States navy, took place at the Brooklyn navy yard today. The important event was attended by President Taft, Secretary of the Navy Meyer, Governor Dix, Mayor Gaynor, Admiral Dewey, Rear Admiral Osterhaus and other of the nation's most prominent men. The sponsor for the great battleship was Miss Elsie M. Calder, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Congressman William M. Calder of Brooklyn. Rivalry for the position was very keen, but the honor was finally accorded by the authorities in Washington to Miss Calder because of her father's activity in congress in providing for the construction of the great vessel.

GOV. WILSON STARTS ON HIS FINAL TOUR

To Campaign Until Election In New Jersey.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 30.—Politics and state business occupied the attention of Governor Wilson about equally yesterday. He divided six busy hours between the two, leaving the statehouse late in the afternoon on his way to Newark to fulfill his engagements.

One of the governor's first official acts of the day was to announce the resignation of Professor Henry Jones Ford of Princeton university from the position of commissioner of banking and insurance and the appointment of former Assemblyman George M. Lamonte of Somerset county as his successor.

In announcing the Ford resignation the governor confirmed the report that Professor Ford had been given to understand that he must either relinquish his $6,000 position under the state government or give up his chair in Princeton university. Professor Ford resigned "because he could not at the same time perform his duties at Princeton" is the way the governor put it.

At a conference with Chairman Grosscup of the Democratic state committee the governor completed the details of his plans for his final trip through New Jersey. He left New York on the 1 o'clock train this morning, sleeping on the train and starting at 8:36 from Philadelphia. He made a speech at 10:15 this morning at Cape May courthouse. From there he will motor to Wildwood, where he is to speak at 2 o'clock. From Wildwood he will go by train to Burlington, dining with Thomas H. Bird and addressing a mass meeting in the Auditorium in the evening. A late night trip to Princeton by auto will complete today's itinerary.

Most of Thursday will be spent by the governor in Princeton preparing for his speech at Madison Square Garden that night. Friday he will make his trip to Rochester, returning to New York to review the Wilson and Marshall parade Saturday afternoon.

The governor will wind up his campaign with a trip to Passaic county next Tuesday.

Suddenly Blind Recovering.

Anderson, Ind., Oct. 30.—Most of the nineteen persons whose sight was affected by the bright and peculiar light of an apparatus used for welding trolley wire Saturday night have recovered. John Hagel, who was stricken blind, also will probably recover.

SULTAN'S ARMY IS SURROUNDED Turkish Minister Says He'll Check Bulgars' Advance.

POWERS MUCH CONCERNED

Diplomats Hopeful of Avoiding Complications — Report That Turkish Town of Servia Has Been Recaptured From Greeks Is Not Credited.

London, Oct. 30.—With the Turkish army more or less unprepared, the armies of Bulgaria, Servia, Greece and Montenegro are now in possession of a large portion of the Turkish railroad system and also of the wagon roads, while those lines and roads which they do not actually command they are either astride of or threatening.

Interest in the war still centers largely in the eastern area below Adrianople, where Nazim Pasha, the Turkish minister of war and commander in chief, with four army corps, is holding the line from Tchorlu to Lule Burgas. According to the latest reports, he has been set the task of trying to stem the advance of the victorious Bulgarian troops, and he is credited with the statement that he will return the victor or perish.

In Perilous Position.

He appears to occupy a perilous position, with the Bulgarians on his right flank at Eski-Baba cutting him off from the army of Adrianople, while the destruction of the bridge over the Tchorlu river prevents him from obtaining re-enforcements and supplies from Constantinople. Supplies are his greatest want, for with the breaking down of the Turkish commissariat he is reported to be short of them already.

Should the great turning movement now being attempted by the Bulgarians be successful Nazim Pasha might be driven to the west toward Saloniki, leaving Constantinople at the mercy of the invaders.

In the meantime the Greek, Servian and Bulgarian armies are moving upon Saloniki. The Greeks are already within striking distance of the Turkish town of Verria, only fifty miles from Saloniki on the railroad from Monastir.

Could Effect a Junction.

The possession of Verria by the Greeks would enable them to effect a junction with the Bulgarian army coming down from Novrokop and Drama through the Struma valley and concentrating at Seres and with the Servians, who are advancing upon Veles.

All the passes through the Rhodope mountains leading to the Saloniki and Adrianople railway are also in Bulgarian hands.

The unofficial report from Constantinople that the Turkish town of Servia has been recaptured from the Greeks is not credited here.

Active diplomatic negotiations are going on among the powers. The British minister at Gettinjo, Montenegro, in company with the Montenegrin foreign minister, visited King Nicholas at Rieka, and this is regarded as undoubtedly in connection with the conversations held with the ambassadors of the powers in London by Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister. The diplomats are still hopeful of avoiding any complications between the powers.

PROVES HE WASN'T MURDERED

Prisoner Had Confessed and Wife Had Sworn She Saw Killing.

Laredo, Tex., Oct. 30.—Apolinar Donato, an aged Mexican who was supposed to have been murdered near here recently and whose body was believed to have been thrown into the Rio Grande, appeared at the county jail and asked the sheriff to release from custody Jose Roque, who had been accused of Donato's murder.

When arrested Roque told the authorities that he had killed Donata and he gave what purported to be a detailed account of the crime. Roque's wife and two other women swore that they saw Roque kill Donato.

According to the statement of Donato, he had never had any trouble with Roque and there was no basis for the murder story. Donato has been picking cotton for several weeks in an adjoining county.

MRS. CLEVELAND TO MARRY.

Widow of Former President Will Wed Professor Preston.

New York, Oct. 30.—The report of the engagement of Mrs. Grover Cleveland, widow of the late president of the United States, to Professor Thomas Jex Preston, Jr., of Wells college was made by President Hibben of Princeton university, a mutual friend of Mrs. Cleveland and Professor Preston. The date of the wedding will be announced later.

Professor Preston first met Mrs. Cleveland at Princeton, where he was taking a special course in 1906. He went out into the society of the university town a good deal. Later a mutual interest attracted them to each other, for Professor Preston took the chair of archaeology at Wells college, Mrs. Cleveland's alma mater, in which she has always been greatly interested.

burdens off the men and women who are most oppressed.

"You cannot have a prosperous and happy people unless all the people are prosperous and happy. What would you think of a blind man claiming to be a perfect specimen of physical manhood because his muscles were strong and his digestion perfect? Or of a deaf man declaring he was all right because he could see for miles and lift hundreds of pounds? Or of a victim of the great white plague asking you to overlook his panting breath and hacking cough and see only the lustre in his eye and the hectic color in his cheek? I tell you no more is the body politic healthy when little children of the poor yield up their young lives in the dusty mills, victims of the greed of men, nor when young girls and women work for wages so low that only eking them out with the wages of sin will keep them from starvation. The body politic can never be sound till burdens are lifted and wrongs righted and laws passed which will make these things impossible.

"And it is because we believe human rights are above property rights, because we believe we are in a sense our brother's keeper that we are in this Progressive movement. If any generous blood courses through our veins we cannot selfishly enjoy our pleasures while thousands of the submerged have forgotten how to smile. And now I want merely to read to you the prophetic words of our honored leader uttered weeks before the mad assassin's bullet went crashing through his frame:

" 'The leader for the time being, whoever he may be, is but an instrument, to be used until broken and then to be cast aside; and if he is worth his salt he will care no more when he is broken than a soldier cares when he is sent where his life is forfeit in order that the victory may be won. In the long fight for righteousness the watchword for all of us is spend and be spent. It is of little matter whether any one man fails or succeeds; but the cause shall not fail, for it is the cause of mankind. We, here in America, hold in our hands the hope of the world, the fate of the coming years; and shame and disgrace will be ours if in our eyes the light of high resolve is dimmed, if we trail in the dust the golden hopes of men.'

"These words interpret the secret of his courage—forgetfulness of self in thought for others."

Senator Clapp's Speech.

When Senator Clapp arose to speak there was a demonstration such as not been seen at any local meeting of any party, this year. He added to the enthusiasm by paying a splendid tribute to Senator James E. Martine, which was liberally applauded by those in the audience.

"It gives me great pleasure to be in Plainfield," he said, "especially since I have learned that it is the home of my old friend and your fellow townsman, Senator Martine. While we differ politically, it is a pleasure to tell you that his great heart and rugged honesty have won the confidence and affection of his colleagues in the Senate at Washington."

The Senator then launched into his formal address. In it he brought a message from the firing line to the local Bull Moose, and the twelve hundred or more friends who packed the first two floors of the theatre, and overflowed into the second balcony. The audience were Republicans and Democrats, and there were probably one hundred women present. When the Senator scored a hit there was enthusiastic applause from all parts of the house.

Senator Clapp has been in the forefront of the desperate battle at Washington since the time when it became evident that the progressive policies of the Roosevelt administration were being "carried out on stretchers" and it was patent there must be begun a movement for a new alignment in the Republican party. Senator Clapp branded Aldrich, and Cannon and other of the reactionaries with a smash that carried more emphasis than mere type had done for most of the audience who had read of the betrayal of the Republican party these many months in newspaper and magazine. The Minnesota statesman brought the debate of the conference and the whisperings of the cloak rooms and in convincing detail pointed out the sting in Aldrich-Taft legislation, and told how the complete surrender of Taft to the men that Roosevelt had held at arm's length, had brought about the rupture of the old party and the birth of the new—the Roosevelt Progressive.

Throughout his remarks the Senator frequently illustrated his points with humorous remarks, and the first of these to tickle the audience came when he told of an encounter in the cloak room of the Senate with two of the old line "Bourbon" Senators, as he called them. He said that shortly after the Progressive convention in Chicago he overheard one Senator say to another: "I hardly know what to think of things nowadays, when at a National convention women second the nomination of a President, and the audience sings 'Onward Christian Soldiers;' it's hell for politics." Senator Clapp said that he turned to the man and said that, in his opinion it was taking the hell out of politics.

The Senator tore the Taft administration to shreds, calmly, impersonally. He riddled the measures introduced during the three and a half years of the President's incumbency, pointed out the vicious legislation and told how it had been brought about. He left cold comfort to the Democrats when he said that but for them and despite the grip of the Aldrich-Taft- Cannon alliance, the Progressives would have defeated the Payne-Aldrich tariff seven times. A few minuter later Senator Clapp paid a just tribute to honest and conscientious Democrats who stood with the Progressives and took out all the reactionary features of the new railroad bill except one—and that, the appointment of judges, "dangled before the United States Senate," was too much for it. He referred to Taft's discredited commerce court.

In his comment on this bill, Senator Clapp indulged in a bit of sarcastic humor which later, as he warmed to his subject, crept in at almost regular intervals. In connection with his discussion of the commerce court he said that the "president's idea of heaven appears to be a dreary waste, here and there illuminated by the departed spirit of a judge."

At the outset, Senator Clapp spoke of the brilliant achievements of the Roosevelt administration, the passage of the anti-rebate bill, the railroad act of 1906, the pure food laws and the conservation laws. He told how Aldrich and Cannon buzzed about, ready to strike, but unable. Then came Taft's election and immediately Aldrich assumed the leadership, brazenly, and defended his actions which could not otherwise be defended, with this statement, "The president wants it."

"And day after day, week after week, the president sat in the White House and knew that Aldrich was thus quoting him," said the Senator.

Senator Clapp said humorously that, rugged westerner that he is, he has not sufficient command of language to express himself on the Payne-Aldrich tariff law even in a company of men only. Here the Senator declared his stand on the tariff. He believes in a tariff for protection and stability. The trouble with the tariff has been that it doesn't stand for honest protection, but the kind of "protection" that makes monopoly possible.

The Minnesota Senator was warming to his tariff denunciation when he told of the Payne-Aldrich provision which permits Maine lumbermen to cut their logs, send them into Canada to be sawed by Canadian labor and returned to Maine without duty, while Minnesota lumbermen, who sent their logs into Canada to be sawed, paid a duty when the boards came back into Minnesota. "That wah done to punish the Minnesota Senators who wouldn't wear the yoke," he declared, waving his arms vigorously.

"When the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill was introduced, in my child-like simplicity I made a speech demanding protection for American industries," said the speaker. "I learned that instead of the contest being one between free trade and protection, it was one between monopoly and fair protection. The Progressive party believes in protection under conditions which will not stop the wheels of the factories and throw thousands of men helplessly on their backs. I don't know what the Democrats mean by low tariff, except by experience, and under the past experience we have had we want no free trade. We want stability of tariff, to be readjusted here and there, and only at intervals. We do not want the American people to be whipsawed from one extreme to the other."

After briefly referring to the passage of the income tax bill the speaker launched into a description of how the Commerce Court came into being. "In the spring of 1910 the committee of which I was chairman received from the President the railroad bill of that year. We were told that if we crossed a T or dotted an I it would be considered treason to the party. And yet that bill contained so many jokers that it would have been a disgrace to the nation to have passed it. One provision was a repealer of the five day notice in the case of injunctions, which was required by the act of 1906. But we did cross T's and dot I's, so that when the bill finally did come up for passage it contained but one joker, and that was the one providing for the Commerce Court, which is a court which makes travesty of American government, the formation of it being to discourage those in the far distant parts of the country from coming to Washington to fight the railroads. It's incorporation in the bill was the darkest chapter of the three years of the Taft administration up to that time. The club held over the heads of the Senators was the five judicial appointments, and it was dangled at them until they passed the bill."

Senator Clapp then recalled the Republican losses of 1910 in rock-ribbed Republican States—it was the hand-writing on the wall. And yet the Progressives were held to blame. Then came the Chicago convention, "a crowd of discredited bosses."

The real contest on Tuesday will, said Senator Clapp, be between Roosevelt and Wilson. The Democrats, thinks the Senator, are no better prepared to meet the situation today than they were in 1861, when, he said, they failed. With the Democrats, he said, it wasn't a question of "what shall we do," but "what can we do?" The Democratic party, he asserted, is "an intellectual interrogation point."

The Senator used the argument anent Jefferson and the Louisiana purchase. And with the Democrats, the constitution was the same bone of contention today. The natural dividing line, he said, is between the progressives and the holdbacks. It should not be through them. If the country wants to try the Democratic theory, it should take the Democratic party and hold it responsible. If the people believe in the Progressive idea, it should make the Progressives responsible. The day of bipartisan government is passing and it should be. Bipartisan government is a vicious government because it holds no one responsible.

Coming on to the subject of woman suffrage, Senator Clapp said that in the last analysis of popular government the moral question is uppermost, and he is unable to comprehend a movement for popular government that holds at arm's length woman and her rights to vote.

Senator Clapp's tribute to woman was a sincere and glowing eulogy and it was received with hearty acclaim by the audience. He told of the passing of the old-time stump speaker with his barroom stories because woman had begun to attend political meetings and one of the two had to go. Woman stayed. If the argument holds true that to send the American woman to the polls would degrade her, "then in God's name," said the Minesota Senator, "isn't it time for us to purge the polling places?"

Then Senator Clapp swung about again to make a mild attack on the Democrats and on Governor Wilson.

"The Democrats, even in Jefferson's time, saw no way to purchase Louisiana," he said. "Thus we have a constitution and are not permitted to grow. The Democrats couldn't send out troops to preserve the States in '61, the constitution wouldn't let 'em. And now, we have the proposition to let each State deal with the trust problem, 46 of them each working out its own salvation. Maybe, but some of us would like to see the experiment tried, say in New Jersey." Applause greeted this sally.

Senator Clapp's close was an eloquent appeal for the Progressive cause, a cause not "engendered of brain cells, but, if you please, of heart throbs."

Senator Clapp spoke for over an hour and a half, and while he talked not a person left the theatre. He seemed to hold his auditors spell bound with his logic, and after he had concluded he received an enthusiastic ovation from the entire house as he hastened out to catch a train for New York, from which place he went to Albany to speak tonight.

Thursday

The First Golden Harvest Day In the Greater Bamberger Store

Thursday, October 31st, will be Golden Harvest Day at Bamberger's. This is the first Golden Harvest Day in the new store, and we have spared no pains to make it a record-breaker. Golden Harvest Day is an institution at the Bamberger store. It is looked forward to and taken advantage of by tens of thousands of people in this vicinity.

A Word of Explanation

For the benefit of those who live out of the city and who probably do not know the purpose of Golden Harvest Day, we shall offer a few words of explanation. Golden Harvest Day is a monthly bargain festival at Bamberger's in which the whole store participates. The values (and they are always worth coming for) instead of being printed in the newspapers are published in booklet form. These little yellow booklets are handed to you at the various doors as you enter the store. They are printed in good, clear, readable type and the offerings are carefully tabulated according to floor. The merchandise thus exploited is arranged on centre tables and designated by cards bearing a bright yellow emblem similar to the one at the top of this ad. The October Golden Harvest Day is the best yet. Come expecting much—you will not go away disappointed.

It has been announced that the passing mark in High School this year is 75 per cent. Every pupil must take at least four solid subjects and must be above the passing mark in all to represent the school. This will make all the athletes work hard to play on the school teams. This rule will be enforced to the limit.

Professor Mertz, the English teacher, has intrdouced outside book reading in the High School. Every pupil taking English as a study is required to read at least eight books a year. Mr. Mertz gives a book test once a month and the marks help make up the monthly average.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE AN AID TO PLAYGROUNDS

One of the Reasons Charles F. Weller Believes In It.

Charles F. Weller, associate secretary of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, will tell why he believes in equal suffrage, at the meeting in its interest tomorrow at 1:30 p. m., at the Park Club. Mr. Weller says the children of America will get playgrounds even faster than at present when women vote.

The first playground in Washington, D. C., was opened in Mr. Weller's back yard at "Neighborhood House," and this led him to organize and promote playgrounds throughout the national capital.

This was one way of making up for play he didn't have himself as a boy, for he began selling newspapers in Chicago streets when only ten years old, and paid his own way from that time,—working as a laboring man at the Chicago stock yards, "doing chores" to earn his education at the University of Michigan, and then turning around to help the other fellow by sixteen years of pioneer work in the Charity Organization Societies of Chicago, Washington and Pittsburgh.

Mr. Weller says there is one thing on which Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson agree heartily, and that is playgrounds, reformed dance halls, the use of public schools as social centers, and all the other features of the nation recreation movement.

Mr. Weller stops at Plainfield, Friday, on his way to Washington, whence he goes to Wheeling, Pittsburgh, Chicago, and as far west as Portland, Oregon, to interpret the influential people in each city the opportunities of the national playground movement.

WHY STOCKTON'S FOR ROOSEVELT

Prominent Plainfielder Says to Protect Industries Wilson Must Be Defeated.

TAFT CAUSE HOPELESS

Vote for Taft Means a Vote for Wilson—The Only Solution for Safe Revision of Tariff is to Elect Wilson.

Harry M. Stockton, of Stelle avenue, today sent the following communication to the Daily Press with a request for publication:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Will you kindly publish the following article?

While a lot of political orators are talking themselves hoarse over the tariff, and as a great majority of them simply talk, but give no facts, this may be interesting to some of your readers.

There are certain aspects of the tariff situation which never find their way into newspapers or magazines for the very simple reason that they reveal the fact that the price of a suit of clothes, for example, to the consumer is made high not because of a protective tariff, but because of the cost of distribution.

Perhaps the simplest way to arrive at an explanation of this fact is to divide the industry into different branches. Considered collectively, it can be divided into seven distinct parts, namely:

The wool grower, who raises the wool.

The wool broker in Boston who sells the wool.

VOTERS HAVE RIGHT TO QUIZ CANDIDATES

And the Latter Should Answer Says Republican Councilmanic Nominee.

The Republican street meetings were continued last night by Judge William R. Codington, Francis J. Blatz, Leighton Calkins and J. J. Carroll at Liberty and West Fourth streets, Plainfield avenue and West Fourth street, and Grant avenue and West Fourth street, where they were welcomed by good sized gatherings of Fourth ward voters.

Judge Codington, who is the Republican candidate for mayor, spoke of the needs of the city.

Leighton Calkins, who is the Third ward candidate for councilman, said: "I believe tha voters have a right to hear their candidates and know exactly where they stand, because voting is not a game, but an important duty. Every man owes it not merely to the community but to himself as a man to perform this duty honestly. I am, therefore, not going to urge you to give me your votes, but merely to consider carefully the men you have for candidates before you decide on those whom you wish to have manage the city affairs for you.

"I have spoken of your duty as voters. The public official is also confronted with responsibility. He should not be satisfied with his own views on public questions, but should distrust them enough to go out and try to get at the opinion of others, and when he finds he has been wrong he should not be ashamed of changing his mind.

"I have freely stated my present views on all local issues. Every question, so far as I am able, will be settled as a business proposition, and with the greatest possible economy consistent with giving Plainfield what it needs, and also in such a way that all sections of the city, and all classes of the people shall be treated alike without favor or prejudice."

Francis J. Blatz, Fourth ward candidate for Councilman, followed Mr. Calkins. He said:

"I look upon the city as a large business corporation and that the councilmen are simply the agents for the people, who really comprise the corporation and that the councilmen should always keep an ear to the ground and learn what the people want and then give it to them if it lies within their power to do so."

The street meetings scheduled for tonight have been postponed until tomorrow night, when Judge Codington and Francis J. Blatz will address the meeting to be held at West Front street and Madison avenue, West Third street and Lee place, West Third and Liberty streets, South Second street and Grant avenue, and Clinton avenue and West Front street.

Judge Codington and Francis J. Blatz spoke at a noon-hour meeting at the Pond shop yesterday.

FANWOOD HOME IS WRECKED BY FIRE

Plainfield and 'Plains Firemen Save Adjoining Property —$5,000 Loss.

The prompt arrival and good work of the Plainfield and the Scotch Plains Fire Departments, prevented the threatened spread of flames to adjoining buildings shortly after noon today, when the house of Ten Eyck Beardsley, of North avenue, Fanwood, was almast totally destroyed by fire. The loss is $5,000.

The Fanwood Fire Department, composed mostly of volunteers, arrived on the scene quickly, but their hose, rotted by long standing and non-use, bursted, and the firemen were helpless until the arrival of the apparatus from out of town.

The fire is attributed to a defective chimney. Mr. Beardsley and his family were preparing to move to their winter home in New York, and had their valuables packed and ready for shipment tomorrow. They were burning old papers and rubbish in the open fireplace and the sparks traveling up the defective chimney are supposed to have set the roof on fire.

TAKE YOUR GATE INTO THE HOUSE

For 'Tis Hallowe'en, and Small Boys Are all About.

AND MAYBE WITCHES

It's the Accepted Time in Eerie and Wierd Things to Happen—It Also is the Time for Gay Parties and Celebrations.

Tonight ghosts and witches hold high revel. Hallowe'en, or Holy eve, the night before All Saints' Day, is without a doubt the most uncanny evening of the whole three hundred and sixty-five. For generations and generations it has been considered the proper night on which to cast mystic spells or peer into the future.

The younger people, most notably the boys, primed by stories of deeds of daring mischeviousness by father or grandfather, will prowl the streets in high glee, masked in costumes to hide their identity, stealing the neighbors' gates for fuel for the "fire on the corner;" "hooking" ash barrels and boxes; begging good things from their older friends. Then, too, there is the delectable sport of whacking strangers on the back with stockings full of flour.

One of the most popular diversions the Hallowe'en party. Many are he games played, especially by the irls, who love to delve into the future to see their fated life partner—he dark or light? ugly or handsome? rich or poor? One of the tricks is to place scattered slips of paper with character reading upon them, through a pile of leaves and

DEMOCRATS MOVE ON THE WEST END

Leading Local Candidates Hold Forth at Two Street Meetings.

Monroe avenue and West Third street and Clinton avenue and West Front street were selected by the Plainfield Democratic City Committee as places for holding street meetings, last night, and at each place a large number of voters gathered to hear the local candidates propound Democratic doctrine. At Monroe avenue and West Third street the crowd numbered about 300 and at Clinton avenue and West Front street there were about 200 voters at the meeting.

R. A. Claybrook was chairman, and the speakers included Percy H. Stewart, candidate for Mayor; J. V. F. Dilts, candidate for tax collector; Daniel J. Couraine, candidate for Council from the Third ward; J. O. Schinkel, candidate for city treasurer, and Frank Cullen, candidate for Council in the Fourth ward. There were plenty of red fire and torches.

In the main the candidates reviewed what they already have said at the other meetings in appealing for votes in support of the ticket. Each promised, if elected, to faithfully serve the city and give it a conservative and economical administration. The speakers were well received and appeared to impress all with their sincerity.

There will be two meetings tonight, one at the Polish Hall on East Second street, where the candidates and in addition a Polish political orator will speak. Another meeting will be held at Washington and East Front streets.

Miss Daisy Dodson GaHagen, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. GaHagen, of 519 Belvidere avenue, and Clarence Muir Hetfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hetfield, also of Belvidere avenue, were quietly married at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Owing to the serious illness of the bride's father, the affair was a quiet one, only the immediate members of both families being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Warner E. L. Ward, rector of St. Stephen's church.

It was originally planned to have a church wedding, but Mr. GaHagen's illness caused an abandonment of the arrangements. The couple was unattended. An informal reception followed the ceremony. Both the bride and groom are well known in the younger set in the Netherwood district of the city. Mr. Hetfield is engaged in the wholesale coal business in New York. The couple will continue to reside in this city.

CRANE WRITES TART CIRCULAR

Charges Party Men Wanted Him to Pledge Saloon Votes.

SAYS EDGAR PROMISED

Wonders How C. R. R. Employee Would Vote on Question of Running Johnson Avenue Under Elevated Tracks—Mentions "Bosses."

In a signed printed circular secured for distribution among the voters, Uzal B. Crane, Republican candidate for Council from the First ward, charges that efforts were made by men identified with the Republican organization to secure his promise to vote for the regranting of two liquor licenses that were taken away by the Common Council, and that Abiel Dodson Edgar, his Progressive opponent, is pledged to vote for the regranting of these two rejected licenses if elected.

After stating that he has been a resident of the First ward thirty-five years and has been a real estate owner, a taxpayer and a local business man for that many years, that he "stands for a square deal and asks for a square deal," Mr. Crane in his circular says:

"I was nominated in the regular manner as Republican candidate for Common Council of the First ward, that is by filing a petition and having my name printed upon the ballot in the manner required by law. No opposition appeared against me until two days before primary day, when I was approached by people indentified with the Republican party, who want-

WHERE THE COUNCILMANIC NOMINEES STAND

NO. 4—THE FOURTH WARD

Herewith are published the replies of Fourth ward Councilmanic nominees to the twelve questions submitted by the Daily Press concerning their views on the more important problems of the municipality. Both the Republican and Democratic candidates, Frank J. Blatz and Frank Cullen, respectively, have seized the opportunity offered to let the voters know where they stand. George E. Greenleaf, the Progressive nominee, makes no answer.

Here are the questions:

First—Do you favor a joint sewage disposal system as a general principle?

Second—Do you favor the joint sewage disposal plans as so far proceeded with by the joint committee?

Third—Do you favor the so-called "direct," or the "indirect" route?

Fourth—Do you favor making a new and more favorable contract with the water company?

Fifth—Do you favor municipal ownership of the water supply?

Sixth—Do you approve of the plans already taken by the city authorities looking to municipal control of the water supply?

Seventh—Do you believe that water would be cheaper with municipal control?

Eighth—Do you favor increasing the number of wholesale and retail liquor licenses, or either class?

Ninth—Do you favor maintaining the retail fee at $1,200, or lowering or raising it?

Tenth—Do you favor what is known as the Tyler saloon zone ordinance?

Eleventh—Do you favor a municipal system for the collection and disposal of garbage and ashes, or either garbage or ashes?

Twelfth—Do you favor a commission form of government for Plainfield?

Mr. Blatz's replies follow:

"I have yours of the 22nd inst. enclosing 'Queries for Candidates,' and I feel that your request for answers to same should be met with favor by all candidates.

"Considering the short time allotted for the answering of these queries, it will be impossible for me to go into detail as much as I would like to.

"Answer to First Query: I am in favor of a Joint Sewer Disposal System, provided that each municipality joining in said disposal system pay its proportionate share of the expense incurred in the building of the system and the upkeep of same.

"Answer to Second Query: It is Fail in third, you'll die unwed."

JACOBITE BALLADS THRILL SCHOOL LECTURE AUDIENCE

"Scotland in Song and Story," was the subject of the first of the series of lectures under the auspices of the Board of Education given at the Washington School, last night, Lewis W. Armstrong being engaged to provide the evening's entertainment. For nearly two hours he delighted the audience with favorite Scotch songs and the affair was made doubly interesting as he gave short sketches about the composers and explained the origin of the songs.

Some of the more popular songs by Mr. Armstrong, which were received included the Jacobite ballads, "Farewell to Loch Arbor," "The Bonnets of Bonnie Dundee," "Hey! Johnny Cope, are Ye Waking Yet?" "Ye Banks and Braes of Bonnie Doon," "My Love is Liwe a Red, Red Rose," "Land o' Leal," "Loch Lomond," "Annie Laurie," and in conclusion all joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne." Mr. Armstrong's explanatory talk began with the music of the Eighteenth Century, following it until the present day.

The second lecture in the course will be given by Surrick Lincoln, on Thursday night, November 14, on "Alaska, Land of the Midnight Sun," and will be illustrated.

BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS

Building and Loan Associations have made it possible for many men in Union county—workingmen and salaried men—men of small means—to acquire their own homes.

These associations could not have prospered and you, Mr. Homebuyer, could not have bought your home, if a few men had not unselfishly given up their time and energy to make the associations a success.

One of these men was Mr. Phares, who is treasurer of one of the largest associations in the county—"The Citizens."

These are the kind of men you want in office, Mr. Voter, and you will vote for MR. PHARES.

My name will appear on the ballot like this:

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Of the many successes in dramatic plays which have been produced the past four seasons, those with their scenes laid in the western country have appeared to have appealed more strongly to the fancy of the theatre-goers. A play with its scenes placed in the great southwest, near the Mexican border, is now being presented by the popular young actor, Frank Dickson. It is called "Billy, the Kid" and is said to tell a story that appeals to all classes of amusement lovers. The plot is well conceived, there are innumerable strong dramatic situations and there is plenty of comedy. Some of the scenes are said to be especially realistic and the production a very elaborate one. "Billy, the Kid" with Mr. Dickson in the leading role, will come to the Plainfield theatre tomorrow night.

Much activity is being displayed at the Plainfield theatre for the proper reception of the new form of the old favorite, "Follies of New York and Paris," which will be at the Plainfield theatre one day only, Election Day, Tuesday, November 5, matinee and night. It will be a grand crystal jubilee celebration day, marking the fifteenth year of the show that made farce comedy famous. "Follies of New York and Paris" are presented by Joe Hurtig, who is sponsor for some of the best shows, and it is claimed that the entertainment offered by this aggregation will be one of the cleanest, brightest and liveliest offerings of the season. "The Plain Clothes Man," which is the title of the uproariously funny comedy presented by the "Follies," is different from anything that has been produced for comedy entertainment. The company is complete, embracing lavish costuming for a chorus of shapely, handsome girls, who have danced and sang themselves into the favor of every audience before whom they appeared. With a big dash of Eddie Fitzgerald and Jack Quinn, who will hand you spontaneous comedy of original variety, and Miss Mabelle Morgan, with an exceedingly handsome face and statutesque figure, heads the cast, which includes Chas. Jansen, Sam Brown, Minnie Lee, Edna Green, Lillian Vedder, Keeler and Don, who make their first appearance in this country. As usual, the "Follies" are carrying a chorus of enchanting girlies and shapely young women.

The title of the latest thing in musical comedy, "Seven Hours in New York," suggests a world of incident. A thousand things might happen in that space of time. The sprightly adventures of a sedate gentleman and a few friends in the metropolis between the hours of 9 p. m. and 4 a. m.; the miscellaneous collection of people they encounter, not forgetting the group of lively cabaret girls. But so cleverly has the author constructed the plot, no hint of vulgarity is offered. But it is all natural, and very, very funny. There are more than a dozen pretty changes of costume, a stage full of pretty girls to wear them. The principal members of the large cast are all artists of ability. The song numbers, of which there are eighteen, are of the light catchy order. The management have provided a complete scenic equipment. "Seven Hours in New York" will be seen at the Plainfield theatre, Thursday, November 7.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The manager of the basketball team representing Roselle High School is endeavoring to schedule a game with the local High School five for December 7, but this will probably fall through, as Faculty Athletic Director Henry R. Hubbard has forbidden Manager Arthur Grisley to schedule any games before December 11. On that date the P. H. S. five will play Somerville High School.

Manager Grisley has also arranged for a game with the Yonkers High School

The Netherwood A. C. football team, which is composed mainly of the local High School's students, is daily holding practice. They average less in weight than the P. H. S. 'varsity, but a game between the two bands of warriors would be exciting, especially as both are local teams.

The senior English class is planning a trip to New York to see one of the plays, "Romeo and Juliet," "Twelfth Nnight," "As You Like It," "Merchant of Venice," "Macbeth," or "Much Ada About Nothing." All of these plays are in line with senior English, and are to be given the rest of this week at the Manhattan Opera House.

Among the many to see the launching of the "New York," yesterday, was Miss Katherine Bingeman, a senior.

Mr. Howe has selected blue as the color of the cover for his history book.

ELECTION ANNOUNCEMENT.

As intense interest is taken in the Presidential election, the Daily Press has spared nothing in making arrangements for the best, most elaborate and quickest service for Election night. It has remained for the Daily Press to be the first newspaper in New Jersey to add a searchlight as a feature to its news service and by means of a powerful instrument atop the Rushmore works, beams with a carrying distance of at least twenty-five miles, will inform the people for miles around who has been chosen for President and for other important offices. For this purpose a code will be used and the signals will be announced in these columns on Saturday.

In addition, the Daily Press has made a contract for the complete New York Sun service of twenty thousand words. It is the best in America, if not in the world. Just as soon as the news is flashed over the wires to us from the Sun Bureau, its import will be heralded by the giant searchlight. Moreover, the detailed election news of the city, county, State and Nation will be thrown on a screen opposite our office by a stereopticon. And still another bit of original enterprise will be a moving picture show to be given at intervals between the election result announcements. Moving pictures of Taft, Roosevelt, Wilson and other statesmen and National celebrities will be thrown on the screen, and there will also be some funny pictures.

Bright and early the morning after election, the Daily Press will issue an Election number containing complete, accurate and concise results of the greatest and most thrilling political campaign in the history of this Republic. The paper will be delivered at your home before you are out of bed.

A WORTHY NOMINEE.

The candidacy of Frederick S. Taggart for surrogate of Union county is one that should appeal to the voter and a few words relative to the man himself and the views he holds as to the conduct of that important office would not be amiss. The nominee is a resident of Westfield and among the townspeople enjoys a reputation for honesty and straightforward dealing and for thorough and painstaking efforts in his chosen profession. His legal learning equips him for the position and it is reasonable to believe that should he be elected the conduct of the office will be marked by modern methods and satisfactory performance of the duties devolving on the incumbent.

Mr. Taggart is thirty-six years of age. He was graduated from the New York Law School fourth in a class of 129 and received the second prize in a competitive examination. He was admitted to the bar of New Jersey after receiving the highest mark at the examination and later was made a counselor. Subsequently he received the degree of Master of Laws from the New York University Law School. Since 1903 the candidate has been practising law in Westfield.

As to his views in connection with the surrogateship, they are well expressed in a circular issued in his behalf, which states:

"Mr. Taggart believes that the methods of the office should be modernized and that a new and complete index system making readily accessible all records and proceedings of the office should be installed, not only for the benefit of the members of the bar examining such records, but for the quick, ready and sure use of the public having occasion to examine them. He believes that the office of Surrogate should be taken out of politics and that equal consideration should be accorded to all doing business with the Surrogate's office and that uniform courtesy and consideration should be extended to all, without regard to creed, color or political affiliations. In his hands the office will be conducted with due regard to economy in administration and in the sole interest of the people of Union County."

Republican State Chairman Wakeleee has sent out to all colored men an appeal for them to vote for Taft. The circular contains the assertion that a "Vote for Wilson is a vote to place a Southern Democrat in the White House." That's simply a new form of the old "bloody shirt" trick, and in this enlightened age when there is peace and concord between the North and the South and in all sections of these United States, it ill becomes a man like Wakelee to attempt to make political capital in such a fashion. It is no disgrace, we take it, that Governor Wilson was born in Virginia, the State known as "The Mother of Presidents."

If there is one candidate who does not need to campaign for support he is William F. Arnold. His record as city treasurer speaks for itself and on the face of it he will receive a flattering vote.

Tonight will be Hallowe'en and the small boy will be up to all sorts of pranks. Take in your porch chairs and put your gate in the cellar.

They're all sure of victory at present, but wait until the morning after. Explanations for defeat should be framed now.

It seems that one or two people in New York have a hankering after one T. Roosevelt.

Watch out for the campaign canards sprung at the eleventh hour.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 55 degrees; 11 a. m., 59 degrees; 1 p. m., 62 degrees.

MISS ELISE MOLDENKE'S LIFE ENDS IN 21ST YEAR

The letter states that he was at one time a member of the U. S. Regulars, and that he was thought to have come to this city ten or twelve years ago.

TRIAL OF MAN CHARGED WITH ATROCIOUS MURDERS

Shreveport, La., Oct. 31 (Special).—The details of one of the most diabolical murder plots ever executed in this section of the country are expected to be unravelled in the trial of Albert L. Watson which has commenced here. Watson and Mrs. Eva Walls Bailey are charged jointly with successfully plotting to murder the wife of the man and the husband of the woman in order that their own illicit love affair might end in marriage.

C. C. Bailey, a wealthy lumber mill owner and husband of the woman defendant, was hacked to death with an ax in his home on the night of September 2 last. Watson, whose intimacy with Mrs. Bailey had already attracted attention, was immediately taken into custody. The next day he is said to have made a detailed confession of the crime to the authorities.

According to the alleged confession, Watson came to Louisiana in the early summer after having poisoned his wife in a Texas town. Some months previously, according to the confession, Watson and Mrs. Bailey had entered into a compact by which Watson was to poison his wife and Mrs. Bailey her husband. Watson did away with his wife without arousing suspicion, but repeated efforts by Mrs. Bailey, it is said, failed because she did not know how to administer the poison.

Watson came to Louisiana and obtained work in Bailey's mill. Bailey became suspicious and quarreled with his wife. This resulted in hurrying along the plot. Mrs. Bailey having again tried unsuccessfully to poison her husband, Watson crept into the house at night and, according to his statement, killed Bailey with an ax.

Between Ourselves

"If this is a sample of a Bamberger concert," remarked a Roselle woman yesterday, as she left our Auditorium at the wind-up of the recital, "I shall see to it that I attend every one you have. I don't know that I ever listened to a more finished performance."

This is but one of a hundred complimentary remarks which we overheard yesterday during and after our second musicale. Everyone was delighted.

The Bamberger Auditorium is bound to be one of Newark's most popular concert halls. It is large, well lighted and perfectly ventilated. It holds about six hundred persons and the acoustic properties are unexcelled. In addition to all this we have arranged a most brilliant program of attractions both musical and otherwise.

It is needless to say that every attraction in the Bamberger Auditorium is free and that all are welcome.

A concert of unusual magnitude and interest has been arranged for next Wednesday.

—You don't have to take a course in physical culture to carry other people's burdens.

ONLY SINGLE PICTURE IN EACH WALL SPACE

Proper Thing for Interiors, Says Lecturer—Bans Round Frames.

"Color," was the subject of the second of a series of drawing-room lectures by Frank Alvah Parsons, given at the home of Mrs. Frederick G. Mead on East Front street, yesterday afternoon. The affair, which was largely attended, was given under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A., and proved fully as interesting as the first one at the home of Mrs. Daniel F. Ginaa on Watchung avenue, last week.

Mr. Parsons spoke first of the facts about color, saying that color is light and that in black there is an absence of color, while white is the union of all colors. He said that there were three elements in color, the first being yellow; the second a normal red and the third, blue. Yellow brings the thought of sunlight; red represents passion, and blue coldness. The other colors are mixtures of two or all three of these. As an illustration Mr. Parsons said that grey was the result of equal parts of red, yellow and blue.

Mr. Parsons took up the question of interior decorations and said that only the three elemental colors should be used in small areas. He said that backgrounds in order to give the proper effect must be less intense than objects shown on them. Picture-frames should be toned down or when one looked at a picture all that would be seen would be the frame. In his opinion, round frames should never be used and only one picture should be hung on each wall space. He said that there were some lines wrong in every house and quoted instances where homes of wealthy people in New York and other parts of the country were ethically in very bad taste. All lines must be harmonious and to carry out this effect curtains should be hung straight as well as picture wires. The lines of all houses are either horizontal or vertical and all angles are right angles, so that the decorations should be in harmony with the lines of the house.

At the close of his talk, Mr. Parsons asked if there were any who would like to question him and in response to queries he gave individual answers to a number of women in the audience.

PREPARING FOR DEDICATION OF BONNIE BURN, NOV. 18

Elaborate and inspiring exercises are being arranged to mark the dedication of the Bonnie Burn Sanitarium on November 18. Invitations have been sent out to many organizations throughout Union county. It is assured that the local Knights of Columbus, who presented the institution with a large American flag on Columbus Day, will attend in a body.

Following the invocation the building and grounds will be formally given to the Board of Governors of Bonnie Burn by John Newton Cady, director of the Board of Freeholders of Union county. His address will be a notable and inspiring one.

The speech of acceptance will be made by Dr. William H. Murray, president of the Board of Governors. Other addresses will be made by the Rev. Dr. P. J. Setinmetz, of Summit; the Rev. Father Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, of this city; and other clergymen and men of prominence throughout the State. The ceremonies will commence at 2:30 p. m.

POLITICAL MACHINE RUN AT HIGH SPEED THIS WEEK

With the approach of the last act of the campaign, with the political curtain soon to be lowered on one of the greatest and in many ways the most sensational canvass for votes ever staged in this country, the local clubs are putting their best efforts into the work to be done in the few days left before election.

The Wilson and Marshall Club is planning a mass meeting to be held Saturday night in the Plainfield theatre. Prominent speakers will be heard and Suhr's Band will play.

Democratic and Republican spellbinders are touring the streets of the city each night, telling the people why their respective candidates should be elected.

The Republican Clubs of the city are holding meetings nearly every night, and a final big meeting is being contemplated.

The Progressives, beginning with last night, will hold meetings each night this week at which Mayor Moy and various other local candidates and popular speakers will be heard.

LECTURE IN AID OF FUND FOR THE BOCK MEMORIAL

Mrs. Frederick G. Mead and Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, will speak before a gathering of boys in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock, on the history and story connected with Washington Rock. The proceeds will be added to the Washington Rock memorial fund. Free tickets can be secured at public schools and at the Y. M. C. A. office, but each boy is to bring two cents for the fund.

As an added attraction motion pictures of the Battle of Yorktown, with General George Washington as commander, will be shown.

MOVING PICTURES FREE.

The Daily Press has completed arrangements for a bulletin service on Election Night, Nov. 5. The returns as received at this office by special wire and regular service will be flashed by a stereopticon on a white curtain placed on the Monarch Printing Co. quarters, opposite the Daily Press. In between the reporting of the returns, superb moving pictures will be shown.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

FISH ON TOAST.

FOR delicate stomachs the dishes mentioned here will be just what is needed. They will be useful for Friday's luncheon or supper in families where meat is dispensed with on that day. Moreover, they are so delicious that they will be appreciated by any lover of good fish daintily served.

A Tasty Toast.

Oyster Toast.—Take a cupful of oyster liquor. Scald it and strain it, then set aside to cool, add half a cupful of cream or milk with a tablespoonful of butter and salt and pepper to taste. Heat to the scalding point and pour over slices of toasted bread. Place in the oven five minutes and then cover with oysters broiled a crisp brown on a hot griddle well greased with bacon fat. Serve hot.

Caviar Toast.—Put a tablespoonful of butter and a minced onion into a saucepan on the fire. Stir until the whole is well heated, then turn in a little pot of Russian caviar. When this is hot add half a cupful of strained tomato sauce with a few drops of strained lemon juice. When very hot serve on slices of buttered toast.

Inexpensive Dishes.

Mock Crab Toast.—Take one pound of grated cheese, a small spoonful of anchovy sauce, of made mustard and of vinegar, a pinch of pepper, a little salt, the yolks of two eggs, a tablespoonful of butter. Mix thoroughly and serve cold on squares of brown bread or else pour the mixture on buttered toast and bake for eight minutes till it is all nicely colored.

Fish Toast.—Use for this any white fish that you prefer. Remove the skin and bones and pound it to a paste in a mortar. When it is quite smooth add a few drops of anchovy sauce, a little curry powder, a small quantity of lemon juice and a dust of celery salt. If the fish is inclined to be stingy the mixtures should be rubbed through a wire sieve. Heat it in a saucepan with a little lump of butter and when it is quite hot spread it on rounds of toast. Serve hot.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

The Long Sleeve Seen on All Smart Frocks.

Every garment that is new and fashionable now has the long sleeve.

The touch of black in tulle, chiffon, net or lace or narrow velvet ribbon or buttons is employed to give striking individuality.

Pretty little tricorn hats in some dark shade of purple or blue are very smart

for autumn wear, their sole trimming usually being ostrich plumes or else a ribbon bow. Another variation of ribbon is a large bow of tulle edged with swansdown.

The new automobile coats are almost shapeless, and frequently show black and gray stripes, used diagonally.

When panniers and front closings are in vogue for the older generation frocks for the younger ones are apt to show them too. The model for a young girl, includes them both.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association, Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.
Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

Secretaries of local associations are reminded that it is their duty to send the names of delegates to the annual meeting of Congress of Mothers to be held at Riverton, to the Credential Committee (Mrs. Athur J. Collins, Moorestown), before November 1. Fifteen names have already been sent from Plainfield. The opening session will begin at 3 p. m. on Friday, November 8. Dinner will be served to visitors at Bastian's on Main street, at 6 o'clock, Friday.

Among the exhibits at the Pure Food Show in progress at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory, New York, is a long white counter full of cosmetics. They bear the stamp of government disapproval and have been arranged by U. S. Bureau of Chemistry. A great many of them contain ammoniated mercury. Most mothers know enough not to try any of those innocent looking traps; but are you sure your daughter knows the harm that lurks therein; or is she experimenting on her own responsibility?

The women in Birmingham, Ala., have been so insistent in their demands for censorship of moving pictures and plays that at last the secretary to the three busy commissioners who govern the city, has been appointed to visit each new play and moving picture show and exclude whatever in her judgment offends.

Every mother should read the article on laws governing women and children by William Hard, in Delineator for November. It is entitled "With All My Worldly Goods I Thee Endow," and shows how men treat women and children in Texas. Our own laws need attention along this line.

The playground has been made an issue in this year's campaign in Newark. Playground Commissioner Louis V. Aronson is running on an Independent Republican ticket for Mayor and promises to revolutionize the reign of vice which the Anti-Saloon League called to the attention of Governor Wilson after receiving no attention from the present city authorities. Aronson says that the recreation question is a broad one and does not mean only a lot of little children playing on swings, see saws and chutes. It means rather dance halls properly supervised and wholesome recreation on Sundays for laborers and tenement house dwellers and would involve the whole social life of the cty.

The Home and School League of Philadelphia held its annual meeting last week. Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Wilson and her daughter were among the guests at the opening dinner. Many subjects were touched upon but the keynote of the conference was "social centres" or the wider use of untaxed buildings for the public good. One speaker said: "Good work to accomplish good results must be continuous and not occasional. Those buildings which first of all were intended for the moral uplift of the community should be the centre of the religious and family life. Why should churches stand for six days of the week like mansoleums, bearing mute testimony to work not done?" Another speaker pointed out the fallacy of trying to operate social centres on voluntary contributions by voluntary workers. Taxes and paid workers are the only means to insure success.

The subject of treating malnutrition as a disease was considered and will be taken to the Medical Department later. Last year the league distributed lunches and dinners to 3,500 pupils in nine schools at a cost of $3,685.34.

Fifteen camp fire girls from New York demonstrated their work to the conference and may be instrumental in organizing such a club in Philadelphia. Their purpose is to reveal the romance and beauty in the home and daily life. They believe that in truth, beauty and righteousness there is more romance and adventure than in things not good.

LAUNCHED IN BUSINESS.

The following pupils at the Plainfield Business College and School of English have taken positions during the past month: Ida N. Saums, Plainfield, and Alec I. Apgar, Dunellen, have gone to New York in stenographic positions; Mary Burns, Raritan, employed by J. P. Taylor; Eva Gabriel, Somerville, with S. S. Adams Co.; J. Edward Pfaff, Garwood, in the Public Service local office; Albert Newmiller, Plainfield, in local office of U. S. Express Co. Prof. Herr reports a most favorable year in the employment end of the business, which is particularly gratifying at this time of the year.

impossible for me to say whether I am in favor of the Sewerage Disposal plans as far as the Joint Committee have proceeded, for I am not fully acquainted with the work of the Joint Committee.

"Answer to Third Query: I have never examined the Plans and Specifications for the so-called 'Direct or Indirect Route,' neither have I had an opportunity to go over the matter with the engineer, and therefore it would be impossible for me to give an intelligent answer as to which of the two routes I would favor.

"Answer to Fourth Query: I am always in favor of making a contract with any corporation which would be favorable to the city.

"Answer to Fifth Query: I am in favor of municipal ownership of our water supply, provided the expense of obtaining control of same would not be so great that the people would be burdened by a heavy tax rate to meet the interest on bonds issued for same.

"Answer to Sixth Query: I approve of the preliminary plans already taken by the city authorities looking to municipal ownership of the water system.

"Answer to Seventh Query: I am unable to answer this question accurately, because I have no statistics before me as to the cost of water where the plant is owned by a municipality, but it would seem to me that if a water plant is properly and economically managed that the water would be cheaper.

"Answer to Eighth Query: I think that a Council should consider the wish of the people in the matter of increasing the number of wholesale or retail liquor licenses.

"Answer to Ninth Query: The present Council have deemed it advisable that a fee of Twelve Hundred Dollars be established, which seems to have met with the approval of the citizens at large, and I can see no reason why it should be changed at the present time.

"Answer to Tenth Query: This is a matter which concerns the citizens of the City and a Councilman should be governed by the wish of the people he represents.

"Answer to Eleventh Query: Yes.

"Answer to Twelfth Query: As a general proposition yes, but I would want to investigate what success it has met with in cities where a commission form of government is now maintained before advocating it for Plainfield.

P. H. S. LOST TO RAHWAY

Effective Forward Passing Speels a 21 to 0 Victory for Visitors.

GOOD AND GREEN STAR

Rahwayites Prove to Be Good on Both Offense and Defense—Locals Never Dangerous—Carty, Herman and Snyder Tackle Well.

Rahway supporters to the number of fifty swooped down on Parker Field yesterday afternoon to cheer their team to victory over the representatives of Plainfield High School. The feat was easily accomplished by the formidable Rahway eleven to the tune of 21 to 0 and the victory was even easier than the rival aggregation expected as P. H. S. is well remembered by surrounding school boy teams, as a combination that went through most of last season on the gridiron with a clean slate. From the minute time was sounded in the first quarter the struggle resolved itself into a match between Monroe Good and Joseph Green, the leading members of the local backfield, and the eleven players on the visiting eleven, for every member on the opposing team starred at one time or another. When general all around consistent form is considered Good was easily the best man on the field. Good is one of the plunging backs who are practically impossible to tackle, and when tackled he is one of the hardest to bring to the earth. Good was undoubtedly the main cog in his team's offense and he ripped through the opposing defense as though it were so much paper instead of a wall that has withheld against the attacks of such scholastic football eleven as the Central High School, of New York, turns out.

As a runner up for the starring laurels, Green, the midget colored halfback of the local team must be considered, as he probably gained more ground than any other individual on the field yesterday afternoon. He is equally at home tearing through the line, slipping around the ends or straight arming his way through a broken field. Green is one of the fighting kind of football players who do not know what it is to give in, and although he is tackled from behind or on the side he is still quite capable of squirming loose and adding a few more yards before being downed.

For the visitors Schweitzer, E. Armstrong and Ludlow easily carried off the honors. This trio of players seemed to be in every play and each could generally be relied upon to gain a certain distance at each attempt.

Play began with Rahway kicking off to Good on the ten yard line, who made a backward pass to Green, the latter advancing the ball ten yards before being downed. P. H. S. was held for downs on its own forty yard line and Rahway began a steady advance down the field toward the scoring station, but the whistle came to the rescue of the home team just in the knick of time with the opposing team within sight of a sure six points. During this quarter Rahway tried to boot a drop kick from the twenty yard line but Good pushed his broad expanse of chest in front of the oval and the effort went for naught.

The first plunge in the second quarter completed the work left undone by Rahway in the previous period, for Captain Bracker carried the ball through a broken field for ten yards and a touchdown. E. Armstrong punted out from a difficult angle and afterwards kicked the goal making the score 7 to 0. Rahway again kicked off to P. H. S. and Good again passed the ball back to Green who made another good gain by some illusive running. Green shortly afterward snatched a long forward pass from Van Zant for a gain of thirty yards, the home eleven's first noticeable gain of the afternoon. P. H. S. rooters went wild at this sudden reversal of form and in response to loud entreaties the home warriors began a steady plunge down the field. After going seventy yards in nine plunges and three trick formations, the hopes of the home team suddenly flickered away when Green made an untimely though excusable fumble while carrying the ball. Rahway began to regain lost territory and when time was called the visiting aggregation again had the ball within ten yards of the scoring station. They took the ball the long distance with the aid of a series of nifty plays. A forward pass netted them twenty yards, a quarter back run reeled off twenty-five yards and then another forward pass brought nine more yards into their possession.

Carty kicked off to Rahway in the second half and the runner was downed after a short run on the thirty-five yard line. A forward pass was caught by VanZant in the center of the field and P. H. S. again took possession of the ball, but their ownership was short as on the next play a Rahwayite fell on a fumble in mid field. A forward pass netted Rahway twenty-five yards and part of this distance was brought back to P. H. S. when Good tackled Armstrong for a loss of fifteen yards. A forward pass netted Rahway thirty yards and another forward to the same man netted twenty more and a touchdown, the forward being caught within the ten yard allotment behind the goal line. E. Armstrong again kicked the goal making the score 14 to 0.

Rahway then kicked off to Good who rushed the ball back twenty-five yards and Herman took ten more on a forward pass. P. H. S. again lost the ball on the ten yard line and Rahway managed to rush the pigskin to the center of the field before the quarter ended.

The final period of play was started with Rahway kicking off to Plainfield and Snyder this time carried the ball back for a distance of eight yards before being felled. P. H. S. lost the ball on a fumble in the next play and Rahway immediately started off with a quarter back run of twenty-five yards. Ludlow carried the ball through a broken field at a slow pace alluding tackler after tackler and the P. H. S. contingent made a ridiculous showing as far as tackling was concerned from this point on, with the exception of Snyder and Carty. In the opinion of many Snyder would have proved a tower of strength had he been allowed to remain in the game from start to finish, but he was yanked out in the second quarter to make way for Jenkins and did not get back into the fray until the final period. P. H. S. held the ball for four downs on the ten yard line but a forward pass went uncompleted on the first play and VanZant finally punted to the Rahway thirty-five yard line. A forward pass netted the opposition thirty yards and another one put the team on the ten yard line. P. H. S. held like iron at this point and Rahway was forced to rely on its old standby, the forward pass to get over the goal line for the final count of the game. E. Armstrong again made a neat kick of the goal making the score 21 to 0. E Armstrong then kicked off to Good who made a backward pass to Green and the latter reeled off ten yards. Time was called at this point.

In fact, he is the man who made the first practical instrument of the kind and in every land and on every sea is to be found the Rushmore searchlight. In the Flowery Kingdom, in Darkest Africa and in Alaska his instruments are in use for the various purposes to which they are adopted.

Watch for the Daily Press searchlight and you'll learn as quickly as the news is flashed over the telegraph wire to this office who the next President of the United States will be.

As announced many days ago, the Daily Press will flash the election news on a curtain on the Review office on Election night. A moving picture machine will be installed in the Daily Press building and an expect operator will be in charge. As the news is received by wire from all parts of the United States it will be announced to the crowds. At intervals moving pictures will be shown. You'll see President Taft addressing a multitude; you will see Governor Wilson receiving his notification of nomination at the Little White House and you'll see Colonel Roosevelt in his characteristic pose receiving the plaudits of a mob of admirers as he stands on the rear platform of his special train. And you will see moving pictures of other famous statesmen and political leaders and moreover many comic moving pictures.

The Daily Press takes pleasure in announcing that it has made a contract for the complete telegraph service of the New York Sun amounting to 20,000 words, and the very best service in America. It was the first to install a general news ticker service in Plainfield and that wire service will also be a feature on Election night.

Come around to the Daily Press office at 7:30 on Election night and be entertained until the final results are announced by us.

Early on the morning after election, the Daily Press will publish an election edition, containing all the election news of city, county, State and nation. It will be fully in keeping with the election editions for which this paper holds a reputation, that of having the best in this section of the State. The edition will be issued at 6 a. m.

CRANE WRITES CIRCULAR

ed me to promise in event of my nomination and election that I would vote for the regranting of two liquor licenses in this city which had previously been revoked for cause, by the Council. I replied that, if I was elected to the Common Council that I would represent all of the people of the First ward and would act fairly in license matters as in all other matters coming before the Council, but refused point blank to make any promises on any matter of legislation whatever.

"The night before the primary election these identical gentlemen got together and decided that without a direct promise on the above subject I would not do; in other words I could not be nominated or elected. On primary day they endeavored to accomplish my defeat by writing in on the ballot the name of one Abiel Donald Edgar, an employe of the C. R. R. of N. J., who I charge has promised to vote for the regranting of these two rejected licenses if elected. I beat him at the primaries, but the same Mr. Edgar now presents himself to you masquerading as a Bull Moose, asking you for your votes to elect him so that he can do the will of the bosses; not the will of the people.

"There is a strong sentiment in our ward to have Johnson avenue continued under the C. R. R. of N. J., so as to connect it with South avenue. This would cost the C. R. R. of N. J. many thousands of dollars. I ask you, Mr. Voter, how would Mr. Edgar vote on this measure? Has Mr. Edgar promised his vote on this measure to his employer, the C. R. R. of N. J., as he has promised the bosses on the two rejected liquor licenses?

"Do not be deceived. Think before you vote. It is better to be safe than to be sorry."

STOCKTON FOR T. R.

The yarn spinner who spins the wool into yarn.

The weaver who weaves yarn into cloth.

The commission trade in New York who sell the cloth to the clothier.

The wholesale clothier who makes the cloth into garments, and sells them to the retailer, and

The retailer who sells to the consumer.

It is a matter of common knowledge that a suit of clothes sold by the wholesale clothier to the retailer for twelve dollars and fifty cents is sold by the retailer to the consumer for twenty-five dollars. What this means is a very simple thing to understand. At twelve dollars and fifty cents, six branches of the woolen industry are taken care of: that is to say, it is possible to sell the suit to the retailer for twelve dollars and fifty cents, and afford a profit to the wool grower, the wool broker, the yarn spinner, the weaver, the commission man and the wholesale clothier, but in order that the retailer shall be taken care of, who is the only link left, 100 per cent. has to be added to the cost. This means in a word that it is the cost of distribution; that is to say, the enormous cost of doing business that the retailer is saddled with, that makes the price of a suit of clothes high, and not as is commonly put forth by Democrats and free traders, the protective tariff.

The same applies in cloth not made into garments. It is a matter of common knowledge to those who are familiar with the industry that a ladies' broadcloth sold to a large New York department store for one dollar and five cents a yard is sold by that department store for three dollars a yard, and that another ladies' broadcloth sold to another department store for one dollar and forty-five cents a yard is retailed and sold to the consumer by that department store for three dollars and seventy-five cents.

What these facts illustrate more than anything else is that it is the system of distribution that advances the price to the consumer. It is not our purpose here to dispute the justice, or the retail clothier adding 100 per cent. or more to his cost, but it is our desire to indicate clearly that in all of this, tariff plays no part whatever. If the Democrats and free traders could prove that a reduction in tariff would mean a reduction in the cost of doing business, to the retailer, or would mean that the retailer would revise his methods of doing business, then a reduction in the tariff would mean lower prices to the consumer, but there is nothing in the situation to indicate that merely because the retailer is selling a foreign article he will sell it on a lower basis than he would a domestic one. The fact of the matter is, he would probably charge a little more because it was imported.

To any one familiar with the tariff and its relation to the woolen industry it is clear that a radical reduction in tariff would do nothing toward lowering the price of a suit of clothes, but it would inevitably reduce the wages of operatives in domestic mills.

As an issue in the present campaign however, it is all important because the chief exponent of Democratic principles, Woodrow Wilson, stands for a radically reduced tariff, having arrived at the theoretical conclusion that such a reduction will greatly lower the cost of living. It will not, and the candidate who believes it will should not be elected. In other words, it must be the business of the voter who stands for the protection of American Industries to keep Mr. Wilson out of the Presidency and the only way that that can be done is to vote for Theodore Roosevelt. President Taft could be trusted to sanely revise the tariff, but he cannot be elected. The people of the country are not disposed to return him to office. Therefore Mr. Wilson's strongest adversary is Mr. Roosevelt. If enough voters vote for Theodore Roosevelt, Mr. Wilson will be defeated. Mr. Taft on the other hand cannot win, and a vote for him therefore becomes a vote for Wilson.

Finally, we can stand a moderate reduction of tariff but we cannot afford to trust Mr. Wilson to make the reduction. Mr. Taft cannot possibly get the chance to effect the reduction, and the only solution is to vote for Theodore Roosevelt.

Very truly yours,
H. M. STOCKTON.

LARGE "GALLERY" TURNS OUT FOR WEEKLY HUNT RUN

The mid-week chase of the Watchung Hunt Club, yesterday afternoon, was enjoyed by about twenty-five members, although all did not finish. VICE PRESIDENT DIED LAST NIGHT

In Coma for Hours, He Passed Away at 9:42, Surrounded by Family.

LONG IN PUBLIC LIFE

Hilles Says Vacancy on Republican Ticket Will Not Be Filled at Once—Funeral at Utica on Saturday at 2 p. m.

Utica, Oct. 31.—Vice President James Schoolcraft Sherman died at his home at 9:42 o'clock last night of uraemic poison caused by Bright's disease. He had been sinking since early morning. There was slight relief shortly after 7 o'clock last night, caused by an apparent improvement in the condition of the kidneys, but it did not prove real or lasting and at best gave only temporary hope. At 9 o'clock the temperature rose to 106. From that time the condition rapidly passed from bad to worse until the end. Mr. Sherman was unconscious when the end came and had been in that condition for hours with but slight change.

Dr. F. H. Peck issued this statement concerning the last moments of the vice president:

"The vice president died at 9:42 o'clock without regaining consciousness

Copyright by Harris & Ewing.
JAMES S. SHERMAN.

His end was perfectly quiet. He died in the presence of his wife, her brother and sister, his two brothers and his three sons and their wives. He had been perfectly unconscious since 7 o'clock in the morning, when he had a period of partial consciousness for about fifteen minutes. He died in an uraemic coma as the result of Bright's disease, heart failure and arterio sclerosis."

Mrs. Sherman Stricken.

The vice president was able to say a few words to his wife and Dr. Peck during his lucid moments yesterday morning, but never spoke thereafter. Mrs. Sherman is in a state of near collapse as a result of her husband's end, and Dr. Peck is ministering to her, while her three sons, Sherrill, Richard and Thomas, are seeking to comfort the grief stricken woman.

A message notifying President Taft of the vice president's death was flashed a few minutes after the end came.

Funeral of the Vice President will take place at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Utica, services being held at the Dutch Reformed church. Word to this effect was wired this morning to Daniel M. Ransdell, sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, who notified the members of that body.

Sherman's Active Career.

James Schoolcraft Sherman was born Oct. 24, 1855, in Utica, N. Y. He attended public schools of his native city and was graduated as a bachelor of arts in 1878—the same year that President Taft was graduated from Yale—from Hamilton college, at Clinton, N. Y., near his home.

Following his graduation he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1880. He began the practice of his profession immediately. As a young lawyer Mr. Sherman displayed considerable ability and took a lively interest in the public affairs of his city and county. He was elected mayor of Utica in 1884 and was sent as a delegate in 1892 to the Republican national convention. He served as chairman of the Republican state convention in 1895, 1900 and 1908. He had in 1887 been elected to the Fiftieth congress and was re-elected a member of the Fifty-first, Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth congresses.

Experienced Campaigner.

The nomination of Sherman for the vice presidency four years ago was determined on the advice of his colleagues in the house, who argued that he was the man for the place, not only because he would swing the New York vote, but because of his training and experience as a campaigner and parliamentarian.

During the campaign of 1908 the candidate was in a hospital of Cleveland, O., for some days suffering from gall stones, an old ailment. In spite of favorable reports at the time the illness was critical and it was feared that he might not survive. He recovered, however, and lived to become vice president and the "smallest" president of the senate the country has known. As presiding officer in the senate he was praised for his fairness to both parties, and his personal popularity maintained a steady growth.

While active in public life, Mr. Sherman was able to carry on important business associations. He acquired a fortune of considerable size. He was president of the Utica Trust and Deposit company, vice president of the Utica City National bank, president of the Utica Ice company, a director in the Utica and Mohawk Valley railroad, an electric system covering Utica, with branches to Syracuse, Rome, Little Falls and other towns of the section. He recently acquired control of his native city's water supply corporation, of which his son, Richard S. Sherman, was made president.

His Home Life Ideal.

The marriage of Mr. Sherman to Carrie Babcock, the daughter of L. H. Babcock, a Utica lawyer, took place some thirty-two years ago. Mrs. Sherman was educated in the Utica seminary and at the Baillot school. The married life of the Shermans was ideal. There are three sons, Sherill Sherman, thirty years old, who is connected with the Utica Trust and Deposit company; Richard Updike Sherman, for some time a professor of mathematics at Hamilton college, and Thomas Moore Sherman, secretary and treasurer of the Smyth Despard company of Utica.

The vice president enjoyed a great degree of personal popularity. His fellow townsmen of Utica called him "Our Jim" or "Sunny Jim," and his nomination and election in 1908 was the occasion of most enthusiastic celebrations.

The vice president was known as an enthusiastic golfer and a baseball fan.

WON'T FILL VACANCY.

Hilles Says Death Doesn't Affect Validity of Electors.

New York, Oct. 31.—A few minutes before the train bearing President Taft's private car pulled out of the Pennsylvania terminal at 12:30 o'clock this morning Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican national committee, gave out this statement regarding the vice presidential candidate on the Republican ticket:

The national convention which met in Chicago in June delegated to the national committee the power to fill vacancies on the national ticket. The death of Mr. Sherman, the candidate of the Republican party for vice president at the coming election, makes it incumbent upon the national committee to nominate a candidate in his place. That nomination, however, cannot possibly be made prior to the election next Tuesday. Such a nomination can properly be made only after due and reasonable notice to all the members of the committee. Such notice could not be given in less than six days. It is therefore manifestly impossible to hold such a meeting prior to the election. Meantime no difficulty or inconvenience arises to the voters at the election next Tuesday because the votes to be cast then are for electors and not for candidates for either president or vice president, and the death of Mr. Sherman therefore does not affect the validity of the election of the electors.

I have called a meeting of the national committee to meet on the 12th day of November in the city of Chicago at the Auditorium hotel at 12 o'clock noon to select a successor to the late James S. Sherman as candidate of the Republican party for vice president of the United States.

CHARLES D. HILLES.

Women's Effective Voting.

Greenhut-Siegel Cooper Company Makes Its $30,000 Distribution Among the 558 Institutions Voted for By Its Patrons.

The women of Greater New York have been privileged to vote for a number of years, though not on political questions, for several years the patrons of the Greenhut-Siegel Cooper Company, both men and women, have had entire say in the distribution of the generous sum of $30,000 which this house has set aside out of their profits as a charity donation to various institutions, churches, etc.

Their plan has been to make ballots of the sales slips which are used for the votes of the purchasers, and those institutions, churches, etc., receiving the highest number of votes receive the largest sum.

This year the committee selected to audit the votes cast was composed of F. Delano Weeks, trustee Children's Aid Society; Henry Solomon, United Hebrew Charities, and Mrs. Cynthia Westover Alden, International Sunshine Society.

Gifts to 558 Institutions.

Five hundred and fifty-eight institutions, churches, etc., were awarded various sums, which follow:

Winner of $3,000, St. Rita's Church, 145th St. and College Ave.; winner of $2,000, Ladies' Aid Society, 24th St. M. E. Church, No. 359 W. 24th St.; Winner of $1,500, Women's Missionary Society, Collegiate Church, 34th St.; winner of $1,000, Salvation Army, W. 14th St.; winner of $500, Protestant Episcopal Church of the Mediator, Kingsbridge Ave. and 231st St.; winner of $400, Hebrew Orphan Asylum, 138th St. and Amsterdam Ave.; winner of $300, Central Province, No. 122 W. 14th St.; winner of $200, Hebrew Sheltering Guardian Orphan Asylum, 151st St. and Broadway.

In addition to these amounts were given 17 awards of $100 each, 149 awards of $50 each, 149 awards of $25 each and 189 awards of $15 each.

Report of the Audit Committee.

The report of the committee in charge is as follows: We, the undersigned committee, selected to audit the votes cast at the Greenhut-Siegel Cooper store from September 25, 1911, to September 30, 1912, inclusive, for the purpose of determining the distribution of $30,000 to the charitable institutions of Greater New York and vicinity, to be contributed by the Greenhut-Siegel Cooper Company, as provided by the plan submitted, do hereby certify that the foregoing named charitable institutions are entitled to receive the amount set opposite their respective names as herewith submitted.

CHEER ROOSEVELT FOR 41 MINUTES

Remarkable Greeting in Madison Square Garden.

OUTBURST IS SPONTANEOUS

Wounded Candidate, Standing at Front of Platform, Apparently Enjoyed the Splendid Personal Tribute — His Speech is Plea For Social Justice.

New York, Oct. 31.—For exactly forty-one minutes and thirty seconds 15,000 people in Madison Square Garden cheered Colonel Roosevelt on his first public appearance since he was shot.

There was no indication throughout this storm of applause that it was anything but spontaneous. It was directed at Colonel Roosevelt himself. Oscar S Straus and Governor Johnson of California received a hearty welcome from the crowd, but it was Theodore Roosevelt who drew outburst after outburst of cheering and shout after shout of greeting. No one forgot that the colonel had been in great danger and was back among his people again.

Throughout the long tumult Colonel Roosevelt stood at the front of the platform looking out upon the cheering audience. The strain showed itself in his face, which was not as full as when New York saw him before his wound. By the end of half an hour his face was gleaming with perspiration and his jaws were snapping nervously, as though he were bent upon keeping himself in trim for the speech.

Colonel Enjoyed It.

But it was clear that he was enjoying the thunderous reception. Time and again his face broke into smiles and up would go his left arm in greeting to his friends. He made no effort to use his right hand at all, but a gesture from the left set the crowd into uproar after uproar. Once in awhile he would turn from facing the audience while they were singing or cheering in his honor and would drop a quick comment to Senator Dixon or Governor Johnson, who were standing near him on the platform.

It did not take a knowledge of lip reading to know that the colonel was saying that this was a fine meeting.

When at last the uproar was quelled and the colonel was able to start upon his speech his voice rang as clear and his accents were as determined as ever. His speech was a plea for social justice. He argued that the issues now before the country are as vital and scarcely less critical than those which the states faced in the sixties. It was the Progressive party and no other which offers to the people of the United States relief from the tyranny of the few.

Colonel Roosevelt was the last of the three speakers. Before him were Oscar S. Straus and Governor Johnson. They centered their remarks upon Colonel Roosevelt, his record and his ideas. Every reference which they made to him brought thunders of applause. The audience was keyed to the uttermost throughout the two hours of preliminary for the coming of Colonel Roosevelt.

Mr. Roosevelt Appears.

The sturdy figure of the colonel showed itself on the raised platform on the north side of Madison Square Garden at 9:20 o'clock. From 6 o'clock, when the doors were thrown open, the garden was in an uproar. A steady stream of onlookers came in at the Madison avenue entrance and scattered throughout the arena and the galleries. Half of the 12,000 seats had been paid for and the rest of the tickets had been given out with the greatest circumspection by the leaders.

By 7 o'clock more than half the seats were taken and the crowd who were only lucky enough to get pasteboards which called for standing room only were already filling the space allotted to them in the topmost galleries.

Mrs. Roosevelt Arrives.

Mrs. Roosevelt did not enter the building until it was almost time for Colonel Roosevelt to make his address. She passed unnoticed to a box directly across from the platform and sat there smiling while the crowd cheered its lungs out for the colonel.

In other boxes were men and women dressed as for the opera. Among the box holders were Frank A. Munsey, George W. Perkins, W. Emlen Roosevelt, J. West Roosevelt, Hamilton Fish, Willard Straight, Herbert Pell, Jr., Dr Lyman Abbott, Timothy L. Woodruff, Elon Huntington Hooker, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Miss Maud Ingersoll and Mrs. Oscar Straus.

FAVOR ACCOUNTS SYSTEM.

New Jersey Public Service Corporations Make No Objection to State Plan.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 31.—Very little opposition appeared on the part of the electric light and power companies of the state to the uniform system of accounts for such companies which the state board of utility commissioners proposes to put in force Jan. 1, 1913.

The system of accounts considered was drafted by a committee of the public utility commission and representatives of the electric light and power companies. The scheme follows closely the uniform system prescribed in New York state and by the interstate commerce commission.

SERVICE

THE STATE TRUST COMPANY

CAPITAL $100,000.00.

Mr. TAXPAYER:

A municipality is a corporation in which each taxpayer is a stockholder. A strictly business corporation shows no personal partiality—it employs men who best do their duty. And if experience proves that an employee is faithful and efficient, such is the final test.

The Mayor and Common Council, on November 27, 1907, appointed me as your Tax Collector to serve until the next election. In November, 1908, the taxpayers, having a vote, elected me to fill out the unexpired term. Again in November, 1909, they chose me for a full term until January 1, 1913. Now, I have been honored by the Republican party in my nomination for another term.

"Public office is a public trust" and without any spirit of vanity I refer you to my record as one of your servants. I have conscientiously tried to do my duty and I have always been at the command of the taxpayer in my line of duty. As to this, I ask you, even if a taxpayer without a vote, to bear testimony.

If you consider me worthy of the trust reposed in me, if you believe I have been a faithful public servant of a public corporation, I take this means to solicit your support at the poll on Tuesday, November 5, at the hours between 6 a. m. and 7 p. m.
